-The Nonparell thus makes public con-fession of its policy in yesterday's Issue: "This is the task of a newspaper office, and no wonder that its toilers oftentimes becomes disgusted with their work because of the shams they are compelled to parade in the toggery of greatness, of the hypo-crisy they must clothe in the raiment of righteousness, and of the concealed rascal-ity they must blazon as model citizen-which Charles McClure, clerk of the sent first to Omaha and then transmitted, and because the office here was conducted in other respects as though it was a way station. Steps were taken by the complainants to remedy several defects in telegraphic accommodations here, and the legislature has been appealed to. Now comes the satisfactory information that Superintendent Dickey has made arrangements so that this office will give the pub. ments so that this office will give the public all that is saked, and the causes of com plaint will be removed.

-The elect of the new city government were in consultation most of Saturday, privately conversing many questions of interest and importance, as preliminary to the formal organization of the council and the final setlement of those questions The change from having the city governed by a special charter to having it governed under the general incorporation law, is a great one, and many details of its practical workings have to be looked up and talked over. It is expected that the new council will meet this evening and probably not at all if the city officers will take their oaths of office and file their bonds 22. Clinton 36,764 23. Jackson 23,771

The Work That Was Not Done By the Iowa Solons.

Prebability That the Department of Industry Bill Will Carry.

Senate and House Representation Under the New Apportionment.

Legislative Matters and Things Generally.

Correspondence of THE NEE DES MOINES, March 11.-The be ginning of the end of the legislature is at hand. The record already made up is barren of results. Not a score of laws of a general nature or of great value has been enacted, while there is an abundance of legalizing acts. Not a single measure of any importance to the great agricultural majority of the people has been put into a law. The most prominent measure of this class was that establishing a department of industry, which would give farmers a representation among the several branches of the state government, coequal with the judicial, educational and executive There was a universal pect of having the monthly pay fixed at demand that this should be, and therefore two of the foremost farmers in the senate, John Russell, of Jones, and Pliny Nichols, of Muscatine, both also well known as representative men, prepared bills on the subject early in the session, since when they have been discussed and considered by members of both houses. Unfortunately the senate committee on agricul-ture was made an unusually large near Broadway yesterday morning, draw- body, and in it were severa' persons of antedeluvian notions, ho were averse to progress. —A trio of confidence men are reported as hovering about the transfer on the lookout for imnocents abroad. These fellows jump in here, make a little stake and then skip away for a while, and no arrests to see the set than go home without enacting a solitary law for the good of farmers. They could do no less than go to work and enact the department of industry law, as some compensation for raising the state tax levy one-half mill, refusing to reduce the rate of interest, and voting nearly one million dollars to state institutions. The debate developed unusual interest by the democrats in the matter, so the majority decided not to reconsider. It is probable an effort will be made to change the bill in the senate, but legislative courtesy would hardly permit it, as the house passed the senatorial bill as it came from the senate. Representatives Pickler, Holmes and Davids have been appointed by the house to prepare a bill providing for the education of Kate Shelley, the Boone heroine, at some of the state institutions at the expense of the state. THE BRIDGE BILL.

It Has Been Drawn Up Ready for the Committees to Consider.

The joint committees of the two cities, and the incorporators named are expected to meet in Omaha next Wednesday afternoon to consider the bill proposed to be introduced into congress for the building of a wagon bridge across the river. The bill has been drawn up and provides simply for a wagon bridge, without any reference to having it used for railroad pur poses. The bill provides that incorposes. The bill provides that incorporators shall open books for subscription and when an amount sufficiently in their judgement to warrant proceedings with the enterprise, they shall call a meeting of the stockholders, who shall proceed to elect a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The last two named officers are to give bonds.

The bill provides for either a low build, the plans and specifications are to be filed with the secretary of war, a line of 10c and to be subjected to his approval. The bill further provides for the condemning of such land as may be needed for the securing of proper approaches, the con-which the committees and incorporators will be called upon to consider next Wednesday.
