A FALLING ANGELL.

The Charges Against the Marshal and His Deputy.

Alleging They Collect Blood Money From Prostitutes, Favor Certain Saloons,

And Try and Acquit Certain Prisoners Without the Aid of the Police Judge.

Evidently Something is Rotten in the Court House Neighborhood.

The preferring of charges against the city marshal and his deputy, which was done by Councilmen Hornberger and O'Keefe Tuesday was not altogether a surprise. There have been from time to time charges made by different parties but none of them were ever pushed to an an investigation.

Three weeks ago Tuesday night a special committee of four was appointed by President Dailey, on motion of Mr. Hornberger, to investigate the police force. This committee held two or three meetings, examined and compared the records kept at the jailor's office, and at the police court, and made some discoveries which at first were considered startling. At a subsequent meeting, however, the police judge made some explanations which, while not entirely removing the suspicious in one quarter, moderated the thing considerably. Of course no report has been made even verbally by this committee and as they are not inclined to give up the results of their investigation nothing official can be stated. In general, however, it is believed that the first object of the investigating committee was to ascertain if the list of arrests as recorded at the county jail, where each prisoner is registered on his arrival, would correspond with the list of prisoners brought before Judge Beneke. During the period from December 1st to January 18th the discrepancy, as at first discovered, was found to be no less than 16⅔ per cent, or in other words the police judge's record fell short one-sixth the number registered on the jailor's books, which sixth were supposed to have been disposed of at the city jail.

Sec. 1, chap 24, p. 48, Revised Ordinances, defines the duty of the marshal as to the care and custody of prisoners, making him responsible on his bond for their safe keeping. Sec. 1, chap. 8, makes it unlawful for any officer of the city except the police judge to receive bail or security from a prisoner, or to permit a prisoner in custody to escape, a fine and imprisonment both being provided for such an offense. Sec. 2. provides that any officer violating the provisions of Sec. 1 shall be removed from office.

As will be seen, the law in this respect is very strict and as there is no legal way of getting out of custody except through the police court, and as there is supposed to be large shortage, it would look as if somebody must have put up bail at the city jail to the marshal or deputy. In fact, this is something the officers themselves will probably not dispute. The number may be greatly lessened, as they have discovered already several names missed in the first look, but there will still be a hole left.

Another charge against the officers was that they were permitting the German theater to run without a license while the other three theaters all paid up.

One of the principal charges made against them is that they have been in the habit of collecting fines from the sporting women and that there was some irregularity in reporting the same. Taking the list of prostitutes reported to the police judge from the month of December to the month of January it will be found that the total number gradually increases from month to month, while the proportion of those who pay fines decreased, until last month five-eighths of the reported prostitutes paid fines, the rest reporting sick or not paid. This of course might be easily explained but the collection by any officer of a fine or penalty under this ordinance is made punishable by "dismissal."

It is claimed that not only did the marshal and deputy collect fines, but that the deputy marshal notified the girls not to pay their fines to the police judge but to pay to him.

There are numerous other charges with respect to the conduct of things at the jail and about the city. The escape of Murray last week, a most important prisoner, is alleged to have been from carelessness in allowing him to go for a bucket of water alone. The conduct of some of the men on their beats and of others in not being on theirs, and the refusal of the marshal to deal with the parties or his indifference and inactivity in the matter all are matters complained of from many quarters, as well as the alleged partiality shown to certain liquor houses in town which run at pleasure without molestation

The investigation now demanded and the bold and unmistakable character of the charges brought, should meet with a response on the part of the committee that will settle the question thoroughly. By all means let the matter be sifted to the bottom.

American Legion of Honor.

Deputy Supreme commander E. D. Titus completed last evening the organization of a local council of the American Legion of Honor, consisting of about thirty charter members, with officers as follows, viz: Thos. J. Staley, past commander; Geo. W. Dickenson, commander; L. F. Maginn, vice-commander; E. M. Stenburg, secretary; D. A. Piercy, treasurer; John G. Morse, collector; O. P. Chubb, orator; L. C. Enewold, chaplain.

Trustees—J. F. Hammond, Job. A. Edson and P. H. Johnson.

This order is becoming very popular and is growing rapidly, having doubled its membership throughout the United States and Canada during the past twelve months. Its popularity and rapid growth is due mainly,

First—To its thorough and complete organization.

Second—To the wide range of insurance, including any amount from $500.00 to $5,000.00.

