

The Daily Bee. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Saturday Morning, Aug. 12. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 10 cents per week. By Mail, $1.00 per Year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway. M. G. CRITCHEL, Manager. E. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

-J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -There have been no marriage licenses issued for nearly a week. -Everybody reads THE DAILY BEE. It is the paper to advertise in. -Sheridan makes photographs. -The out-going train this afternoon is over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road. -Eugene Schill, the South Main street Butcher, sells the Best Meat of any in town. -A number of those who delight in seeing base ball contests, went across the water yesterday. -Writing made easy, by the use of H. E. Seaman's pencils. This item was written with one of them. -Seaman has removed his paper, book and stationery stock to No. 405 Broadway, next door to Harkness, Orcutt & Co. -Those interested in legal matters should bear in mind that court will open on the 17th inst. of the 14th. -Rev. W. R. Anderson, of St. Louis, will preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and evening. -The subscription list to THE DAILY BEE in Council Bluffs is booming. The best paper west of Chicago, and at only twenty cents a week is appreciated. -Sheriff Middleton, of Harrison county, stopped here yesterday en route for Mt. Pleasant, where he was taking a very insane man. -The justice shops were deserted yesterday, the magistrates even having gone across the river to see the base ball contest. -A band of gypsies were here yesterday, and a delegation called at the jail to interview the prisoners from the Neola, with whom they seemed to be on friendly terms. -The man Dietz, who was caught in T. A. Walker's house, and who made such an assault there, has been adjudged insane and taken to the asylum. -A very desirable piece of property for sale, on south side of Sixth street, in the block opposite the new Opera House, on Broadway. Front twenty feet. Price three thousand dollars. Enquire at Bee office. -Yesterday afternoon the police received a telegram from De Moines asking for the arrest of a man described in the dispatch. Late in the day an umbrella tinker was found, and locked up, on suspicion of being the one wanted. -Arrangements are being made for having flags of the leading European nations float from the top of the large building at the driving park during fair time. The stars and stripes will be given the place of honor, of course. -The Lilliputians entertained crowded houses yesterday afternoon and also last evening, and delighted all with their "Jack the Giant Killer." The troupe goes to Red Oak this morning, then to Plattsmouth, Nebraska City and Lincoln. -The cricket club just organized here is indulging in almost daily practice, and promises to develop into a strong club. It held its own pretty well in a game with Omaha last Thursday, but, of course, was defeated. Omaha should not glory too much, however, but wait a little till the boys here get in a little better trim. -All the saloon men but two came into court and paid their $25 "license" for August. One of these, Nick Backus, delayed until yesterday, and proposed to kick as he did the month before, but finally paid up, though he had to pay the costs in addition to the $25. The other delinquent will probably be brought in within a day or two. -The commissioners appointed to locate the new government building departed, taking their secret with them. There is much speculation rife as to where it will be finally located, and much anxiety is felt by those who expect to make a stake by the advance of the value of property adjacent to the site finally decided upon. -"Coyote Hill," one of the prisoners at the jail, has just completed a wonderful bride, it being very neatly braided and handsomely ornamented, without a stitch anywhere in its make-up. He is at work on others of the same kind, and shows great ingenuity, while at the same time it affords him pleasant and profitable employment during his confinement. -At the entertainment given by the young folks of the Baptist church Thursday evening there was an interesting feature of the missionary part of the program, in which were introduced several characters in costume representing nationalities. The closing feature of the evening was of a social nature, it being a mingling of an ice cream festival and neck-tie party, which was fruitfully enjoyed heartily. -James Frayne, the most stylish Merchant Tailor in the west, has in this issue sprung his advertisement to the breeze, in another column. Never was so complete and fashionable a stock of piece goods brought to our city. Jim will do a very large business. Since opening yesterday morning, he took orders for twelve stylish suits of clothes. He is direct from New York, with the latest styles. -The Bee called attention to the horrible condition of the streets in front of Thrall & Kracht's store, and straightway the authorities began repairing it, but stopped before completing it. Yesterday morning the Non-ard copied the notice from THE BEE, verbatim, without giving any credit, of course, and straightway the work was resumed again. It seems to take the full power of the press to get the work done. -Horsford's Acid Phosphate as a Cooling Drink. -Dr. M. H. Henry, New York, says: "It possesses claims as a beverage, beyond anything I know of in the form of medicine, and in nervous diseases I know of no preparation to equal it."

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

John Martin Applies for Release, on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

On Wednesday last John Martin, the oldest of the expressmen, was fined $10 by Justice Frayne for contempt of court by using abusive language in the court room. In default of payment the justice issued a mittimus committing him to jail for three days, and while Constable Fox was taking him thither he made good his escape. Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Chatterback found Martin in his house and took him into his charge. Martin secured the presence of his attorney, Geo. Carson, and an application was made to Judge Aylesworth for his release on a writ of habeas corpus. The ground of discharge claimed was the illegality of the mittimus in failing to set forth that the penalty was imposed for non-payment of fine, and not stating that the prisoner could be discharged before the three days were up if at any time he did pay. Judge Aylesworth refused to discharge the prisoner, and the latter then proceeded to arrange for the payment of the fine and to fix up bonds for his appearance to answer to the charge of resisting an officer and also to the charge of perjury which are hanging over him.

