This free trade cry is very weak in the present congress.

The regents of the university have put an end to the factionalism in the faculty by requesting the resignations of three of the professors opposed to Chancellor Fairbaird's policy.

"S'tor this everlasting talk and go to work" was the excited remark of Mr. Briggs to the New Hampshire legislature a few days ago.

SCOVILLE presents to-day a bill of exceptions, asking for a new trial for Guiteau, on the grounds of lack of jurisdiction in the District of Columbia to try the murderer of President Garfield.

New developments of Jay Gould's judicial purchase on the New York bench continue to be made by the New York Times. The disclosures are said to be startling the entire state.

"I MAKE a special appeal to the ladies of America to come to my rescue. Some of them have written me delightful letters, and I ask each and every one to respond to the extent of their means and see me in person, if possible."

The ladies that have written those delightful letters ought to respond in person, by all means.

The February number of The North American Review, Professor George P. Fisher, of the Yale Divinity school, whose writings on the supernatural origin of Christianity and on ecclesiastical history are well known, comes to the defense of the Christian religion against the attacks of modern doubt and infidelity.

The new Brooklyn charter is receiving its first test under the mayoralty of Mr. Seth Lowe.

The howl which a number of our exchanges throughout the country are making over the probable admission of Mr. Cannon as delegate from Utah seems to be founded on little more than prejudice.

The depth of feeling against the continued outrages which the Jews in Russia are suffering at the hands of their oppressors showed itself in a manifesto presented to the lord mayor of London, asking him, among the names are those of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the bishops of London, Gloucester, Manchester and Oxford, Cardinal Manning, and also Professor Darwin, Professor Dewey, Samuel Morley, Matthew Arnold, and finally Lord Esher and the Earl of Shaftesbury.

CONNUBIALITIES. M. O. Mills, Jr., is engaged to Miss Ruth Livingston, and New York expects a brilliant wedding.

WAGON BRIDGE.

Omaha and Council Bluffs want, and ought to have, a wagon bridge to connect the two towns, but how can they have a wagon bridge, unless it be a high bridge, or suspension bridge, across a navigable river like the Missouri unless it can be built in connection with a railroad bridge?

But the trouble is to get the other railroad bridge. This is the first step. It is not our belief that either the municipal authorities, or the citizens of Omaha, or both together, will build either a high or low railroad bridge until they can find an Iowa railroad company to run its trains over it after it is built, and even were the fact otherwise it is not likely that our good Twin brethren and sisters over the river would join us very heartily in that kind of an undertaking.

Well informed people have known for some time past that Dr. Miller has a direct income from the U. P. bridge monopoly as a silent partner, with Mr. Wells, contractor of the bridge transfer, with a third silent partner in the Omaha Republican concern.

OTHER LANDS THAN OURS. The revolt in the southern Slavonic provinces is causing considerable alarm in Europe.

German official statistics of emigration during the past ten years show that the bulk of emigrants came to the United States, and the next largest number went to Brazil.

The French panic has proved a serious matter. It began in such stocks as that of the Union Generale, a new speculative bank, the shares of which have been run up as high as 3,200.

PARLIAMENT meets this week and the liberal government must face it with three members of the house under lock and key, charged with no crime for which they will ever be tried and imprisoned, and under a law which could not have touched them had they stayed in England.

country, where everybody speculates, a sudden drop in its stock from 2,400 to 1,305 francs per share must wipe out the savings of many thrifty bourgeois and laborers.

THE creation and growth of great monopolies is one of the most alarming features of the present age. The spirit of monopoly does not seem to confine itself to any one line. It has pervaded our railroad and telegraph systems, laid its hand on the public press, tightened its coils around our financial institutions, and is now extending itself to the control of large real estate properties.

Land rent reduction goes forward so much and so noiselessly in Scotland that it would almost appear as if the lairds hoped thus to avert the threatened legislation at the coming session of parliament.

Co-operation seems to thrive in Germany. The annual report of Herr Schulze-Delitzsch, the well-known political economist, shows that at the end of last year there existed 3,250 associations, of which 1,895 were loan or credit societies, people's banks, etc., 674 industrial societies, 645 stores for the sale of goods and 36 building societies.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES. Prominent citizens of Philadelphia have petitioned the U. S. Congress to assist in the organization of a technical school.

THE BALTIMORE teachers are required to report to a work the names and number of pupils pushed into the fewest classes.

THE HUMBOLDT Kooms says that the teachers of the public school that town made a raid in the boys' schools recently and found four well-armed revolvers on boys under 15 years of age.
