LOCAL BABBITIES.

-Supt. Pierce has twenty-seven boarders now.

-The Denver train came in two hours late yesterday.

-The new Omaha National bank is up to the eaves and ready for roofing.

-The 11th street bridge is now closed to the public as the sewer is just being constructed under its old site.

-One of Norton, Halley & Toomey's best painters, of St. Louis is now engaged in painting a lot of new scenery for Boyd's opera house.

-There were three plain drunks and one disturber of the peace before Judge Benke yesterday. One of the Stoumbs paid and all the rest went to jail.

-The case of S. O. Hollner, charged with burning the Turner Hall, has been held over until trial on account of the absence of Mr. Burman.

-The Swedish Library Association will give an ice cream social and dance at the hall in Lytle's Block, Saturday evening, July 22d. A good time is expected.

-John Henry is accused of stealing a watch from a woman on the river bottom, on the night of July 4th, during the fire on the river bank. An officer was after him yesterday.

-Chas. N. Key, living near Saline's grove was robbed by three masked men on Friday night. They got $37 and overlooked the man in pile of $321, which was in another pocket.

-A Bohemian lad of 14 years, who worked at the Nail Works was badly crushed by the machinery about two weeks ago and died Tuesday. The funeral took place at 2 p. m. yesterday.

-Can this be our Glenn: "A fat man, weighing fully 350 pounds, attracted considerable attention on our streets last night. One of the arm chairs at the Commercial was hard-ly large enough for him."

-The ladies of the First M. E. Church will give an ice cream social at the parsonage and church parlors on Thursday evening, July 20th. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a good time guaranteed.

-The gas company is laying mains to last for the next twenty years. About a mile of pipe will be re-laid on Farnam, Douglas, 10th and 16th streets. The largest new main is a twelve-inch, on Farnam street, and the smallest now put down on streets where there is likelihood of paving is eight-inch.

-The thermometer at Max Meyer & Bro., the jewelers and Opticians, from 12 m. Tuesday until 12 m. yesterday indicated the following: 12 m., 75; 2 p. m., 72; 7 p. m., 71; 9 p. m., 70; 7 a. m., 69; 10 a. m., 64; 12 m., 70; 2 p. m., 70.

-St. Mark's Sunday school annual picnic will take place today at Hanscom Park. The school will leave at 9:30 a. m., by special street cars and arrive in the Park about 10 o'clock. Baskets sent to the church before 9 o'clock will be conveyed safely in a private conveyance. All friends of the school are invited.

-Another young Iowa girl, this time from Glenwood, has been swallowed up in the vortex of Omaha infamy. After falling from grace in her own state she comes here to meet her betrayer who promised to marry her. As he failed to come to time she joined a variety troupe and now knowledge of her whereabouts is anxiously desired by her friends.

-A broad sign is being painted on the south side of Paxton & Gallagher's 10th street warehouse, bearing the name of the firm. The building now occupied by this firm is one of the busiest looking places in the city and the greatest attraction on 10th street.

-J. M. Thurston has been retained by the insurance companies to prosecute Hollander.

-The City Marshal received a letter from Sioux City directing the arrest of Adam Schiller, alias Dutcher, for house robbery. He is none other than the man tried for robbing another at the Scandinavian hotel Tuesday morning and who has skipped he town.

-The Directors car of the Central Pacific came from the east yesterday, with Mr. C. P. Huntington and family on board, en route to San Francisco. Mr. H. is vice president of the C. P. road and at this time is en route to San Francisco.

-Kimball. He proceeded west on the moon train.

-A man who has been prominent in business in Omaha has suddenly disappeared under the most painful circumstances, which are such as to leave scarcely a doubt that he is dead. While the full particulars are in our possession, they are withheld at the request of friends who desire to wait a few days before making the matter public.

-Triffey, the base baller, who has been located at Colorado Springs, and is a member of the Denver & Rio Grande club, has returned to Omaha, and will resume his position as catcher of the Union Pacific nine. He is a valuable acquisition.

-An insane woman, living in Boggs & Hill's child, yesterday afternoon threw her little child out of the window, and came near killing it. She was arrested and lodged in jail, and will be brought before the board of insanity at once for examination.

-A small boy named Johnnie Collins, while playing in front of L. B. Williams' store yesterday afternoon, fell between the gratings and the window into the basement, a distance of fully ten feet. His hand was hurt and his head cut a little and it is a miracle that he was not killed outright.

