CITY ICE CREAM PARLOR.

A new stock of French Cream Confectionary just received at the fashionable ice cream, fruit and confectionery emporium of Smith & McQueen, successors to Erb & Daquette, 404 Broadway.

THE LICENSE ORDINANCE

Applicants Begin Shooting Up in Good Numbers Except From the Bars.

The City's Revenue From Saloons is Still in a Muddled Condition

The passage of the lengthy ordinance covering licenses for all kinds of business, has caused the applicants to begin calling at the city clerk's office in goodly numbers, filing bonds, filling out applications, and making ready to secure their needed parchments. Strange as it may seem, there is no ordinance now in force, requiring anybody to take out any license for anything. The reason of this is that the city council last week passed an ordinance repealing all license ordinances. A few evenings later they passed the new ordinance, which will not go into effect until five days after its publication, Saturday morning. This gives an interim of a few days this week where there is no license required of anybody. The expressmen can now stand where they will, as far as the ordinance is concerned which has bothered them so much of late. There seems, however, no disposition to take undue advantage of this no-license interim, and it is generally understood and agreed to that the present week will be given to the filing of bonds, applications, etc., and that no steps will be taken to arrest the unlicensed until on and after Monday morning next. There is much difficulty still attending the attempt to secure some revenue to the city from the saloons in the shape of an indirect license. The council has passed a strict prohibitory ordinance, making the penalty $25 for selling any form of intoxicants. It was thought that while apparently conforming with the amendment, yet, under the saloonists' wily step up about once a month, plead guilty, and pay $25 into the city's wallet, and those who refused so to do would have complaints entered often enough to make it an object for them to fall into line readily on the monthly scheme. The obstacle is discovered, however, that the plea of guilty may be used before the grand jury, and they be made subject also by penalty for violating the state law. Then again, there is no assurance but that private parties will, under this city ordinance, begin prosecutions. Those interested in anti-prohibition met Sunday afternoon and had a secret council concerning the situation. There was a strong expression against the prohibitory ordinance passed by the council. It was thought by most that it would have been better to have passed an ordinance licensing the sale of soda, water, lemonade and "other drinks." It is claimed that such ordinances have been passed in cities in Kansas, and that it works well. Some desire to have the city provide for a regular license law, with monthly payments until the legislative meets and arranges for the enforcement of the amendment, and then let the city pass some cheap drink ordinance. It is stated that some of the wholesale liquor dealers are already planning to pull up stakes and leave the city, but that Giesse's brewery will continue to run as heretofore. It is conceded by all that the saloons will continue to run, whatever may be the action taken to enforce the amendment.

SURELY SHOT.

Such Appears as the Result of the Experiments with Iron.

The attempt to make iron shot has been attended with many difficulties, and at the works in this city there have been numerous experiments, none of which have been entirely satisfactory until one made a few days ago. A quantity of shot that was then made, which was so excellent as to make certain the fact that the proposed manufacture was a success. The shot averaged well, and those interested in the works were so satisfied with its result that there will be no longer any hesitancy, and new machinery will be put in at once, so that it is expected that in another month the manufacture of shot will begin in earnest. The experiments have thus far been made by dropping from the tower into the pit, which is filled with water, but the last experiment was snuggled down to the water, so that the machine worked partly in the water. The shot thus made proved very satisfactory. If the result of this last shot making proves all that it promises the company has a bonanza sure. It is the only concern known of in this country which is endeavoring to make iron shot. The advantages claimed for this over lead are many, while it can be sold so much cheaper as to ensure ready sale and a good profit.

Rev. Dr. Cleland Presented With an Elegant Time Keeper by His Citizen Friends.

Last evening Rev. Dr. Cleland, D. D., was reunited in a very happy manner that in leaving here for Keokuk, he leaves many friends behind him, whose best wishes go with him, and whose kindest regard he will ever hold. A goodly gathering of these friends called upon him, and most completely surprised him by presenting him with an elegant gold hunting case watch, richly cased and engraved very nicely by C. B. Jacquemin & Co., "To Rev. T. H. Cleland, D. D.

From Citizen Friends, Council Bluffs, Iowa." Ex-Mayor Vaughan, who has been largely instrumental in securing this tribute, gave the following presentation: "These I, Daniel, D. D. Respectfully Sir: Please accept of this beautiful gold watch from your citizen friends as a slight token of their esteem for you as a man of energy and honesty. We deeply regret to lose you and your excellent wife as citizens, and our 20,000 people will never forget your noble acts and deeds and we trust as the hours of time march on to eternity that your life may be as true and correct as the faintest second, minute and hour hands of this little gem timer, and that your past life in Council Bluffs may in no way dim your shield of manhood for the future. FROM THE MINES.

