SHIPPERD'S REWARD FOR BLAINE.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Jacob R. Shipperd furnishes the following for publication:

To the Public:—Five dollars reward, and positively no awkward questions asked anybody, will be paid for the return to the undersigned of one James G. Blaine, who has been missing in these parts since my arrival here on or about Monday evening the 10th. Twice the amount of this reward will be paid for the publication of this advertisement in The New York Tribune. When last seen Blaine was making across the country, as at an approximate rate of 10 1/2 miles per hour, said to be the best time ever made by a non-professional. The finder on returning him will be allowed to take him away again as soon as Blaine's clothes have been starched, as no one known to the undersigned has any further use for him. Blaine ran away, as it now appears, carrying off one of the standing committees of congress concealed somewhere about his capacious pockets and somewhat thinly disguised, it is said, as white mice nesting under his new and handsome-fitting Prince Albert coat. For photographs and minute description of this coat and intellectual portrait of Blaine's large and effective countenance, application may be filed at my office. The New York Tribune, intending to find Mr. Blaine and his committee, may communicate with the bereaved clerk of the committee, with which official I will myself deposit the promised reward in case the house of representatives should refuse the necessary appropriation, as I am advised they will, on the ground that it can replace the last committee with a better one for a great deal less money. I don't propose any issue with the house on this or any other occasion, but I have been living with the committee for three months past and I like it and want it back. I am not going to be mean about the reward, which will positively be paid without rebate on delivery of the advertised property. The Peruvian company having discovered that the committee which has so suddenly disappeared, has been all the while a part of the private managements of Blaine, his hidden men offer more than the sum named for its return, and beg to give notice hereby, that it will resume business at the old stand, and will not hereafter confide business secrets to any committee of congress. In this resolution it relies upon the support of every sister corporation in the country. In answer to requests already received from nearly every state in the union, I am considering the expediency of continuing the narrative, suddenly interrupted by the flight of Mr. Blaine and his committee in some other place than the now deserted committee room. The necessary data is all ready, and if the public wants facts and documents, I am rather inclined not to refuse.

LABOR TROUBLES.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 21.—The miners at Whippl and Katy did collieries of the Red Ash Coal company, have struck for payment between the 10th and 15th of every month. They were paid in April on the 22d, and this month pay day has been postponed until the 30th. The miners claim the delayed payments are for the purpose of compelling them to deal at the company's stores.

PITTSBURGH, May 21.—At the convention yesterday afternoon it was resolved that work be suspended in all pits after June 1, if any more colored men are hired or those working are not discharged at that time. THE FENIAN.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. NEW YORK, May 21.—A manifesto has just been issued, signed by order of the executive council of the Fenian brotherhood, declaring to every Irish secret organization that the watch word of hour has gone forth, plugging themselves to apply all their resources with redoubled energy and devotion, with ferocity equal to that of their arch enemy, to the great work fronting them, and urging upon all their brethren at home and abroad the necessity greater than ever of consolidation of all available forces and hearty co-operation of their common object, the destruction and annihilation of British power in Ireland, whose existence they claim is the cardinal reproach and the supreme and burning shame of modern civilization.

PEORIA'S FROST.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. CHICAGO, May 21.—It has been discovered that the extensive grain house of Hancock, Beale & Co., of Peoria, has been enjoying a cut rate of 5 cents per bushel less on grain to New York than other houses, over the Erie road. A petition, signed by members of the board of trade yesterday, asked the Erie to abrogate this discriminating rate which tends to injure the trade. The above firm was selling grain in the eastern market at less than other houses, and suspicion being aroused, led to the discovery.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21.—The guard that carried Guiteau his breakfast to-day also handed him a paper. The prisoner read it between bites. When the dishes were removed he said: "The death warrant will be issued to-morrow, eh? Better wait till the last card is played. I don't believe the court-in-banc will decide against me, but if they do the supreme court will grant a writ habeas corpus," and so the great assassin seems to keep up hopes.

