DELONG AND PARTY.

National Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 5.—Official circles, particularly naval, have been shocked by reception by Secretary Chandler this evening of the following message:

LENA DELTA, March 24, 1882. Found Delong and party dead. Found all papers and books. Will continue search.

(Signed) MELVILLE. The general opinion is that the ship capsized in a gale, and that nothing but the bodies, if anything, will be found. The recovery of Delong's papers is considered extremely fortunate.

THE LAST LETTER.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The following last letter was received from Delong. It gives the names of the men who were in the boat when it parted from the others during the gale. Every one of the fourteen persons named, with the exception of Nindermann and Noras, who left Delong and went after succor, perished with their brave commander, and have now been found in their icy shroud by Melville.

LENA DELTA, Monday, Sept. 19, '81. The following named fourteen persons, belonging to the steamer Jeanette, which was sunk by the ice on June 18th, 1881, in lat. north 77 m. west 15, long. 115, landed here on the evening of the 17th. They will proceed on foot this afternoon to try to reach a settlement on Lena river.

(Signed) GEO. W. DELONG, Lieutenant Commanding. First—Lieut. Delong. Second—Surgeon Amoler. Third—Mr. Collins. Fourth—W. F. C. Nindermann. Fifth—A. Gatz. Sixth—A. H. Sam. Seventh—Mr. Alexy. Eighth—H. H. Erickson. Ninth—H. H. Koch. Tenth—C. W. Boyd. Eleventh—W. Lee. Twelfth—N. K. Werson. Thirteenth—L. G. Noras. Fourteenth—T. Dressler. Whoever finds this paper is requested to forward it to the secretary of the navy, with a note of the time and place where found.

CAPITAL NOTES.

National Associated Press. THE SHIPWRECK INVESTIGATION. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Senator Blair was cross-examined by Belmont, and refused to state how much Peruvian stock he got as a counsel fee, as he thought it not essential to the public interest to answer such questions. Blair understood at the first interview witness was counsel for Shipperd, and neither witness nor Blair saw any such relations.

Belmont repeated his question about the amount of stock, Blair saying he would answer if Belmont could give a good reason. Belmont said he had a good reason for asking, but was not ready to state it. Witness said his opinions as Shipperd's counsel were regarding the importance of the attitude of the government towards the claim, and he regarded its scrip as valueless until the claim was shown to be just, and the government's policy defined towards Chili and Peru, and Peru's temper towards the claim was made known, these turned out favorably, then the capital of the company became valuable. Witness refused to state the nature of the interest. Grant took in the matter on the ground the knowledge was confidential.

Belmont appealed to the chair to compel an answer. The chair ordered an answer, and Blair again pleaded confidence on the ground that all he knew about Grant's interests were obtained from Shipperd, his client. He denied the statement of Shipperd that the alleged bribery of Harbut was mentioned by Shipperd at the interview with Blair. Shipperd's letter to Arizal was sent without consent of the witness, and did not correctly represent the views of the department of state, as the senator would have considered it his duty to notify the government of this gross misrepresentation if he did not believe it Harbut's business to do so.

RE-ARRANGING THE SUPREME COURT.

The committee of the American Bar association appointed to consider the subject of reorganizing the supreme court, have completed their labors, resulting in three reports, which are to be made public Monday. Four members—E. G. Phelps, of New England, Cortland Parker, of New Jersey, Wm. M. Evans, of New York and Richard Q. Merriock, of Washington, have recommended that the supreme court be divided into chambers to be arranged by the court. United States judges are designated for each by the court from time to time as it thinks proper, the sections or chambers to hear such cases as may be assigned to them by the court, except cases of certain classes, which shall not be heard by less than seven judges sitting together.

THE CHRONICLE PULLED.