Messrs. Hays and Hart Send Back Cavern News From the Mountains.

Ever since J. T. Hart and T. B. Hays started westward to examine for themselves the claims of the Union Consolidated Mining Company in which so many here are interested, there has been some anxiety to hear from them just how they found the prospects. Mr. A. B. Walker has just received a letter from them, dated at Ewing Dist. Utah, June 30. They write—"On Thursday we made a re-examination of the different claims and examined every one carefully especially the Cross, Walker, and the Backhorn ledge of the Convict. We consider it entirely useless to prospect for copper property on a question that we have got property that is very rich, and are on the main ledge on the claims above stated. We will make arrangements for permanent work at once, and will commence a tunnel at once to tap the Cross and Walker. We will commence about half way down, or perhaps two-thirds down the mountain, and tunnel directly to the Cross, and when there we are within fifty feet of the junction of the ledges, and by prospecting these we find both very rich, and about equal in quantity and of good size. The Washakie, Garfield and Hawkeye are considered good." When such men are thus evidently satisfied it is evident that there are bright prospects for those interested in this valuable mining property.

COL. BOB INGERSOLL'S MINE

Which Up to This Time Has Not Proved a Bonanza to Those Who Invested.

There is nothing more interesting in Washington just now than the affairs of the Ivanhoe mine, and I may as well tell you about it. The Ivanhoe mine is Bob Ingersoll's mine. That is, Robert is the heaviest owner in it at present, and it begins to look as if he were the heaviest loser in it, also. The property, however, were Ingersoll and a firm of lawyers, Halbert E. Payne & Grafton, and Senator Plumb, of Kansas. A Washington banking firm was also interested. The property is said to have cost $60,000, and there the shares of stock cost the original holders and issuers thereof thirty cents apiece. The company was formed about a year and a half ago and soon after it was formed the most astounding stories of the wealth of the mine began to circulate all over Washington. I forgot how many millions of dollars' worth of ore were always in sight in the mine. None of it was ever taken out, but it was stated to be there, and a good many honest people got to believe that it was there. After a while the able originators of the mine began to let some of their friends into this good and beautiful thing at the rate of about $3 a share. There seemed to be quite a demand for it at this figure, and consequently the price was advanced to $5 a share, and then the demand for it increased. The company held a meeting and set apart a quantity of stock to be sold at $5 a share, to be used to develop the mine. The reports of fresh millions of ore leaving in sight as the explorers advanced rapidly underneath the surface continued to arrive in Washington, and some of the originators of the mine put faith in them. Mr. Ingersoll himself became convinced that the mine was such a bonanza that he thought it a great pity that the company's stock should go off at the low rate of $5 a share. So he went and put all the money he could rake and scrape into it, and his friends generally did the same. One gentleman I know, who had nothing but his faith in Ingersoll to guide him, invested $38,000 in the stock at $4 and $5 a share. Somehow, there seemed to be a good deal of stock floating about, and after a while it began to sink and last week I heard of a fellow buying 1,000 shares at ten cents a share. Ingersoll has paid something over $50,000 for what he could now buy for about $2,000. He is able to bear the loss, however he can get $1,000 a night whenever he chooses to lecture in Chicago, New York or Boston, but some of the other sufferers are not as well able to bear it; in fact, the Ingersoll mine has blown a sort of simoon of poverty over Washington. There was a regular craze about the stock last year, and people who had not much ready money even mortgaged their houses to buy it at $5 a share. The secret of the little affair was, of course, that while Ingersoll and his friends were buying, Plumb, Grafton, and their friends were selling. New York Sun.

A Wealthy Nowaboy.

Without doubt the richest newaboy in the country is Mike Mykens, of Denver, Colorado. He is supposed to be worth $50,000, which he has invested in Denver real estate. He is not yet ready, however, to retire from business, but from early morning until midnight may be seen upon the streets, crying "Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City morning papers." In connection with his paper stand he has a bootblack's chair, which he generally leaves in charge of an assistant. He sells his papers at a uniform price of ten cents each, and long experience has made him very expert in detecting at a glance from what part of the country any one of the strangers who throng the streets of Denver hail. "After that old man with a white choker and sell him a Boston Herald," he will say to his assistant, "or work off a San Francisco Bulletin on that slippery looking cuss under the awning." Mykens is no longer a boy, but he is likely to remain a newaboy for years to come.
