

The Daily Bee. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Thursday Morning, Aug. 17. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 50 cents per week. By Mail, $10.00 per year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

M. G. GRIFFIN, Manager. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

-J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -Sheridan makes photographs. -Guns and dogs, with sportsmen attached are migrating now in search of game. -Sheiniller's furniture factory advertisement. -A number of the Abe Lincoln post, G. A. R. purpose joining in the veterans picnic in Omaha on the 20th. -At Shull's butcher shop, south Main street, you can always get the best meats at reasonable prices. -A number of the democratic fraternity have gone to the state convention which met in Marshalltown yesterday. -Howe & Son bought the Hertman store, on Upper Broadway, and have moved into it with their stock of furniture and stoves. -Dave Fosterin was so crazed with drink yesterday as to threaten his wife with violence. Officer Tyson looked him up for safe keeping. -Yesterday afternoon was a dull one among the justice shops. Justice Abbott was in Omaha on business, and the two others were engrossed with base ball. -A man named Oidoker was yesterday complained of for cruelty to animals, by working a team whose ill-fed condition and sore necks rendered them more fit for pasture and rest. -G. W. Andrews appeared in the police court yesterday to answer to the charge of stealing a revolver, but no witness appearing against him, he walked forth free. -The boys' band, of St. Patrick's Benevolent society, gave a pleasant quadrille party at St. Joseph's academy last evening. The attendance was large. Oidoker's band furnished excellent music, and all went merry. -The opening of Washington avenue has proceeded so far as to cut through Mr. Knabe's property. As the bridge before travel can begin, the opening amounts to but little practical use. -The bottom has fallen out of the perjury case against John Martin, and Justice Baird has discharged him. The Ross tribe, who seemed to be the chief instigators, have so unavailing a reputation that no attorney seemed willing to attend to the prosecution. -Information is wanted of Ory Garnett, who resided in Council Bluffs last July, by his brother William Garnett, late from Wisconsin. Any information leading to his whereabouts will be gratefully received. Address BEB Office, Council Bluffs. -Three drunks, T. F. Gibbons, Dennis Kearney (not the only and original, however), and L. H. Prim, yesterday adjusted by Justice Frainey at a cost to them of $3.00. The first named was the only one who could settle for cash. -Since Justice Aylesworth left on his vacation Justice Frainey, who attends to the police court cases has raised the price of plain drunks $2, the fine being $5 and costs instead of $3 and costs. The judge had already decided to make the raise himself soon. -It is with satisfaction that THE BEE announces that at last the city is entirely free from the smallpox, there not being a single case, so far as known to the authorities. It is feared that the disease was determined to drag along here until next winter, but its hold is now loosed, and the authorities avow that there is an end to it; It is a relief which all will appreciate. -Ella Harris and Lizzie Lewin were before Justice Frainey yesterday for fighting on the street. The evidence showed that they had collided and when separated each had a handful of hair. The court fined each $1, and in default of payment thirty days in jail. They took to the jail, where they were given a room where two other notorious female are spending ten days. The quartette make lots of music, but not of the sweetest nature.

HAPPILY SURPRISED.

Mr. G. Kiel and Family Captured by Some of Their Many Friends.

A happy surprise was wisely planned and successfully carried out on Tuesday evening by which Mr. G. Kiel and family were joyfully visited by a company of friends. Prominent in the planning and management were Mrs. Diesterich Holst, Mrs. C. Geise, Mrs. A. Schultz, Mrs. C. Lamsendorfer and others, who entered heartily into the affair. Prof. Oikler's band was present, so that there was no lack of music for those who delighted in the dance. A number of prominent German citizens were present and the rural districts were represented by prosperous farmers. Among others who were present were H. Schultz, H. H. Spetman, A. Althof, H. Behauser and John Hynes. The Council Bluffs Mannerchor was present, and sang some enjoyable selections. In all there were about seventy couples present, and there was nothing lacking to make the enjoyment of each and every one complete.

ATTENTION EVERYBODY.

Howe & Son have moved their stock of Furniture and Household Goods to 303 Broadway, Herzman's old stand.

SUCCESS OF THE SPALDINGS.

They Win a Victory Over the Council Bluffs' Nine, But by a Close Game.

Yesterday afternoon the Spaldings and Council Bluffs nines met on the latter's grounds here and had an exciting and close contest which greatly interested the crowd, which was a large one, notwithstanding the fact that there has been a game each afternoon this week. The following is the score in full, which speaks for itself: SPALDINGS. AB. R. IN. TB. PO. A. E. HELP WANTED.

A good first-class meat cook, and two dining-room girls, at the Metropolitan Hotel, Omaha, Neb.

