

THREE MEN LYNCHED.

Seattle Vigilantes Deal Out Swift Justice to the Two Murderers of Reynolds.

Taken from Court and Hanged in One Minute—Another Criminal Swung Up Between Them.

Special to the San Francisco Chronicle. SEATTLE, W. T., January 18.—The death of George B. Reynolds in this city last night caused the most intense excitement. He had been foully murdered in the street, on his way home, by two men, and it was determined that his death should be avenged.

He said nothing further that could be heard, for several hundred voices raised a shout that drowned all else, and his body took its place between the murderers of Reynolds.

THE JURY'S VERDICT.

The verdict of the jury summoned by acting Coroner Coombs was brief and to the point. In each case the jury returned the following verdict: We, the jury summoned in the above case, find that (here his name came to his death by hanging, but from the evidence furnished we are unable to find by whose hands. We are satisfied that in his death substantial and speedy justice has been served.

The following dispatches from Port Townsend and Olympia, received this afternoon, give additional evidence of the justice of the citizens of Seattle in vindicating real law and in summarily punishing these murderers:

OLYMPIA, January 18. To the Citizens of Seattle: Olympia congratulates your on the prompt manner of suppressing the lawless rowdy element.

PORT TOWNSEND, January 18. To the Citizens of Seattle: We, the citizens of Port Townsend, endorse your action in executing the three murderers to-day, and congratulate you on your prompt action in setting evil doers a lesson.

German Emigration to America. Consul Schoerer, of Bremen, Germany, sends the following interesting dispatch under recent date, to the state department:

Emigration from the fatherland, principally to the United States, has assumed gigantic proportions in the course of this year. This unprecedented exodus is engaging the serious attention of the German economists, and especially that of the imperial chancellor.
