

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Friday Morning, March 17 SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 20 cents per week. By Mail, $1.00 per Year. Office: Room Five, Everett's Block, Broadway. C. E. MAYNE, Manager City Edition. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

- The dust in the streets getting very fly. -Milton Nobles appeared last evening in "Interviews." -The supreme court opens in this city next Monday. -The city council will now take a rest until next Monday evening. -The Royal Arcanum give their entertainment this evening. -Frang's Eastercards at Seaman's. -Iowa Wyoming Coal handled only by J. W. Hodder, No. 26 Pearl St. -Have you seen that fine display of Easter cards at Bushnell & Bra. ketts? -St. Patrick's day in the morning. The society celebrate to-day by a dance this evening. -The city auditor has been instructed by the city council to issue no more warrants. -It is said that Burnh m, Tulleys & Co., are planning to organize a savings bank in this city, to be run strictly as such. -Invitations to the campfire to-night are limited, with few exceptions, to the members of the Abe Lincoln post, and the guests from Omaha and Missouri Valley. -Captain Williams has not entered actively on the duties of city sealer and weigher. He is holding off until he can make arrangements to suit him about the scales. -Tom Casey, while sitting nodding in a saloon Wednesday evening had $80 slipped away from him by some sneak-thieves. "Dutch Bill" is suspected, all the officers are anxious to see him. -In compliance with the request of a number of citizens, Rev. Mr. Copeland has consented to repeat his sermon on "What the Unitarians Believe," at the Knights of Pythias hall, next Sunday afternoon. -The public library rooms are being put in very convenient and attractive condition, and the books are being arranged as speedily as possible, that the public may soon have the benefit of the reading matter there collected. -Judge Aylesworth was yesterday called to Crawford county by the severe illness of his brother, who lives there. He authorized Justice Frayne to serve in his place in police court cases, but there were no cases to dispose of. -A young man named Sears, while passing through the park on Wednesday night, was struck on the back of the head by a stone thrown by some unknown person. Luckly a lump on the head was the only injury. -A woman named yesterday here using a recent wife. He ran across her driving with a young man, but she noticed him near the Ogden house, and giving the word to her companion, the horse was speeded almost to a run and the pair escaped, for the present at least. -One of Broadway's business men, who was detained at his office until a late hour Wednesday night, found himself being followed by a rough looking character. He satisfied himself by the way the fellow skulked after him that there was something wrong, and tried to elude him, but the fellow followed so closely that the business man pulled for home lively, and thus escaped him altogether. -The Union Consolidated mining company have perfected arrangements for immediate work on their properties in Colorado and Utah and have secured the services of two of our well known and enterprising citizens to look after their interests at the mines, Mr. O. T. DeKay and J. M. Mitchell. With such men at the mines to direct the work, this company may rest assured, if the wealth is there, they will get it, and we shall expect to hear grand results in the near future. They started to-day via the U. P. R. R. for the mines. -The Bluff City running team expect to go into training about the middle of next month, preparatory to running at the state tournament. They claim to have the best truly amateur team in the state, and the fact that they won a belt at Cedar Rapids two years ago, and second prize last year, together with the trophies is proof that they will make it interesting for the boys in the next contest, especially as the team, as now organized, is said to be the faster by several seconds than ever before. -Deputy Sheriff Metcalf yesterday started for Mt. Pleasant to take to the asylum there Mrs. Bergstrom, the woman whose sudden insanity has already been stated in THIS BEE. The condition of the family thus left motherless is deplorable. The husband is left with four children, the eldest of which is a girl of nine years of age and the youngest a babe not yet four months old. The poor woman raved wildly until yesterday, when she seemed more calm, and it is to be hoped that she will have her mental condition improved by the treatment. -The new council patterned after Des Moines in most of the provisions of the ordinance defining the duties and fixing the salaries of city officers, but on the mayoralty they fell behind. They fixed Mayor Bowman's salary at $600, just one-half of what the Mayor of Des Moines receives. -Mr. V. H. Seely has brought to this city and placed in the barn opposite the Ogden a lot of Norman Glydesdale stallions, which attract attention and excite the wonder of many of those interested in stock. The size and weight of these horses are great enough to excite wonderment, as for instance in the case of one, a mere colt, which weighs 1,400 pounds. A still greater wonder is, though, that horses of such size should be so well proportioned and so faultless in form. No one who is interested in any way in stock should fail to see these horses.

SNODDERLY'S SNARES. The Mystery Around the Hubbard Assault Case Thickens.