NEW STOCK.

A nice stock of Furniture and Stoves, at living prices, can always be found at Howe & Son's new store, No. 303 Broadway, Herzman's old stand.

At the Stock Yards.

Yesterday the receipts of cattle consisted of nine cars by Bosler Bros. The shipments consisted of seventeen cars for Searight Bros., over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and eleven cars for Earnest Bros. over the Chicago & Rock Island.

IOWA ITEMS.

There are sixty creameries in Linn county. Iowa Falls has a 14 year old mother of a 6 months old baby. The Ottumwa Methodists will get up a baby show to raise money. D. Dinnell, of Oskaloosa, is a father for the seventeenth time. Stout, the Dubuque lumber dealer, is said to be the richest man in the state. The number of births in the state during the year 1891, as returned to the secretary of the state board of health, is 28,192. During the two years of his pastorate of the Cherokee Presbyterian church, Rev. George Knox has received ninety-five persons into membership. Miss Hattie Castle, a school teacher of Iowa county, has received the $40 prize offered recently by the Youth's Companion of Boston for the best story. Henry Maginnis and Charles Williams, colored, of Keokuk, who beat a livery stable horse till it fell in the streets, whipping it until ridges of quivering flesh stood on the poor creature's back and sides, were fined $100 apiece for brutality and $13.80 each for being drunk.

PERSONAL.

R. H. Spence, of Mt. Airy, Iowa, is in the city.

Sam Kaneher, of Yankton, Dakota, was at the Ogden yesterday.

Joe Dyer, representing the cigar house of Rube Bro. & Meyer, Chicago, was in the city.

Forney, who has been the traveling month-piece of The Nonpareil, has severed his connection with that paper.

Goodly quantities of brick are being landed at the site of the new opera house, and the activities will soon begin.

W. A. Spencer, editor and proprietor of the Macedonia Tribune, was among the callers at THE BEE office yesterday.

J. W. Chaffin has just received the sad intelligence of the death of his brother in Ohio. He lost his sister only a few weeks ago.

The water mains for Broadway are being strewn along the side of the street preparatory to being laid. They are big ones.

Joseph Barton, one of the traveling tourists of J. G. Plint's coffee and spice mills, Milwaukee, was yesterday interviewing the trade, and with good success.

An old man named Graham, hailing from the country, was yesterday noisy drunk on Broadway, and Constable Fox had to collar him and take him by team to the cooler.

Ex-Alderman W. C. Unthank has returned from his western trip. He successfully climbed to the top of Pike's peak to get a look at the country, and is wonderfully enthusiastic over his experience.

Mrs. L. B. Benedict, of Des Moines, is in the city in the interest of the home for fallen women, established recently in that city, and under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, of which she is state agent.

E. J. Ohe, who formerly lived at Woodbine, Iowa, was at the Ogden yesterday and showed some products of his land near Huron, Dakota. He had some of the target samples of soil corn and of vegetable ever shown up here as produced in that section of the country. Among other specimens of which he felt proud, was a turnip of two months' growth from the seed and measuring twenty-three inches in circumference.

Conductor Bennett rises to tell his side of the story. He says that the man who complained of discourtageous treatment became provoked because he was not allowed to ride at the same rates as if he had a commutation ticket and that when he handed the man the change the latter, being intoxicated as well as mad, dropped it on the floor by his own carelessness and was so mad that he would not pick it up. So much for the conductor's side of the story.

FOR SALE.

HORSE FARM OF THE PACIFIC.

Gov. Stanford's Equine City at Palo Alto—A Paradise for More than 500 Horses.

St. Louis Republican.

The writer spent a very enjoyable day at Gov. Stanford, the railroad king's farm, which is kept exclusively for breeding and training fast stock, and much as it is talked about on the coast, I can safely say, as did the queen of Sheba about Solomon's old, "the half has not been told." Palo Alto farm is reached by the Southern Pacific railroad, and lies about forty miles from San Francisco. Leaving the railroad at Menlo park, your correspondent was driven at a rapid rate a distance of a mile and a half through a beautiful grove of old live oaks and evergreens along the side of a deeply imbedded creek, entirely shaded by trees and other foliage, and on each side of the gravelled road were continuous beds of flowers almost the whole distance, arriving first at Gov. Stanford's country house, almost hidden in a grove of grand old oaks, and surrounded by a close-cut lawn, set in a margin of flowers, with here and there figures of bronze statuary mounted on pedestals of granite breaking the view.

