THE PORTS PROCLAMATION. CONSTANTINOPLE, September 6.—The proclamation of the Porte against Arabi Pasha declares that the maintenance of the authority and prestige of the khedive is indispensably necessary, and that the designs of Arabi Pasha justify his being described as a rebel.

ARABI INCREASED BOLD. KASSASSIN, September 6.—The enemy are showing increased boldness. Yesterday a force of 200 men were observed within half an hour's march of the British camp. Infantry dismounted as peasants frequently fire at the British videttes.

INCENDIARY FIRMS AT ALEXANDRIA. ALEXANDRIA, September 6.—The police have advised several suspected persons to quit the city. An incendiary fire broke out early this morning.

NO ADVANCE AT PRESENT. ISMAHIA, September 6.—No advance can be expected before the 9th inst.

REPORTERS PROTEST. ISMAHIA, September 6.—Several correspondents protested against the additional censorship of telegrams at Port Said after they have passed that at headquarters. Wolsley has promised removal of the grievance.

BRITISH OUTPOSTS. KASSASSIN, September 6.—The British outpost was strongly reinforced to-day and drove the enemy back. Lieut. Pollard, Fifteenth Hussars, was wounded.

QUESTIONS FOR THE POWERS. ALEXANDRIA, September 6.—The council of ministers is now engaged with the question of indemnifying the inhabitants for the losses sustained by incendiaries or pillage. It is almost certain that the ministry will propose to the powers to appoint an international commission to settle the claims, the decisions of the commission to be final.

THE HIGH NILE. ALEXANDRIA, September 6.—The Nile has risen very high. It is reported that part of the enemy's position at Kafr El Dwar is flooded.

THE ENEMY OUT. ISMAHIA, September 6.—General Wolsley says the enemy reconnoitered the English position at Kassassin lock to-day with cavalry. They had no heavy guns. Musketry fire was exchanged with them.

SHIPPING VAGRANTS. ALEXANDRIA, September 6.—The fire in the residence of Cherif Pasha this morning was caused by two servants, under notice of dismissal. Three hundred persons of different nationalities, without visible means of livelihood, have been sent away from this city by steamer. Many passengers who arrived in the Messageria maritime steamer to-day were not allowed to disembark.

RAIDING BEDOUINS. PORT SAID, September 6.—An English train of 300 mules was attacked near Ramsas to-day by Bedouins. The escort of the train repulsed the Bedouins. Arabs have thrown the carcasses of horses and other foul matter in the Ismahia canal, and it is feared the water will become unfit for drinking.

INFORMALLY SIGNED. CONSTANTINOPLE, September 6.—After a conference of three hours between Lord Dufferin and Said Pasha to-day, the Anglo-Turkish military convention was informally signed.

AN AMERICAN IN IRELAND. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. A TEST CASE MADE BY S. J. MEANY. DUBLIN, September 6.—Acting upon instructions from the American government, Stephen J. Meany, the American newspaper correspondent who was recently arrested at Ennis, has taken the most decisive course for the purpose of testing the legality of his arrest. He has notified Mr. Parcell, resident magistrate of Ennis, that he surrenders his recognizances to be of good behavior and keep the peace, entered into on August 11th. In his communication to Mr. Parcell, Meany says: "I no longer consider myself bound by the conditions and obligations of the recognizances. I cannot, as an American citizen, carry the stigma of a British bondman, and, unaccused or unconvicted of offenses, continue a confession of lawlessness that a continuance of bonds would involve. I thus place myself in a position I occupied at the police barracks in Ennis, prior to the execution of my recognizances, but I shall for Special Dispatch to THE BEE. WASHINGTON, September 6.—In concluding his address in the star route cases to-day Col. Ingersoll said an effort had been made to terrorize the jury. He said to the jury: "You have nothing to do with the supposed desire of any man; or supposed desire of any department; (turning and addressing his remarks to the attorney-general), or the supposed desire of any government; or the supposed desire of any president; or the supposed desire of any public. You have nothing to do with these things. You have to do only with the evidence. Here all power is powerless except your own. When asked to please the public you should think of the lives you are asked to wreck; of the homes your verdict would darken; of the hearts it would desolate; of the cheeks it would destroy; of the wife it would make widow; and of the children it would make orphan. When asked to please the public, think of these consequences. When asked to set from fear, hatred, malice or cowardice, think of these consequences: WHOEVER DOES RIGHT clothes himself in a suit of armor, which the arrows of prejudice could not penetrate; but whoever does wrong is responsible for all consequences to the last sign, to the last tear. You are told by a certain party you should be like a child; that you should be like a child; that you should be like a child. That is not my doctrine. The higher you get in the scale of being, the grander, the nobler, the tenderer you will become. Kindness is always an evidence of greatness. Malice is the property of a small soul, and whoever allows the feeling of brotherhood to die in his breast becomes a wild beast."

Not a king, crown, nor the dearest sword, The martyr's trancheon, nor the judge's robe. Because them with one-half so good a grace. As mercy does.

And yet the only mercy we ask in the mercy of an honest verdict. I appeal to you for my clients because the evidence shows they are honest men; I appeal to you for my client, Stephen W. Dorsey, because the evidence shows he is a man with an intellectual horizon and a mental sky; a man of genius, generous and honest. Yet this prosecution, this government, these attorneys representing the majesty of the republic, regarding the only right, the only law, the only law of the land, but also

THE LAW OF NATURE. They have assigned nature; they have laughed at mercy; they have trampled on holiest human ties and even made light because a wife in this trial has sat by her husband's side.

