

SINDRAM'S SWING.

Execution of a Cool New York Murderer.

He Wanted to Superintend the Erection of the Scaffold,

And Persistently Refused All Ministerial Consolation, Dying an Infidel.

The Crime for Which He Suffered the Death Penalty.

National Associated Press.

New York, April 21.—Wm. Sindram was hanged at 8:35 a. m. for the murder of Mrs. Catharine Crane, his landlady, on January 26, 1880. Mrs. Crane did not die until five weeks after the wound, which was in the neck. She had been ill for many years from blood poisoning, which showed itself in frequent abscesses and at the time when she was shot by Sindram her physical condition was very low on account of a very large abscess on the hip. Owing to these facts one of the largest and most closely contested litigations that ever took place over a murderer in New York took place. Sindram was convicted solely on the circumstances attending the shooting, his own confession in the matter to friends, and the testimony of Mrs. Crane's attending physician, who was not cross-examined. Sindram's counsel produced the affidavits of some of the most celebrated surgeons in New York, including Dr. Carnochan, to the effect that the bullet wound by Sindram would have killed her. Sindram has attracted great attention among physiologists, on account of his peculiar mental qualities, possessing an extremely inventive and cultivated mind and being able to baffle all the arguments of the many clergymen who have tried to induce him to believe in a future state and the immortality of the soul. Here remained an infidel to the last. He spent the night up to 12 o'clock playing casino with McGloin, to be hanged next Friday for the murder of Louis Hanier, whom the White Mountain band had killed. Sindram applied for permission yesterday to superintend the erection of the scaffold upon which he was to be hung so that there would be no hitch in its working, he being an expert mechanic and inventor. He slept well during the night and the doctor who examined him when awakened to go to the scaffold pronounced his pulse and physical condition to be entirely normal and devoid of the least trace of excitement. He ate a hearty breakfast, dressed for the scaffold and met death with perfect coolness.

The Outbreak in Arizona.

CHICAGO, April 21.—No official advices have been received at General Sheridan's headquarters in this city regarding the Indian outbreak in Arizona. A special from Tucson confirms previous rumors that the Warm Spring Indians now raiding Eagle Creek are Juh's band of Chiricahua, about one hundred in number. It is expected the White Mountain band will join, in which case the number of hostiles will be increased to 350. Arms have been issued to settlers at all exposed places. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 21.—Three hundred Warm Spring Indians have gone on the warpath in Arizona. The military authorities are making every effort to overtake them before they reach Mexico.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The Indian office is in receipt of advices from San Carlos, Arizona, that two Indian police were killed Tuesday night by a raid of sixty Indians.

The Jeannette.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 21.—The correspondent of the Herald telegraphs from Verkoyansk, March 27th, that M. DeVarava, the ishruvink of Colhmar, was sent by Gov. Tchernareff with Melville to search for Delong, with orders to stay with him until sent back. They were expected back in February, but have not been heard from. Hurricanes and terrible snow storms have prevailed in the Verkoyansk district and fears are entertained that DeVarava perished, although the correspondent thinks the fact that DeVarava is not back indicates, instead of danger, that there has been no occasion to send back for help.

DETROIT, Mich., April 21.—A most remarkable accident happened this morning at the Baugh steam forge in Spring Wells, a suburb of Detroit. An employe named Joseph Kruger was having a friendly scuffle with another young man, and losing his balance threw out one leg directly under the great steam power shears used in cutting iron. At the same instant the shears descended and cut his leg off at the knee, completely severing every bone and tissue. The unfortunate man was taken to the hospital, and now lies in a critical condition.

Mexican Railway News.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 21.—The government has extended the concession of one year given Senor DeLafin Sanchez to construct a railroad from this city to Acapulco on the Pacific. Senor DeLafin Sanchez is granee of the ill-fated Morelos railway, on which occurred the accident of last June, killing 200 soldiers, by a bridge giving away. The line to the Pacific will be the extension granted in the Morelos railway's old concession. Public feeling was too strong against the projectors of the road for a long time after the accident on the Morelos railroad to allow construction of this branch of the road to begin, many persons believing the company was responsible for the accident, as the government engineers had condemned the bridge and ordered that it be strengthened, which was not done. This feeling no longer exists. Hence the extension of the road is entirely a Mexican enterprise.

HOW HURLBURT DIED.

Last Hours of the Late Minister to Peru.

He Died Within Twenty Minutes After the First Attack.

An Autopsy Held to Discover the Cause of His Demise,

And to Settle Suspicions of Foul Play.

Correspondence National Associated Press.

