for him. When I got ten yards of him out I began—

"Got what?" demanded the cashier. "Ten yards of him. Lo see, I couldn't tell how big he was going to be, so I just pulled his head over my shoulder and stroked for home, only a mile. Then I followed along back to the hole, and he wasn't all out yet."

"What kind of a bait do you generally use for that size of eel?" asked the cashier sarcastically.

"Whisky," replied the Newton man. "I used three pints of whisky on that eel. Drank it the night before, you know."

The result of which was that his marriage notice went in the death column, and the cashier sat and chewed his nails all day.