Teachers' Thanks.

The committee of the teachers' institute, which has just closed its three weeks' session, request THE BEE to give place to the following resolutions, which were adopted unanimously: We the teachers of Pottawatomie county, Iowa, realizing that our present normal has been one of unusual interest, profit and pleasure, and as an expression of our sentiments deem it proper to give public expression as follows: That the great success of the present Normal is due to the good judgment and public spirit of our county superintendent, J. K. Cooper. 2. That we tender our sincere thanks to Messrs. Cullison, Hubbard, Girton and Warner, conductors and instructors, for their untiring energy and scholarly ability in the management and instruction. 3. That the young ladies and gentlemen who furnished the excellent music be commended and kindly remembered, with the request for their services again next year. 4. That we shall gratefully remember the people of Council Bluffs for their kindness, sociability and general good feeling toward us. 5. That we tender copies of these resolutions to the city and county press, with a request that the same be published. FRED. H. NORTON, ALBERT PETERSEN, ANNA BRANT, ELLEN E. AMENT, JOSIE MAYNE, Committee. BARRARA ANDERSON, Secretary.

A CARD.

Do not trust my brother, Ernest Mueller, on my account. He is not connected in any way with my business. J. MUELLER.

Our Glorious Independence.

What can be more glorious than to be independent of suffering, caused by dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, sick headache, or other diseases emanating from the stomach. This can be easily gained by timely use of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Price $1.00, trial 10 cents. aug-7-1w

At the Stock Yards.

There is every indication that the season just opening at the stock yards here will be much the liveliest of any yet on record. The yards are the largest and most complete of any of the west and are under the superintendency of J. F. Boyd, who is attentive, courteous, and energetic as a manager. Commission men are gathering in goodly numbers, and a world of activity seems to have sprung up there. It is expected that to-day there will be one hundred cars of stock received, and from this time on there will be lively times there in all respects. Mr. Biffenst in Boston, Mass., writes: "Four SERRIS BLOSSOM has cured me of dyspepsia, four (4) years standing. I have regained my normal appetite, can sleep well and feel like a new man." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents. aug-7-1w

PERSONAL.

Leon Mead, of The Boston Post, is taking a look at our city. J. F. Williams, of Cincinnati, was at the Ogden yesterday. George T. Miles, of Denver, was among the Ogden house guests yesterday. Engineer Wheeler, of the Reoec engine company, receives congratulations on his recent marriage very gracefully. They come in thick on him. Fred I. Evans, the general agent of the American Refrigerator Transportation company, of St. Louis, was in the city yesterday, a guest of the Ogden house. J. J. Sullivan, of the firm of Sullivan & Fitzgerald, has returned from a trip through Dakota, where he has invested in lands. A. C. Atchison, of The Pittsburg Manufacturer, is in the city gathering notes for a write-up for his paper. He pronounces Council Bluffs as offering more advantages to manufacturing interests than any other point in the west, and proposes to show it up through the columns of his paper, which has a large circulation. W. H. Miller, of Chillicothe, Mo., a dentist and nurseryman, who is widely known, was among the callers at THE BEE office yesterday. He is shipping a large quantity of fruit, and is as energetic, well posted and square acting a man as can be found in the business. William Laughman, of Shelby, has just returned from Dakota, where he has been locating land in Hand county. He is won-dertly enthusiastic over the prospects of Dakota, and brought back with him some excellent samples of what products can be produced there even from sod. Mr. Laughman has located land near St. Lawrence. There was not a rail driven there last April, and now there is quite a town with one three-story, $5,000 hotel and two others being built, while stores and dwellings are going up on every hand. Mr. Laughman intends disposing of his property in Shelby as soon as possible and move westward.

Obituary.

The Harlan Herald has the following concerning the death and burial of Mr. James Harvey, father of Mrs. A. S. Clough, of this city:

Mr. James Harvey, one of Harlan's highly respected citizens, who has been suffering for some time with cancer, died at his residence last Sunday night at 11 o'clock. Although his death had for several weeks been momentarily expected, the sad news fell like a pall upon his large circle of friends whose life-long social intercourse with him had taught them to admire his many excellent qualities. Thursday at 10 o'clock a. m. the funeral services took place from the family residence on First street, where a large congregation of friends gathered to follow the remains to the tomb. The services were conducted by Rev. Detwiler, assisted by Rev. Franklin and Lucas, the remains being deposited in Harlan cemetery. Mr. Harvey was a native of England, and at the time of his death was about 53 years of age. In early life he joined the Congregational church, of which he was a member until his death. The bereaved family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in this sad hour, and we trust the cheerful faith in his transition from pain and suffering to peace and joy will comfort and sustain them.

CITY COUNCIL.

Election of Fire Chief and Oil Inspector.