LIMA, Peru, March 29.—Hurlburt's death was very sudden and exciting. He had been in the best of health, and was visiting friends in the forenoon, prior to departure for the United States. On March 26th he awoke at the usual time and dressed. On the morning of the 27th, while playing with his grandchildren, he was suddenly seized with pains in the region of the heart and fell to the floor. His agonizing cries brought all in the house to him. He was unconscious for a long time. When the physicians came he was raised from the floor, opened his eyes and exclaimed, "God bless you all. I am dying. Oh, my heart!" and expired within twenty minutes from the first attack. The news spread quickly, and great excitement followed. General Lynch dispatched officers of the entire service of the Chilean government, and requested, on behalf of Chili, the honor of according a state funeral, which Mrs. Hurlburt declined. The most exciting rumors soon spread, among which was the statement that Hurlburt had been poisoned by opponents of Blaine's Peruvian policy. These rumors took such positive and circumstantial shape that the authorities decided to make a post mortem examination, and induced the widow, for public reasons, to consent. An autopsy was performed in the presence of ten surgeons of different nationalities, Doctors Schofield and Baldwin, of the United States steamer Pennasco, doing the autopsy. A majority of the surgeons decided that Hurlburt died of aneurism of the heart. Two of the surgeons objected and demanded examination of the contents of the stomach for traces of poison. Their request was granted and the stomach removed and given for analysis to Dr. Raymond. The result of this analysis is not known, as he sealed the stomach up in a jar and to-day sent it for further analysis to the United States aboard the steamer with the approval of Dr. Schofield and Baldwin. The funeral of Hurlburt was the grandest that ever took place in Lima. The remains were deposited on the afternoon of the 29th in the vault of Henry Meigs, the American railroad contractor, and will be sent to the United States April 26th. General Moore, United States consul at Callao, took charge of the obsequies. Prescott reached Lima, March 28th. He is here yet. Blaine has gone to Lapaz, Bolivia, for reasons unknown.

Small Pox.

SPRINGFIELD, April 21.—The state board of health reports small pox at Joliet and nine cases are under treatment. There are three more deaths, making six in all; making twenty-two cases in Penn township, Shelby county. These all originate from a tramp coming into the country by steamer from Bremen, who was recently taken with a disease supposed to be scarlet fever in Orvis township, Logan county; the disease is now believed to be cases of small pox and varioloid at Cairo and other points of infection in the state, originating through immigrants, the most coming by way of Philadelphia.

It was believed he had gone west, but this evening he walked into Alderman Mangall's office followed by an excited crowd. He was unable to procure aid and was locked up.

A later story is that Dundore came to the city on the 6 p. m. train and ran in a house. The owner feared he might be compromised himself and informed Commissioner Kelley, who effected his arrest.

Special Correspondence of THE BEE.

LINCOLN, April 21.—The gubernatorial mouth is at length unsealed and the deadlock broken. The legislature will meet on the 10th of May to take under consideration such matters as are included in the call telegraphed you last night. No earthly reason exists why this announcement could not have been made a month ago and thus have saved all the fume and foment expended on it. The Journal of this place vociferously claims that it knew all about it all the time and endeavored to twist the Omaha papers over their uneasiness about the matter. It is a matter of fact, however, that even the governor's secretary did not know the date of the call three hours before it was sent to the printer. The objects specified in the call are such as have been predicted from time to time in these let-

An Atchinson & Santa Fe Train Ditched but Nothing Taken from It.

Although the Express Car Contained $200,000 in Silver.

National Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., April 21.—About 12:30 this morning, as the west bound through express pulled up to Ranger, a small station 121 miles west of here, the engineer was confronted and seized by a band of eight outlaws disguised as Indians. Marching him in front they entered the express car and robbed the messengers of $350. There were four rangers or state troopers asleep in the rear coach, and these were awakened before the bandits entered the passenger coaches, and the rangers opened a hot fire on the robbers, who returned it with interest. Thirty or forty shots were exchanged as the robbers retreated into the brush. It was supposed one of them was mortally wounded, as he fell, but was sneaked away by his companions before the officers could reach the spot. The express coach was badly splintered by shots and the station agent was slightly wounded. The general impression among the officers of this section is that this is part of the noted Jesse James gang driven from Missouri by the death of their leader.

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—It has just been reported that the east-bound passenger train on the Atchinson, Topeka & Santa Fe was ditched last Sunday night near Rincon, N. M., and five heavily armed men attempted to rob the express car. Fortunately they mistook the car and entered the baggage instead of the express car. Before they rectified their mistake the train men and passengers appeared in such numbers that the robbers fled. The engine and baggage and express cars were thrown from the track. The fireman was killed, and the engineer and Wells & Fargo's messenger were badly wounded. The express is reported to have had $200,000 in silver from Arizona mines, bound for New York. It is thought the robbers were informed of the fact by telegraph at Rincon, and that they belong to a band of desperadoes committing depredations in New Mexico and Arizona.