Alonso Bell, assistant secretary of the Interior, swore out warrants today charging the proprietors of The Evening Chronicle with criminal libel, for publishing that he was cognizant of flagrant robberies and abuses in the department, which could not have been perpetrated without his virtual concurrence. The names of ex-Secretary Schurz and the ex-commissioner of the land office are mentioned in the same article. Other suits are likely to result. The cases are set for trial Monday.

CONGRESS.

National Associated Press. SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Senator Windom, from the committee on transportation, reported a bill for a survey of the passes between the affluents of the Missouri river and Columbia river, with a view of ascertaining the practicability of uniting the rivers by canal or otherwise.

Senator Windom offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate the allegations respecting the whisky ring. Passed. After the morning hour the bill to establish an intermediate court of appeals was again taken up.

Senator Garland made a long speech in favor of the bill, and urged that Senator Tinsley's substitute would be accepted as a separate measure.

Senator Fry spoke in opposition to the substitute. Senators Beck and Morgan asked that the bill go over until Tuesday to allow the American Bar association to make a report on the subject. Finally it was postponed until Monday.

The following bills were passed: To open to settlement an entry certain lands in Nebraska withdrawn by an executive order for military purposes; authority for the construction of a street railway between El Paso, Tex., and Paso Del Norte, Mex. The senate adjourned at 4:30 p. m. till Monday.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

The tariff commission bill was taken up. Mr. Randall argued in favor of the abolition of all internal revenue taxes, and collection of a government revenue by import duties. This would afford all the protection necessary for the industries of the country.

Mr. Tucker followed, urging a tariff for revenue only. At 2 o'clock Mr. Kelly took the floor on the tariff bill. He said he favored the bill because the discussion had shown this congress was unfit to handle the subject. Kelly criticized the speeches of Hewitt, Springer and Dannel severely. Hewitt was particularly annoyed at this. At one point Kelly criticized the statement made by Hewitt in a former speech that the American tariff was responsible in part for the depression of 1873, which extended all over the business world.

Mr. Hewitt replied he thought it was the case, which Mr. Kelly responded, "Yes, and you thought the money letter genuine," whereas there was a burst of laughter on the other side.

Mr. Kelly yielded constantly to questions, and the debate, which closed at 4 p. m., was animated and very interesting. Mr. Randall offered an amendment, making the commission consist of the part of senators and members of congress, and Mr. McLean offered an order directing the bill to be recommitted and so changed as to reduce the internal revenue tax, and so reduce and simplify the tariff to meet the expenses of the government.

The house then took a recess until 7:30 p. m., the evening session to be for the consideration of pension bills only.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

National Associated Press. MOUNT STERLING, Ky., May 5.—A daughter of Mr. Robert Sterling, of Breathitt county, was killed by a pistol in the hands of Ben McIntosh. A Weeping Bride.

National Associated Press. COHES, N. Y., May 5.—Social circles are greatly agitated over the unexpected termination of the preparations for the marriage of W. H. Wiley to Florilla Ballard, daughter of the superintendent of the Ogden mills. The trousseau was purchased and everything went smoothly until the knot was to be tied on the evening of the 31st inst. The bride was ready and a large number of invited guests had arrived, when the young lady's father received a telegram informing him that Wiley was a married man and that he left this afternoon for parts unknown. The grief of the intended bride can be better imagined than described. It is now learned that Wiley's real name is Lucia and he came from Vermont to Cohoes some months ago. He represented himself as being from Kentucky.

Educational Matters at Osceola—A Squabble Over the New Court House.

Correspondence of The Bee.

OSCEOLA, Neb., May 5.—At the annual school election the old plan of three directors was abolished and six trustees elected. The salaries for teachers were fixed at $65 per month for principal, $50 for intermediate and $40 for primary. This we do not consider enough, and we cannot hope to retain good teachers at those wages. And why the teacher of the primary department should work for the least pay, while it is decidedly the most difficult department to teach, I am not able to understand. A recent visit to the various departments convinced me that our teachers are fully up to the times in educational work. The rooms are beautifully decorated with pictures and mottoes, and each window is ornamented with plants, which the scholars are expected to care for and study, all of which helps to make our school a home with its family circle.