"There is a painting in the Louvre—a painting of desolation, of despair and of grief. It is called 'The Night of Grief.' The world is wrapped in shadow, the stars are dead, and yet in the darkness is seen a kneeling form. It is Mary Magdalen, with loving lips and hands pressed against the bleeding feet of Christ. The skies were never dark enough nor the sea never so deep; the storm was never fiercer; the bolts of heaven were never lurid enough; the crowds of slaughter never fiercer than enough to drive the noble women from her husband's side. [Applause.] And so it is of human speech, the holiest word is 'woman.'"

While Mr. Ingersoll was delivering his speech, several ladies

BURST INTO TEARS and Mrs. Dorsey kept her handkerchief to her eyes for some minutes.

"Now, gentlemen," continued Mr. Ingersoll, "I have examined this testimony; I have examined every charge in the indictment, and every charge made outside of the indictment. I have shown you that the indictment is one thing and the evidence another. I have shown you that not a single charge is substantiated against S. W. Dorsey. I have demonstrated that not a single charge has been established against J. W. Dorsey. Not one of them has shown you there is no foundation for a verdict of guilty against any particular one of the defendants in this case. I have spoken now gentlemen the last words that will be spoken in public for my clients; the last words that will be heard in their favor until I hear from the lips of the foreman, two eloquent words 'not guilty.' And now, thanking the court for many acts of personal kindness, and you, gentlemen of the jury, for your utmost patience, I leave my clients with all they have, with all they love, with all who love them, in your hands." [Applause.]

At this point a recess was taken. During the intermission the court room scenes were suggestive of the Gaiety trial. When court was called to order,

ATTORNEY GENERAL BREWSTER began his address with a statement as to his connection with the case. It was now one year since he received a telegram from Attorney General MacVane to take charge of the case, and to consult with Mr. Bliss in regard to its management. After consideration he had consented to do so on condition that he discovered it was a case which ought to be investigated, and he had come to Washington and in-

POOLING THE PROFITS.

Rail and River Companies Combine to Keep up the Rates.

Dillon Dubs the B & M. the Nickel Plated Road.

And at the Same Time Shows His Anxiety About Colorado Business.

The Nickel Plate Road. Special Dispatch to THE BEE.

NEW YORK, September 6.—Sidney Dillon, president of the Union Pacific railroad, was interviewed to-day at Manhattan Beach on the "Nickel Plate" road. He expressed satisfaction with the past year's business and said everything was quiet in railroad circles and the pool appeared to give general satisfaction. Regarding the new "Nickel Plate" road being taken into the pool, he thought it would be good, as it would never do to have the road strike out and cut rates. It would only discourage the present rates, which were low enough, and it would not do the new road any good to cut rates as, the other roads would meet any cut that might be made.

Rail and River Pools. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. CHICAGO, September 6.—Managers of the Chicago and St. Louis railroad met here to-day to consider the question of pooling the gross freight between those points not heretofore included in the Southwestern pool. (Claims for percentage could not be harmonized, and an adjournment was taken until next week to allow a compilation of the tonnage to serve as a basis for calculating percentages. The proposed pool simply covers local dead freight between the two cities. Live stock is already included in the east bound pool from St. Louis.

Another Doing in Texas. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. DALLAS, Texas, September 6.—The managers and railroad men on the incoming train report another great rain storm in western Texas, which prevailed for thirty-six hours to last night, and four hours previous are reported on the Texas & Pacific road between Big Springs and Taha; two of which are two hundred yards wide. The storm was in the same section recently visited by the deluge, which wrought so much damage to property and destroyed no many lives.

Building the Burlington. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. CHICAGO, September 6.—The statements regarding in the dispatches last night about the Gould, Dillon and Ames syndicate having purchased the Hannibal & St. Joe for the Union Pacific railroad instead of the Wabash attract considerable attention here to-day. The Tribune says the Union Pacific people do not so much care to have a direct line from the Missouri river to Chicago as they do to have the Burlington cease building extensions west of Denver, and it is therefore quite likely that they will offer the Burlington to let it have H. & St. Joe, and also give up the attempt to extend the road to Chicago, if it will give pledges not to build any more lines west of Denver. It is very doubtful, however, whether the Burlington will recede one iota from the position it has heretofore taken. The Burlington managers are not the kind of people who are easily bulldozed, and they have it in all contacts with Gould that have proven to be game. The Burlington cannot afford to let their hands with an agreement not to build any extensions in Colorado and west of Denver. By doing this the Burlington would always be dependent upon the Union Pacific for a Pacific coast outlet, and it would never receive any benefit from its new Denver line, which it expects from it. The Union Pacific by building a direct line to Chicago, will not only strike the Burlington, but all other lines leading from Chicago to Missouri river points. This would only help to cement the friendship between the Burlington and other Missouri river roads from this city, and the Union Pacific would be the greatest sufferer by having to compete against all the roads from which it now gets its traffic.

A Cuban Cyclone. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. KEY WEST, September 6.—A cyclone passed over here and Cuba yesterday.

Signal Service Notes. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. WASHINGTON, September 6.—The signal office reports that the cyclone referred to is now south of Cuba, moving in a northwesterly direction into the Gulf.

The following telegram was just received from (Cochran, Alaska, dated July 29th, 1882, via San Francisco, September 6th. The chief of the signal office, Washington: Party all safe and well. Whole work being carried out. The steam whaler North Star was crushed by the ice and sunk a few miles from this station July 8th. The crew were fed and sheltered here until the ice broke up. Bowhead delivered the mails. (Signed) Ray, Lieut. Commanding Signal Service, Point Barrow.

The Denver Barbicue. Special Dispatch to THE BEE. DENVER, Col., September 6.—Three thousand merchants from Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Kansas and New Mexico attended the barbecue given by Denver Merchants to-day. Four thousand guests were seated at the first table. This evening a grand display of fireworks took place. The whole was a grand success.
