DEADLY DESPONDENCY.

It Causes George Harter to Bleed Himself to Death.

His Body Found Stiff and Cold in His Employer's Shop.

Yesterday morning, about 7 o'clock A. T. Schultz, of the firm of Schultz & Hill, on opening the door of their wagon shop on Fourth street, found a startlingly horrible sight, it being the prostrate and lifeless body of one of their employes, George Harter.

used for the support of the school. The first class in the academic department was organized in 1857. For fifteen years its success was variable, part of the time being absorbed by the public schools, until the year 1872, when the board of trustees decided that a change must be made at all hazards, and Rev. A. F. McDill was chosen for president.

newspaper long enough to be able to justify it. It would seem that, changing it in half, it would have changed it altogether. That would have been the common sense way of doing it.

AMITY COLLEGE

Rapidly Growing in Prosperity—Its Fame Spreading Far and Wide.

COLLEGE SPRINGS, Page County, Ia., March 21.—Amity College, the educational centre of southwestern Iowa, is located at College Springs, a little town of about 600 inhabitants, six miles east and two miles north of Blanchard and twelve miles south of Clarinda.

Great efforts were made by her citizens last summer, as well as several times previous, to obtain a railroad. A subscription of about eight thousand dollars was raised for the branch of the C. B. & Q. road from Clarinda, but the company coolly withdrew from its part of the bargain and again left us disconsolate.

None of the roads have come to us yet, though they run around us in every conceivable direction as if tantalizing us by trying to see how close they could come to us and miss us.

The Wabash road, with its Clarinda branch, forms a Y, and the Page City branch of the C. B. & Q. cuts across the top forming a triangle, with College Springs in the centre. Hence, without a railroad, we cannot, as a town, compare with surrounding towns. We have one blacksmith, one harness, one wagon and one cabinet shop, one drug, one book and one hardware store, two grocery, two milliners and two dry goods stores, five churches, viz, Methodist, Episcopal, Wesleyan Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian and United P. S. byterian, two hotels, and live stables, a daily mail to Clarinda, a tri-weekly to Blanchard and Hamburg, and a semi-weekly to Hopkins, Mo. Thus we have all the necessities and some of the luxuries of life, and are prepared to entertain the travelers who chance to find his way to our quiet but industrious little town.

The very quietness of the town is favorable to the student. The college, our great feature, gives a liberal education to both sexes, and, while it is unsectarian, it is a Christian college. Its endowment fund was obtained by selling shares of stock of a company called the Western Industrial and Scientific association, afterwards changed to Amity college. The funds thus obtained were used to purchase government land at $1.25 per acre. This land is located in Page and Cass counties and in Missouri. After the purchase had been made, each stockholder received in land to invest and also, with every share of stock, a scholarship entitling the holder to five years free tuition in the college. In the land remaining to the company, the town of College Springs was laid out, and the remainder sold or held for a permanent investment. All land sold by the college is sold under the express stipulation that such land shall not be used for the manufacture or sale of intoxicating drinks. One-fourth of the funds arising from the sale of land was to be used for a building fund and the interest on the remaining three-fourths to be

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Tributes Paid to the Memory of W. J. Phillips and the Remains Laid at Rest.

Last Sunday afternoon all that was mortal left of W. J. Phillips was laid away with a becoming service. The funeral was held at the family residence, a large number of sorrowing and sympathizing friends being in attendance. Rev. Mr. Breese, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated and the services were very appropriate and touching. At their close the procession was formed to take the remains to their last resting place, the pall bearers being chosen from the Grand Army of the Republic and from the Knights of Pythias, to both of which orders he belonged. The veterans of the farmer organization joined in the sad procession to the number of about eighty, under Commander Lindt, while the Knights of Pythias, numbering nearly a hundred, were under the command of Deputy District Grand Chancellor E. J. Abbott. A heavy rain was falling at the time, and under such circumstances the appearance of both of these organizations was commendable, both as to numbers and men. At the grave the ritual of the Knights was used in paying a last tribute.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the Lincoln Post, G. A. R. as a still further expression of their sorrow and sympathy:

WHEREAS, The members of the Lincoln Post G. A. R., No. 29, and members of the Veteran Association of Pottawattamie Co. do deplore the unexpected separation and death of our brother and comrade, W. J. Phillips; therefore be it Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt and sincere sympathies. That while the distressed family have lost by an unexpected death a true and loving father and husband, we have lost a true, devoted and faithful brother and comrade.

Resolved, In our conclusion we can in deep sorrow only say: The march of another comrade is over, and he lies down after it in the house appointed for all the living. It seems well we should leave our comrade to rest, where ever him will bend the arching sky, as it did in great love when he pitched his tent or lay down weary and foot sore by the way or on the battle field for an hour's rest. As he was there, so he is still—in the hands of the heavenly father; and be it further

Resolved, That we tender to the family of our late comrade a copy of these resolutions, and that the same be spread upon the minutes of Abe Lincoln Post, No. 29, G. A. R., and Pottawattamie County Veteran association, and that our headquarters be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days; and be it further

Resolved, That we request the papers of Council Bluffs, Iowa, to publish the above resolutions.

The Election Date in Iowa. Des Moines Register.

We stated the other day that the late legislature had changed all the annual state elections to a November date. We find on examination that this is a mistake in part. What it did was to enact that in odd-numbered years the general election should be held in October; in even-numbered years on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The change was to strike out the words "presidential years" and insert "even-numbered." Why it did half work in making the change we do not know. It seems to be a queer proceeding. But why legislatures do such queer things, we have not been publishing a
