LOCAL BREVITIES.

A commercial pamphlet of the statistics and industries of Omaha and Council Bluffs, is being compiled by John E. Land & Co.

A game of ball between the Close Cuts and the Resolutes was played Wednesday afternoon which resulted in favor of the former by a score of 19 to 21.

A detachment of six soldiers arrived Wednesday day from Fort Niobrara to take part in a sharp-shooting contest at Fort Omaha.

The remains of Ex-Senator Latham, of California, were taken west yesterday, for interment, Mrs. Latham and her brother, Mr. Thurlow McMellen, accompanied the body.

Judge Northrop is engaged for some days away from his law office. Any matter left at his office, Room 3 over Bushman's store, or with District Attorney Burnham, will receive his prompt attention.

The forest tree planter, Mr. James T. Allen, who was injured the other day by an accident at North Platte, held a policy in an accident insurance company, so that his period of convalescence will not be altogether lost time if it is irksome.

The telegraph announces that the steamer Wyoming, which left this point on Saturday last for St. Louis, had drifted against the bridge at Kansas City, knocking a hole in her side, and that her condition was critical.

J. G. Woodbury, superintendent of the fish business in California, went west with four hundred striped bass from New York, to be put in San Francisco Bay. The fish are about a year old and owing to bad water over in Iowa a number of them died en route.

The thermometer at Max Meyer & Bro., the Jewelers and Opticians, from 12m. Wednesday until 12m. yesterday, indicated the following: 12m., 70°; 2 p. m., 70°; 7 p. m., 64°; 9 p. m., 52°; 7 a. m., 68°; 10 a. m., 70°; 12 m., 72°; 2 p. m., 74°.

The committee on paving, of the Board of Trade, recommend granite or stone blocks for paving Tenth street between the south line of Harney and the depot. For paving Farnam, Harney and Douglas streets, they recommended asphalt.

The estimated cost per square reported is about $2.80 for asphalt blocks. Granite blocks will cost about $3.50, exclusive of the foundation.

Up to 3 p. m. yesterday no additional news had been received from Sidney concerning Mr. William Aust, who is lost in the Snake Creek Valley.

It was the Missouri Pacific and not the Denver train which was two hours late Wednesday but the Denver train was two hours late yesterday which makes things even.

M. H. Judd, traveling agent for the Union Pacific, left yesterday for Grand Island, Kearney and Platte Creek, to make arrangements for their state fair exhibit.

A rural artist at Gibson has sent to Jimmie Davis some specimens of his pencil work for sale, offering to furnish similar pictures at $3 per thousand. They are decidedly novel but the artist should turn his attention to landscape sketches and not try to rival Rosa Bonheur.

Mr. Chas. G. Hunt, who controls the city sales of Hawthorne's Centennial Excelsior Roof Paint is doing an immense business. No wonder. There never was such another article or one so strongly recommended. He is kept busy at all times and scores of roofs testify to his practical skill and the value of the paint. His headquarters are at W. J. Whitehouse's 16th street drug store. Wed 8a/4f.

The man arrested on 12th street Wednesday for insulting girls proved to be a martyr to official order. He merely said "good evening" to a couple of "the girls" who turned upon him with vile language and then a friend knocked him down. At this juncture he was arrested by a special policeman. He does not drink and is a peaceable citizen. He had about $2.00 on his person in gold, which was deposited in Peter Goo's safe over night and returned when Judge Benckise discharged him.

The amount of money needed to put the state fair grounds and buildings in good condition for the fair in September, is $1,600. Mr. H. G. Clark, the president of the board of trade, and Mr. McCord have been canvassing for the last four or five days, and although they have worked hard they have succeeded in raising only $1,800. This is not as it should be. The investment will come back to the donor in hundreds of dollars for each dollar given. It is nice times to throw off on the fair now that there are too big new hotels opening up to accommodate the visitors.

Deputy Marshal McClure had a bad night of it Wednesday with "Salt Lake Nell," Mollie Kernan and their male companions. Nell yelled like a demon, after she was put in jail and declared that she had left her boy at home with the lamp burning and was afraid something would happen him. An officer was sent and brought the boy up to her, when she resumed the disturbance until threatened with confinement in the dungeon. Then the shrieks were changed to sobs, she and Mollie going into the night air. They were taken up by the men, in another cell. Yesterday the proof was insufficient to hold them in the charge made and the whole party was set free.

A BROKEN BARCAIN.

The War Between Nebraska Lines Still a Possible Thing.

The E. & M.'s New Short Cut to Denver.

Preparing for the Exhibit at the Denver Exposition.

On Saturday last General Managers Clark of the Union Pacific, Potter, of the C., B. & Q., and Wheeler, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe roads, met in Chicago and the dispatches announced that an agreement for pooling the Colorado traffic had been made.

