DISPERSE OR DIE.

National Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—The special meeting of the cabinet resulted in the issuance of the following proclamation by the president:

WHEREAS, it is provided in the laws of the United States that whenever, by reason of unlawful obstructions, combinations or assemblages of persons in rebellion against the authority of the government of the United States, it shall become impracticable in the judgment of the president to enforce by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, the laws of the United States within any state or territory, it shall be lawful for the president to call forth the militia of any or all states, and to employ such parts of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary to enforce the faithful execution of the laws of the United States, or to suppress such rebellion in whatever state or territory thereof the laws of the United States may be forcibly opposed or the execution thereof forcibly obstructed.

WHEREAS, it has been made to appear satisfactorily to me by information received from the governor of the territory of Arizona, and from the general of the army of the United States and other reliable sources, that in consequence of unlawful combinations of evil disposed persons, who are banded together to oppose or obstruct the operation of the laws, it becomes impracticable to enforce by ordinary course of judicial proceedings the laws of the United States within that territory, and that the laws of the United States have been therein forcibly opposed and execution thereof frustrated, resisted, and prevented; and whereas, the laws of the United States require that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the president to use the military forces for the purpose of enforcing the faithful execution of the laws of the United States, he shall forthwith by proclamation disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes within a limited time.

Now therefore, I, Chester A. Arthur, president of the United States, do hereby admonish all good citizens of the United States and especially of the territory of Arizona, against aiding, abetting or taking part in any unlawful proceedings, and I do hereby warn all persons engaged in or connected with such obstruction of law to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before noon of the 15th day of May.

THE SOLDIERS HOME.

Quite a flutter in army circles was caused by the report of the soldiers home investigating committee. It contains little heretofore unpublished, but coming as it now does in official form, it receives more attention. The principal points made are that military organization should exist and more employment be found for the inmates. Fruit and vegetables are no longer furnished to members of the board and there should be more harmony among commissioners.

HAZEN AND HOWGATE.

Gen. Hazen addresses a letter to Secretary Lincoln urging that every exertion be made to recapture Captain Howgate, particularly as so much has been said about the collusion of the signal office with his peculations, which collusion Gen. Hazen heartily disclaims.

CONGRESS.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—Senator Anthony presented, from the committee on printing, an adverse report on the resolution in favor of an itemized statement of the expenses of transportation of the army officers, on Senator Plumb's statement that the executive had exceeded his prerogative in creating an excess of $50,000.

In the discussion of the bill to create an intermediate court of appeals, Senators Platt and Hoar spoke in favor of the amendment to exempt patent and copyright cases, which they think right to go to the supreme court, regardless to the amount involved.

The amendment in regard to patent and copyright affairs was rejected by a vote of 18 to 27.

Senator Garland offered an amendment that appeals taken and writs of error pending shall not be affected by the passage of the measure. Agreed to.

Senator Butler's amendment providing that after the establishment of the court of appeals there shall be no appointments to the supreme bench until the number of judges was reduced to six, was voted down.

Senator Vest offered an amendment to the effect that the judges who have heard cases below shall not sit upon them in the new court.

After debate by Senators Garland and Maxey in support of the amendment, senate at 4:50 p. m. adjourned.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Henderson, from the military committee, submitted a privileged report upon the president's message regarding Arizona troubles, with a bill to amend the revised statutes so as to permit the use of military as police committees for the suppression of violence on the request of the governor of any state or territory. Ordered printed and laid over.

Discussion of the tariff commission bill was then resumed, Mr. Sprigler taking the floor.

The tariff debate was continued by Messrs. Kenna and Cox (N. Y.). The latter caused much amusement by a sharp colloquy with Mr. Townsend (Ill.).

Mr. Belmont offered a resolution calling for all instructions to, and correspondence with officers of the South Pacific squadron during 1881, also replies from said officers.

Adjourned at 5 o'clock.

The Cramer Case.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 3.—In the Cramer murder case to-day, Dr. Prudden was cross-examined. Nothing new was developed. Dr. L. J. Sanford corroborated Dr. Shephard, and said Jennie Cramer's remains showed she was the victim of original assault within 36 hours before death. The testimony of Dr. Sanford was continued this afternoon.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION WAS LENGTHY.

and was substantially the same as in the testimony of Doctors Shephard and Painter in regard to injuries sustained by the genital organs. His testimony was corroborative of that of those gentlemen. Prof. Crittenden testified as to the amount of arsenic found in the body as 1.007 of grain. Dr. White of this city testified in corroboration of the testimony of Doctors Prudden, Painter, Sanford and Shephard. William H. Countryman, reporter for The Register, testified as to an interview had with James Malley, Jr., in which he said on the 6th of August the accused denied he ever knew Jennie Cramer, and begged him not to say anything in the paper about it. He was undergoing a vigorous cross-examination when the court adjourned.

Special Correspondence of This Issue.

