GATHERED BY THE GLEANER

A Harvest of Five Deaths Within Two Days.

During the past two days five deaths have occurred, some of which are of sad and especial interest to many citizens of Omaha.

Edward Roddis, of the firm of Roddis & Thrall, died at Albuquerque, N. M., Thursday morning. The deceased has resided in this city about eight years. He was superintendent tor a long time of Mayor Boyd's packing house, from which position he went into the packing business with George Thrall. He had been a member of the city council, and was Senior Warden of St. Mark's church at the time of his death. His age was 63, he having been born in Northamp- urge all who desire two hours of real ton, England, in 1819. He leaves an enjoyment for ten cents to attend. estimable widow and daughter. THE cause of his death has not been ascertained. He went to New Mexico for the purpose of purchasing sheep, in company with J. Phipps Roe, but the f17-21 latter had started on his return to Omaha, before Roddis' death.

Moses Ballou, an old and well known citizen of Valley, Neb., died at his home in that place Thursday, afternoon. He was aged 64 years. The deceased has been for many years closely identified with Douglas county politics, and has been prominently mentioned in several county conventies for county offices. He was a successful farmer, and leaves a handsome property. Otis H. Ballou, Esq., a well known lawyer of this city, is a son of Mr. Ballou. The funeral services will be held at the residence near Valley station this forenoon and the remains will be brought to this city for interment.

WALKER. P. A. Walker, for many years resident of Omaha, and employed by Collins, Mount & Welty, died at sev-en o'clock Thursday, aged 63 years. He was ill for some time with lung fever. The deceased was an Odd Fellow in good standing. His remains are being preserved until word can be received from relatives in the east.

TWO LITTLE ONES. Gertrude Alice, daughter of Noah S. and Minnie Clark, died at 4 o'clock yesterday from spinal meningitis. The funeral occurs at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, from the residence, Clara, infant daughter of Julius and residence of the parents, corner of Ninth and Farnham streets.

Fitsmorris, "Nan's" adopted mothers, acted the "old The Merited Tribute to a Dewoman" to perfection, their quarrels, "speaking in the mildest manner possible," frequently reached a pitch that threatened to end in a hair-putling match. Fortunately a peace-maker was always near, in the person of Mr. E. A. O'Brien, as "Charley the carpenter." He kept his weather eye peeled at all times, and while he kept the old women at a safe distance, he weaved a net of love around "Nan's" heart that culminated in a matrimonial match at the close. Mr. T. J. Fitzmorris, as "Simpson," the landlord's son, "strutted on the stage" for a brief period, a swell of large proportions. His "apostrophe to the sunflower" was intensely soulful and exquisitely, too. Taken altogether, the performers acquitted themselves remarkably well. The latter portion of the programme will be repeated this evening, and we

The purchase price my appreciation of this compliment, was $7,250, which is a fair valuation, with the weight of the bargain, if friends is when he is in adversity. I any, on the side of the Evangelical know that this is a mark of sincere crowded house, rather than because during the winter, and this purchase is consequently a very much needed step. The congregation of the Evan-gelical Lutheran Mission are increasing each Sunday, and in the new church there is no question but that they will continue to grow, and the society will become very prosperous. Sumptuous Banquet Tendered Mr. S. F. Donnelly on the Eve of His Leaving for New . ork.

One of the most congenial and fraternal occasions that has ever occurred in this city took place Thursday evening at John Wirth's, where a banquet of royal na ture was tendered to Mr. Sam F. Donnelly, recently editor of the Evening Telegram, by about twenty of the newspaper fraternity and his personal friends. Although the cause of the gathering was one of deep regret and sadness to all present, still much good cheer prevailed, and the occasion was enlivened by a flow of wit and eloquence that bubbled up from every sparkling bumper. Superior Production of Shakespeare's Great Drama at Boyd's.

Anna Dickinson Plays the Prince of Denmark to a Crowded House.

Boyd's opera house was again crowded last evening to witness and hear Shakespeare's tragedy, "Hamlet," as played by Miss Anna Dickinson and a strong supporting company. Long before the curtain rose the house was a sea of expectant faces, and when Miss Dickinson appeared in the Emmet House and had been attended by Dr. Mercer, who yesterday discovered that he had a case of the warmer greeeting in Omaha, and, be it to Miss Dickinson's credit, she played her difficult role in as consciendered her immediate removal. Much of the magnetism of the voice which has thrilled hundreds of audiences from the platform exists in the tone of the mournful prince, and at times its effect was electrical upon the hearers. Twice Miss Dickinson was called before the curtain, and upon the first occasion she was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers, but it is not unfair to say that which she may improve; but her Death of Mr. Roddis Confirmed.

There were some reasons for suspecting that some rascal had known of Mr. Roddis' plans to be out of reach of letters and telegrams for ten days, and tried to get money on a telegraphic money order by assuming the name of Mr. Curran, who tele graphed the sad news, so the follow ing was sent to-day:

THE OMAHA GLEE CLUB.

The Grand Concert at Boyd's Next Monday Night,

In the rehearsal of the Omaha Glee club Thursday, the piece sent them by Miss Kellogg recently, "The Sweet By-and-By," which was arranged expressly for her by L. F. Brackett, of Boston, was tried by the club, with most satisfactory results. The singers are carried away with it and pronounce it the magnificent arrangement that could possibly be made and say it will be one of the big features of the evening. In this piece the club accompanies Miss Kellogg during her solo with a humming accompaniment, joining in with full effect in the chorus, Miss Kellogg will arrive in the city to-morrow and will rehearse with the elub this evening. Seats which were placed on sale in Council Bluffs are reported as being nearly all sold and it is expected that at least two coach loads of visitors will come over from that city, who will be taken back on a special train bout mid night. Mr. A. D. Morris, the secretary of the club, has received word from Fremont and Lincoln that there will be quite a number in attendance from each of those places, and making inquiries in regard to seats.

The house will undoubtedly packed from pit to dome, and the covs deserve it for their concert will be one of the great musical events of the season.
