PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The life saving service bill was taken up. Mr. McPherson offered an amendment that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to regulate the compensation of crews and the number of surf men, none to get more than $50 a month. Lost.

Mr. Hale's amendment to the life saving service bill was adopted. The morning hour expired, cutting off further consideration of the bill. The annual consular and diplomatic appropriation bill was taken up and passed with amendments by the committee.

The life saving service bill was taken up again; the salaries of district superintendents as proposed in the bill were reduced to the following amounts: First district, Maine and New Hampshire, $1,600; second, Massachusetts, $1,500; third, Rhode Island and Long Island, $1,800; fourth, New Jersey, $1,800; fifth, Delaware and Chesapeake bay, $1,500; sixth, Chesapeake bay and Cape Fear, $1,800; seventh, the eastern coast of Florida, $1,200; eighth, Gulf of Mexico, $1,500.

After executive session, adjourned at 5:20 p. m.

The senate in executive session confirmed Samuel Blanford, to be associate justice of the supreme court; John C. Muhlenberg, of the army, to be paymaster, with the rank of major; Maj. James B. Potter, to be deputy paymaster general, with the rank of lieutenant colonel; Wm. H. Gill, to be military store keeper, with the rank of captain.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

A resolution was passed asking the secretary of war the amount of money received by the Mississippi sufferers. The opponents of the Chinese bill asked Mr. Page to agree to the time for offering amendments. He replied he would fix a time after consulting with friends of the bill, but did not propose to have a flood of amendments and consume two or three days voting on them. He would admit a reasonable number.

The house then resumed consideration of the bill.

Mr. Washburn (Minn.) took the floor on the ground the coming of Chinese was an injustice to laboring men.

Mr. McClure, who was minister to China under President Pierce, supported the bill, holding that no feeling of reciprocity existed between the two nations, and that the history of their relations show there never will be. He gave many instances of the ill treatment of Americans by the Chinese, and related instances to show the intellectual inferiority of the people, many of which incidents came under his own observation while traveling in China.

SHIPPERD.

INVESTIGATION RESUMED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—The Shipperd investigation was resumed. Shipperd stated while on the journey to Washington from the house of a senator whom he refused to name the senator said Shipperd's claim, if endorsed by the government, would give the government a grand opportunity to open commercial relations with South America. The senator regarded the whole matter in the light of commercial annexation. The senator desired him to go to Washington and see Blaine and explain the matter to him, the senator promising to arrange an interview for the purpose, and Shipperd went to Washington. The senator kept his word. The senator declined to accept a retainer on the ground that if the secretary took the matter up it might come before congress and as a member of congress he could not conscientiously take a fee in the case. After the secretary did take the matter up and it became understood it would be settled by the state department then he took a fee, but four months later returned it when he learned that after all the matter could not be settled without going before congress, he returned the fee without any deduction for actual disbursement. Boutwell was retained as counsel on account of his freshness in international law through his position as counsel of the United States in the court of claims in a French-American case. After several weeks' examination Boutwell pronounced the claim good, without a flaw and entirely satisfactory, and declared himself ready to submit the matter to the president. Shipperd sought an interview, but did not secure it. He had a talk with Gen. Adams about possible commercial relations with Bolivia as an annex to the Peruvian scheme, but nothing came of it. No official of the United States was interested in the company, except that he (Shipperd) had employed as counsel with no expectation of benefits from his official position, W. H. Robertson, collector at New York.

Adjourned until to-morrow.

The telegraph wires being down, a special engine with assistance was sent from this point. From dispatches received early this morning by special train, it is learned the accident occurred at the crossing of Hart river, twenty miles east of Sweet Briar. A snow plow had just passed safely over the bridge. A construction train closely following, broke through, carrying four spans of the bridge with it. The cars caught fire and two men burned alive. Seven others are reported killed outright, and eleven or twelve seriously injured. A passenger train was immediately behind the construction train and narrowly escaped.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22.—Nine days ago Lieut. Sam Churchill was commissioned by Gov. Churchill to investigate in company with Lieut. Satterly, agent of the war department, the condition of affairs and distribution of supplies in the overworked districts of this state. He returned last night, and has made a lengthy and minute report of his observations. He found the larger portion of Desha and two-thirds of Chicota county under water, and thousands of their inhabitants in appalling destitution. Some scenes witnessed were heartrending. In places absolutely everything was swept away by the floods, leaving a once prosperous city without a mouthful to eat or any living thing near them. The government supplies saved hundreds from death by starvation, and thousands from terrible suffering. The stories circulated that undeserving parties received much of the supplies he found untrue except in one instance. The area of country supplied by the commission at Arkansas City, Desha county, is ten miles long and seven miles wide, and contains over a thousand destitutes. One thousand more rations are wanted there immediately. The rations issued were three pounds of salt meat and a peck of meal per week. At Terine, Lieut. Churchill found the supplies judiciously distributed to surrounding points, some receiving rations for a month and others not securing any. Around the mouth of the Arkansas and White rivers 250 people are yet unprovided and suffering. At Redford, Desha county, which is the distributing center of an overworked section of 71 by 13 miles, 1,200 people look for food. The entire number of destitutes in Desha county is estimated at 3,500; in Chicota county Lieut. Churchill estimates the number of dependents for subsistence on the charity of the government as 4,000. At Gainesland and the surrounding county the suffering is most intense. Supplies will be issued at all available points, but more are urgently needed. Hundreds are living in the second stories and on roofs of houses, and wherever little knolls are found above water cattle can be seen dying and the rest starving. In one store built high on stilts and surrounded by water he found all living together a large family, among whom was an old woman at the point of death, fifteen mules, several cows and a number of other animals.

