PEACE PROTOCOLS.

Commissioner Prescott on a Mission to Peru.

Armed With Proposals For Peace as Desired by Chili.

Ninety Days to be Allowed Him to Find Peruvian Authority to Sign.

If It is Not Accomplished in That Time Chili Will Continue Occupation.

Report of an Engagement Between the Armies.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. LIMA, March 12.—Senator Javins Novva, the Chilean commissioner in Lima, received on the 4th inst., a telegram from his government official announcing Mr. Trecott and Senor Balmaceda have signed the protocol for peace between Chili and Peru in which the interests of Chili are fully consulted.

It is believed that the cession of Tarapaca is provided for, whilst Chili withdraws her former claim for the immediate payment of a war indemnity. Mr. Trecott is said to be the bearer of the protocol to Peru. When Mr. Trecott reaches Lima, according to the understood terms of the mission he has accepted from Chili, he is to find some one whom the Peruvians will accept to represent the Peruvian republic in such a capacity as to warrant him in signing the protocol for the county and whose signature in such representative capacity will be acceptable to Chili and be received by international law as binding on behalf of the country for which the signature should be given. He will have ninety days in which to so compose the Peruvian faction quarrels as to evolve such a representative. If the representative be found and the protocol be signed, then Chili is to at once evacuate Peruvian territory. If he be not found, at the expiration of the ninety days then the protocol is to be null, and the Chilean occupation is to be continued. It is generally allowed both in Chili and Peru that since Mr. Trecott has been in South America, he has thoroughly acquainted himself with the real situation of affairs and rendered himself competent to act with perfect firmness in his mission, for which he has all along shown a strong natural disposition. Whether he can induce the Peruvians to join in choosing a man in the protocol is a problem that, if he solves it in the affirmative, will immortalize him in the republics as the best friend they have had in this generation. Peru is divided at present into many military factions, and has so many chieftains claiming the ascendancy that the outlook for peace and freedom from foreign military does not seem encouraging.

LIMA, March 12.—A fight recently occurred at Pucara, near Huacayo. The Peruvians had 1810 combatants, but no artillery, and the Chileans 1,200 and five cannon. The Peruvians had the position, and the Secopas and Lima regiments fought valiantly, but the Chileans, after charging three times, drove them from the hills and scattered them over the country. Colonel Delacoste commanded the Chileans, and it is stated positively that Cooceres in disguise commanded the Peruvians. Cooceres had appointed Pucara as a rallying point, and meant to gather about himself there a new army, for there were 200 Peruvian officers among the 1,810 who the Chileans discovered the rendezvous and broke it up. One Chilean officer and three Peruvian officers were killed in the battle, and about 300 common soldiers. The routed Peruvians made way to the Ayacucho, where Panizo, a Peruvian is quartered with 1,000 men. It is not known yet whether Panizo joined them for another rally or not.

SAKE SENIOR. The New Establishment in Boyd's Opera House. Workmen are busy Saturday making some changes in the store room adjoining the drug store of D. W. Sax, in Boyd's Opera House, a room fronting on Fifth street, and one of the best locations in the city. Inquiry developed the fact that Mr. R. Saxe, the father of the well known Saxe Bros., of this city, is about to open up a first class hat store here, having rented this room and already moved into it the stock of the firm of George S. Doane & Co., which he purchased a few days ago, and will add largely to it as soon as the room is ready to receive any more stock. Mr. Saxe is a very pleasant and agreeable gentleman, who was for thirty years engaged in the hat trade in Vermont. For the past seven years he has been United States consular minister, in St. John, Canada, being appointed under General Grant's administration to fill a vacancy caused by the death of his predecessor. The past winter he spent in California, where Mrs. Saxe still remains. The latter will soon join her husband in this city. Mr. Saxe proposes to have a stock of hats of the best quality, and will make his place the headquarters of fashion in the hat line. He comes to Omaha at the solicitation of his sons, and will prove a most popular addition to our circle of splendid business men.