LINCOLN, May 2.—The resignation of Mr. John L. Carson, of Nemaha county, one of the state university regents, was a good deal of a surprise to this community. It was thought that after the decided part taken by Mr. Carson in the rejection of the three professors he would not have thus jeopardized his side of the question by resigning just before the June meeting of the board. Governor Nance now has the appointment of his successor, and will, it is generally understood, name a "liberal" to take Mr. Carson's place. This will make the board stand four to two "agin" the cause of holiness as expounded by Fairfield, and will undoubtedly lead to the reinstatement of the three professors who were dismissed last winter.

I had a short talk with ex-Senator Paddock to-day. He has just returned from New York and looks as hearty as possible. I asked the senator his opinion on the approaching political complications in the state; in reply he told me that he had by all odds the best man in Gage county, and that I might come down and inspect it any time. From this I gathered an indefinite sort of an idea that he didn't feel disposed to talk on the proposed subject. It is understood that Mr. Paddock has, at the request of the president, accepted a place on the polyanmy commission.

CARSON'S RELEAPSE.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE BEE. LINCOLN, May 3.—Mr. Carson, in resigning his position on the university board, gives two reasons for his action. He pleads lack of time to properly attend to the office, and also claims that the duties are very distasteful to him. Mr. Carson's friends strenuously claim for him that in his action at the last meeting of the board he was perfectly sincere in what he did, and that it is not from any feeling of remorse on that subject that he has now resigned.

A number of newspaper communications have appeared recently suggesting Mr. Carson as an available candidate for governor, and it is not unlikely that he may have

RESIGNED THE AGENCY to get in trim for the campaign. There is very little comfort for Fairfield in the recent turn of events. The June meeting of the board is close at hand. If governor Nance appoints a "broad gusher" to succeed Carson, or if he fails to appoint anybody, the anti-Fairfieldians have the upper hand, and will not be disposed to show any mercy, in view of the exam-ple set them by the other side. In spite of Newt. Pringer's triumphant boast that two-thirds of the members legislature side with Fairfield in this fight, the prospect is altogether for the chancellor and his aids. The hall in the west wing of the state house is being rapidly fitted up for the use of the house at the coming session. The furniture out of the old hall is being used, there being no funds available for the purpose of buying new stuff at present. The position of the speaker's desk has very sensibly changed so as to have it facing the gallery. The supreme court room will be used for the senate chamber, and it will probably be the last time that either branch of the legislature will have to use the old building. It would be

A GLOOMY ONE

A SAD CALAMITY if the old shell should utilize its last opportunity to tumble in, as it would result in a terrific slaughter of candidates.

A HULL-Y SHOW.

The Custodians' Crookedness at the Capital—The Author of the Charges.

To the Editor of The Bee: CRETE, Neb., May 3.—I have just read an article in to-day's Bee headed "How it Came," and wish to say that the whole story is a fabrication. Mr. Hull always treated me courteously and none but the best of relations existed between us. The charges were preferred by Webster Eaton in June or July last, and were referred to me for remarks, and I suggested an investigation as the only true way.

FIRES.

The Town of Wilber Damaged $12,000 Worth—Blazes elsewhere.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE BEE. WILBER, Neb., May 3.—Our town was visited with another destructive conflagration—the third within little more than a year. The fire started last night about 7 o'clock in the evening in the storeroom of Ed. Wehn, and soon extended on the next buildings. The following are the losses: Hokus's saloon, $1,000; Ed Wehn's drug store, $1,000; Ed Connell's grocery, $1,500; McGee's barber shop, $300; Truka & Gilbert, butcher shop, about $500; Carey's building, $500; Hany's tailor shop, $300; Stephen Herman's dwelling damaged to the extent of $200 or $300. One half of a block of frame buildings is in ashes. The total loss amounts to about $10,000 to $12,000, with insurance only $5,000.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Coon Bros. and D. McMurphin's provision house, South Water street, were damaged by fire to the amount of $75,000; insured.

From Crete.

CRETE, Neb., May 2.—The farmers have been busy the past few days improving the fine weather.

The Crete nursery was busily engaged the past two weeks filling orders and shipping. There has been an unexpected demand for nursery stock this spring. Scarcely a train goes west but some trees are shipped. The nursery also has a large contract for planting trees on the college grounds.

At the last school election it was voted to build a new school house. The site is rather an unfortunate one, being close to the business part of the town. But the board of education determined to do the best they can. About a week ago they set out a double row of trees around the grounds.

Mr. Craig, who has been appointed postmaster, has not taken charge of the post office yet, but will probably do so this week. He will retain E. G. Cochran, the present clerk. This gives good satisfaction, as he has made an efficient clerk.

The college is prospering finely, having a large number of students for this time of the year. Its library is receiving additions. Week before last it received ten volumes of Littell's magazine. A few days later it received a further addition of thirty-one volumes from the Congressional Publishing society.