From St. Francis, Miss., Crittenden and other counties of this state, similar tales of misery and distress reached here some days ago. General Nangam, commissioner for the state, estimated the number destitute at 17,000. It is now claimed they will aggregate 20,000 people. It will take three or four weeks before the water leaves the plantations, and even then they will be dependent on outside aid for support. The loss of stock, Lieut. Churchill says, has been so great that with what remains farmers can scarcely till one-eighth part of the land usually cultivated. The largest break in the Mississippi river is just below Gaines, in Chicota county; it is eight miles long.

YAZOO CITY, Miss., March 22.—The river has fallen about two inches. About 500 persons have arrived here during the last week; 500 more are at the camp ground and fed principally by citizens. The demoralization of labor is complete. All say they do not intend to go back to the bottoms.

ST. PAUL, March 22.—The senate, which for eighty days has been sitting as a court of impeachment, trying charges of drunkenness and lewdness against E. St. Julian Cox, judge of the Ninth district court, took final action to-day. He was found guilty on article 2 by a vote of 28 to 10. There are eighteen articles in all, but this is the principal one and was a test vote and settled Cox's fate so far as the senate is concerned. The whole matter, however, is subject to review by the supreme court. The impeachment has cost the state $35,000. There are eighteen articles against Cox, and he was found guilty on seven, which insures his removal.

Burke, the Bank Robber.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 21.—There is some doubt whether William Burke, alias "Billy the Kid," the notorious bank robber now in the Minneapolis jail, will after all meet with justice at present. Sheriff Houder of Albany, N. Y., accompanied by a deputy, arrived to-day. The deputy went to Minneapolis and identified Burke, while the sheriff went before Governor Hubbard and produced his requisition papers from Governor Cornell, which were referred. Burke is held in $20,000 bail on the charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Lively times are promised to-morrow, as Burke and company will have a hearing on motion for a writ of habeas corpus, and the governor is expected to decide as to the requisition. Burke has the best criminal counsel in the state, and friends who have plenty of money are determined to get him out of his scrape if possible.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 22.—Burke, alias Billy the Kid, the famous bank robber, was brought before the municipal court of Minneapolis to-day. By preconcerted arrangement the charge of being a fugitive from justice was dismissed, but no sooner had the handcuffs been removed than another pair was clasped upon his wrists, he being informed of rearrest on a warrant issued by Governor Hubbard for robberies in Albany and Niagara counties, N. Y., and delivered into the custody of Sheriff Hauck and Detective Hale, of Albany. The threatened issue of a habeas corpus was not made and Hauck and Hale left for Albany this evening. Enough crimes are charged to the Kid's account in Buffalo and Albany county to send him up for twenty years, to say nothing of bank robberies in Cleveland and elsewhere.

RAWLINS' ROUND UP.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A Necktie Party in That City and a General Cleaning Out of Thieves.

Rawlins, Wyo. T., has been infested for some time with highwaymen, thieves and blacklegs, who have terrorized the authorities and made life decidedly unpleasant for the more respectable citizens. The depredations of these thieves have become so bold of late that the patience of the residents finally gave way, and a murder and robbery in one of the principal streets the other night was the last straw which broke the camel's back.

A determined vigilance committee armed themselves and after an exciting chase, on Sunday night they captured two of the most notorious of the outlaws. An open air court was instituted, the two prisoners were convicted and were summarily swung up. The scene of the double execution was in the stock yards a short distance out of the city, where the two criminals were hung from a tall post.

After accomplishing this rude act of justice the committee returned to the city and in a public place posted on a blackboard the names of six other well known desperadoes, with a notification that they would be given twelve hours in which to leave the city forever. It is needless to say that the individuals thus posted took immediate steps to skip. Among them was a near relative of a prominent gentleman of this city.