The house is not one of any pretension, nor does it contain anything remarkable in art, as the governor has a town house in which are stored many works of art by some of the old masters, both in paintings and statuary. Driving a mile and a half further over a splendid gravel road, and still on the governor's property, we reach Palo Alto farm proper, and here we were introduced to Mr. Covey, the superintendent of the farm, who very kindly undertook to show us around the place. The first thought that struck us was that we had entered quite a village, and that a horse fair was being held, for every way we turned it was horses, horses being led, horses being driven in sulks, horses trotting in harness, horses being raced around the paddocks, a circular place for training; horses rearing and plunging from very fire in their blood's exuberance of spirit. I can imagine how all true horsemen would take in the line points of many of the 550 horses I saw to-day, and I am sure it will not be long before the result of the commencing and care in raising and training the best horse blood in the country will be heard from on the most prominent race courses on this and the other side of the Atlantic.

From fifteen to twenty stallions, I will give the characteristics of a few only, as to give them all would entail too long a letter.

Gen. Benton, bay, black points, sixteen high, weighs 1,200; time, 2:20.

Electioneer, blood bay, white hind feet, 15 1/2 hands high, weighs 1,050; natural trotter. He sired Wildflower, that trotted a mile in 2:21 at two years old; also Bonita, same age, in 2:24. These colts are still on hand and in training.

Also sired Fred Crocker, that, at same age (two years) made his full mile in 2:14.

Also Hincro Rose, that at one year old made a full mile in 2:36.

Electioneer was sired by Ryadyk's Hambleton, dam Green Mountain Maid by Harry Clay. Green Mountain Maid is the dam of Prospero, Elaine, and Dame Trot.

The stallion Piedmont, lately bought in Chicago at a cost of $30,000, is a black chestnut, sixteen hands high, weight 1,100 pounds, and has won his mile in 2:17. He was sired by Belmont, dam Mambrino Chief. Next, Mohawk Chief, raised in New York, was sired by Ryadyk's Hambleton, dam Lady Perrine, by Toronto Chief.

From 180 blooded brood mares two or three, with their pedigrees, must suffice. Lady Thorne, Jr., by Mambrino Chief, dam William's Mambrino she being dam of Santa Clara, that made 2:17. Next, Mayflower, sired by St. Clair, dam Wildflower, record at 2 years 2:21, full mile. Next, May Fly, sired by St. Clair, dam Bonita, record 2:21 at 2 years, full mile.

Your correspondent examined probably fifty colts, ranging from 4 months to 2 years old, all being handled, and took chestnut and 2 years old under training, and can assure turfmen on this and the other side of the Atlantic that it would make their eyes water to look at them, and one of these fine days they had better look well to their betting books when some of these are on the track. When some of the 2 year olds, already fifteen hands high, were brought out for inspection, I could not help going into raptures over their fine-pointed ears, their long fine necks, the head tapering until it reached the nostrils, which seemed almost unnaturally large and dilating like the wings of a butterfly. Their skin was as fine and glossy as if they had been fed on silk instead of the ordinary feed of the country, which is wild oats, cut and used as hay, with all the hays, cut and dry they could eat, which food is said to give them extraordinary wind and speed. In body they are more than medium length, long in the limb, and the latter a compact mass of bone and muscle. They are long steppers as they walk, and altogether have all the fine points and look as they stand before you like the finest colts you will see of the fastest English turf horses.

If they ran fast lives and continue to attract to his farm, as he is now doing, the finest stock in the country, and continues to devote a splendid care and training that is now carried on there, he can not fail to astonish the world by exhibiting at an early day the most extraordinary possibilities of horse flesh.

There is a beautiful mile track on the farm, in front of the house, and it is a beautiful sight to see a dozen sulks springing around at once behind those slyph like two year olds.

The farm consists of two thousand acres. There has been a reservoir made to hold an accumulation of water enough to supply a small city, with pipes to irrigate much of the ground and connect it with all the buildings.

The stables proper cover an area of more than 3,000 feet in length by 150 feet in width. Most of the stalls are 12 by 14 feet, and the horses left to roam around in them, the floors being of padded clay. The entire stable is ceiled so as to prevent any seed or dust from the hay falling on the favorites.

There are over thirty miles of fencing on the place, and that, with all the houses, is either painted or whitewashed, which gives a fine contrast to the evergreen, live oak, and other foliage.

There are seventy-five men employed at the farm, the larger proportion of whom are constantly grooming the horses, even down to the colts a few months old, so that, from kind treatment and constant handling, all the stock is as gentle as pets, and this is no doubt in accordance with Gov. Stanford's wishes, for it is even forbidden to shoot the quail or other birds on the place, and the result is they will almost eat out of your hand.