The contest which takes place between the university and the college comes off May 12. The Creteans, expecting a large crowd and are prepared to receive them. The boys have arranged for a game of ball between the university club and the boys of the college on the afternoon of the contest. They propose to do their share to make it an interesting game.

JAY'S JOURNEYING.

The Railroad King Unbosoms Himself, Chic., May 2.

Jay Gould arrived at the Grand Pacific hotel at 7 o'clock last evening. He had just finished an inspection of his western railway properties. "I am president of ten thousand miles of railroad," said Mr. Gould to a Times reporter, "and I find it necessary to inspect it once in a while." The interviewer called Mr. Gould's attention to the rumor that the Washash railway was likely to again pass under a receivership. "Such a thing is not any more probable than that the Burlington, or Rock Island, or Alton will pass into the hands of a receiver," was his prompt reply. He then remarked that he believed Washash to be good property. He had no thought, he said, when he first bought it, of carrying it upon his shoulders; but, being a director, and knowing just what kind of property it is, he had invested largely, and he had no fears as to the final outcome. "I remember," said Mr. Gould, with a grin of satisfaction lingering about one corner of his mouth, "that Union Pacific fold down to 15 after I had invested millions in it at 25; and that didn't frighten me a particle." Then, after a pause, he added: "For the first three months of this year the Washash is $300,000 net in excess of the earnings for the corresponding period last year. The Chicago branch is now carrying a business of $400,000 per month, and the business with Detroit shows an enormous increase."

Mr. Gould said that he was surprised and gratified at the outlook for traffic in Illinois, Texas, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. The promise of abundant crops amounted to assurance, and on every hand, among the agricultural and producing classes, were evidences of thrift and prosperity. He said

THE OUTLOOK WAS FAVORABLE to the appreciation of railroad values, and the only threatening indication was the appearance here and there of hostile and adverse legislation. He said the people of Illinois, in his opinion, never meant to confer upon a commission of three men the power to wipe out a railroad. The legislature, he said, might impose certain regulations, but he doubted if it had authority to delegate two or three men, to be designated by a governor, to deprive with one stroke of the pen all the railroads in the state of half their revenues. He thought the people of Illinois were interested in securing to the railroad properties in the state such protection as would enable investors to derive a fair return upon invested capital. "The people of Illinois, and particularly the people of Chicago," said Mr. Gould, "are becoming enormously wealthy, and I hope the day is not far remote when the railroads of this state will be largely owned by your own people, as the roads in the New England states are now owned by the people living there."

Mr. Gould was asked if he apprehended any disturbance between the lines west of the Missouri river in consequence of the extension of the Missouri Pacific through Nebraska to Omaha. He replied that the right of the Missouri Pacific company to build north to a connection with the Union Pacific would not be disputed. "The Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific interests," said he, "are mutual to some extent, and it was desirable to bring the two systems into closer connection. We have on the Missouri Pacific, in Missouri, extensive coal mines, within less than three hundred miles from the Union Pacific, and the latter road can get a portion of its fuel supply from us more cheaply than it can get it from the mines eight hundred miles west of which he is president, is new company to Omaha, in the west, Larado in the southwest, and New Orleans in the south, and as this is not a favorable time for organizing new extensions, the companies now settle down to the task of earning money.

An inquiry about the redemption of outstanding unlimited tickets issued by the Washash and other roads, and the prospect for a restoration of rates to the tariff in force prior to the unpleasantness between the companies, elicited from Mr. Gould the reply that no conference relative to the matter had taken place at St. Louis, though such a meeting had been contemplated. He admitted that, since his efforts to effect a settlement of the differences some months ago, during a visit to Chicago, and which had been unsuccessful, he had taken little or no interest in the matter, though he was free to say that the companies had been guilty of extreme wastefulness of the revenues of stockholders.

WILL GO INTO COURT.

F. J. McShane Declares Himself the Duty Elected Secretary of the School Board.

As will be seen by reference to the school board proceedings published elsewhere there is quite a fight in the board over the succession to the office of secretary, held last year by Mr. Chas. Conroyer, the present incumbent, who is a candidate for re-election, and his opponent is Mr. F. J. McShane.

A BEE reporter met Mr. McShane on the street yesterday and inquired: "Well, what did the school board do last night?"

"They accomplished nothing last night," I presented my bond and offered my qualifications, but they refused to take any action on the matter."

"How do you think the contest will result?"

"On the first night I received four votes and was declared elected by the President. I don't know how it will come out."

"Was the vote reconsidered?"

"No, but the President declared a new ballot."

"Did you raise any objections to the new ballot?"

"Yes and gave notice that I would hold the ballot."

"Will the ballot by which you were elected hold good in law?"

"From the best legal advice I can get, it will."

"Will there be a point raised in regard to that?"

"I guess so."

"What will be the outcome of the whole business?"

"I don't know. I claim an election and will prosecute my claim in the courts."

A prominent physician of Pittsburg said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health.