On the return of General Manager Clark it was stated to Omaha reporters that the arrangement was not yet definitely fixed. The Chicago Times, in speaking of the matter, says:

"There are rumors, not unworthy of credence, that the arrangement between the Union Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, for pooling the Colorado traffic has been rescinded, and that a war of rates is not improbable. Only last Saturday the agreement was ratified. The result was reached at a meeting between Managers Wheeler, Potter and Clark, at the Grand Pacific hotel, at the following day the agreed percentages of the Colorado traffic were given exclusively in the Times. The percentages were 51 per cent for the Union Pacific, 20 per cent for the Burlington, and 19 per cent for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. The report now is that the agreement is cancelled, and, moreover, that the feeling between the lines is anything but pacific. It is said that the Burlington's refusal to agree to not to build any new lines into the territory now tributary to the Union Pacific is the ground of cancelling the pooling contract entered into last Saturday. The Burlington, it is reported, was willing to obligate itself not to interfere with the existing local traffic of the Union Pacific, but that was not satisfactory. The Union Pacific desired a covenant that it would not undertake to control the Denver & Rio Grande or construct new lines beyond the Burlington's present terminus in Colorado. It was understood yesterday that the arrangement had failed to receive the approval of the presidents of the companies interested, and that the dissolution of the pool is owing to their interference. Another factor in the failure of the compact, it is said, was the proposal of the Burlington company to run through sleeping cars between Chicago and Denver. Whether fighting between the lines will be the next thing in order, or whether the rupture will be healed and a new agreement formulated, will be developed in a very short time."

A NEW SHORT CUT.

The surveyors recently sent out by the managers of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy to locate a line from some point between Hastings and Kearney to Arapahoe, Neb., in order to shorten its lines to Denver, as the present line from Hastings to Red Cloud forces the road to make a considerable detour to the southward, have completed their work and report in favor of a short cut from Kearney, on the Kearney Branch, to Arapahoe. The new link will be eighty miles long, and will shorten the distance between Chicago and Denver twenty-five miles. With the completion of this new line the Burlington will have the shortest line to Denver from Chicago by about thirty miles. Construction on the new cut-off will commence next spring, it being too late in the season to commence work now.

BETTER THAN NOTHING.

The earnings of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway for the first half of July amount to $662,000, a decrease of about $60,000 over those of last season during the same period.

THE BURLINGTON AND MISSOURI AT DENVER.

"J. C. Bonnell, assistant land commissioner of the Burlington & Missouri land department, left yesterday for Denver, where he goes to take measurements of the space allotted to the Burlington & Missouri in the Exposition grounds at that city, and to arrange the space with a view of exhibiting a very handsome collection of cereals growing in this state. He informs us that the display made in the centennial will be exhibited in Denver." State Journal.

SWEET SERENADES.

A midnight Expedition by the Omaha Glee Club.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday the members of the Omaha Glee Club met at the office of the county clerk where they mustered eighteen strong, the entire active membership of the club. The object was to serenade a few of their friends, and for this purpose they took a Red line street car as far north as Cuming street, intending to work back toward the city. On the way up the music in their souls bubbled forth in the shape of a few softly sung plantation melodies, which so captivated the lady passengers that they induced the club by their smiles of approval to go two blocks out of their way to please them.

Before going out on the trip the club passed a unanimous resolution not to accept any invitation in to the houses serenaded, but at the very first place, the residence of Mr. Wells, the U. P. freight contractor, they fortunately allowed their scruples to be overcome and were most handsomely entertained. After an elegant lunch the party lighted fresh cigars, and after singing at the residences of Messrs. Vest and Merriam, arrived at General Manderson's residence, where the wily warrior captured them at the close of the first song and took them in out of the night air. They were entertained here in royal style and gave some of their best selections. General Cowin's residence was next visited and again they fell a prey to

RELIEF FOR THE RUSSIANS.

An Interesting Meeting of the Hebrew Benevolent Society Last Evening.

The Hebrew Benevolent Society of this city held a meeting last night to enquire into the financial standing of the 161 Russian refugees concerning whom an article appeared in Tuesday's issue of THE BEE. It appears that over one hundred of them are utterly without means and as the majority have been farming in Russia, and express a desire to continue the same business in this country and wish to colonize, a committee has been formed to render them the assistance they can give to gain these ends. The committee is composed of the following well known gentlemen: Messrs. P. H. Gotheimer, Julius Meyer, M. Hellman, A. Heller and C. Schlank. These gentlemen have already made every effort to secure employment for the unfortunate people in the city, but have only succeeded in a few cases. Should any of our citizens want any male or female help, the committee will be very much obliged by application being made to them without delay when no doubt they will be able to suit them as the refugees are most anxious to get to work as soon as possible. Contributions in either money, clothes or farming implements will be thankfully received by the committee, who have to raise a considerable sum to purchase lands for the new colony.

