LOCAL BREVITIES

Everything closed up early last night. Mary Oster has filed a petition to sell liquor in Valley precinct and a protest has also been filed by her neighbors.

The last jury trial is now in progress in the U. S. court at Lincoln, and an adjournment will be taken this week.

The Trinity mission supper and entertainment takes place at standard hall tonight.

Great reductions in overcoats and heavy suits at M. Hellman & Co.

All trains will be late this morning, some of those from the east having considerable difficulty in getting through last night.

The funeral of Mr. Rodda, who died last Friday in Albuquerque, N. M., will take place on Wednesday at 2 o'clock from St. Mark's church.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Union Catholic Library association takes place this evening. All members are notified to attend.

The grand double masquerade ball of the Omaha Maennerchor tonight will be the nearest approach to the Mardi Gras our citizens have ever enjoyed.

Rufus S. Parker, assistant foreman of the Western Newspaper union, and Miss Katie Parkins were married on Friday evening.

The rumor of a contemplated union depot, to be built at the foot of Howard street, by the U. P. and B. & M. roads, is all gas.

Our thanks are due the secretary of the Danish Association of Omaha for the cordial invitation to attend the 7th annual grand masquerade ball at Turner hall Saturday evening next.

Merchants of Omaha handling fur goods will do well to look through the spring stock now open of Shreve, Jarvis & Co., Millard's new block, Harvey street.

For sale at a bargain, the stock and fixtures of the Michigan Tobacco Store, 1417 Douglas street, Omaha. Business first class, location good, rent low, satisfactory reasons for selling. Apply a. s. feb20-m

The Ann Dickinson company played Claude Melotte Saturday afternoon and repeated Hamlet Saturday, to good houses on both occasions. As on the first evening the public was very generous and appreciative. The party left for Council Bluffs yesterday and return and go from here to Atchison to-morrow morning.

The complaint against the officers of the school board, for violating the first line of ordinance, was dismissed on Saturday by Judge Bencke, and the prisoners were discharged. It is probable, Mr. Long says, that they will brick up the walls of the building, to as to comply with the law.

The attempt of two negroes, on Friday night, to burglarize a house of ill fame on Eleventh street, was frustrated by a young man who was visiting there. The latter beat one of the intruders over the head with a poker until he fled and on the next day recognized the burglar by his sore head. He dare not have him arrested, however, for fear of criminalizing himself.

Manager Marsh's benefit on Friday evening will be immense. The "Fun on the Bristol" party has no equal on the road. Among the specialties to be introduced on this occasion will be a burlesque on the "Two Orphans," which was recently gotten up by Sheridan. It was rehearsed in Omaha at the time of the company's recent visit here, and was brought out for the first time in public at the Taber opera house in Denver, where it was received with great enthusiasm and merriment.

A. D. MORSE. BOOTS AND SHOES MARKED DOWN. LARGEST STOCK, BEST STOCK, CHEAPEST STOCK. WE MUST SELL TO MAKE ROOM FOR NEW GOODS TO ARRIVE.

THE BIG SHOE STORE, THE ONE PRICE SHOE STORE, 14th and Farnham. A. D. MORSE.

No MISTAKE! Roller Skating at Central hall on Tuesday night.

Fees of Doctors. The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3, which would take a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness. Post.

KOSTERS' ARRAIGNMENT

His Counsel Pleads that the Late Grand Jury Was Not a Legal Body.

Which Would Knock All Their Indictments Into "Pl."

The Plea in Abatement to be Argued This Morning.

The week devoted to the district court to the trial of criminal cases began yesterday with the case of the state vs. Lee Stitts, who is accused of having stabbed his brother several months ago during a drunken fracas in South Omaha. The victim of the crime, Henry Stittz, was stabbed first in the head and again in the back near the spine, the latter wound producing paralysis of the lower limbs. He was hauled to the court house yesterday in a cab and carried up stairs in a chair by four men. The jury was impaneled by 11 o'clock and the trial at once begun.

KOSTERS ARRAIGNED.

Pending the statement of this case to the jury, Hon. J. C. Cowen, counsel for Chas. Kosters, indicted for the killing of Oscar Hammer on Christmas morning, asked that Kosters be arraigned. Kosters was in the court room and made his appearance before the bar without any special sign of discomfort or agitation. District Attorney Burnham read the indictment charging him with murder in the second degree, and General Cowin answered "We plead in abatement."

NATURE OF THE PLEA.