Rev. L. P. Norcross, for three years pastor of the Congregational church, preached his farewell sermon in the M. E. church last Sabbath evening to a large audience. On Monday evening his church gave a farewell social, which, but for the regret at his departure, was a very pleasant affair.

Our new court house, which, according to contract, should have been completed last December is still unfinished, although the work is being rapidly pushed. The offices of the court house have been completed for some months, and a strong effort was made by the county officers to have the county commissioners get possession and allow the officers to move in, but after a two days and one night session, at which the contractor offered to rent to the county the completed offices at ten cents a month, or free if they choose to accept it, without prejudice to future settlement, the commissioners demanded that the contractor pay the expenses of night watch and office rent since December last, which the contractor refused to do. In the meantime the expenses at the rate of $100 per month continue. The officers are crowded into dark, dingy rooms, the public records are exposed, and a good prospect for the county to become involved in an expensive law suit.

SLOCUMB AROUND.

The Old Man's Method Takes Root in Missouri Soil.

Burlington Junctionites Down on Budget-Local Matters in General.

Correspondence of The Bee.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION, Mo., May 4.—Our little city is quiet. The farmers are busy putting in their crops and trade is dull, but there is considerable building going on, nevertheless.

Last night our young folks gave a May-day entertainment at Waro's opera hall. The exercises were good. The music deserves special praise. A Mr. Frazier brought the house down by his comic and eloquent delivery of some well selected declamations. The entertainment was under the management of the teachers of our schools.

Our people have evolved from a town government to a city of the fourth class. At the last meeting the board of aldermen raised the license from $600 to $1,000 per annum. It has caused considerable comment. Some of the saloon men and their friends claim it is prohibition. The city council say that if that be so the saloon keepers can go into a better business, for they know of those who will pay it if they can get the required petition.

The ordinance provides that before Burlington Junction shall grant a license to any person whatsoever, said person must present to the board of aldermen a petition of the majority of the tax paying citizens of the whole city praying for such license. This very equitable and just ordinance gives the people a chance to decide if they want saloons or not. One of our saloons, for want of license, closed yesterday.

Burlington Junction has a good lodge of Odd Fellows and a good Masonic lodge. They are both in a very prosperous condition. We also have a lodge of United Workmen, and one of Good Templars of 120 members.

It is rumored that we are to have another newspaper here to be called The Burlington Herald, to be run by a gentleman from Iowa by the name of Hawley. We have already one paper, The Burlington Junction Post. It is a good newspaper, but is neutral, or, in other words, takes no sides nor expresses an opinion. It is edited by Messrs. Bryant and Charles. They are both fine gentlemen of the best of character, and only edit a no-opinion paper because they think, owing to the size of the place, it is best suited for the people. This does not suit the utterly utter radicals. They want something stronger. It is to be hoped, however, that they will get a man of more business and more stability than the one they first talked of, or that was here to see them Saturday night.

Our citizens hold a public meeting to-night, to take into consideration the advisability of extending our city limits. We are growing so fast that we need more territory.

There are to be some very substantial brick business houses built this spring. In other words, Burlington Junction is to enjoy a boom.

TURNING A NEW LEAF.

Blair Comes to the Front as the Prettiest Town in the State.

Business and Building Activity—The Talk of the Town.

Correspondence of The Bee.

BLAIR, Neb., May 4.—The many trees along the streets of Blair are now fully leafed out in their new green foliage, and the neat and tasty yards and residences presents to the eye a lovely scene. Nowhere in the state is there a city where so much pains is taken with the streets and sidewalks as in Blair. The residents on Colfax street have just completed the planting of a row of fine trees through the center of the street from end to end, nearly a mile long. The streets in the business part of town are at present full of moving buildings to make room for fine brick blocks that are now in process of erection. Stone from the quarry in the southern part of the state is being used for foundations in these buildings.