-Paul Vandervoort, the national commander of the G. A. R., left for Denver last night to make arrangements for the National Encampment to be held the e shortly.

-The Omaha Glee club went around last night and serenaded a number of their friends and prominent citizens.

-A little Italian boy, who plays on the violin and dances, and who is known by sight to a great many of our citizens, was seized with a fit of paralysis last evening about 7:30 o'clock, in front of Frank Hoffman's store on Farnham street. Dr. Hoffman attended him home. The result of the stroke cannot yet be conjectured.

-LADIES' BAZAAR--Having just opened a Ladies' Furnishing Store, and will keep on hand a fresh stock of ladies' ready-made Underwear, Laces, Embroideries, Etc., Etc., I cordially invite the ladies to call. And as the season is quite well advanced I have arranged my prices to suit every one. Children's suits made to order. Miss AGNES HANSON, 207 16th street, (third door south of Bee Hive). July 19.

A ROARING FARCE.

The Midnight Mystery on Douglas and Fourteenth Streets.

A Woman's Woe, Supposed to Have Come From Whisky.

A tremendous sensation was caused on Douglas street in the vicinity of Fourteenth last evening, by a succession of loud shrieks proceeding from the northeast corner of the two streets named, and which apparently came in a woman's voice. A crowd rushed to the spot immediately, and discovered that the sounds proceeded from the room immediately at the head of the outside stairway, into a young man named Mike Burns, followed by a BEB reporter, ran up the stairs and through the window saw a woman lying in bed and a man in his shirt and pantaloons only walking around the room in a distracted state. Mr. Burns having, and with good reason, thought a murder was being committed, kicked in the door and entered, followed by the BEB reporter, and soon after a number of others. The whistles were sounded on all sides and responded to promptly by Officers Caspar, Grady and Klefner. At first it was thought that the man had been choking or beating the woman, but upon the officers attempting to take him to jail she declared that he was her husband and had done nothing to her to cause his arrest. She subsequently went into a raving fit in which she made rather vague accusations against him to the effect that there was another woman in the case, and that $200 which she had slaved to earn had been given over to this woman and that the two had "fixed her." This had led to the supposition that she had been poisoned by her husband, and her continual pleas for water and complaints of a sickness in the pit of her stomach confirmed this opinion. A great deal of sympathy for her and censure for the husband was expressed, until a young man connected with an adjoining saloon, came in and stated that the woman had purchased a bottle of whisky there during the afternoon, and that several pitchers of beer had been taken up to the room, which in the light of a statement by her husband that she was not a drinking woman, explained the whole matter, and the majority of the crowd left disgusted with the whole proceeding and sorry only for the husband, who, to tell the truth, appeared to be a very decent sort of a man.

Considerable amusement was created during the excitement by a band of colored men who stationed themselves upon the opposite side of the street and commenced singing "Jerusalem the Golden," as the woman was apparently in her dying gasp. This was considered irrelevant by the policemen, and one of them went across the street and proceeded to go for the colored minstrel, who died inconspicuously to the great amazement of the immense crowd of bystanders. There were thousands of ridiculous circumstances connected with the sensation which would make a column if strung out in detail, and what was at first supposed to be a tragedy turned out to be a roaring farce.

"JUNCTI JUVAMUS."

The American Legion of Honor Celebration at Plattsmouth.

A Royal Reception to the Omaha Councils and Citizens.

Planers' Seekers Who Found What They Sought.

The usual morning shower, looked for of late as regularly as breakfast, fell about daylight yesterday, the excursionists who were going to Plattsmouth looked blue at the prospect. It cleared off brightly before 9 o'clock, at which time several hundred gentlemen, ladies and young people were assembled at the B. & M. depot, where a train of six coaches and a baggage car was in waiting. The Bohemian band in full uniform discoursed some excellent music and a half an hour later the cars were all well filled and the train pulled out for Plattsmouth. The crowd undoubtedly had a jolly time.

The train pulled out in grand style and made fast time to Bellevue, where, to the great surprise of the crowd, it was discovered that the boxings of the rear driver of the engine were displaced and one part missing. The engineer went to work to fix up, and at the same time the station master telegraphed to the headquarters for aid. The response came, no engines, but fix up the best way you can. After a delay of about one hour and a half the engineer succeeded in bringing the old rattle-box to terms, and the train moved again and at twenty minutes before twelve pulled in at Plattsmouth, where friends were anxiously waiting the arrival.

