LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

—The "Joust" at Boyd's to-night. —John Pierson was Thursday convicted of grand larceny. —The jury in the case of Thos. Donahue disagreed after remaining out all night. —A number of cases in which persons have been poisoned by ivy are reported lately. —The gallery gods were absolutely silent last night, for the first time within the memory of man. —The jury in the case of the State Bank vs. John Greene brought in a verdict of $9,917.05 for the plaintiff. —On the afternoon of July 4th the B. & M. and Atlantic City base ball clubs will play a game in this city. —The Omaha Maecenercher will have a picnic on next Sunday at Hedman's grove, a half mile west of Fort Omaha. —Vanderbilt and his party spent all their money at St. Paul for railroad stock and had to abandon the Omaha trip. —The river is still rising and is now 13 feet 10 inches above low water mark. There is very little drift wood floating. —The old aqueduct of a pond on Thirtieth and Leavenworth streets is as bad ever, the rain yesterday filling it fuller than ever. —A game of base ball for the morning of July 4th is being negotiated between the champion amateur club of Illinois and the U. P. nine of this city. —President Johnson and other officers of the Water Works company, accompanied by the consulting engineer, Mr. J. D. Cook, inspected the reservoir Thursday. —Two new engines for the Galveston, Houston & Southern Arizona railroad were sent west on No. 7. They are of the grand Mogul pattern and are very fine pieces of mechanism. —A special meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held at Knopy's on Monday evening, June 25, for election of officers and such other business as may come before them. —The third annual installation of the officers of the U. C. L. A., will take place at the association rooms on next Tuesday evening. A fine literary and musical program will be rendered on the occasion. —The funeral of the late Leonard Neustrom, which took place yesterday was largely attended by the members of the Moulder's Union and the Q. A. band accompanied the society. The funeral was delayed somewhat by the rain. —The adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Hargrave departed this life yesterday after a short illness. Aged 60 months. The friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend the funeral at the residence, 1214 Davenport street, at 2 p. m. Saturday. —A little three and a half year old boy named Charlie White, son of Mr. Park White, of North Omaha, strayed off from home about 4 p. m. yesterday, and at last accounts was still missing. —Dave Mort, who was boarding with Miss Brady, on Tenth street, was robbed on Friday afternoon of $100. An unknown man entered his room, took the bag and bolted. He has not been captured yet. —Paul Vandervoort, of this city, has been elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by the national encampment, now in session at Baltimore. The delegation from Nebraska will come home with the national banner. —Thursday morning the brick layers working on the South Omaha sewer struck for $3 a day. They were getting $5 which was considered sufficient as the men were unaccustomed to sewer work. Other hands will be put on to take their place. —Two plain cloths were fined the usual amount in the police court yesterday, one being a man and the other a notorious woman of the town. A disturber of the peace who was unable to liquidate the fine assessed against him was sent to work for the city. —The peculiar dark and threatening clouds which circled about the city Thursday made many talk of the probability of a cyclone visiting the city. The rain all passed around until about 8:30 this morning when it began to fall. The heat of the previous forty-eight hours was excessive. —William Patrick was arrested for stealing a pocket book containing $10 from Mary Samston. William spent seven cents a half dollar of the money for a nickel plated watch and afterwards in the generosity of his heart, sent the remaining two and a half dollars to his relatives in Indiana. Notwithstanding his generosity the judge sentenced him to 30 days at hard labor for the benefit of the county. —The W. C. T. U. and the Band of Hope will have a picnic at Hanscom park to-day day, leaving the corner of Fifteenth and Farnam streets at 10 o'clock. As there will be a large number of children it is hoped that the ladies of the W. C. T. U. and all friends of the cause will be liberal in sending in provisions on Saturday morning to the store of Clark & Bros., corner Sixteenth and Davenport streets, from which place arrangements are made for taking them to the park. Any refreshments will be accepted—meats, bread, cakes, etc., or lemonade and sugar.

HEART HARVEST.

A Dakota Miller Carries Home a Golden Sheaf.

He Would Go Through Hades as He Did Through Ice for His Bride.

A Pretty Brownell Hall Girl and Her Heroic Husband.

A Story of Love and Dating in Two Chapters.

A wedding took place in this city Thursday which was of an unusual and very romantic character in some respects. The groom was M. W. Sheafe, a wealthy and prosperous young miller of Elk Point, Dakota, and the bride was Miss Arnes Sparks, a lovely young lady who has been during the past year a student at Brownell hall, where she was finishing a course of studies in music. On the evening of the commencement day exercises, Wednesday, at Masonic Hall, Miss Sparks was one of the participants in the exercises, though not one of the graduates. She attracted much attention by wearing a handsome cream-colored satin dress, with other articles of ornament and beauty, which made her look like a bride. It was in fact her bridal outfit, though that fact was little suspected at the time, and the denouement has created quite a pleasant little sensation not only among her fellow students at Brownell Hall, but with all who had known her in society circles.