The activity of Blair is strong and steady. Political, social and church scandals or sensations are unknown here. Politicians of the high order (such as senatorial or gubernatorial candidates) and pulpit shows avoid this place as they would a calaboose—in fact that is about where they land when they stop over night, or at least that has been the fate of the pulpit shows. While Lincoln, Omaha and other places are agitated over these things we are unmolested.

At present some commotion is being stirred up over the publication of notices for druggists' permits. The druggists published in the Republican and at a meeting of the city council to grant permits, Mr. Hilton, of the Pilot, filed an affidavit that his newspaper had the largest circulation in the county. This had to be contradicted by the druggists, or they would have to publish again, but when before the council Brother Sprague, of The Republican, said he could not swear that the circulation was in our county. Hilton is the victor. Both parties were white and trembling when summoned before the board, but when Sprague said he could not swear as to his circulation, Brother Hilton assumed an attitude of defiance, and demanded to be sworn, the council were compelled to accept his paper as the official one.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5.—Alf. Dogal was convicted at Grafton yesterday of the murder of Policeman Lark Hancock, and was sentenced to hang June 29.

THE MALLEY TRIAL.

NEW HAVEN, May 5.—In the Malley trial to-day the cross-examination of Mrs. Cramer was continued. Her testimony remained unshaken.

Mrs. Chas. K. Miller testified that she saw Jennie Cramer in company with Blanche Douglas on August 4, between 2:30 and 3 p. m. This is a flat contradiction of what Blanche Douglas has always stated, that she did not see Jennie alive on the afternoon of August 4. The cross-examination elicited nothing.

Miss Minnie Repsteen, who resides opposite Elliott's house, knew Jennie since childhood; saw her in one of the windows of Elliott's house rooms on Wednesday afternoon and evening in company with a young man.

The court adjourned till Tuesday. The excitement and anxiety to hear the remaining testimony of the last witness is great, and important developments are expected.

FORGERS ON TRIAL.

CHICAGO, May 5.—To-day the defense was opened in the trial of James B. Doyle, the alleged partner of Brockman and Smith, the ingenious forgers of government money and securities. The day was devoted to the testimony of Brockman, alias Spencer, which sought to prove that Doyle was not an accomplice, but an innocent dupe. While on the stand Brockman said: "I had known Mr. Doyle a long time; he was as honest and square as ever lived; if there is an imposition in this business, he is the man that is imposed on, and I am the man who imposed on him." Brockman stated he delivered the bonds to Doyle in his (Brockman's) room in Brooklyn.

A MURDERER'S DOOM. DES MOINES, May 5.—F. W. George was today convicted of murder in the first degree, and the jury determined he shall be hung for the murder of Dr. Epps in this city last July. Under the Iowa statute capital offenses must be determined by the jury. The judge has no power to pass sentence of death unless so determined, nor can he modify the verdict. When a capital offense is determined by the jury the verdict must be approved or set aside by the judge. This law was passed two years ago, and was calculated to partially restore capital punishment, which had previously been legislated out of existence, and this is the first conviction of a capital offense under it. The district judge will pass sentence May 11th.

SUICIDE. ST. PAUL, Minn., May 5.—This afternoon T. B. Kuse, aged fifty-one, a cabinet maker, shot himself through the head at his home, corner of Du Bois and Somers streets, in the presence of his family. He died instantly. Cause, domestic troubles, which had unsettled his mind.

KANUCK CUTTHROATS.

MONTREAL, May 5.—The murder of Capt. Jackson, who was found in the woods near Sutton, Province of Quebec, was followed by the arrest to-day of William Richards, at Springfield, Mass. Jackson, at the time of his disappearance, had several hundred dollars in money. Richards, who was the last person seen with the murdered man, also disappeared immediately afterwards. His whereabouts was learned by a letter addressed to his residence here. Richards is now lying in jail in Hartford, Conn. He will be extradited at once and brought to Sweetburg, Quebec, and tried for murder.

