

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Saturday Morning, March 25

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 30 cents per week. By Mail, $10.00 per Year.

THE BEE'S NEW HOME. The Bee has made another move for the better and has taken possession of the offices at No. 7 Pearl Street, near Broadway.

MENTIONS.

There are now fourteen prisoners in the jail. Prang's Easter cards at Seaman's. A new floor is being laid in the hall of the court house.

The Presbyterians had a social at Dr. Macroe's residence last evening. The Baptists and Methodists each had social gatherings Thursday evening last.

The public schools have concluded their examinations, and closed the term yesterday for one week's vacation. Reserved seats for the entertainment to be given by Miss Gibson and others at Dohany's opera house next Thursday evening will be for sale at Bushnell & Brackett's Tuesday morning.

Officer Cusick yesterday arrested Micky Howe, and booked him as a vagrant. It is claimed that Howe was with "Dutch Bill" in the job of relieving a man named Cary of about $80 in cash.

The funeral services of W. J. Phillips, who was killed while coupling cars Thursday afternoon, are to be held at the family residence on Pierce street next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The entertainment to be given in Dohany's opera house Thursday, March 30th consists of readings by Miss Clara L. Gibson, of Chicago, music, "tableau vivantes," the celebrated fan drill and the exhibition of Pollard's "Decorative Sisters."

The negro, Botta, who is charged with being the chief participant in the Keg Creek assault and robbery, was to have had his examination yesterday, but a continuance was had until next Thursday afternoon.

The stars and stripes yesterday appeared from the hall of the Grand Army of the Republic draped in black, in recognition of the fact that the Lincoln pest has lost a valuable member by the sudden death of W. J. Phillips.

BUMPS AND BRUISES.

Wreck of a Construction Train on the Rock Island Near Here.

Yesterday afternoon the construction train on the Rock Island road working between Weston and here was badly wrecked about three miles east of this city. The engine was backing and pulling seven flat cars and a caboose and running fifteen miles an hour, when in turning a curve, the rear truck of the curve, for some cause not known but supposed to be an obstruction on the track, jumped the rail. The engine followed and the flat cars telescoped, piling one upon another and together with the caboose the whole train was laid an utter wreck on the north side of the track. The engineer, J. W. Shields, of this city, together with the fireman, George Bacon, jumped as the engine left the track. The latter was thrown against a fence and was knocked senseless, but was found to have sustained no serious injuries, though he had an ugly cut in his side.

BROKE JAIL.

All the Prisoners in the Calaboose Escape Last Evening.

While the police were all away from the station at supper time last evening another jail delivery was effected. The prisoners kicked open the calaboose door and crawled out the window of the office. Five thus escaped, including "Dutch Bill" and Micky Hawk, both of whom were locked up for vagrancy, but who are wanted for robbing a man of $80. The three other prisoners were recaptured, but these two are still at large. "Dutch Bill" was among those who escaped in like manner two days ago and was only recaptured yesterday afternoon and now he escapes for a second time.

CLOSED ITS LABORS.

The Supreme Court Adjourns Since Die-B. W. Hight Appointed Court Reporter.

The supreme court closed its labors here yesterday, and the following decisions were rendered: Miles vs. Miles, appellant, Shelby county. Affirmed on motion. Brandt vs. Plummer, appellant, Pottawattamie county. Affirmed on motion. Madison & Parish, appellants, vs. Broson & Bennett, Crawford county. Motion to affirm sustained. Phoenix insurance company vs. Findley, appellant, Fremont county. Motion for leave to submit case with out argument overruled. Nowawanger, appellant, vs. Hawkeye Insurance company. Affirmed on motion. Smith vs. Hickenbottom, appellant, Jefferson county. Affirmed. Mandchen vs. Central Iowa Railway company, appellant, Marshall county. Reversed. Hickenbottom vs. C. B. & Q. R. R. Co., Jefferson county. Affirmed. Lawrence vs. Smith, appellant, Pottawattamie county. Reversed. Webb vs. Holt & German Savings bank, appellant, Scott county. Affirmed. Rathrock dissenting. Deacatur county vs. Bright, appellant, reversed. Stafford vs. city of Oskaloosa, appellant, Mohaska county, reversed. State vs. Weaver, appellant, Green county, reversed. State vs. Ethelman, appellant, Henry county, affirmed. Motte vs. Willett, appellant, Winnebuck county. If plaintiff will renounce his excess as stated in the opinion, the judgment will be affirmed; if not, to be reversed.