PROBABLE SUICIDE.

The Tragic End of a Rather Romantic Life.

An Illicit Love and a Fatal Consequence.

About 11 o'clock yesterday two fishermen, H. G. Paddock and John N. Willis, discovered the body of a man floating in the river between Boyd's packing house and the John Grason stone quarry. After securing it to the bank they notified Coroner Jacobs and he went down and transferred the remains, which were in an advanced state of decomposition, to his undertaking rooms, where an inquest was held at 3 o'clock. From the letters and papers found on the body it was identified as the remains of James M. Vandenberg, a man about 58 years of age, who was employed for some time as copyist in the county clerk's office. About two months ago his disappearance became so noticeable, and so unaccounted for, that he was charged. For a few days he was seen about and then suddenly disappeared, his absence exciting but little comment and no investigation. Through the discovery of the body, however, opened up the pathway to what must have been a life of considerable romance and interest. The deceased has a brother, a wealthy Denver cigar and tobacco merchant, and to him a telegram was sent yesterday and pending the receipt of a reply the body was given temporary burial in the city morgue. The majority of our citizens know that the hospital is in charge of the sisters of the order of St. Francis, who are educated and trained as nurses by experience gained in similar institutions and on the battle field. Their lives are devoted to the cause, and their duty calls it difficult to select those who should be entrusted with the care of the sick. At the breaking out of the small pox in this city two of the sisters were detailed as nurses, Sister Xavier and Sister Lucile, and while a relief was furnished at times, the former remained at her post almost without intermission for three months and a half. The great strain on her constitution had its effect in a serious case of typhoid fever, from which she is just recovering, and we are happy to say is out of danger.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

That Mad Dog.

That statement in THE BEE last evening is entirely incorrect, and does me injustice. The "large and vicious dog" was a six months pup. Hope's boy was playing with him in my yard, when the pup snapped him. The boy was scared and began to cry, when my wife went to him and pulled down his stocking, but could not find the least sign of blood, the teeth not having punctured the skin. Hope came to my place and said he wanted to kill the dog, and I told him he could, as I did not like to do it myself. When they came for the dog, Mr. McCune, the officer, told me if I did not want it killed, I could take it home and keep it tied up. I told him I would rather have it killed, providing he would do it himself, so as not to torture it. The dog did not have the least sign of hydrophobia. There was no reason for falsifying the case, except, as Hope stated to me yesterday, it would be an advertisement to him.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A Dead Beat Arrested For an Alleged Burglary.

At an early hour last evening considerable excitement was created in the vicinity of Sixth and Pacific streets, by the attempt of a man to raise the windows and gain entrance to a grocery store in that locality. The grocer nabbed the fellow in the act, and a telephone message was sent to police headquarters, which brought promptly on the spot. The supposed burglar was a cripple and a hunchback and was discharged from the city jail only yesterday morning. He seemed loath to go, and after hanging around awhile, his departure was accelerated by a kick. He went off and was not seen again until the robbery was attempted.

full force, played a big part in the burlesque and evinced the fact that they had undergone careful training. The performance of last evening will be repeated this evening, and will be witnessed by a large audience. DUNCAN'S DISASTER. A Bridge Falls and Precipitates Its Load Into the Creek. A Wild Time With the Bronchos. THE BEE has often called attention to the unsafe condition of the bridge on North Omaha creek near Saunders street. The first heard of last night's event there was the crash of the falling timbers and a large crowd was at once attracted to the spot. It was then discovered that a drove of Mexican bronchos was being driven across the Saunders street bridge and that the supports gave away and precipitated the result. The bronchos, 200 in number, belonged to Mr. George J. Duncan, and were in charge of W. H. Lincoln, who was driving them to the yards for the night. All but five of the undermost were enabled to escape unhurt, with one or two exceptions, and it was difficult to determine just how badly they were injured. One horse, however, to have had his back broken, and several others were stunned so badly that they fell down several times in the water before they could be pushed on up the creek where they were finally driven upon the bank. The remaining horses under the bridge were rescued by the crowd of men who had provided ropes and planks for the work. All were at length rescued, and while some may be crippled, none will die from the terrible tumble. The cause of the accident is attributed to the frost of yesterday morning, though the bridge has been condemned time and time again by the citizens, and the attention of the city council has been called to its unstable condition upon several occasions. The bridge across the same creek on Twenty-first street has sagged down at least three feet, and will not stand half the weight that was the immediate cause of the disaster, and yet teams and pedestrians are allowed to pass over it, and the Ninth street bridge is in a bad shape too. This accident should prove a warning to all concerned. It is very fortunate that the Saunders street bridge fell when it did, as in all probability, a heavily loaded street car would most certainly have met the fate of the animals. As it was, a car had just passed over, meeting the horses a few feet north of the bridge, and is consequently out of passenger traffic, and will not be taken to the barn for some little time.