Third—Its economical feature which enables its members to carry insurance at a nominal or cost price which amounts to but a trifle compared with the price charged by life insurance companies. There are eight local councils of this order in this state and about fifteen more are to be organized during the coming season.

The Philomathean Concert.

The attendance at the opening concert of the second series given by the Philomathean club at Max Meyer & Co.'s hall Tuesday must have been gratifying to every friend of the club. All the seating capacity of the pleasant little music hall was called into requisition and was supplemented by a number of extra chairs. The programme, which was perhaps better than any of the excellent ones offered by the club in their first series, was as follows:

Quartet. Op. 6.....Beethoven
a. Andante. b. Allegro.
"Thou art like unto a Flower".....Rubinstein
Miss Lizzie Pennell.
Quartet (Kaiser).....Haydn
Poco Adagio cantabile.
Andante and Scherzo.....David
Geo. F. Sauer.
Quintet. Op. 44.....Schumann
a. In Modo d'una Marcia. b Allegro ma non troppo.
"Der Fischer" (violin obligato).Hauptmann
Miss Lizzie Pennell.
Serenade. No. 2.....Volkmann
a. Allegro moderato. b. Allegretto

The opening quartet was an excellent selection for study. It is one of the most characteristic of Beethoven's earlier compositions written at a time when the great master was still under the influence of his predecessors Hayden and Mozart, but progressing with grant strides towards independence of thought and artistic power. Far inferior to those marvellous quartets of his later days, opera 127, 130, 132 and 135. it is in every way suited for a light programme of chamber music, and was rendered last evening by the Philomæthean club with expression and excellent execution. The "Kaiser" quartet of Haydn was well received by the audience. Its theme has already become familiar through our church hymnals, but the beautiful instrumentation is lost entirely in the transcriptions made for the organ. Among the eighty-three string quartetts which Haydn wrote and published, the "Kaiser" quartet will always take a front rank. It possesses at the same time high historic value. The acknowled father of the symphony, fixing its musical form and giving to it consistency of development, Haydn's services in developing the quartette were no less valuable. The lucid and harmonious treatment of the theme and the symmetrical structure of the movements are particularly noticeable in the numbers played Tuesday evening. Schumman's quartette opus 44, was another of the novelties presented Tuesday evening, by the Philomathean club and was heard for the first time in Omaha. It opens with a march movement in a minor key, in which the attention is attacted both by the sweetness of the theme and the beauty of the instrumentation. The allegro following is in happy contrast to the slow and solemn strains of the funeral march movement which precedes it. The work of the club perhaps showed itself at its best in this selection, which was rendered with deep feeling and faultless precision of execution, Mr. Mayers excellent handling of the piano being particularly worthy of mention. Volkmann's lovely serenade No. 2 closed the concerted portion of the programme.

Miss Lizzie Pennell appeared for the first time before an Omaha audience in Rubenstein's "Thou art like unto a flower." The lady possesses a rich mezzo soprano voice, somewhat limited in range and compass but sweet and well modulated. She was evidently suffering a little from stage embarrassment but gave a pleasing and artistic rendering of the number and made a very favorable impression on the audience which was deepened by her excellent performance of "Der Fischer" by Hauptmann, a selection well suited to her resources and which was given with more confidence and greater effect. Mr. Geo. F. Sauer appeared only once during the evening, giving as his contribution to the programme an "Andante and Scherzo" by David. An enthusiastic encore followed to which, in accordance with the rules of the club, he responded only with a bow.

A few concluding words may not be out of place. The Philomathean club has come to stay in our midst and deserves and should receive a better support from our citizens They are an educating influence in Omaha, and only need to be heard in order to be appreciated. Such a programme as that given Tuesday evening is rarely surpassed in New York or Boston and it is to the credit of the Philomathean club that they were able to present it in the manner in which they did. It will be equally to the credit of our citizens if they show by their attendance at the remaining two concerts of the series that they are ready to support really good music and to appreciate it when they hear it.

GETTING POPULAR.

Although opened only two months ago, the Opera House Clothing store is rapidly gaining popularity by low prices and good goods. The stock is entirely new, and sold for cash at strictly one price. "Marked in plain figures" on every article. Call and examine before going elsewhere.

ANOTHER PATIENT DEAD.

The Small Pox Claims a Fourth Victim at the Pest House.