It claims on behalf of the prisoner, that the indictment as it is exhibited against him, was not found or presented to any court having jurisdiction of the offense therein charged, by a regularly appointed and constituted grand jury, under the laws of the state of Nebraska, as appears from the records of the board of county commissioners and the records of the court.

The plea further alleges that the time of holding the term of court now in session was legally fixed on for February 6, the first Monday in the month, that the county of Douglas is divided into seventeen precincts; that on the 17th day of January, and on the 6th day of February, 1882, there resided in Omaha precinct No. 1 1,114 persons qualified to sit as jurors (the number in each of the seventeen precincts is then stated); that on the 17th day of January, 1882, the county commissioners met to select sixty persons from which to draw a grand jury; that the sixty persons were not appointed properly among the precincts, there being for instance four grand jurors from Omaha precinct No. 5, with its 1,758 eligible jurors, only four on the selected list, while Douglas precinct, with only 153 eligible persons also had four representatives on the list. Several similar instances are recited. The plea is grounded on section 657 of the general statutes of Nebraska, relating to the qualifications of jurors.

The section referred to says: "The county commissioners of the county shall, at least fifteen days before the first day of the session of the court, meet together, or any two of them may meet, and select sixty persons possessing the qualifications preserved in section 657, and as nearly as may be a proportionate number from each precinct in the county," etc.

The claim is that the selection of names was entirely in disproportion to the number of persons in the precincts, and that this disregard of the law invalidates the whole business.

The district attorney took until this morning to reply, and if the plea is not sustained the trial will probably begin on Wednesday.

The effect of this plea, if held good, would be to invalidate all the acts of the recent grand jury and discharge all the prisoners indicted by them, including Kosters, and it is hardly likely that a special session of the grand jury would now be called, even if it could be legally done.

The Stitts trial was concluded in the afternoon, and the case given to the jury. The remained outside of the court room about five minutes, and then returned with a unanimous verdict of not guilty. The trouble in the case has been, not that one Stitts was stabbed, but to find out which of his brothers did the stabbing.

The case of Dudley Curtis, the negro who broke into Murphy & Co.'s liquor store, was next called, and it is yet on trial.

SUITABLE SUGGESTION.

Why Don't the Citizens Buy the Old Hook and Ladder Truck?

The Hook and Ladder company are trying to sell their old truck. They have made an application to the council, but that august body don't see the wherewithal to put up for the fire apparatus. So it occurs that no purchaser can be found in the city and the boys have seen fit to look elsewhere. Finally they have received an offer from Beatrice to buy the truck for $400, which is much less than it is worth.

Now the suggestion is made, and it appears to be a good one. "Why don't the citizens of Omaha get up a little agitation and keep so valuable a piece of property at home, instead of letting it go elsewhere for a song?" As long as $400 is as high as is bid by any outside town, the boys are willing to sell the truck to any one in Omaha for the same amount.

Coupled with the above suggestion is another that the old truck be put in North Omaha, and that its range of service be governed by the capacity of the new truck to "git thar." It is also intended to change the present horses, getting heavier ones, and to rig the machinery of the hooks such a way as to reach the highest buildings.

QUARTER CENTENNIAL.

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Douglas County Bible Society.

Boyd's opera house was filled Sunday with a large audience, made up from the congregations of nearly all the Protestant churches in Omaha, regular services being suspended in most of the churches in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Douglas County Bible Society.

The male choir of the Y. M. C. A. assisted in the services, which included, in addition to the usual order of exercises at religious meetings, a fifteen minutes' address by District Superintendent Rev. William McCandlish. Theme: "The Influence of the Bible on the Civilization of the World During the Era of Bible Societies;" and a twenty-five minutes' address by Rev. G. W. Wainright, district superintendent of the district. "The Benefits of the Diligent Study of the Scriptures upon the Character."

The report of the secretary and treasurer and the president's report of church contributions were interesting documents.

Rev. Mr. McCandlish, who has served as superintendent of the district including Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado for the past thirteen years, retired in March, and will be succeeded by Rev. G. W. Wainright, of Blair.

There are now 94 Bible organizations in this district, three-fourths of which have been organized during Mr. Candlish's time. The election of directors resulted as follows: First M. E. church, J. L. Rice; Congregational, Col. R. H. Wilbur; United Presbyterian, J. L. McCague; Baptist, Dr. Wood; Lutheran, Dr. P. E. Leisnering; Presbyterian, Warren Switzer; Eighteenth Street M. E., D. M. Hoyerly; Christian, not named.

STETZEL'S SUCCESS.