At the station, a committee of the order in Plattsmouth, consisting of J. W. Jennings, W. L. Brown, P. Caruth and J. P. Young, received the visitors in a style and manner that none could wish better; carriages were being flying in all directions and the committee of the Gate City were escorted in carriages to the grove, while the crowd marched to the grounds, preceded by the band, which played some magnificent tunes.

THE CITY, which is located in a fine spot, is adorned by magnificent business blocks and elegant residences of the latest modern architecture. It was profusely decorated on all sides with the stars and stripes and presented the appearance of a city. A committee from this city were highly flattered and expressed their appreciation freely.

AT THE GROVE, The visitors were received by Hon. J. V. Weckbach, mayor of the city, with a welcoming address, and tendered the freedom of the city. The few words spoken by the honorable gentleman were eloquent and masterly and we congratulate our friends on having the right man in the right place.

MR. N. J. BURMAN, of Omaha, responded in a fine oratorical effort, thanking the mayor and citizens of Plattsmouth in general for the honors and friendship they evinced for the visitors from Omaha and the American Legion of Honor, of which he was a member.

Mr. C. M. Dinmore, chairman of the Omaha committee, called upon W. M. Yates, Esq., who delivered an eloquent address, touching upon all subjects of the order, the benefits, the friendship, the origin and the credit of the same, concluding with thanks to the mayor and the city of Plattsmouth for the cordial reception.

Following Mr. Yates, Mr. E. D. McLaughlin and J. C. Elliot spoke, concluding with Mr. M. Toft, who, as on all occasions, put in a few words for the welfare of Plattsmouth and its inhabitants.

And now we come to the business in which all were most interested. After the speeches all went for the lunch, those that had any.

SWING YOUR PARTNERS. After dinner the committee feared that the huge platform would be too small to hold all the dancers, and so it happened, for before 2 o'clock Plattsmouth fairies and cupids turned out en masse and by that time fully three thousand people were present on the grounds indulging in all kinds of amusements, dancing especially, which continued up to 5 o'clock.

AT THE DIAMONDS, The picknickers presented a very weak line, as the original nine did not go out on account of the threatening weather, and the committee had a hard time in picking out the best that could be found under the circumstances. The Plattsmouth nine demoralized the visiting nine in the first inning with nine scores to their goose-egg. In the fourth inning, the game terminated with the score of 17 to 3 in favor of the Plattsmouths.

HOME, SWEET HOME. At 5 the trumpet was sounded for a home run, and every body started for the cars. On the return trip Bellevue was the scene of an accident, exactly similar to that of the morning, and the party reached the city at 9 p. m., tired and cross, but with a general expression that the day had been one of enjoyment and the picnic a grand success.

Resolved, That we, the members and friends of the Omaha councils of the American Legion of Honor, on our return to Omaha, do hereby express to our companions of the Plattsmouth councils our appreciation of their kindness, their untiring efforts for our entertainment and the courteous welcome of the mayor and citizens; and further

Resolved, That it is the desire of all the members of the order, as well as visiting citizens of Omaha, that we may be enabled in the near future to return the kind courtesies shewn.

The Biggest Big Elephant. "Samson," the giant elephant by the side of whom the largest of his kind are but dwarfs and whose bulky sides would put a mastodon within his shadow, is authentically declared to be the largest Asiatic elephant ever brought to America or ever in captivity for that matter, besides being as docile as a kitten and as peaceful a playmate as any child could wish. He is endowed with the strength of a "Samson," as his name signifies. He is capable of carrying one hundred people upon his back at a single load, and with no apparent effort he lifts two heavy horses from the ground with his trunk. This feat is accomplished by attaching a horse to each end of a huge beam and letting "Samson" grasp the balance in his trunk, and then with a "he-o-he" the Hercules of his race swings the horses high in the air and replaces them on the ground as gently as one would deposit an egg. "Samson" is owned by W. W. Cole, and is one of the myriad features in his greatest of all great shows, which is to give performances in.

RAIL RECORD.

The First Snag Up on the Denver Line--U. P. Trackers at the Siding.