Bradshaw, appellant, vs. Hurst, Jefferson county. Affirmed. Housen vs. American Insurance company, appellant, Dubuque county. Reversed. B. W. Hight was appointed supreme court reporter in place of Hon. John S. Runnels, resigned. The court, on making the announcement, stated as follows: "It is deemed proper to say that other gentlemen who were applicants for the place had among the members of the court strong and earnest supporters, who reluctantly yielded their preferences and united in making Mr. Hight the unanimous choice of the court, because they believe he can and will perform acceptable the duties incumbent upon him."

The court then adjourned sine die. It is next to hold in Davenport week after next. The appointment of Capt. Hight to the position of court reporter calls forth congratulations on the part of his friends. The duties of the position are to superintend the publication of the opinions, and to write the syllabi. The salary is $2,000 per year and the duties will not interfere with his keeping his residence here.

L. M. Marshall, of Green Bay, arrived yesterday at the Ogden. M. Lester, of this city, is reported as lying dangerously ill at Nickerson, Neb. His wife is confined to her bed at her home in this city, and is therefore unable to go to him.

A GIDDY HUSBAND.

He Deserts His Paramour and Starts Out for a New Life.

A short time ago there was a lively row among some men and women living in dug-outs in the eastern part of the city. The police arrested two of the men and the women with whom they were living, and on trying the cases the men were sentenced to jail, not being able to pay their fines, and the women were allowed to go back to their holes in the sides of the bluff. The row and the arrests following it have caused a revelation to be made concerning the life of one of the participants, a young man, named Adams. It has come to light that not long ago he was in far different circumstances. He was leading a happy landlord's life at Atlantic, where he was running a hotel belonging to his brother. He had an excellent wife and one sweet child, and was prospering in all his ways, making money rapidly, and having a comfortable home and many friends. He became infatuated with a young woman of rather prepossessing appearance, but of easy virtue, and his brother, suspecting that all was not right, took occasion to warn him and admonish him. The next day the young man disappeared together with the woman who had stolen away his love for his wife and child. No tidings came from him for some time, but at last there was a report that he was in the city. Search was made for him, but in vain, and the worthy woman whom he had wedded and deserted, becoming satisfied that he was not going to return to her, commenced action for a divorce. A week ago the friends noticed in THE BEE an account of his arrest here, and his brother being informed, came to this city, and yesterday visited the young man in jail. The brother said that the wife would not receive her recalcitrant husband again under any circumstances, and he would not urge her to do so, as he had acted so despicably towards her. He was willing to help his brother, to lead a new life, and he said the young man's fine and secured for him his liberty. The prodigal expressed a rather repentant desire to try and return to Atlantic with his brother. In the meantime the woman with whom he eloped is quartered in the side of a bluff, waiting for him to serve out his term in jail. She will doubtless be surprised to learn that he has concluded to leave her, and will now have to shift for herself as best she can. When they started off together on their guilty career they had money, fine clothes and a bright prospect of much giddy pleasure. Now they are reduced to poverty, without money, with few friends, with rags for their nakedness, one has left the dirty dug-out to return chagrined to his friends and the other has but a road of death apparently open for her.

IN THE TOLLS OF THE LAW.

Yesterday morning the case of the State vs. Laura Sheldon and Louis Bashaw was brought before Justice Frayne, they being charged with conspiracy. The complaining witness was A. Bernstein, who claims that he sold furniture and other property to Laura Sheldon, and that she and Bashaw had tried to defraud him of his pay. The defendants took a change of venue, and the cases were sent to Justice Abbott. The prosecution, represented by Attorney Holmes, asked for a continuance, and this was opposed by Attorney Lindt, for the defense. The matter was sharply argued, and there were some red hot passages at tongue's length, and when Justice Abbott decided that the prosecution was entitled to no continuance, Holmes expressed himself as outraged in feeling, and charged the court with ignorance of the law. He declined to go on with the cases claiming he was not ready, and the defendants were discharged. Holmes started at once for Frayne's court, with the intention of filing a new information and beginning the cases afresh, with the threat that he would keep it up even if the cases came again to Justice Abbott and were again dismissed, and also a subpoena for Justice Abbott as a witness. The defendants appeared and took a change of venue. In spite of the recent decision of Judge Aylesworth, Justice Frayne skipped Justice Abbott on the ground of his being a witness, and sent the cases to Justice Baird. It now remains to be seen what position Justice Baird will take on the rule concerning changes of venue. If he follows Judge Aylesworth's decision he will send the cases back to Justice Frayne. There is music in the air.

IOWA ITEMS.