An order was received at Undertaker Jacobs' room this morning for a coffin in which to bury the body of a patient at the pest house, who died last night. The victim is supposed to be the man who was taken from Metz Brewery, but his name could not be definitely ascertained as Dr. Leisenring was not to be found.

No additional cases are reported. The daughter of the German minister who was taken Sunday, is thought to be in a hopeful condition.

The man Preston, who was taken to the pest house from Tenth street on Saturday night, was pronounced by a physician who saw him Sunday to have only a case of measles. Dr. Leisining, however, pronounces the man's disease small pox and claims that he was taken out of the city just in time.

TROUBLE AMONG THE OFFICIALS.

The case of Preston's has given rise to several causes for difference between Dr. Leisenring and Deputy Marshal McClure. The latter attributes the complaint made by the board of health, which is reported in another column, at the council meeting last evening to Dr. Leisenring, and says in reply that there are a good many things he might tell which wouldn't sound well. He says that he refused to obey the request of the city physician that he go to the depot and take charge of Preston who was supposed to be broken out with the disease, for self evident reasons. He states that Dr. Lisenring asked to have Preston put in the city jail over night, which he also refused to obey. He claims that he rode out to the pest house and as quickly as possible brought Houck with a wagon in which Preston was put.

NO INQUEST.

Because There Was No Corpse—The Florence Cut-Off Affair.

It was reported in this city on Monday evening that an Englishman had been killed while at work in the Florence cut-off, eleven and a half miles above the city, by the caving in of a bank and that a companion badly injured was brought in and placed in the hospital on the hill.

At the time the messenger was sent for Dr. Coffman it was supposed that the Englishman was dead, but it now appears that he was the least hurt man of the two. Dr. Coffman attended to him and he was carried to the shanty at the camp and put to bed, where he remained unconscious until Tuesday afternoon.

His injuries were then found not to be as serious as at first anticipated and he was feeling first-rate yesterday.

These particulars are learned from Mr. James P. Vincent who has charge of the entire work of constructing the Florence cut-off.

SARATOGA SOCIETY.

A Very Pleasant Surprise Party to the Messrs. Brewster

One of the most pleasant events of the season was the surprise party given last evening to Messrs. S. H. and E. P. Brewster by about twenty couple of their many friends. They took possession of their home and made merry until they were forcibly reminded of the dawn of another day when they turned reluctantly homeward with the pleasant memory of their royal entertainment. Mr. Lesenfere, an accomplished musician, was in attendance, and his music was highly enjoyed by the gay company The supper included the delicacies of the season, and in quality was indeed a banquet. It was presided over by Mrs. C. D. Brewster, assisted by Mrs. James H. Kyner. Among those present were: Mr. W. J. Tousley and Miss Millie Mathiesen, Mr. R. S. Christie and Miss Mollie Hazard, Mr. F. L. Pelton and Miss Jennie Patrick, Mr. C. W. Tousley and Miss Fannie Green, Mr. James Brown and Miss Ada Smith, Mr. Jurer Purtel and Miss Emma Purtel, Misses Alice Rustin, Julia Christie and Ella Aumock.

DISTRICT COURT.

Still Investigating the Hammer Homicide—Trial of the Smelting Works Case.

The grand jury is still busily engaged investigating the Hammer homicide. A large number of witnesses have been examined, but, as far as learned, no additional facts have been exposed. Some of the women detained to testify have been before the jury and two more, the most important, it is thought will testify to what they know to-day. Speculation is rife as to the action of the jury, but it is extremely improbable that anything definite will be known before Saturday. There is an amount of other criminal business which will probably be disposed of right on the heels of the homicide investigation.

The court proper was occupied all day on the trial of the smelting works suit, reported yesterday.

BASE BALL BOOM.

The B. & M. Club Reorganizes for the Coming Season.

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of the B. & M. base ball club was held at the headquarters yesterday afternoon. L. J. Blake acted as chairman pro tem. An election of officers for the ensuing year was the first business and resulted as follows: President, Robert M. Taylor; vice-president, Wm. Foreman; secretary and treasurer, P. A. Warrack; general manager and captain, A. W. Saxe.

In responding to his election as general manager, which is the active position in controlling the nine, Mr. Saxe said that he hoped the next season of base ball would be more successful than the last one, and it would be his purpose to make the club the best in the city.

The following committee were appointed on suits: Messrs. Dirker, Saxe and Brandt.

The meeting adjourned subject to a call of the president.