The following interesting account of the first accident on the Denver extension on the B. & M. is from the Denver World of the 13th:

As the morning train of the great Burlington route, due in Denver at 7:45, was bowling along on time it took a sharp curve at the crossing of the 7 1/2 mile cut. The engineer had just tried the water gauges and found them all right, when glancing ahead he noticed a drove of cattle advancing to cross the track about three hundred yards ahead of the engine. He applied the air brakes and slowed up considerably, at the same time blowing the whistle and ringing the bell continuously. The cattle took the men for the engine and ran over the prairie, with the exception of three steers, which leaped across the track, the last one just clearing the rail a few feet in advance of the pilot of the engine. Suddenly, with the contrary nature of a bovine, the animal turned and jumped on the track, and the engine was derailed. The engineer shut off steam and turned on the full force of the Westinghouse brakes, but the engine managed to pull the cars off the track for a distance of a few inches. The road-bed is so smooth and even at this point that the passengers in the Pullman and other cars were not awakened. As soon as information reached Denver, Superintendent Holdrege and a full force of men left for the scene of the accident. In less than three hours after the occurrence fifty men were on the ground, some of them raising the cars on the track, while to facilitate matters, Mr. Holdrege built a temporary track around the train.

Mr. Holdrege said that in all his experience as a railroad man he had never witnessed an occurrence of a like nature. Had the train been running at even a moderate rate of speed the pilot would have thrown the steer clear off the track. As it is, the detention was due to the caution of the engineer.

Later reports from the train are to the effect that the accident was more serious than was at first supposed. When the engine struck the steer it was thrown from the track and the engineer and fireman injured, the latter being slightly. The cars were thrown from the track, but none of the passengers were injured. They will arrive in town about 5 o'clock. A telegram received at 3:30 from Mr. Mr. Holdrege states that the injured persons are improving.

MYSTERIOUS MOVEMENTS. We learn that there are at present encamped near The Siding a large party of surveyors, presumably in the employ of the Union Pacific railroad. What they are doing or what they are going to do so far is a mystery; but that there is work to be done we feel sure, and work about which the outside world is allowed to know but little, or why this secrecy?-- [Laramie Times.]

Bicycle Experts. Experience and amateur wheelmen, who pride themselves on manipulating their steely and wayward steeds should be greatly interested in the fact that a troupe of European bicycle experts are soon to give an exhibition of their wonderful skill in this city. The names of these remarkable bicyclists have astounded all Europe and their intricate acts fill every heart with admiration or envy. They not only drive their spider-woven chariots at locomotive speed, "spinning past foot and horse," but they accomplish the most difficult acrobatic movements, such as mounting and remounting their flying machines, turning somersaults from bicycle to ground and thence back again, and while dashing along they form high pyramids, reverse and halt their machines, leap from one bicycle to the other, perform feats of acrobatic and do a great many other almost incredible things. These wonderful artists have been engaged to appear in W. W. Cole's Nine Consolidated Shows, and will form one of the leading features to be seen in that mammoth amusement enterprise which is to exhibit at Omaha.

Army Orders. The following are the latest orders issued from the department of the Platte:

Hospital Steward William Hamberg, U. S. Army, having reported at headquarters in compliance with paragraph 10, special orders No. 148, current series, adjutant general's office, will report to the commanding officer, Fort Omaha, Neb., for duty thereat.

Leave of absence for one month is granted Second Lieutenant Albert S. McNutt, Ninth infantry, to take effect about July 21st.

Examination of Teachers. The examination of applicants for teachers' certificates takes place at the high school building, commencing Thursday, July 20th, at 9 a. m. This will probably be the last meeting of the examiners the present year, and all desirous of undergoing examination must be in attendance punctually at aforesaid place.

A FRONTIER TRAGEDY.

A Citizen of Omaha in a Temporary Pit of Insanity.

Wanders Away in the Snake Creek Valley.

Fears That He Will Never be Found Alive.

The news reached the city yesterday of an occurrence in the western part of the state which involved the safety of a well known Omaha citizen, and it was hoped would be contradicted during the day or better news received as a sequel.

William Aust, the well known butcher of Sixteenth street, a well-to-do man, with a most estimable family, left Omaha on Sunday last week for Deadwood, D. T. He went to Sidney, and from there was booked for the Black Hills via Capt. Marsh's stage line. On the way out the stage had reached a point near Snake Creek, where there is a station, when Mr. Aust, who was, it would appear, laboring under a fit of temporary insanity, leaped from the coach and ran off on the plains. After waiting some little time for his return the driver and passengers made a diligent search for him but without success, and he had been missing five days when the affair was reported at Sidney.

