CONGRESS

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The army appropriation bill came up. Senator Davis (W. Va.) offered an amendment that the compulsory retirement clause shall not apply to the general of the army.

Senator Hall offered an amendment that the clause shall not apply to generals and lieutenant generals. Lost, 29 to 34.

Senator Maxey offered an amendment exempting professors at West Point. Adopted. Senator Logan spoke against the exception.

A vote was then taken on Davis' amendment as amended. Senator Logan expressed the hope that it would be voted down, which was done by a vote of 19 to 33.

The amendment providing that the general shall not be retired unless on full pay and allowances was then agreed to.

The amendment appropriating $100,000 to build a government hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and $10,000 for target practice, was agreed to.

Senator Garland in the chair ruled out Senator Plumb's amendment to increase the army 1,000 men in emergency, and appropriating therefor $100,000, on the ground that legislation of this kind cannot originate in the senate.

Debate followed after the bill came from the committee of the whole, but without further amendment the bill was passed by a vote of 42 to 11, and the senate at 5:50 adjourned.

An adverse report was received in the election case of Wilberforce vs. Davidson, Second district of Florida. The judiciary committee's report on land grants to railroads was received.

Mr. Dingler's bill suspending the issue of silver certificates and limiting silver coinage passed. Also a bill for a public building at Dayton, O.

Mr. White renewed his attack on the ways and means committee. Mr. Kelley (Pa.) retorted with a story, showing that paralysis might be, but lunacy was not, a disqualification for congress.

The section of the deficiency bill appropriating $32,000 for defraying the expense of the Yorktown centennial and for the entertainment of national guests, $15,000 for hotels alone, raised a row, Messrs. McMillan and Holman opposing.

Mr. Cobb (Ind.) said he was not willing that a committee directed to do a certain thing at a cost of $40,000, should be contumacious or overlooked in silence in having expended $32,000 more than they were directed to do.

To show how they had expended it he sent to the clerk's desk to have read a bill sent to the committee for wine, &c. The bill took $9,259. The items were champagne, brandies, wines, whisky, cigars, etc., etc. One of them was for a quantity of 1830 brandy, $220; 130 cases of champagne, $1,970; various brands of cigars, $1,500; 63 gallons of whisky, $340.

Mr. Dingley concurred in Mr. Cobb's remarks, saying he thought the committee ought not to be permitted to run into such extravaganzas without rebuke.

Mr. Tucker (Va.) thought this proceeding sham-fal. This committee of honorable gentlemen directed to entertain our invited guests had done so in a proper manner, and to have done so shabbily would have been an insult to the invited guests.

Mr. Robeson concurred in Mr. Tucker's remarks.

Mr. Cobb moved to strike out of the bill the appropriation of $32,000 for expenses of the committee. The motion was lost, only three or four voting in its favor.

Quite a discussion arose over the paragraph to reimburse resident commissioners of the United States to the international electrical congress at Paris, appropriating $1,000 for each, at the close of which a personal altercation arose between Messrs. Cox (N. Y.) and Sparks (Ill.), regarding the right of Sparks to make a point of order which Cox disputed. A passage of words took place in a low tone, intended as an aside and ended by Sparks calling Cox a "little scamp" and Cox replying that he was big enough not to permit himself to be insulted and intimating that Sparks would not dare to thus address him under other circumstances and surroundings.

Mr. Kasson introduced a resolution of sympathy with Italy in the death of General Garibaldi, "a man," he said,

"who never failed to express his regard for human rights." Recess taken till 8 p. m.

THIRTY members were present at the evening session. Half an hour was occupied in passing unimportant bills by unanimous consent. The house then went into committee of the whole on the deficiency bill. Mr. White took advantage of the deficiency in the internal revenue services for an attack on Mr. Carlin's whisky bill, charging the deficiency to increased distillation under that bill.

Mr. Spier denounced the system of informers under the internal revenue service.

Long debate followed on the motion to strike out the item, but it was rejected. The house shortly thereafter adjourned.

CAPITAL NOTES.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: George P. Pomeroy to be agent and consul general of the United States at Cairo; C. J. Brulatour, of Louisiana, to be secretary of legation of the United States at Paris; Eccles G. Van Piper to be consul of the United States at Moscow.

STAR ROUTE TRIALS. Mr. Wilson opened for the defense, and occupied all day presenting his argument.

