EASTER SUNDAY.

Flowers and Music Brighten the Special Services Held in the Churches.

Yesterday being Easter there was a flowery and musical indication of the event in nearly all the churches, and nearly all the services were arranged with special appropriateness to the occasion.

At the Baptist church there was a profusion of flowers, arranged very tastefully about the pulpit and altar. There were callas, foliage plants, potted plants in bloom, bouquets, and a little vine running around the edge of the rostrum.

At the St. Paul's Episcopal church the floral decorations were quite elaborate. Above the altar appeared a beautiful cross of cut flowers. There were some bright bouquets, and particularly noticeable were the unique and tasty arrangement of ferns.

At the Methodist church there was a beautiful floral arrangement of ferns, callas, and violets, flowers, and happy shadings of green foliage plants served to make the whole a summer bower.

The Thorough Training of Princes and Princesses in Modern Languages - A Tutor's Chat.

Boston Herald, March 12. Dr. Richard S. Rosenthal, linguist, orientalist and traveler, has been sojourning at the Parker House for a few days.

Dr. Rosenthal is a learned pundit and cosmopolitan is a most interesting gentleman. He converses in English with a slight German accent, employing an extensive vocabulary and seemingly perfectly at home with our idioms and colloquialisms.
