innocent partnership, and from that took upon itself a criminal form. The court inquired whether it had not been held in many cases that some alleged conspirators might be convicted and others acquitted.

CHANDLER: "It has, and I will indicate the distinction between those cases and this." The court: "So long as there are to be convicted, the government may fall in all others. If the jury are satisfied two are conspirators convict; it is proper, though the charge in the indictment is against them and many others. That is my impression; I may be wrong about it."

CHANDLER: "That is where conspiracy is described to embrace two as well as all. You may indict a man for stealing a horse and you need not prove the color of the horse, but if you indict him for stealing a red horse with a white nose, you must prove that the horse he stole was a red horse with a white nose."

DUBLIN UP. DUBLIN, August 16.—E. Dwyer Grey, member of parliament and proprietor of the Freeman's Journal, was to-day sentenced to three months' imprisonment and £500 fine for contempt of court in publishing a letter of O'Brien, the editor of the United Ireland, accusing one of the jury which convicted Francis Ames of murder, John Dolougherty, of being drunk on the night previous to the day on which this verdict was given, and an article commenting thereon. O'Brien and Davitt were put out of court. Grey, after being sentenced, was handed over to the custody of the city coroner. THE BRAVEST LEADERS OF THE RACE SUBDUED BY BRITISH BAYONETS. PARNELL AND DILLON TENDERED WHAT IS LEFT OF THE FREEDOM OF THE CITY. The O'Connell Demonstration—Principal Features of the Procession.

DUBLIN, August 16.—The city hall was densely crowded to-day on the occasion of the presentation of the freedom of the city to Parnell and Dillon. Storey, radical member of parliament for Sunder land and all the home rule members of parliament were present. Parnell returning thanks to the corporation for the freedom of the city, said in view of recent events, it was clear liberty of speech no longer existed in Ireland. He said that he would, however, would take care to bring the subject before the commons at the first opportunity, meanwhile the Irish party would peacefully continue to educate people to govern themselves, and would advise them to accept whatever reform might be offered them while pushing on toward legislative independence.

DUBLIN, August 16.—There is great excitement on account of Grey's sentence. Crowds are assembling around the statue of O'Connell, and speeches expressing indignation at the sentence are being made. The judge refused to adjourn the case to allow Grey to be counselled. The following proclamation, signed by Mayor Dawson, and Parnell, Dillon and Davitt, has been issued: "CITIZENS OF DUBLIN: Without offering any comment upon the sentence passed upon Hon. E. Dwyer Grey, we deem it our duty to invoke the people to maintain calmness and dignified demeanor. We are expressing our wishes of Mr. Grey in counseling our fellow citizens to abstain from any gathering in the streets that might lead to a breach of peace. We require only calmness and temperance in the present emergency. Hundreds of thousands of visitors kept the peace in Dublin yesterday. Let the citizens show equal prudence and self control on this occasion."

THE O'CONNELL PROCESSION. The prominent features in yesterday's procession were a large number of banners designed as pike heads. Guided over the name on the door of the land league offices was the motto "It will rise again." In front of the house was a red banner with a white crescent and three stars bearing the word "Arabi." Some small chains attached to sticks, were carried in the procession. O'Connell's triumphal car, in which he was conveyed from Richmond Bridge in 1846, was re-erected and regilded, and was a conspicuous object in the procession. At the exhibition ceremonies the British national anthem was not sung. The musical selection comprised the first chorus, followed by Mandelssohn's hymn of praise, "Creation," and Hasse's "Hallelujah." Fourteen hundred carmen mounted upon horses they ordinarily drive, marched four deep and presented a soldierly appearance.
