A MORNING BLAZE.

A Burning Barn Wages Up the Firemen and Citizens.

Yesterday morning about 5 o'clock the lively ringing of the fire bells aroused many of the citizens, and called the fire department to duty. The fire proved to be in a small barn near the corner of Gray and Pierce streets, the same being the prop-erty of Mr. Griffith. The flames had such a headway and the materials ou which they fed were so combusti-ble that little could be done beyond letting them burn until they quit for lack of more fuel. The loss was a comparatively small one, and the cause of the fire is still a mystery.

Utica Herald. Sir Garnet Wolseley, to whom has been assigned the command of the British forces in Egypt, has had a brilliant and successful military career. He is an Irishman by birth, though of English stock. He was born in the county of Dublin in 1833, his father being Major Wolseley of the Twenty-fifth King's Own Borderers. His family desired him to enter the military service, and his own inclinations developed in that direction. His name was put down for a commission when he was only 14 years of age. He entered the service in 1852 as ensign in the Eightleth regiment, then engaged in the Burmese war. The British forces had just met a reverse at the hands of Nyattoon. To retrieve this disaster, an ex-petition was formed, which followed in liquid form. Brockton, Mass., July 13, 1882.

Z. T. Lindsey & Co., Council Bluffs, Ia.:

Dear Sirs:-Replying to your esteemed favor of the 5th inst, will say that it is a fact that the advance in the price of Calf Skins, Sole Leather, and most every kind of Shoe Stock, taken in connection with the adva ce for labor we have been obliged to concede to workmen, has increased in no small degree the cost of manufacturing. Notwithstanding which fact we are pleased to say your order, given us early in the season, will be filled at the old prices; and we hope, by being diligently alive to the requirements of the demand for a really first-class article, to supply you with a BE ITER line of goods than we have ever given you heretofore. Our purchase of both French and domestic Calf Skins, as well as a large supply of Oak-tanned Sole Leather, were made very early in the season which, being bought at former prices, relieves us in a great degree of the increased cost of production that many manufacturers are obliged to sustain in filling their orders taken early. Your whole order for the coming fall season is well in hand, and will be shipped at an early date. We desire to call the attention of those who use our goods, through the medium of your house, to our new styles in both Hand and Machine Sewed work. Our French, Melium French and London Toe goods are all made on entirely new lasts and new patterns, which we feel sure will meet with a just appreciation and the approbation of your customers. with the improvement we have made we expect to furnish a more nearly perfect fitting shoe than ever before. We assure you, gentlemen, that we will endeavor to give all your order our prompt and careful attention, and with these assurances we trust to merit the continuance of the many favors you have been pleased to bestow upon us, and, awaiting your further commands, we are
