ILAYING ON OF HANDS.

Then a woman who said she was very deaf, was prayed over, and afterward repeated questions Dr. Monck asked her in a whisper. A child was cured, apparently, and according to her own declaration, of a very severe headache. Other wonders too, were to all seeming, performed, until the congregation was in a turmoil of excitement, and very few heardthe benediction.

Dr. Monck had apparently forgotten the most popular in a city of popular churches. At present it is of modest pretensions (save in respect to its pastor) and meets for worship twice a week in a small hall on the out one of these, a fine-looking old street.

A neatly painted sign outside the result, but the reporter sought out one of these, a fine-looking old gentleman, and questioned him.

"I certainly felt a shock when he said 'dismiss,'" said the gentleman, "but I don't know if I am cured. I have sore feet, but I certainly have no the Rev. Dr. Monck, but these claims are more fully set forth on a small pain in them now."

The reporter ther

Ingersoll, he said, denies that the miracles of the New Testament ever occurred, and held that they could not, because if they happened then they would now. But, said the preacher, there is such a thing now. The very advertisements in the papers show that there is such a thing as healing by the laying on of hands. Some of those who advertise may be humbugs, but the fact that they advertise shows there is such a thing. President Garfield besuch a thing. Never allow them to throw more At 8 o'clock the little hall was full, than one swarm-whether honey or tor had not appeared. The congregation was not, apparently, one of curiosity seekers nor of ignorant fanatical people. They were mostly people who seemed of more than average intelligence, and who looked as if they had come to worship—certainly not to scoff. Here and there was one who was evidently sick. To one of these the usher said: "He can cure you, and I will prove it to you to-night. He took all the muscular rheumatism out of my back last February and I haven't had a sign of it since." Prezently a boy with a face swollen to the size of two faces came in and a disbeliever in a back seat said: "Well, if he cures him I'll be satisfied." He read a chapter from one of the gospels, with copious remarks on the power of faith, dwelling on the symbolic significance of words, and quoting from yesterday's Herald to emphasize his remarks. How little faith there is, said he. When people have seen the sick healed here and have gone away and teld it their friends have said, "Another good man gone mad!"