Jim Snodderly still lies in jail on a charge of being the ruffian who knocked down and robbed Mrs. Hubbard. The officers have since his arrest been hunting about for evidence, and as a result there seems to be a thickening rather than thinning of the mystery, and it seems probable that out of the complicated clues now obtained that the right party will be shown up, though that right party should not prove to be Snodderly. A young fellow by the name of Pierson claims that he saw Snodderly follow the woman, and that he saw him knock her down and run. He did not report the fact at the police station until the next night, and gave as his reason for delaying that he was the only witness, and having nothing to substantiate his story he feared that he would only get himself into a muss about it. Pierson tells quite a plausible story about the affair, but would have gained more credence if he had told what he claims to know at the stand, instead of waiting until a reward was offered for the conviction of the guilty party. Pierson also claims that John Godfrey knew all about the affair and could tell a good deal if squeezed. There was certain circumstances surrounding Pierson's conduct and statement that have excited suspicion, and the police have deemed it best to lock him up. A young man by the name of Allen strengthens these suspicions by stating that Pierson tried to get him to swear to certain facts which would strengthen the case against Snodderly, telling him that if he did so, he (Pierson) would divide with him the reward of $50 offered by the Mayor. Allen claims that this offer was made by Pierson the same night that Pierson told the police that Snodderly committed the act. Allen says he was so drunk the next day that he did not tell the police of Pierson's offer, but was sober enough yesterday to tell his story. Still another party concerned in the robbery, but claiming that they were in a saloon together playing cards from 8 o'clock until 11 o'clock, and as the robbery occurred about 9 o'clock, he claims for himself and Snodderly an alibi. Snodderly's story differs still more, so that the present situation is that the police have three men in custody, each of whom is said to know more or less about the affair, and whose stories differ so that no just conclusion can be reached, though it is probable that out of the gang enough will finally leak out to send the guilty party over the roof. DUG OUT OF DUGOUTS. A Bloody Row Among Some Dirty Cave Dwellers. In the eastern portion of the city there dwells a tribe of rather disorderly and disreputable men and women who have dug holes in the side of the bluffs, and by placing boards at the entrance have provided themselves with sorts of burrows in which they in some way or other manage to live and breed. Wednesday afternoon there was a bloody war, which was the culmination of the ill-feeling which has long existed between two families. Clay Adams and his partner, Jennie Damonford, were talking along when a little boy belonging to Frederick and Levin Leflener began calling names. This started the row among the four. Clubs were used until Adams' woman was laid out senseless with two or three cuts in the head. Leflener had a scalp wound as the result of a spoke wielded by Adams, and each one was bloody and badly broken up. The quartet was captured by the officers, and had their wounds cared for in jail. Yesterday four were brought before Justice Abbott, who, after hearing enough of the matter to satisfy him that it was about an even thing all around, fined each of the men $50. Of course they could not pay, and in default were sent to jail for fifteen days. The justice's heart mellowed when he came to consider the cases of the women, and he gallantly released them, on the ground that they were drawn into the fight by the men. The Lefleners felt ugly, and wanted to get Adams and his woman into still further trouble. They wanted a warrant at once for Adams and the woman with him on a charge of bigamy, claiming that Adams used to run a hotel at Atlantic, and that he deserted his wife and baby, and eloped with the dejected creature who shared the dugout with him. Adams laughed at the charge and the woman kept mum, while Justice Abbott told them that he would see to that matter after the terms in jail had been served. As Adams and Leflener are locked up together in jail they can fight out their differences there. EXPRESS EXPRESSIONS. Low. A Reynolds Given an Eloquent Testimonial by His Friends. Mr. Low. A Reynolds, the bill maker for the express company at the transfer, has decided to accept the position of agent at Sherman, Texas. One of the chief causes leading him to make the change being the poor condition of his health, which he hopes thus to improve. His friends learning of this took steps to give him a testimonial of their regard, and accordingly a delegation of them called upon him at his office, and through Mr. George P. Stebbins, the superintendent, as spokesmen, presented him with an elegant gold hunting case watch. Mr. Stebbins' words were few but to the point, and a further expression of the esteem felt for the veteran was given in the form of a letter, accompanying the watch and signed by sixty or more friends. Upon one case of the watch was engraved, "Presented to L. A. Reynolds by his express friends, Iowa and Nebraska, March, 1881." Mr. Reynolds was completely surprised by the gift, and was taken so completely aback that he could give but little more of a verbal expression beyond a simple "thank you," but the donors knew that much honest appreciation was crowded into those words, brief as they were. Mr. Reynolds is one of the oldest and most valued employees, and during his stay of ten years in the position he has now leaves, he has won many friends outside call as inside of business circles. It is to be regretted that he deems it necessary to make the change, but the best wishes of many will bring him much increase of prosperity, if wishes are of any avail. Changing Owners. The following transfers of real estate are reported from the county records by J. W. Squire & Co., abstractors of titles, real estate and loan agents, Council Bluffs: J. Bruhn, nw se and nw, 9, 74, 41--$1,560.

