

BONNET SEASON.

Social Skimmings from the Week After Easter in Omaha.

With a Little Wholesome Gossip About Matters in General and Things in Particular.

The Closing "Pleasant Hours" Party—"Sara Ceremonie German."

Social Notes and Poitte Personalities

Easter has come and departed. Easter eggs and Easter cards have lost their flavor, and nothing but the Easter bonnet remains to tell of the close of Lent and the triumph of the milliners art.

It is discouraging to Omaha belles to read the long list of marriage notices in eastern papers. When the spring time comes gentle Annie, the sound of the wedding march ought to be heard in the land, and it is heard in nearly every section but Omaha.

It will not hereafter be so much the fashion for young men in Omaha to take "flyers" on fancy railroad stocks. More than a dozen Omahans have been badly bitten in the fall of Wash.

The ladies of Trinity church are racking their brains to devise some novel entertainment for the benefit of the new cathedral furnishing fund.

Gossip is not news and Omaha gossip long ago solved the difficult problem of adding two and two together, and making the sum seventeen.

SAHA CEREMONIE gave their first German and the closing party of the season at Standard Hall on Tuesday evening.

Miss Mora Balcombe, Charles McCormick and Miss Carrie Hams, S. C. Morgan and Miss Mamie Lake, Ward Foster and Miss Fannie Wood, Will Hampton and Miss Irene Low, A. B. Carpenter and Miss Cecelia O'Reilly.
