-A move is being made to secure for this city a new and complete directory, and Mr. J. P. Bushnell, of Des Moines, is now on the ground laying out the preliminary work. This city needs a good directory, and needs it badly, and the promise is made that this new one will meet that want fully. Mr. Bushnell has had experience, and the directories which he has prepared for other cities and his own personal standing are assurances sufficient that the public may expect a full, correct and convenient directory of this city.

-Rev. Mr. Copeland will lecture tomorrow evening at Dohany's on "The Devil," the same to begin at 7:30 o'clock. -A peculiar and touching funeral was held yesterday afternoon. The procession consisted of Marseal Jackson and two prisoners at the jail, who occupied the broad seat of the former's buggy. The remains thus laid at rest consisted of two dead dogs. There is not any work to speak of for the prisoners, and hence they are used for all such odd jobs as this, and seem to rather enjoy the chance to be free for a thort time from the stench and sickening air which pervades the calaboose. There ought to be more work, and more fresh air for the prisoners, for confinement in the present hole must be horrible ver's hall. G. Deidrich was called to on hot days.

The Campaign at Avoca.

A very interesting prohibition meeting was held last Thursday night in Avoca, under the auspices of the Knox county prohibitory amendment

The meeting was called to order and presided over by E. Fitch, who an-nounced the object of the gathering and presented the necessity of carnest and unite I work to secure the success of the amendment.

Col. L. W. Tulleys, the first speaker, devoted his time to the consideration of the business phase of the question, and urged that it was to the highest interest of every business man to vote

Capt. J. W. Hamilton followed with an earnest speech of over an hour, to which the audience listened attentively, showing their appreciation by frequent outbursts of applause. The captain was outspoken and aggressive in his dealing with the question in hand.

The choir rendered an excellent anthem, and a song and duet added to the interest of the occasion Other meetings are to follow, and Avoca bids fair to be thoroughly enlightened on the pros and cons of the issue before the time set for balloting. THE OTHER SIDE.
