SYMPATHETIC SENATORS, Bewailing the Condition of the Poor Indian. Senator Hoar Would Like to See the Aborigines Better Cared For.

Lively Discussion in the House Over the Proposed Tariff Commission Bill. Official Notification of the New Inspection of Pork by France.

Miscellaneous Notes of a National Character. CONGRESS. PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE. WASHINGTON, March 30.—The bill passed, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to ascertain and report the amount expended in the indebtedness assumed by Kansas in repelling invasions and suppressing Indian hostilities.

Mr. Hoar, in a set speech, favored better attention to the education of Indians to fit them to maintain themselves without the continued assistance of the government, and urged a change in the administration of affairs to remove the stigma of mismanagement and dishonesty which hitherto had attached to their treatment.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE. A motion to take up the Utah election case was voted down. The house went into committee of the whole on the tariff commission bill, Mr. Dannel talking in its favor.

Mr. Dannel expressed the opinion that the proposed commission would do no more than collect a mass of matter which would delay action and congress would expire without doing anything on the tariff question and the people will say it did not do its duty.

Mr. Hewitt took the floor at 3 o'clock, offering a resolution which he said he would ask to be considered at the proper time. It recommended the bill to the committee, directing it to report in full a bill placing all raw material and waste products used in the manufacture of chemicals that were produced in this country; also alcohol used in manufacturing, on the free list, and substituting specific for ad valorem duties, raising them upon the average dutiable values during the past year.

Mr. Hoar proceeded with his arguments, holding that delay in revision of the tariff was dangerous, and that the country now is prosperous but on the ragged edge. Unless we make an outlet for our riches we shall be overwhelmed with them. What is necessary is a system by which we can enter more readily the markets of the world. He thought articles used in manufacturing should be admitted free and so lessen the cost of production, and so let us enter the markets of the world by reduced cost of production.

Europe as it does to dig and manufacture it here. [Applause.] He favored a specific rate on cotton goods of about 20 per cent.; woolen goods, 30 per cent.; iron and steel manufacture, 35 per cent.; and silk goods 40 per cent. On steel rails the present tariff system does not benefit the working people, but is making the rich richer and the poor poorer, and should be removed.

Without action on the bill the committee rose. Mr. King presented the resolution for investigation of the overflow of the Mississippi as to the effect upon the public health and the damage to public property and life from the same cause. Adjourned at 5:05 p. m.

CAPITAL NOTES. ALASKA. WASHINGTON, March 30.—The house committee on territories will probably report in favor of a government for Alaska without delegates, and the house committee on commerce unanimously adopted a resolution declaring necessary some immediate legislation for the reparation of inter-state commerce.

MEMPHIS, March 30.—The steamer Golden City burned this morning. She was the largest stern wheeler on the river, being 260 feet long. The fire was discovered at 4 o'clock and the boat run to shore. She carried a crew of sixty and had thirty-seven passengers, whose names cannot be given as the books were destroyed. Report puts the deaths at over thirty. The boat left New Orleans on Saturday for Cincinnati. All of the officers of the boat except the second engineer were saved. Miss Anna Smith, of Massachusetts, is known to be lost. Other names of the lost are Miss Campbell, Mrs. Helen Percival, Mrs. LeKorma and three children, Dr. Monahan, and wife, Miss Luella Clary, of Cincinnati; W. P. Stowe, wife and children, of Stowe's circus, are believed to be lost, together with all the tents, animals, etc., of the circus.

MEMPHIS, March 30.—The steamer Golden City, burned to the water's edge, and sank below this city. The fire originated from a lamp. The boat struck the foot of Beale street and was fastened there for a few moments. She burned herself loose and floated off, sinking the tug Oriole. The fire was amidship. The women and children could not get forward to be saved. A few jumped off on a barge and escaped. The forward deck was deserted. All the officers escaped except the second engineer, Robert Kelly, who was on duty and perished at his post.

MEMPHIS, March 30.—The loss of life by the burning of the steamer Golden City is now put at 16. She was one of the rapidest steamers on the river. The names of the lost are the same as given. No additional ones are reported. Stowe's circus was enroute for Cairo, where the spring season was to be opened. A portion of the show is at Vicksburg. Among the circus horses lost was the noted "Solim." Three trick horses promptly obeyed the call of the keeper and sprang ashore. A buffalo broke his halter and dashed through the crowd to the bank; every hair was burned from his hide. John G. Glenroy, of Philadelphia, the animal keeper, was lying asleep under one of the cages when the fire broke out, and escaped by springing on a barge. Mrs. Stowe, wife of the proprietor of the show, was lost. She was formerly Lizzie Marcellus, one of Barrum's greatest attractions. The wreck is sunk in twenty feet of water at the head of President's island.

CHICAGO, March 30.—A special from Winnipeg states that the Canadian government, acting at the request of the Canadian Pacific railway, will apply to parliament for power to change the route of the line. The company has consolidated the Kicking Horse instead of the Yellow Head, the former route being much more easy of access.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The remains of a remarkably handsome woman, known as Mrs. Belle Lamb, were taken to Massachusetts yesterday over the Lake Shore road. Her death was caused by an overdose of morphine, thought to be taken with suicidal intent. The history of the woman is sad and peculiar. She was a sister of the wife of James Brutus Booth, a brother of Edwin Booth. Up to four years ago she was a resident of New York. Becoming infatuated with the histrionic reputation of the Booth family, she studied for the stage, but failed of success, and stepped from the footlights into a house furnished for her regardless of expense by one who had become intoxicated with her charms. Shortly thereafter she moved to Chicago, where she has since lived with her sister Agnes, who has made many ineffectual attempts to reclaim her, and remained her friend to the last.

MORE OR LESS ALL WINTER. A confidential circular "to the friends of moral education" has recently been sent out by the university ring, advocating the elevation of Prof. Thompson to the chancellorship. This is apparently a recognition of the fact that Fairbairn must go, although the transition from Fairbairn to Thompson would be a good deal like the old voyage from the frying pan to the fire. Thompson is at present dean of the agricultural college and professor of didactics, a high-sounding title, meaning nothing whatever in the present case, and if made chancellor would complete the ruin of our now.