The warden says he feels depressed because he is not allowed company, but he has no fear of his fate. An unusual crowd visited the jail to-day hoping to see him once before his sun is set, but no one was admitted but his counsel, Reed. Reed refuses to tell what passed. He says Guiteau keeps his nerve. When asked if he encouraged Guiteau to hope, he said no. There is too much of the lawyer in him not to know he is not gone until all the wires are pulled. Reed does not speak over confidently of an effort to get a writ of habeas corpus from the court and the general opinion is it will not be issued. Reports as to the probable disposition of Guiteau's body may be set down as conjectures. Disposition will be made according to the wish of his friends after the brain is removed.

BIG FIRE IN LEADVILLE.

Destruction of the Block Containing the Windsor Hotel and Palace of Fashion.

Panic Among the Guests of the Hotel, Many of Whom Narrowly Escape.

One Charred Body Found Among the Debris of the Burned Building.

Denver Tribune Dispatches. LEADVILLE, May 19.—Fire broke out at 3:50 this morning in the rear of Frank & Butler's store. No wind. Burned the Windsor, Academy of Music and ten houses. Loss estimated at $500,000. Insurance principally in foreign companies.

When the fire broke out there was the most fearful panic that has ever occurred in Leadville. Mr. Kendrick, the proprietor of the Windsor, was among the first to be aroused, and as soon as he realized the awful position in which his property had been placed he lost no time to do all in his power to save the guests of the house. He rushed frantically from hall to hall, knocking in the doors and shouting, "Fire!" giving all a chance to escape. Men and women rushed from the rooms, and as soon as they got out met others terrified at the position in which they were placed. The Hotel Windsor was one of the oldest hotels in the city, and was constructed in the flimsy manner that formerly was so prevalent in this camp. The walls were but poor partitions of green lumber, over which canvas was stretched, and afforded no protection except from night.

FRANTIC MEN AND WOMEN met in the hall, and were almost paralyzed by smoke and flames. They groped about in every direction until they found some means of exit, and they lost no time in accomplishing their escape, no matter how perilous. Representatives of both sexes were seen coming from the hotel door but thinly clad, bearing their valuables and clothing in hand in order to get out alive. Others, less fortunate in knowledge of the intricacies of the hall, dashed for windows and threw themselves out. Hardly a man or woman thus left the house who today is not suffering from injuries—bruises, burns or sprains. Some of the more timid managed to reach the front, where fire ladders were thrown up for their escape. Style, method or appearance was not thought of. Men rolled down sidewise, headlong and feet first. There were the following PERSONS IN THE HOTEL:

At the time, as indicated by the register, which was fortunately saved by a Philadelphia fireman—Daniel Powell; P. E. Prestonant, Rockton Falls; A. Prestoutant, Rockton Falls; John N. Canning; G. H. Thoun; William T. Uppert; Kokomo; Wilcox Brothers, city; Thomas Dungan, city; James Fimmel, city; John Muellers, city; H. W. Buckmaster, city; Jacob Knodell, city; Henry Kessler, city;—Stevens, A. H. Fuiford, Red Cliff; S. D. Young, city; E. E. Palmer, city; H. B. Haden, Robinson; C. D. Wolrad, New York; Harry J. Hackett, news agent South Park railroad; S. Hawk, city; Frank Sagger, city; N. H. Chamberlain, city; T. J. Moore, Robinson; J. W. Mackinson, Mayville.

THE HELP OF THE HOTEL ALL ESCAPED.

THE SAVED were: J. A. Gamble, Soda Springs; S. A. Rathburn, conductor Rio Grande; F. B. Paris, conductor Rio Grande; George Mitchell, baggage-man Rio Grande; John J. Jones, Robinson; John Simmerman, Lawrence, Kansas;—Ford, of Globe Theater, A. Wall, city; James Blake, New York; William H. Winters, Wilborn T. Street, Clear Creek; C. Casey, J. A.