PERSONAL. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nobles were guests of the Ogden house during their stay here. J. H. Nicholson, editor of the Weekly Sun, published at Janesville, Wis., was in the city yesterday, en route for Denver. Constable K. sec ans expects soon to go to Omaha to attend to some street railway building and repairing, which will take him several weeks. He was formerly superintendent of the city railway here, and three years ago was engaged in like business at Omaha. At that time he promised to complete certain other work for Capt. Marsh when wanted, and is now held to his promise. AFTER LONG YEARS. Marriage of a Man Whose Suit Was Rejected Forty-Eight Years Ago. The editor of the Butte (Mont.) Inter-Mountain was recently initiated into the benevolent order of "Forty Liars" of the west. He is evidently a candidate for an advanced degree, judging by the following yarn: The particulars of a case wherein fiction is discounted have recently come to light. A romance in real life, in which the first act was played nearly fifty years ago, has just been brought to a happy termination by the union forever of two fond hearts, which a cruel fate has separated by a distance of 1,500 miles for half a century, lacking two years. Forty-eight years ago, John Saunders, one of the wealthiest cattle kings of Montana, who was then a poor youth, with nothing to recommend him but a spotless reputation, a brave heart and a love for the beautiful and pure, became enamored of a Kentucky belle, whose father was a rich man. His tenderness was reciprocated, but the parent of the young lady refused his consent to the marriage, and was inexorable. Young Saunders was powerless to change the honorable to refuse his suit in a household where his presence was unwelcome. He therefore sought an interview with the girl's parent, who for the two or three and last time told him to abandon all hope of marriage, as far as his daughter was concerned, as the difference in their social position was an insurmountable barrier. "How much are you worth?" asked the young lover. "I could transfer my property into a million dollars, cash," was the haughty reply. "Very well," answered young Saunders. "Tomorrow morning I will go for the west to carve out a fortune, and when I can size up to your million dollars I will return and claim my bride, for I know she will be true." The young man kept his promise after a long and painful interview with his inamorata, and with a small outfit struck out bravely for the western territories. Since that time forty-eight years have elapsed, during which with varying success he has dipped into various enterprises from the British mine to Sonora. He came to Montana in early days and embarked in the cattle business with a firm in Helena, with such remarkable success that the firm now own nearly 90,000 head on the Teton. About a month ago Saunders figured up his assets, concluded he was worth a cool million and immediately left for Kentucky. He found the love of his younger days waiting for him, confident and hopeful of his final arrival. The two were married with as little ceremony as possible and expect to be sufficiently happy for the remainder of their lives as to compensate them for long years of hope deferred and separation. They will arrive in Butte this evening and take rooms at the St. Nicholas, and after a short visit will proceed to their new home, in the Teton valley, where the groom is greatly respected. The Inter Mountain cordially extends congratulations to the happy pair. Deceased. By the unfortunate Burdock has been considered a weed, and his luxurious growth, unpleasant smell, etc., has rendered it to those "tree" knowing his virtues, a nuisance, and yet the root has long been acknowledged by servants as most invaluable as a diuretic, aperient and blood purifier. Burdock Blood Bitters embody all the good qualities. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

IOWA ITEMS. Burlington contributes $1,000 to the southern flood sufferers. The price of wild land in Eammet county has advanced from $2 to $4 per acre. The first thunder and lightning of the season awakened Glenwood Monday morning. Wright county has six newspapers, and claims a population of 8,000, and growing rapidly. Creston saloon keepers have a black list on which the names of bums are blazoned in red ink. Active use of the telephone led to the recapture of three prisoners who had escaped from the jail at Decorah. Maurice Brown, a wealthy Dubuque Catholic, will build and donate to the city a hospital for the incurable insane. Preparations for gold mining on the Briscoe farm, near Ottumwa, are progressing, and the parties engaged in the work are confident of their ultimate success. On the night of March 9th, at Swan, Marion county, in a saloon owned by Phillip Porter, the keeper, was fatally stabbed by a hunchback named Pope Johnson. The State apportionment of school funds shows Cass county's youthful population to be 6,014, which entitles her to $1,866.70. The State Register says in reply to a correspondence that Iowa sent into the late war 76,300 soldiers, 440 of whom were negroes. Edward Stephens, of Prairie City, has become the fortunate possessor of $2,100 back pension, and will hereafter receive $24 a month. At the family "taffy pull" near Vinton the recently set was baked out of a two-gallon kettle of the mixture, and the taffy was given to the poor. Fourteen suits have been started in the United States court against Iowa makers of barbed-wire by the monopoly which claims the sole right to manufacture. A lined oil company, with a capital stock of $100,000, has been organized at Boone. Half of the stock is to be paid up and used in the erection of the works. The B. C. R. & N. company own sixty-five engines, which are now being gradually supplied with new fire boxes at a cost of $500 each. More engines are needed and have been contracted for. Rev. Mr. Reynolds, of Stuart, has been drinking on it, and estimates that 8,000 quarts of whisky are swallowed in that town every week, on a basis of four drinks to the pint, and a dilution of one-half.