PIONEERS UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

The first regular meeting of the Pioneers will be held this evening, 21st inst., at 7:30 o'clock, at the office of the general freight department, Union Pacific headquarters building. A full attendance of members is requested. T. J. STALEY, Secretary.

LAND LEAGUE LAONICS.

Enthusiastic Meeting Wednesday Evening Which Aboundeth Oratorical Wealth.

One of the most instructive and interesting meetings held by the Omaha Land League since its organization occurred Wednesday. An unusually large number were present perhaps, attracted by the rumor that some hot oratorical shot was going to be fired into English forts by way of harmonizing the strain of "We are dying, Egypt dying," now being played by the Seymour band in the shade of Tompey's pillar.

Reports were received from the different committees having in charge the 4th of July picnic and favorably acted on. The showing was very gratifying, and in all probability over $500 will be realized after all expenses are paid.

Mr. Shelley, formerly of Davenport, but now of this city, entertained the league with a description of the work Iowa farmers were doing for the cause, and threw out some valuable hints as to the manner in which agitation on behalf of the good old cause could be kept booming.

Hon. John Rusk then followed with one of his thoroughly practical discourses on the Irish question which he handled the Egyptian question with equal gloves. He showed by historical argumentation that the burly grunting English lion was only pawing around Alexandria for an aggrandizement and doing now as it has done in all cases of its acquired territory nothing but acts of highway robbery.

The manner in which all England's wars in the past have been carried on was shown by Mr. Rusk, and, of course, the speaker did not hesitate to show up the shameful side of England's acts in bold prominence. Mr. Rusk's remarks were enthusiastically received.

The question of the proposed confederation of Irish societies in all countries of the world was then discussed, and the Omaha league was unanimous in its opinion that the confederation would be most beneficial to Irish interests.

Gulfair, the Assassin.

A life-like wax statue of Gulfair, the notorious assassin, has been executed and is now on exhibition in W. W. Cole's great show, which, among many other interesting things contains an extensive gallery of wax statuary, casts and portraits of all the presidents of the United States, from Washington down to President Arthur. All the financial kings, popular politicians, and noted men of the day are also included in the list. Jay Gould, W. H. Vanderbilt, Blaine, Conkling, and many of the crowned heads of Europe are represented in the list. Those who have seen this vast collection of prominent people as they appear in wax, pronounce the models perfect counterparts of the originals. Every feature, peculiarity of dress and person being vividly reproduced. The groupings are numerous and it is doubtful if a more perfect assemblage of notable people could be seen in any of the foreign art galleries. It is, perhaps, well enough to mention the fact that Cole's new nine great shows, encased, are to exhibit here, at which time and place all the above will be seen.

BASE BALL.

A Lively Game Between the Juniata and Hastings Nines.

Correspondence of The Bee.

One of the finest games ever played in western Nebraska was played between the Juniata nine and the Hastings nine at Juniata last Wednesday afternoon. The game was called at 3:15, with Juniata to bat. White-wash succeeded whitewash up to the third innings, when the Reds went to bat, and with three single base hits and Walker's throwing the ball to second in place of home, gave them two runs. In the seventh inning they again got to the front with four single base hits and got two runs, the game standing at the end of the ninth inning 4 to 0. In the sixth inning his finger split, but went through the game without an error. Only two men of the Juniata nine reached first base, one on called balls, and the other on a short hit to right field, where they both were left. Taken all in all, it was the best game ever played in this part of the state. The score is as follows:

HIT BY AN ENGINE.

A Babe Narrowly Escapes Death at Hooper.

Correspondence of THE BEE.

Hooper Neb., July 19.—As the western bound train on the S. C. & P. R. R. was nearing Hooper, the cylinder of the engine struck Henry Hanson, aged four years, son of John J. Hanson, on the right side of the forehead, inflicting serious injuries. The little fellow was playing about the house, and unknown to his parents started to see the train. His parents supposed him to be around the house when the train whistled for Hooper, but the boy had gone to see the engine. He made his way from the house, which is about five rods from the track, through the weeds, not coming in sight of the engine until he appeared out of the weeds near the track, when the engine gave the signal "on brakes" and loosened the speed of the engine, but not soon enough to escape the boy, the engine striking him in the forehead. His father, standing on the depot platform and seeing his son's hat flying in the air, was the first one to fly to his assistance, fearing he would have to pick up a dead son, but to his surprise a relief, he was only badly hurt and scared. The father carried him to the house, followed by many excited inquirers. Dr. Van Buren was soon by his side and pronounced him not dangerous as yet, but badly bruised. Dr. Abbott, from Fremont, the company's physician, came up on the train to-day and pronounced the boy doing finely and leaves him to the care of Dr. Van Buren. X. X.
