couldn't tell how big he was going to be, so I just pulled his head over my shoulder and streaked for home, only a mile. Then I followed back to the hole and he wasn't out yet!

"How big was he?" asked the cashier with round eyes and standing hair.

"Hold on till I tell ye. Then I takes another grip on him and reaches for home again, but that didn't seem to fetch him. Well, sir, I traveled between the house and the hole all day long, and when I got him all out he made a coil on my farm a quarter of a mile in diameter and four hundred yards high! Fast, sir! I tell ye he was considerable cell!"

"What kind of a hair do you generally use for that size of cell?" asked the cashier sarcastically.

"Whisky?" replied the Newtowner. "I used three pints of whisky on that cell. Drink it the night before, you know."

EL MAHDI. The Coming of the End of the World. Looked For This Year by the Mohammedans.

The whole Mohammedan world is excited over the expected end of the world this year. The Moslems say that most of the signs which are already accomplished, and that but two more are wanting.

Mohammed, it is said, prophesied that the world should not have an end till one of his own family should rule over Islam, whose name and whose father's should be the same as his own.

And greatly enfeebled. She tried the Hot Springs of San Luis Obispo, and was variously treated until she came to the conclusion that travelling might do her good, and she had a desire to visit Canada, where her son was living, believing that it would have a salutary effect upon her health.

These things are now regarded by the Mohammedans as of greater importance than the settlement of financial questions, government reforms, etc. Indeed, in comparison, those things which so deeply interest other people are the merest trifles in Mohammedan eyes.

A ROMANTIC HISTORY.

The Eventful Career of a San Francisco Woman.

S. F. CALIF., 1838.

The estate of M. S. Chase, in litigation in the Courts of Contra and San Francisco since 1869, possesses some novel features, owing to the remarkable history of the widow.

Mrs. Chase, who was nearly seventy years old when she died, lived in this city for nearly thirty years. Her home was formerly in Montreal, Canada, where she married her first husband, a man named Rhodes, by whom she had a son and daughter. The son—James R. Rhodes—is living at Chatham, Ontario, Canada, and her daughter—Mrs. Slater—now a widow, is living at Martinez. Mrs. Chase always claimed, and it was generally understood, that she was divorced from her first husband, Mr. Rhodes, many years ago. She lived for some time in New Orleans after she had separated from her husband.

As she claimed, in a fire that afterwards occurred on Kearny street. She had considerable unimproved property in the neighborhood of Van Ness avenue, Broadway and Valley street, which cost her a good sum of money to bring down to grade and for street improvements. In order to raise money to carry out these improvements she mortgaged the whole of her property to the Savings and Loan Society, and eventually the interest and assessments consumed the whole of it.

And greatly enfeebled. She tried the Hot Springs of San Luis Obispo, and was variously treated until she came to the conclusion that travelling might do her good, and she had a desire to visit Canada, where her son was living, believing that it would have a salutary effect upon her health.

These things are now regarded by the Mohammedans as of greater importance than the settlement of financial questions, government reforms, etc. Indeed, in comparison, those things which so deeply interest other people are the merest trifles in Mohammedan eyes.