At the meeting of the city council last night an ordinance was passed providing for the appointment of an oil inspector and gager, fixing the bonds at $2,000 and the compensation at 5 cents per package in lots of twenty or less, at 4 cents each in lots of more than twenty. A ballot was taken which resulted--W. R. Batchelor, 4; E. A. Troutman, 3. Mr. Batchelor was declared elected. He is a young man, a telegraph operator, and in politics a republican, while Troutman is a democrat. The sheriff reported the condemnation of land for building the first mile of the river levee, the total being $600. On motion of Alderman Newell, council proceeded to the election of chief engineer of the fire department. John Templeton received 5 votes and F. H. Guanelia 6.

JEWELLED GARTERS.

And Costly and Expensive Chemise Studs--The Present Rage Among Ultra-Fashionable Ladies. Post-Dispatch.

It has been whispered for some time past that there was a mania for jeweled garters among the fair devotees of fashion, and now a little interest was developed when the question was agitated. It is an acknowledged fact that, if the custom did indeed exist, the public was not made aware of it, for it is not a matter that usually forms the subject of social chat, though no doubt in the sacred precincts of a lady's boudoir there has been no little discussion of the fashion. A Post-Dispatch reporter made a few inquiries this morning among the leading jewelers, and they report as follows: Mr. Merrick said: "Oh, we have had samples in stock for a long time past, but most of such affairs are made to order, for when people desire such articles, they usually bring or select a design. At the same time I can hardly say that the business is a general one, but I believe it will soon amount to a craze, for of late our orders are coming in faster than ever before."

"Who are they ordered by?" "They are occasionally ordered by the gentlemen for their wives, but very seldom to be married, and just before the evening I see a pair of them, and I should judge, however, that most presents of that nature are between ladies. For instance a mother will present her daughter with a choice design on her wedding day. I have heard that in the east they are sometimes given as bridal presents, but I do not know of any such case in this city. You know we never make inquiries about the recipients or donors of any articles that we may make or sell; in fact we have no right to any such information."

"How do they decorate the clasps?" "Usually with a monogram. I do not know whether the monogram represents the initials of the giver or not. Should presume it to be the latter unless they adorn them."

"How much is the average cost?" "I cannot say as to that. We have made them to cost $250. I hardly think that any person has a costlier pair in this city; and they can cost only $5. The average would probably be $50 or $75. In this same connection I would state that there is a growing demand for elaborate chemise studs or buttons. Now I have here a sample that is to be a favorite."

The reporter was here shown a button of hammered gold, on which was incrustated an elegant solitaire diamond. "Well," continued Mr. Merrick, "you would not notice that it is separable, but by unscrupling this top you see a receptacle for holding a portrait. This will, I think, supersede the custom of carrying a locket in which a lady bears the face-simile of her beloved. These buttons cost as high as $100, though they can be had much cheaper. There is really more demand for these buttons than there is for those garter clasps--though the latter article will no doubt receive its full share of attention when the belles return from the east."

MR. GOODMAN KING, of Mermod, Jaccard & Co., said: "Now, I really do not like to talk about this affair, as it is, to a certain extent, a delicate one for an unmarried man, and besides a morning paper has already published some remarks I made which I did not expect to see in print, but the fact is, it is fast becoming a fashion, and there is no knowing where it will end. We make them to order and have samples in stocks. The lowest priced silver clasps are $4, and from the amount there is no limit to the cost--it depends on the purse and taste of the person desiring them. It is by no means unusual to have orders for garters that will cost $100, although as a rule the price is a little lower than that, and we have made them that cost a great deal more."

"How is the demand for ornamental chemise buttons?" "Well, now, I will only say this: There is a craze of ordinary samples. If we had no demand we would have no samples."

The general manager of the Eugene Jaccard company said: "Jeweled garter clasps have been in use for many years in St. Louis, though of late the demand is far more pronounced than it ever has been. It is the fashion, and the general public would not be known to it had it not been for the New York gentleman who, while looking out of a fashionable club house, saw a lady, while entering a stage, drop something. They rushed out to secure the lost article--one man going through a window to secure the prize--and found a jeweled garter. Of course they got about the finder is known all over the city as the knight of the garter. It was a fashion long before that time, but this little incident made the matter known to the world at large. As a rule they are decorated with monograms of the wearer, and there is no limit to the cost. We have made them at a cost of $300; the general price is a great deal less. We have a number of samples flowers, horse-shoes, etc.,--but make them mostly to order."

"Do you know whether they are made as wedding presents?" "Of my own knowledge, I don't, but I think a person presenting a pair would find that his present would not be duplicated."

"What is your experience in expensive chemise buttons?" "That is not a new fashion. It is an ordinary matter to make a chemise button inlaid with gems to cost $300 or more. We have a vast number of orders."

"Are they given as presents and by whom?" "Ladies often give them to one another. Sometimes a very intimate friend will present one to a lady, but not often. I have here a scarf-pin of hammered gold, with diamonds, caprines and rubies encrusted so as to make a quaint looking face; well, that was a chemise button, and I presume, did duty in that capacity. A young lady will present that to an admirer. That is surely a token of affection."