W. W. COCHRAN is still very ill, and his condition is deemed very critical.

SECRETARY FOLGER is conducting a quiet investigation into the character of the bonds given in payment of tax on whisky in bonded warehouses. Considerable straw bonds have been found already, and other developments are expected.

ALL rumors contrary notwithstanding, it may be definitely stated that not one of the tariff commissioners have yet been decided on. The name of Robert H. Porter, state statistician, was agreed on, but the question of his citizenship has been raised, and an investigation is therefore necessary. Refusals have been received from Messrs. Wheeler, Mitchell and Phelps. The understanding at the cabinet meeting to-day was that the list will be completed at the next meeting.

EXPECTATIONS soon to be released, not by way of granting immunity on account of recent disclosures made by him, but that Brockway being able to give conclusive evidence that at the time of his trial eighteen months ago, he then gave up all his lands and plates in his possession and under his control, and there is no necessity for keeping him under arrest.

THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT has made a ruling to the effect that mail messengers must not deliver mail pouches to railroad agents in the night time later than 9 o'clock p. m., and that authority to do that must first be obtained from the railway division superintendent.

THE ASSASSIN. Guitau received the news of the denial of the motion made to-day to re-open his case with his customary stolidity. He has implicit confidence in Reed's determination, "Never say die." He now characterizes the court-in-banc as cowards and cranks and says, "if the powers that be don't save me, God Almighty will come down on them. I want it distinctly understood that I am God's man. God has revealed to me recently that He will take care of me. All powers of earth cannot prevail against Him. I made Arthur president by God's direction, and God will order him to take care of me. God works through human agencies and Arthur is to be the human agency to save me if necessary."

THE PENNSYLVANIA editorial association, 100 strong, arrived here this afternoon and are quartered at the Metropolitan and Willard's. At 9 o'clock to-night, headed by President Hensell and Senator Cameron, they called on President Arthur and were each introduced by Senator Cameron. Later an informal banquet was tendered at Abner's.

The failure, while a surprise, had not a great influence on the stock market, although it depressed prices 1/4 to 1/2.

ADVERTISING CAMERON.

What Philadelphia Business Men Say in Their Advertisements.

The feeling in Pennsylvania is quite strikingly shown by the following spirited advertisement with which a leading merchant fills a column of big type in the advertising pages of the Philadelphia papers at a cost of several hundred dollars:

HOW TO START A PANIC! "Whom the Gods Would Destroy They First Make Mad"

Owing to the cowardly and un-called-for threatenings against the business interests of Philadelphia, as well as the business interests of the whole state of Pennsylvania—made by Senator J. Donald Cameron at the Continental hotel last Saturday—that if a certain line of political action, which he in a most lordly manner has mapped out, should not get the full assistance of manufacturers and business men generally—owing to this, I say, we are, forthwith, to have an old-fashioned panic.

According to Mr. Cameron's ideas, businessmen and manufacturers count only as so many sheep, to be scared, pushed, and driven in any direction whenever this self-appointed shepherd calls out his faithful watch dogs to drive them as it were to the shambles.

For it is worse than death in the shambles for men to give up their rights and titles to a so-called citizenship for a few dollars which are paid by Cameron's threatened war—and it is only threatened—against the protective tariff of our country.

His threat is idle. He dare not carry it out, nor does his past record show that our manufacturers have much to thank him for.

Another idea of Mr. Cameron's is that manufacturers and business men are a pack of political tramps and office-hunters of no standing or independence, whom he can order round and levy up on, or he would not dare to menace in such an impudent manner the industries of our city and state.

Time has been when the insult offered to the manufacturers and business people of our city and state by Mr. Cameron on Saturday last would lead to a political revolution against such unheard-of tyranny. The very mention of the man's name who dared to trample those liberties most dear to all men would bring forth nothing but words of execration and abhorrence.

Manufacturers and business men may do as they please about following and obeying the commands of this our modern slave-driver, either through fear of loss of business or of the love of being driven; but I know of some manufacturers and business men that, having large interests at stake in Philadelphia, will neither for the threatened loss nor promised congressional honor submit to such base dictation or deviate one hair's breadth from the line of political rectitude and reform.

With such men will remain the hearty sympathy and co-operation of yours truly,

PHILIP J. WALSH.
