JOHN JACOB ASTOR'S START.

The Stream of Wealth that Began with a Free Permit from the East India Company.

A business acquaintance of Mr. Astor once asked him what particular his pass back, bought a ship, loaded transaction, or peculiar kind of busi- her with an assorted cargo, and disness gave him his great start. He patched her to Canton. On her voysaid, in reply, that at one period of his life he had accumulated a large | Islands to take in water and fresh proquantity of furs, such as, however, visions and a large stock of firewood ket, and they were packed away in arrival of the vessel at Cauton a Man-we could better afford to distribute the waisky barrels down in the cellar. He darin came on board, and noticing money usually paid to agents, local whisky barrels down in the cellar. He had no correspondent in Lendon to send them to, and no disposition to do so if he had. After talking the matter over with his wife, they concluded it would be advisable that he should take the furs to London himself, and he did so. The prospects of the venture were very uncertain, and therefore, in the Linited States or Europe knew. he went out as a steerage passenger. the secret, and it was only discovered ready market for his furs, and sold tailed a ship to follow one of Mr made a list of such goods as he thought voyage. Then for some time that York market, and purchased and shipped them. After he had transacted all of his business he was detained in London for a couple of weeks in consequence of the ship not weeks in consequence of the being ready to sail. He employed the men in looking about London and picking about London and picking about London and picking up all the information possible cargo for the Canton market and doilars a year and give our subsctibers premiums that aggregated in value $20,000. And yet it was a paying inble, especially such as he thought manded, as an expert, $500 an hour would benefit his business in New for using her judgment and knowledge York. A LIBERAL OFFER.

For the past two years the publishers of this paper have given to the business, as to what disposition he subscribers of The Weekly Bee the should make of them. 'I have no best line of pramiums as indusements best line of premiums as inducements that time there was in New York a to subscription which have ever been merchant named James Livermore, offered by any newspaper in the country. The plan has proved a success. It has given universal satisfaction to of them a good size, and Mrs. Astor the patrons of the paper, and has increased the subscription list to a degree far above the expectations of its publishers.

Many patrons of THE DAILY BEE have asked why we do not offer them the same inducements held out to subsponse to the inquiry we make the following offer: Each subscriber to premium worth at least One Dollar at THE DAILY BEE who pays his arrears of subscription and remits pre-pay- subscription price, Two Dollars a for six months will be entitled to one of the premiums mentioned in our list. These premiums will be dis- interesting correspondence, and no tributed in the same impartial man. ner which marked our first and second distributions.

This scheme was first devised to collect subscriptions in arrears from patrons of THE WEEKLY BEE. Its success exceeded our expectations. We have now no back collections on our prompt reply, and again they talked weekly edition, have established the prepayment system, quadrupled our circulation and correspondingly enbanced the value of our adverticing nish vessel and cargo. The ship was selected and loaded partly with specie, Spanish milled dollars, about $30,000; The Daily Bee are now in arrears, sumption, loss of voice, tickling in the throat, or any affection of the

When Mrs. Astor saw the back pay from delinquent subscribers, back pay from delinquent subscribers, on March 4: Two years ago the publishers of THE securing renewals and extending the circulation of this paper by a distribution of valuable premiums. The bution of valuable premiums, The success of that experiment, both in the collection of back pay and increase f prepaid aubscribers was so encourupon the same system of premium distributions on a more extensive scale

During the first year only a portion of the arcicles distributed were procured in exchange for advertising. When the marked increase in circulaplaced their machinery and merchanvestment for us, and gave general satisfaction to our patrons. What grew out of a desire to collect back pay has developed into a new and practical idea. We have discov-ered that we can afford to make our subscribers sharers in the income of the paper from advertising. In other words we can afford to divide the advertising patronage of the paper with its subscribers, inasmuch as the income from advertising grows with the increased circulation. Advertising space in THE BEE that was worth one hundred dollars five years ago will com-madd one thousand dollars to-day This fall more goods and machinery have been offered us in exchange for advertising than we could accept in view of the limited space we devote for that purpose. What we have contracted for makes the grandest and most varied list that has ever been offered for distribution by any news- 1842, and are one of the eldest threshpaper, and that too without paying a collar in money. The only outlay in cash we expect to incur in connection with these premiums will be for postage and expressage. This explains exactly how we procure our premiums and why we can give away property of so much value.