A Presbyterian church, with twenty-three members, has been organized at Meriden, Cherokee county. The citizens of Cedar Rapids have presented C. W. Eaton, ex-chief engineer of the fire department, with a gold watch, chain and charm. Chas. Engholm was found dead in an out-house in Des Moines last Monday night. He was known to have been under the influence of liquor for some time. Des Moines feels sorely disappointed because the legislature rejected two of its measures—one proposing to fix the location of the supreme court, and the other appropriating $53,000 for the permanent location of the state fair in that city. The prospects are that Dubuque will soon have a gold pen factory. Mr. Haakins, whose factory at Fairbault, Minn., was recently destroyed by fire, has been in Dubuque for the purpose of making arrangements for starting a factory in that city. Leo Chapman, reporter in the house of representatives for a Des Moines paper during the recent session of the legislature, was presented last week with an elegant watch and chain by a number of representatives, in acknowledgment of the excellent services he had rendered during the session as a faithful and correct reporter.

"Sarah Webb, a wealthy spinster of New York city, by will gives $10,000 to Griswold college, and $30,000 for the establishment of an Episcopal female seminar in Iowa.

The burglar who went through a house at Cedar Rapids last week, taking jewels valued at $350 while the occupants were at the opera house, was arrested at Dixon, Ill., and will be returned to the scene of his exploits.

The citizens of Ocoila, in a public meeting have resolved "that we hereby tender the state of Iowa ten acres of choice land in the vicinity of Ocoila, for the erection and maintenance of a state normal school at Ocoila, Iowa."

Dr. A. G. Stachalk, of West Union, was convicted on the 20th inst. in the Winnebuck county district court, of killing his wife at West Union on February 8, 1880. The jury was out four hours, and returned a verdict of manslaughter.

Rev. W. L. Bray, in a sermon on the moral conditions of Clinton, gives the following statistics: "There are in Clinton 3,300 youth of school age, and only 1,900 in the day schools, public and private. There are only 1,342 in the Sunday-schools. There are only 2,000 church-goers in this city of 10,000 inhabitants. We have eleven churches and sixty-one lamp-posts—one saloon for nearly every lamp-post in the city.

On the 20th inst. the first train on the Des Moines and Narrow Gauge railway went over the new bridge over Middle river near Lathrop. When fairly on the structure it gave way, precipitating the engine, two flat cars and the caboose into the river. No one was killed, but the fireman and engineer were seriously, and four others slightly injured.

The Des Moines Register says that during the recent diphtheritic epidemic in Dennison, three children of Mr. Hable died of the dread disease and were buried side by side. The remains have since been taken up for the purpose of removing them to another portion of the cemetery, and in making the removal it was discovered that one of the children had been buried alive. It had turned over on its face, thrown its little arms over its head, and torn the hair from its scalp.

The Chicago & Northwestern railway company contemplates building a branch leaving the Algona line fifteen miles north of Algona, running west through the north tier of Iowa counties midway between the southern Minnesota and Black Hills lines of the Milwaukee & St. Paul. A party of engineers, reported west of Spirit Lake, are supposed to be running a line for this new branch of the Northwestern.

A scholar in a Catholic school at Le Mars was stricken with varioloid one day last week, and Sister Paulina, his Sunday school teacher, to her white-capped associates, went with the child to a secluded residence, and remained there with the sick child until his recovery was assured. Such disinterested kindness will meet with its just reward, if not now at least hereafter. The nobility and quiet heroism of these heroic and unselfish women are being constantly proved, and whether they shall be saints in the next world or not, the most of them are certainly saints in this.—Oreston Gazette.

Sunday afternoon Samuel Atkins stood talking to some men near the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul round-house. At the same time Norman Gabbols, near by, was examining a revolver that he had taken from his father's desk. He noticed that one of the cartridges had been struck by the hammer, and so concluded that it was no good or had been shot off. Like the ordinary "nolgood" cartridge of the "wain't loaded" revolver it was only waiting to get a man at the business end of it, when it went off as easy as lying. Samuel Atkins' nose happened to be just in range, so the skittish bullet penetrated the same just below the eyes and got lost. Dr. Kinney ran his probe in three inches, but the bullet could not be found. He thinks it is probably lodged on the roof of the mouth and will eventually become dislodged and go down his throat. The bullet is a No. 22 and made an ugly, but not necessarily dangerous wound.—[Cedar Rapids Republican.

The petitions for the pardon of Mason who attempted to shoot Guiteau, have received about a thousand signatures in this city, and were forwarded last night.