In China.

Laramie Boomarang.

There is one custom in the Celestial empire that we would like to see turned loose here. Boys in China are not supposed to be responsible until they arrive at about the age of twenty years, and their parents are held responsible for all their crookedness, just the same as the owner of any other dangerous animal is held responsible for damages.

Supposing a bad boy walks up and throws a stone through your bay window that shatters a fine calla and busts the statue of the sweet singer of Michigan, you do not go out and chase him four blocks with an iron rake and club him till he gets out of reach, but you just get an old hoe handle that swings easy, and you search out the boy's parents and wear them out with the hoe handle, and mix them up with the sand. Then if the boy don't behave himself you can go to other relatives of his, and gradually enlarge the circle of your acquaintance, until you have mauled the entire relationship, even including the old grand-parents of the boy, and if any of these people resist they are subject to imprisonment.

This law, although apparently stringent, is a good one. It makes parents take more interest in their children and look out for them more accurately. It encourages parents to know where their boys are, and to keep their eyes on them more than they do here in Laramie. Why, if that law was to go into force here, some men we know would have to take an arctic bath twice a day and they wouldn't have a whole bone in their body. We like to see a bright, active boy with good health and sound lungs, but the thriving blossom that that will develop into a Jesse James, we have no use for.

If the Chinese law could be enforced here against those parents who are breeding up a squad of hoodlums we would not weep. It would be pretty active work for the avenger and his hoe handle, but it would institute a reform at least. As it is now, a building cannot be left unoccupied over night before every pane of glass is broken and the walls smashed in. Now if the owner had a right to climb the male parent of those boys and knock his shoulder blades through his spleen and tangle his works all up so that hereafter his food wouldn't be of any benefit to him, it might arouse an interest in his children so that he would make them ornaments to society.

You can't do much with a strange boy anyhow. If you spank him with an old window shutter, he goes home and tells his father, and the old man tells him to go right back and do the same thing and he will stand by him. Then the boy returns and repeats and you start after him with the intention of killing him, but as he turns the corner a quarter of a mile away and puts his thumb on his nose and waves his fingers in the air, you control your brutal temper and go home.

That's the reason why in twenty years from now it will be a bitter cold day when the telegraph doesn't give us the particulars of twenty-seven murders and thirteen train robberies.

LINCOLN, May 5.—There is a little more life apparent about Lincoln now as the date for the meeting of the legislature draws near. Members and candidates make frequent pilgrimages hither, as if endeavoring to forecast the course of events. A large number of changes have taken place in the legislature since the last meeting, no fewer than eleven names having been changed. In the senate there are three new members, Mr. R. B. Harrington, of Deatrice, who as receiver of the land office to take a place in the senate; resigned his seat in the senate after the session to take his land office again, but in some way failed to connect. He is succeeded by Mr. George H. Castle, of Blue Springs, Gage county. Senator C. W. Pierce, of Lancaster county, resigned to take the receivership of the Lincoln land office, and Mr. P. H. Walker, of Waverly, will occupy his place at the extra session. U. S. Senator Chas. H. Van Wyck, of Otoe, is succeeded by William Campbell, of Nebraska City. In the house the changes are more numerous. Mr. Robert B. Graham, of Waverly, Lancaster county, is now county treasurer, and his place is taken by Mr. M. H. Wescott, of Malcolm. Representative W. B. Gray, of Carleton, Fillmore county, is

NO LONGER A MEMBER, and Mr. Nelson Anderson of Geneva will take his seat. Mr. H. C. Kaley resigned to take a position as consul at Chemnitz, but now represents Nebraska in a better world, while his brother, C. W. Kaley, has been named as his successor. H. P. King, of Seward county, retires in favor of Luther Chadcock. R. W. Montgomery, of Furnas county, has been installed in the Bloomington land office, and his legislative seat is to be warmed by G. M. Tomblin, of City. Mr. T. L. Schick, of Brownville