Captain Marsh's agent sent him a letter notifying him of the unfortunate occurrence, which letter was received Tuesday evening. The captain yesterday morning notified Hon. Henry Bollen and John Erick, who sent telegrams to Sidney and Deadwood, instructing them to do all in their power to discover the missing man, but up to a late hour last night no news was received. Snake creek empties into Running Water, and the valleys of these streams are the only places in which the missing man could be hid, as there is neither woods nor foothills about the country, but only an unbroken plain similar to that around Sidney. Those acquainted with the locality say that there are a number of hay ranches thereabout, in one of which Mr. Mr. Aust may have been taken in and cared for, and they speak hopefully for his ultimate safety. The news was not broken to Mrs. Aust yesterday as the effect on her was feared, but it was the common talk on the streets and she cannot be kept long in ignorance of the terrible affair.

News from Sidney will be looked for with a great deal of anxiety by the many friends Mr. Aust had in this city.

Notice. The "Hawthorn Centennial Excelsior Roof Paint" was patented May 24th, 1881, and letters patent number 241, 833. Any person found or known to tamper with the manufacture of said paint will be punished to the full extent of law. No person has any authority whatever to sell receipts. JUNKETING JOURNALISTS. The Vanguard of the Nebraska Editorial Tourists Westward bound.

The vanguard of Nebraska's quill-driving army that is about to make a raid on the "Centennial State" and the adjacent territories arrived yesterday. The party consisted of E. M. Correll, president of the State Association and representing the Western Woman's Journal and Hebron Journal; G. W. Limboccker of the Harvard Journal; E. W. Brown, Nebraska City Daily News; H. L. Witherald, Hebron Journal; George E. Smith, Friendville Telegraph; E. P. Appeltel, Lincoln Daily Democrat; J. H. Belzer, Seward Blade, and Prof. Perry, Saline County News.

Several ladies accompanied the gentlemen named, thus making up the beauty part of the news booty of our state. At Grand Island, Kearney, Columbus, North Platte and in fact all the principal places along the line of the P. P., the party will be accompanied by other journalists until the Nebraska press gag will number about forty when the first eating house in Wyoming is invaded.

Undoubtedly the trip will be a most pleasant one and we poor metropolitan mortals have to destroy Fabers at home and in our minds participate in the joys of our fortunate rural brothers. The trip will take about two weeks, ending which time everything of interest in Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming and the mountain and valley beauties of the far west will be visited. Salt Lake and Denver will welcome the "bug eating quill drivers," and undoubtedly place before them the best in the land. If they do not find that Nebraska's is mightier than the carrying knife, they must remember that the eds are on a pleasure trip, and have for the nonce forgotten all about copy, paste and shears. The ladies and gentlemen who arrived here yesterday passed the time until evening sight seeing, when they took the Denver fast train westward. To this was attached a Pullman car and everything is provided for by Passenger Agent Morse, of the Union Pacific, for the comfort of the excursionists.

The BEB throws its old slipper after the departing tourists and wishes them all the joy that mortals can have crowded into the short space of two weeks.

Fire Department Proceedings. Tuesday an adjourned meeting of the Omaha fire department was held in Fireman's hall, President Hunt in the chair, for the purpose of taking some action toward obtaining the books, papers, moneys, etc., from the officers elected at the last meeting of the department.

At the general meeting held in May last the president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and trustees were notified to appear at a June meeting, or their respective offices would be declared vacant. This they failed to do, whereupon the department elected a new set of officers.

Tuesday Mr. Scherb appeared and that he had not received notice from the secretary that his office would be declared vacant upon his non-attendance at the June meeting. Therefore Mr. Callan resigned, and Mr. Scherb was reinstated as treasurer.

The report of the treasurer showed that there was $64 in the department treasury.

Mr. Louis Fiset, chairman of committee on 1886 annual parade and ball, said that it was impossible to make an intelligent report from the fact that members of the department had turned over moneys to the treasurer instead of the committee. The committee, therefore, requested to be discharged, which was granted.

A committee composed of the following gentlemen was then appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws of the department: Gustave Anderson, John H. Butler and C. C. Field. The meeting then adjourned for one month.