An Omaha Merchant Who is Climbing Up Rapidly to the Top of the Ladder.

Nearly two years ago, one morning in May, 1880, a Bee reporter who was passing down 10th street on business, saw a new sign flung out to the breeze, and on entering the store-room on the east side of 10th, near Jackson, found the proprietor, a pleasant and energetic young man, just getting his goods in shape, in a small room with the work shop partitioned off in the rear. This was the small beginning from which the present large and steadily increasing business managed by Mr. W. E. Stetzel has grown. Yesterday the proprietor was passing by the same spot and his attention was once more attracted by a large invoice of cooking stoves just being housed. Mr. Stetzel had just received the first car load of a large consignment from the firm of Burdette, Smith & Co., Troy, N. Y., among the most reliable manufacturers in the great Empire state. He proposes to make cooking stoves a specialty this summer, and is beginning thus early to stock up for the trade.

Starting in on such small capital, Mr. Stetzel's success has been remarkable, his business now requiring from three to six men beside himself the year round. All last fall he, with six assistants, was driven to death by ill orders, and though he laid in a supply of heaters three times as large as usual and the winter was a mild one, he has not to-day an unsold heater in the house.

He has thrown the building he first started on, all into one room, and put on an addition at the rear which is used for a workshop. Shelves, counters and cases carry a full and complete line of hardware and cutlery, tinware and every article known to that line of trade. Every article is first class and marked down to live prices, so that those who trade there once are sure to go again and become regular patrons of a store with whose proprietor, prices and goods no fault can ever be found. A few years hence this Bee expects to see Mr. Stetzel putting up a brick block and launching out into the wholesale trade, and he will undoubtedly do so at his present rate of success.

NOTICE.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 20, 1882.

To the Editor of The Bee: I wish through the columns of your paper to state that the Bee Hive Engraving Studio has no connection whatever with any canvasser for copying or painting pictures.

We have been annoyed for the past week by complaints against a party who is canvassing for a picture he calls an OLEY GRAPH, or some such name which they have been swindled with. We know nothing about any such samsams, and do nothing but a straight business. D. S. MITCHELL.

A Baptist Minister's Experience.

I am a Baptist Minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, 40 years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quincy; "THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL cured me." I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Electric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and "Thomas' Electric Oil cured them, and if taken in time will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the oil out of the spoon into the head by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil has entered the nostril, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine I have used, and I have used it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Electric Oil. DR. E. F. CRANE.

THE GERMAN THEATRE.

Enthusiastic Reception Given to Alwin Heynold on Her Re-appearance on the German Stage.

Last evening quite a large and appreciative audience assembled in the German theatre to witness the performance of Alwin Heynold in "The Milkmaid of Scheeneberg."

Miss Heynold sustained the title role, which was exactly suited to her unique style. When she first made her appearance on the stage, accompanied by a big black dog drawing a cart containing milk cans, she was greeted with a burst of most enthusiastic applause. Her acting was all through the play irresistibly droll and during the duet with Lindemann, at the conclusion of which they both stab themselves to the heart - with fans, the audience were convulsed with laughter and she was vociferously recalled.

During the evening some lively songs were sung, in which there were some very effective local hits. The execrable condition of the sidewalks on Tenth street, and the obnoxious Slocumb received some emphatic censure at the hands of Herr Molchin.

Mr. Lindemann, as Henry, was excellent, and gained several encores; and Mr. Bergmann, as Nagel, depicted a drunken scamp, remarkably true to nature. The character of Brennecke, the obnoxious newspaper reporter, was ably sustained by Mr. Kuester, and Mr. Lutz in his triple character, sustained his parts exceedingly well.

Miss Grossmann as Louise, acted with her usual charming grace and in the suicide scene her emotional delineation of a young girl in despair was very effective.

Miss Buschmann as a servant, and Miss Thiesen as a governess, played with their accustomed ability and all the minor roles in which Mrs. Madler, Mrs. Grossmann and Messrs. Willig and Penney took part, were fairly well sustained.

At the conclusion of the play there was some spirited dancing in which all joined with gusto.

Steinhasser's excellent orchestra contributed the musical part of the melange.

FARMEIS AND MECHANICS.

If you wish to avoid great danger and trouble, besides a no small bill of expense, at this season of the year, you should take prompt steps to keep disease from your household. The system should be cleansed, blood purified, stomach and bowels regulated, and prevent and cure diseases arising from spring malaria. We know of nothing that is so perfectly and surely do this as Electric Bitters, and at the trifling cost of fifty cent a bottle. [Exchange.]
