the fool of lions." SMALL POX. Plattsmouth has had one death the ast week from small pox. A little daughter of Mr Clark, after being ill only nine days, succumbed to the dread-ful disease. The board of health have laid in a supply of red flags, and the house is strictly quarantined. There are some cases of scarlet fever, and some few deaths have occurred, but no fears are entertained that the disease will become epidemic.

The May term of the district court will meet here on the 9th prox., and an unusually busy term is anticipated.

Clara Louise Kellogg's Debut.

w Orleans Picayune, Now that Clara Louise Kellogg i o retire from the stage, the following incident of her first appearance may not be inappropriate. Brignoli was at that time the favorite tenor of New York, and had consented to sing at her debut, though expressing a poor opinion of Americans as singers. They came on together, and he was fully expected to warble quite an installment of Italian affection at her, instead of which he had arranged with the orchestral gang, and he simply chucked out a couple of bars and came to a dead stop. Kellogg had a velvet jacket on her back, an Oriental embroidered cap on her head, and the worst stage fright on her face one ever looking at your old nag over there by he next. How old is he?" saw. She opened her mouth. The venomous old big fiddle creaked out loudly, all the little fiddles squeaked, and one just heard the faintest squeak out of Clara Louise. On went the accompaniment, and the debutante felt the ground alipping from under her feet. She got astray. She was sinking deeper, when from out an orchestra seat, three rows away, came the We are prepared to furnish sand of the very best quality for building purposes to any part of the city, at reseonable prices, or at the pit.