AID FOR IOWA.

The Meeting to Organize for the Relief of Cyclone Sufferers.

The Subscription List Well Begun and to be Kept Up.

In response to the call of Mayor Boyd for a public meeting to take steps for relief of the sufferers by the late cyclone in Iowa, a number of prominent citizens met at the court house last evening. The meeting was organized by the election of Mayor Boyd as chairman and Mr. Leavitt Burnham as secretary. It was moved and carried that an executive committee be appointed, to consist of seven members, with Mayor Boyd as chairman, who should have the power to appoint sub-committees to solicit subscriptions and collect donations and forward them. The chairman appointed the following: P. L. Perine, Ezra Millard, C. Chase, W. V. Morse, John McCune, and Samuel Burns. The committee are hereby requested by the chairman to meet him at his office at 10 o'clock this morning, to take immediate action. A subscription paper was opened and the following subscriptions were received: J. E. Boyd, $50; John McCune, $25; T. A. McShane, $10; J. C. Cowin, $10; E. W. Wakeley, $10; S. H. Jackson, $10; Leavitt Burnham, $10; Charles McDonald, $10; John Hamner, $10; George Hunt, $10; M. Hellman & Co., $25; T. A. McShane agreed to give 200 pounds of flour. M. Hellman & Co. proposed to ship a box of clothing equal to their subscription and in addition to it. Chas. McDonald proposed to send an amount of clothing equal to his subscription. Chairman Boyd gave notice that he will receive subscriptions sent to his office on Harney street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, and forward them for such parties as are not reached personally by the committee. BISHOP CLARKSON'S LETTER to Mayor Boyd is as follows: OMAHA, June 23, 1882. James E. Boyd, Esq., My Dear Sir:—You have done a right thing in asking the people of Omaha to help our unfortunate and afflicted fellow-citizens who were injured and impoverished by the Iowa tornado. I wish I could be present at the meeting to-night, but I have made all my arrangements to leave this city to-day and can't change them. You have my hearty sympathy in your noble work, and I sincerely hope that the citizens of Omaha will show their accustomed generosity and kindness-heartedness and send their proportion for the relief of these poor sufferers. I send you what I can spare. I wish it was ten times as much. Very truly your friend, ROBERT H. CLARKSON.

JOUST.

Happy Success of the Estabrook Burlesque.

The presentation of the charming burlesque, "The Joust," at the Boyd last evening was a signal success, both from a musical and dramatic view of it. Those of our citizens who witnessed the rendition of it in this city a year or two since, will see a marked improvement throughout, both in the opera itself and the cast. Of course, the center of attraction to those who can more critically criticize good music, and also to others who know good acting when they see it, was the sprightly Cecil, by Mrs. Estabrook. This lady seemed to surpass herself in the rendition of the principal character in the opera, and her singing was as exquisite as ever. Miss Springer as Rachel was admirably done, and applause seemed to be almost equally divided her and Cecil. She, too, fortifies her power as a singer with graceful movement and a happy manner. Mr. W. B. Wilkins always acquits himself well, whenever he tries, and he maintained his character of Frank in a manner quite in a par with the others. His voice was in good trim last evening and elicited repeated applause. Mr. Estabrook as George made a strong character. He sang well and he acted well. The part could not have been better taken. Last, but not least, Freddie comes in for more than passing notice. U. S. Sanders, as was the case when "The Joust" was first presented in this city, took this "swell" character, and he took it better than ever.

THE HARMONIC SOCIETY CHORUS.

The Harmonic Society Chorus, under the direction of Geo. F. Mayer, in full force, played a big part in the burlesque and evinced the fact that they had undergone careful training. The performance of last evening will be repeated this evening, and will be witnessed by a large audience.

IN THE GUTTER.

A Laboring Man Finds a Valuable Lost Package and Restores It.

On Wednesday evening a prominent public official, who lives not over a thousand miles from North Platte, while sojourning in this city for a few days became interested in the tight rope performance in front of the Academy of Music, and while taking observations of the acrobat, an ingenious pick-pocket got away with his pocket-book. At the same time, the fellow, doubtless intending to steal the gentleman's gold watch and chain, became entangled and was detained, when he apologized and was allowed to go, before the loss of the wallet was discovered. The loser advertised his loss in THE BEE Thursday which was read by a laboring man who boards at the Farmers' house, and who at once notified this office that he had found the pocket book and papers, minus the money, in front of Henry Dohle's shoe store on upper Farnam street. Yesterday the owner of the pocket book called at the office and jokingly remarked that he supposed his pocket book had not been heard from. He was much surprised on learning that he could obtain it by calling at the Farmers' house. He rewarded the finder with a bank note.
