GRESS. The record of the past week is void of important movements in the railroad field. The spring-like weather has made outdoor operations of every class agreeable and work on all new roads and prospective routes has been pushed vigorously. The B. & M. company has infused new life into the sluggish blood of Nebraska City. The purchase of the ferry company's charter and boats was followed by other improvements of vast importance to the future growth and prosperity of the city. Ground for a new depot has been procured, costing in the neighborhood of $25,000, on which a $10,000 depot will be erected. The change in the transfer will be a great boon to the traveling public who suffered many inconveniences in navigating the Missouri at that point. The contemplated branch of the B. & M. from Calvert will give the company the second eastern connection with the C. B. & Q. and the Kansas City and Council Bluffs road. Besides these settled improvements, the city is certain of a branch of the Missouri Pacific. A surveying party gineers will run another line to Lincoln as soon as the route to Nebraska City is ready for the graders. These facts will materially aid the southern metropolis to secure its share cf surrounding trade which its isolated position heretofore prevented. The Plattsmouth Journal wants to suggest to the B. & M. authorities-The propriety of building a branch line of its road from Plattsmouth southwestward into Kansas, which would take in the best hog and cattle producing portion of this state, and enable it to compete for this traffic with the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific roads, the latter road already having a branch running through that portion of the state. Such aroad could be built very cheaply, and the local freights would well repay the outlay, while it would furnish a large amount of through traffic to and from the east over the U., B. & Q. road. That such a road will be built by some company at no distant day we do not doubt, and the B. & M., being already in a position to reap its benefits without much of an outlay for terminal advantages, could do so much cheaper than any other line.

The B. & M. and U. P. fight for depot grounds in Omaha has its counterpart in Atchison, only on a larger scale. The Santa Fe company some months ago commenced condemnation proceedings to obtain several blocks of land south of their tracks, and Missouri Pacific then appealed from the appraisement proceedings and obtained a temporary injunction. This was heard before Judge Martin, of the the Santa Fe company won. The district court. On Monday last the judge filed an opinion denying the injunction. The Missouri Pacific has now begun proceedings to condemn certain lots owned by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe company. Both companies have a large force of men engaged putting down tracks over the lands in dispute, or supposed to be coveted by each other. Four or five hundred men are thus employed cutting down hills, filling rayines, and laying down tracks. ALL subscribers of THE DAILA BEE who expect the benefit of our premium offer must be prepaid to September 1ft, 1882. Indiana's Hopes.

Chicago Tribune. The appointment of John C. New to be assistant secretary of the treasury did not wholly accord with the wishes of Secretary Folger, who had recommended Mr. Curry, of the same state, for the position. This circumstance is giving rise to considerable gossip, and the story that Secretary the single number is worth a year's Folger is to be otherwise provided for has been revived. This time, howcessor. The salary of the office to which Mr. New is appointed is only $4,500 a year. His friends say that he declined the Russian mission, worth $17,500. Hence, so runs the story, it is believed that Mr. Folger's successor is to be Mr. New bimself. On the other hand, it is said that it has long been the height of Mr. New's ambition to accure the present appointment, and that he has never had any other in view. It is one of wide influence, as it practically gives him the control of the patronage, and, as enthusiastic Indianapolis ournalist remarks, "It will be a cold day in national politics if suffering Indiana does not now secure the fullest and freest recognition.'

Mr. Majors is a republican.

A New Element.

Chicago Times.

There will be a new element of fun in the general canvass for congressional elections this year. A new apportionment has hitherto meant a new deal. All the obligations of party leaders to one another, or party constituents to their representative, based on the old apportionment, are by common usage declared off. Within the new district lines new combinations are formed, looking forward in some cases to a partition of honors for the whole decennial period; and the fellows who have been to congress are the whole decennial period; and the $2,500 fellows who have been to congress are apt to be counted out in the deal, for the one reason, if for no other, that the fellows who haven't been to congress are more numerous and more argent. The chances are, therefore, that the roll of the forty-eighth congress will be largely composed of new