All the premiums in our list are them. In contracting with manufacturers and wholesale dealers we accept them only at wholesale rates, but that does not lessen their value to those who receive them

THE BEE has for years stood in the front rank of newspapers west of the velopment of the country west of the Missouri will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity now offered them. Having for more than ten years been under one management pursuing a course that has established for it pubthat was not conducted fairly and hon-1881 gave general satisfaction to our subscribers. The coming distribution will be made in the same impartial manner, by a committee whom the subscribers present may select from their own number, and in such manner as they think fair and equitable. Last year all the premiums gave good satisfaction, excepting some engravings which were not appreciated. This year no engravings, maps or pictures have been placed among the prem-

Our old patrons need no assurance rom us of the reliability and stability of THE BEE, nor do we need to inform them that the principles it advocates, and the fearless defense it make in behalf of the producers, makes it almost indispensible to the industrial classes of the great west.

No intelligent person would expect that every subscriber will receive a $650 threshing machine, a $500 piano, a $300 harvester, or a $150 organ, but all have an equal chance in the distribution.

Each subscriber that pays up his arpayment for one year, will receive a retail. As a matter of fact, THE OMAHA WEEKLY BEE is worth the sert that no weekly paper, east or west, can compare with it in variety and choice selections, general news, other paper in America contains as much far western news, ranging from the Pacific coast to the Mississippi river. With the proof of good faith and honest dealing before them in the numerous acknowledgments we publish, we can safely enter upon our enlarged undertaking of this year, confidently believing that its success will be mutually satisfactory and advantageous. SOLON, Neb., April 25, '81. Omaha Publishing Co.:

GENTS:—The gold watch awarded me at your second annual distribution of premiums is received. I am well pleased with it. I think the paper alone is worth the money. Long may THE BEE continue to buzz.

D. HENDRICKS.

SWABURGH, Dodge Co., Neb., June 20, '81. SWABURGH, Dodge Co., New Omaha Publishing Co.;
GENTLEMEN:—The Stem winding silver bunding case watch that I received in your last premium distribution is at hand. I have found it to be a perfect time-keeper, and consider it worth the price valued at.

A. R. MORELL.

ELK GROVE, Mo., June 7, 'st. Omaha Publishing Co.:

Sirs:—The silver watch awarded me at your distribution of premiums came to hand all right. It is a good time-keeper, and I am well pleased with it. I think the paper is worth the money without the prize. I am well satisfied with both.

ANNIE E. RATHBUN. BLUE SPRINGS, Gage Co. Neb., April 21, '81 DEAR SIRS:—THE OMAHA BEE prize, silver watch, is to hand, for which receive my sincere thanks. Before receiving it I was skeptical about the worth of the article, but I am most agreeably surprised, for it is both a genuine good watch and an excellent time-keeper. I consider your paper good value for the two dollers independently of the prize, for it contains a large variety of reading matter, besides the current news of the week.

I am yours respectfully.

EICHARD LIVSEY.

LEBANON, N. H., Sept 3, '81. Received of you this day ten books. I am much pleased with them: think they are richly worth ten dollars. You make a slight mistake in my first name on the wrapper of my paper, which has sent some of them to another man, although I found them all at last. You write it Carlos, it should be Charles B. Hough.

SHELTON, Neb., May 11, '81. Editor Bee:

DEAR SIR:—My bolt of lonsdale (prize) duly received. In quality and quantity it exceeds my expectations, Please accept my thanks for full compliance of contract on award of No. 3446. As a new reader of THE BEE, I must say that I am well pleased with the choice reading matter it contains.

Very respectfully yours,

B. F. SAMMONS.

		OF THE OWNER OF THE OWNER.	100

The distribution of these premiums will take place on the 4th day of March, 1882. All articles that can be sent by mail will be forwarded postpaid to the subscriber's address. Articles to be shipped by express or freight will be forwarded to their destination with freight payable by the consignee.

The subscription price of The Dally Bre is Ten Dollars per annum.

Direct your remittance to The Omaha Publishing Company by money order or registered letter, who will forward you a numbered premium receipt, which will be registered in a premium book. Each remittance should also give explicit direction as to postoffice address. Parties to whom articles are allotted that are too bulky for mail will be notified and requested to give directions how and when shipment is to b made.

The distribution will be made without discrimination or favoritism, through a committee selected by the subscribers present at the time the awards are made. All we aim a in this scheme is to collect our back dues and secure payments for the coming year, and to extend our circulation over a greater territory.
