Table with columns for Station, Barometer, Thermometer, Direction of Wind, Force of Wind, State of Weather.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

This is circus day. Januscheck comes to-morrow night. Ashland bridge is now open for travel. As no bonds accompanied the recently received bill for grading the north side of Farnam street, the commissioners will advertise over again. The fine passenger steamer Wyoming, on route from St. Louis to Benton, was expected by her agents here yesterday, but did not put in an appearance. The Denver train was held three hours Saturday night for the Barrett troupe, who open in Denver to-night. It saved them twenty-four hours time. Mr. J. T. Allan goes out to-day to bring back a carload of evergreens from Colorado for planting along the U. P. railway in the Platte valley. Two of the drivers with Sells Brothers' circus are old Omaha boys—Ed Simpson, an old express man, and "Charley," who worked last summer for James Stephenson. Mr. Bernard Bigby will lecture in Brownell Hall to-day at three o'clock p. m., on "Tom Brown at Rugby and Oxford." The public are invited. The parties who recently organized an electric light company in St. Joe and put the works there in successful operation, propose to make an effort to establish a similar enterprise in Omaha. William Wright, an aged colored man who collects tin cans in a big bag, fell into the Jones street sewer Saturday night and came near drowning. He was rescued by officers Gorman and O'Grady. T. Henry Tibbles with his wife Susette, better known as "Bright Eyes," and his daughters Eda and May, has gone north. Mr. Tibbles will locate on the Ponca reservation and embark in farming and stock raising. He will make a picturesque picture when he gets his war paint and blanket on. Hon. A. Loudon Snowden, director of the Philadelphia mint, intimates that if the bill for establishing an assay office in Omaha passes both houses of congress, an appropriation of $15,000 to $20,000 can be obtained for the construction of a suitable building, which would be quite an addition to the city. Mr. Samuel Reese, the well known job printer, has purchased two very handsome lots of H. G. Clark, Esq., on South Avenue, and will build a fine house there on some time this fall. The first rehearsal for the grand concert of the Y. M. C. A., which takes place the last of this month, was a big one, and another will take place next Thursday at the same place. Two of the best lady singers in the city will assist on the occasion. The First M. E. Church, under the pastorate of Rev. J. W. Stewart, is increasing its membership nearly every week. Forty-two new members have been received since Mr. Stewart took charge. The prayer meetings are well attended and the outlook is quite hopeful. An inquiry as to whence came the pretty girls and good looking matrons who appeared in such numbers on Farnam street about noon Saturday, developed the fact that they were from Council Bluffs and came over to see Barrett at the matinee, in Keadwell. The county clerk and his assistants are busy preparing an abstract to show a clear title to the land deeded by Mr. Kountze to the Government for the improvements to be made at Fort Omaha. The county commissioners Saturday cancelled the tax of '87 on the property. A crowd of laborers in and in front of the city clerk's office Saturday day attracted the attention of a reporter, who found it was the men who had made the big ditch in North Omaha, being paid off by the committee on water works, to whom the matter was referred at the special meeting of the city council Tuesday night. Mr. Nelson S. Pinney, has been relieved from the office of United States storekeeper of the Will-w Springs distillery at his own request on account of health. Mr. John W. Jacobson, of Hastings and late of Nebraska City, has been assigned to fill the place. The commission of Alonzo Perkins, of Blair, as United States storekeeper has been received. The committee appointed at the Swedish and Norwegian mass meeting to correspond with the Swedish and Norwegian minister in Washington in regard to the Vice Consulate at Omaha, have received an answer to the effect that Mr. N. N. Vinquest has resigned and that the Consulate is at present vacant, but the Minister intends to propose a person to fill the vacancy and will not allow the Swedes and Norwegians of Nebraska to select or recommend any person to fill the position. The steamer Behan arrived in this city Saturday morning en route from St. Louis to Blomark. She had some freight for Omaha parties, and took on a small consignment of freight here for up river parties. While lying tied up to the bank just above the Union Pacific bridge, she caught fire near the pilot house, and the crew had a lively fight with water buckets to extinguish the flames. She left Sunday morning. The weather on Sunday was as beautiful as the heart could wish, and citizens generally took advantage of it by making excursions to the park and elsewhere. There was not a livery rig to be had in the city for love or money, and the cars which ran over the new St. Mary's and Park avenue line were crowded down with passengers. The streets were filled with people all day, and the change of temperature was appreciated by everybody. A special train over the B. & M., from Lincoln, arrived yesterday morning with the Sells Bros.' show. The train was composed of about thirty stock, box and platform cars, extra size, manufactured expressly for this outfit. There are also three palatial sleeping cars, made expressly for Sells Bros. The train was side tracked east of the U. P. depot, and the animals and equipage generally unloaded and taken up Farnam street to the circus site on Capital Hill. CATARRH OF THE BLADDER. Stinging irritation, inflammation, all kidney and urinary complaints, cured by "Buchu-papain." $1. Depot at C. F. Goodman.

