HEAVY rains have greatly retarded early planting in Minnesota and Dakota and croakers are already beginning to predict a crop as short as that of last year. Throughout Nebraska farmers report the prospect all that can be desired and planting is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily.

A St. Petersburgh dispatch announces that a boat has been discovered at Herald Island in the Arctic sea containing several dead bodies and loose objects with the name of "Jeannette" upon them. This is doubtless the last traces of the lost crew of the second boat which, under Lieutenat Chipps, separated from De Long and Melville when some hundred miles distant from the main land. De Long and his party without doubt perished miserably six months ago in the desert waste between the mouths of the Lena.

COLORADO, at least, seems to have no doubt of Mr. Teller's fitness for the interior department, and the state press overflows with approval of the appointment and notices of the life of the new secretary. Henry M. Teller was born in Allegany county, New York, May 23, 1930. For seven years of his younger life he alternated between teaching and attending school. At the age of 25 he entered the office of Judge Martin Grover, of Angelica, to begin the study of law. Three years later he moved to Morrison, the county seat of Whiteside county, Illinois, where he began the practice of his profession. In 1861 he went to Central City, Colorado, where he has since resided. He never held a public office until he was elected as a republican to the United States senate on the admission to the union of Colorado as a state. He took his seat December 4, 1876, and was re-elected December 11 of the same year. His term would have expired March 3, 1883. Mr. Teller has been a member president of the council, is a gentleof the republican party since its organization, although previously he acted with the democrats. He made his first public speech, which was for Fremont, in the old court house in Angelica, N. Y. In 1860 he took the stump for Lincoln in Illinois. Mr. owner in Colorado.

CHEAPER POSTAGE.

Nothing is more certain than that cheap postage stimulates correspondence and multiples the business of the postoffices. Rowland Hill's reform in the administration of English postoffice affairs in 1840, revolutionized the postal business of the civilized world. In our own country every step to cheap postage rates has been followed by an increase of business, which has more than maintained the average of the previous income of the department. In 1790 it costs 367 cents to carry a letter from Savannah to New York. For nearly two generations a twelfth of that sum has suffixed to pay for such service. With the cheaper rates of postage has come marvelous increase of business. Then 800,000 letters were carried in a year. Now over 800,000,000 letters are transported annually in this country, in addition to a vast quantity of Roguery and gross mismanagement have alone combined to prevent our postal department from being self sustaining during the past four years. The reform administration of Mr. James brought cheaper postage within the possibilities of the near future. The auditor of the treasury for the tures of that department for the quarthat quarter of the year 1881 were cover. The boy escaped. $10.620,400 90; expenditures, $9,941,-976.70, leaving a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $678,424.20. This, the auditor says, is a remarkable showing, as it is the first quarter since the close of the war in 1865 that the revenues of the department have exceeded the expenditures. For the corresponding quarter of 1880 there was a deficiency of $658,015.04. The revenues for this quarter are exceeded by those of 1881 by the sum of $1,-449,626.01. The increase of expenditures during the last quarter was $113,-186.81, whence it appears that the receipts have increased in a much greater ratio than the expenditures. The amount expended for star route service during the last quarter of 1881 $376,629 53 from the amount expended in 1880. The amount expended for railway transportation during the same | $10.05 in silver. quarter was $157,223.73 more than in 1880; the amount paid for steamboat transportation was $44,411.12 less than in 1880; and the amount expended for the use of postal cars was $10,825.17 more than for the corresponding period of the previous year. It is a question whether the time has not come for a lightening of postage from three to two cents a half ounce now olmost ready for the market. would give a new impulse to the already prolific American correspondence pen. Cheaper postage at the present rate would be much better than an increase of the weight limit, and the retention of the three cent

Ir is an old saving that the views of the heir apparent to the crown are very different from those of the heir apparent when seated on the throne. President Arthur has evidently had reason to greatly modify his opinions on the patronage question since he left the presidency of the senate and became the chief executive of the nation. A few days ago he was waited upon by a prominent member of the house, who insisted that it was all important to have a certain man appointed postmaster in the district. In reply the president is represented to have said: "Whatever may be your feelings in this matter, and although the subject is of great personal interest to you, you must remember that I have the appointment, in the end, to make, and the responsibility is with me. I cannot concede to members of congress the absotute right to dictate appointments in their districts. CUMMINS, W. T., April 7 .- Once more we are excited over a new strike. Two of our school boys, in the interval of school hours, thought they must do as the men did and so they struck out with pick and shovel prospecting. Mr. Simmons' Account of His Attempt to Cross the English Channel.

It will be remembered that the at tempt in Colonel Bride and Mr. Simmons to cross the English Channel in After one of the most successful ascents I have ever made, with wind and light and everything in our favor, we got fairly away at 11:30. As we passed over Earl Sondes' estate at Nackington, the anerold gave our altitude at 118 feet, and the sun was very hot. At 11:35 we were a mile southeast of Lower Harded Rectory. At 11:36 we had risen to an elevation of 300 feet, and were three and a half miles on our way. At 11:37 our altitude was 1,600 feet. A minute later we passed over a magnificent lake. At 11:40 we were coming down again. We were over a field, and got so low The U. P. Company are going into the powder business. A company with $200. 600 has been organized with Sidney Dilloa boys cry out, They are coming boys or control of the c down on our field,' I consequently discharged ballast, and we shot up to 400 feet. At 11:42 we found ourselves again descending, but by throwing out more ballast we went up to the same height as before, and remained at that altitude for three minutes. We were advised before starting to keep low, and we tried the force of the different currents. At 11:50 we lowered the grappling-iron and went up to 1,800 feet. Up to this moment the atmosphere was perfectly clear in all directions. 11:59 vessels out at sea were in full view, looking like small pilol balloons in the air, and not appearing to be on the water at all. We could also see the Goodwin Sands, which presented the appearance of seles in the water At 12 o'clock we had Dover in full view, and heard the noon gun fired from the castle. At 12:01 our course was straight for Folkestone. Our altitude now was 2,100 feet. Up to 12:04 I had not had occasion to touch the valve. At 12:20 we were midway between Dover and Folkestone.