A LION'S LOVE.

A Birth that Was Not Reported to the City Physician.

A Remarkable Family and a Bit of Family History. "I can't leave you quite so much this morning as usual," said Louis Littlefield, the dairyman, to a customer Saturday, "I had to leave so much for the baby lion?" "What baby lion?" asked the customer. "Why, there's one down on Twelfth street that is only three days old, and feeds out of a bottle like many another baby."

A BIRTH THAT WAS NOT REPORTED TO THE CITY PHYSICIAN.

A BEE reporter, hearing this singular conversation, went in search of the royal infant, which he found, together with its father and mother, at No. 586 south Twelfth street. A wooden cage, closely shut, stood in the front yard, and the reporter on knocking at the door was met by Mr. E. M. Dunton, the young man who owns the animals in question. He very kindly answered the reporter that what he had heard was true, "but," he added, "I want to know before hand that you will not go and say in your paper that I feed the lions on dogs and cats, as was stated last summer of their former owner. I don't do that, for I'm as much opposed to cruelty to animals as any one."

The reporter assured him that he should be fairly represented, and he accordingly led him to the cage, and according to the lid which hangs across the iron barred front. As he did so there was an ominous growling from the interior, and the lid was struck violently by something from the interior, and the lid was suddenly dropped and the reporter revealed, from which four huge eyes like balls of fire glared at the reporter and his informant. Talk about your menageries. No prettier sight was ever seen than these two magnificent specimens of the mountain lion. The pair consist of "Tom," a male and his mate "Fannie," the former two and the latter thirty years old. Tom is the largest, and is about the size of a big Newfoundland dog, though much heavier, and his complexion is but little lighter. Both are tiger-shaped, but much more beautiful than the latter. Both have glossy coats of gray hair, little peaked ears, ferocious-looking rows of teeth, and tusks and great gray eyes that roll restlessly about and look anything but loving. These animals and another were caught in the Big Horn mountains about two years ago by an expert, who pronounced Fannie's mate who escaped, to be over 100 years old, for these animals live to that extreme age. They are the only animals of the kind a standing order of $1,200 for the pair, which he refused, as he intends to keep them for breeding purposes. He bought them about eight months ago, and had them on exhibition at the state fair in September. They are in reality a large species of panther, but are commonly known as the Rocky mountain lion.

There was another female, but she gave birth to a litter of young lions in the fall and they were killed and eaten by Tom when about three weeks old. The mother, after crying for her babies continually, died two days after of a broken heart. Mr. Dunton returned last Sunday from a trip south and on Wednesday Fannie gave birth to three little lions. The proprietor tried to take them out of the cage, but before he could do so Tom struck one and killed him. The mother fighting to retain her children, seized one in her teeth and it died soon after being taken from her. The third was secured unhurt, and this reporter being wrapped in woolen cloth and lying behind the parlor stove. A regular nursing bottle near by, from which the baby is fed regularly, but not too freely. The little lion is about the size of a half-grown cat, is gray, spotted with black, has enormous claws, and a head out of all proportion with its body. It has not yet got its eyes open, but when taken out and petted whines like a kitten with a double set of lungs, and scrambles about as awkwardly as a fule on milk. The animals are all fed on milk and eggs, the old ones also being given raw beef occasionally. It does not do to overfeed them, as they are subject to dropsy if allowed to live too well.

NEVILLE-KEITH

Marriage of Mr. Wm. Neville and Miss Mollie Keith.

The following marriage notice, taken from The North Platte Telegraph of the 11th inst., will be of general interest to our city readers. Mr. Neville was formerly a resident of this city, where he practiced law at one time and subsequently was sent to the legislature which elected the late Hon. P. W. Hitchcock to the United States senate. Dr. Joseph Neville and ex-United States District Attorney James Neville, of this city, are his brothers. Miss Mollie Keith, that was, is also well known here, having spent considerable time here in visits to her many friends. The Telegraph says: "The marriage of Mr. William Neville and Miss Mollie A. Keith, of this city, was consummated at the home of the bride's father, Mr. M. C. Keith, in North Platte, on Wednesday, May 10. It was a private affair, but a few parties outside of relatives of the families being present. The ceremony took place at 8:30 p. m., being the beautiful one of the Episcopal church, and was performed by Bishop Clarkson, of this state. Misses E. C. Casey, Alia Clark, Jessie and Frankie Barton acted as bridesmaids, and were the only persons who stood up with the contracting parties. After the ceremony was performed a fine collation was spread before the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Neville decided to forego the customary wedding tour and have remained in the city, the Senter residence on Fifth street having been fitted up for their occupancy. Of Mr. and Mrs. Neville the Telegraph can say little that is not already known to our people. Mr. Neville has been following his profession, that of law, in this vicinity for several years, and he has built up a reputation as an attorney, second to that of none in western Nebraska. He has had a large and varied experience in the practical walks of life, and the union just consummated will but add impetus to his ability and ambition, as well as enlarge his sphere of usefulness, for marriage is an institution that gives men fidelity of purpose and permanency in the world. Mrs. Neville is a lady who has since known to the people of this city since girlhood, and few command their respect and esteem as an accomplished, able woman, more than she. North Platte has always been proud of her, and the new relationship she has contracted but augments that feeling."

A FRATERNAL VISIT.

An Omaha Organization Pays a Visit to Their Brethren of Council Bluffs. Friday evening a company of over forty of the members and friends of the Young Men's Christian association, of this city, took a special train for Council Bluffs, for a social union meeting with the association of that place. The delegation was met at the transfer by a committee, and escorted to the Baptist church, where a large audience was in waiting. After the singing of several soul-stirring songs by the male choir, Dr. P. J. Montgomery, president of the Council Bluffs association, gave the Omaha brethren a cordial welcome, and after reading the first psalm, introduced Dr. Denise, of Omaha, who congratulated the young men and citizens of the Bluffs that they had reorganized under such favorable circumstances. He exhorted them also to keep free from debt, and not forget their relationship to the church—the arm of which it is. After another song Mr. Warren Switzer was introduced and spoke of the two strong conflicting elements now at work in the world upon the moral character of its people, and especially upon the young men. One of the most potent agencies for the elevation of young men, as had been clearly demonstrated in its work of the past quarter-century, was that of the Young Men's Christian association. "United work for young men, by young men."

Following the address of Mr. Switzer and a selection by the male quartette, Mr. Hower, general secretary of the Omaha association, made a brief talk on the spiritual work of the Y. M. C. A. and incidentally referred to the relationship of the association and church—expressing decided views on this point. The association is the church at work, it seeks by all legitimate means to bring young men under its influence, social and spiritual. When the exercises were concluded three-quarters of an hour was spent in a social way, and the Omaha boys returned with expressions of deep interest in the Council Bluffs work and as being highly delighted with the reception they received.

Ask your druggist for Hering's Russian Salve. Keep it in the house in case of accidents. Price 25c.
