The Bride of the "Diamond Wedding" Again Married -A Ceremony Which Revives an Old Story.

The Widow of Don Esteban Santa Cruz De Oviedo Married to Col., the Baron Bado Von Glumer.

V. Y. Times There was a wedding in Trinity church yesterday in the busiest part of the day-at 11 o'clock in the morning-but not over half a hundred of had they not strolled in through the open doors as idle spectators to gratify their curiosity. There was no show, and rarely, indeed, has such an event passed off so quietly, yet the lady who was led to the altar was in her young womanhood the bride in the most rewomanhood the bride in the most remarkable nuptial ceremony that ever markable nuptial ceremony that ever occurred in the metropolis. That affair took place October 13, 1859, in St. Patrick's cathedral, in Mott street, and was known as "The Diamond Wedding," The contracting parties were Don Esteban Santa Cruz de Since Arango, the bride's physical cian; W. T. Hoyt, W. S. Hoyt, the Since Arango, the bride's physical cian; W. T. Hoyt, W. S. Hoyt, the Carlos de Predrosa, E. M. Munoz, the Mexican chancellor; Mrs. G. H. Sherburne Hull and daughter, Miss "Your husband won't know you." Sherburne Hull and daughter, Miss "Husband!" ejaculated the woman and was known as "The Diamond Wedding," The contracting parties were Don Esteban Santa Cruz de Oviedo and Frances Amelia Bartlett, Walke, the Misses Walke, and Miss S. I was a single lady! Bartlett, of the United Stases army. Since the death of her husband, the rich Don Esteban, twelve years ago, the lady had been known as "The Diamond Widow," but yesterday she lost that title only to win another, that of baroness. The gentleman who took her to be his wife in Trinity church is a German baron and a colonel in the Mexican army. In full his name is Col. le Baron Bodo von

The story of the bride who, almost 23 years after the diamond wedding, becomes a bride again, reads romantically enough. The tales of the chroniclers of 1859 who made much of the social tensation tell how great the interest was. Don Esteban was a Cuban and immensely wealthy, while Miss Bartlett was "a belle at Washington, Saratoga, and other lands and localicalls and interchanges of seasonable Miss Bartlett. Through the medium of an interpreter he proffered adulations. From the spark of attachment these hands and general ill-heath relieved by Brown's Iron Bitters.

Matter what their style or name is, and espicially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their there brought forth a flame arose which terminated in a warmth of affection compelling the relinquishment of the stranger's heart. The course of their true intimacy was smooth and serene until Don Esteban was stricken with fever and ague and underwent the inevitable privations of such a misfortune. Confinement within the little doctor cheerfully as a distressedwalls of the St. Nicholas did not, how- looked woman climbed the stairs at however, rend asunder the ties that the sign of the big foot, on Woodward had been formed. In his illness the avenue. young lady visited and ministered unto him. Her presence mitigated the as- joined the woman, laying aside her perities of ague and her smile dulciged | veil and revealing a protuberance of the bitterness of quinine." The wealth of Don Esteban was tip of a virginal Roman nose.

"That'll come off as easy as an offiplaced at every figure from $5,000,000 up, besides 4,000 negroes. He cercial head," said the doctor. "and leave tainly was rich enough to buy his not a trace behind. How long, bride $100,000 worth of jewels as a madam, may I inquire, have you been wedding gift. "A brooch," said the afflicted with this miserable wart?" Jenkins of the day, "one living Kohi-noor mountain, reposed upon the jectedly. "I've always been afraid to quiet of a satisfied heart." This was nave it taken off for fear it might "the most remarkable stone in America for beauty and price." There said it was a sign of good luck!" were seventy-five sumptuous robes made for the bride by Genine, and there were many coffers of fine linen.

"The linen was of immaculate conwhat a mistake you have made in not ception, and liable to melt to the coming to me nine years and eleven touch or vanish before the softest months sooner. Sit down, please, breeze of summer." The wedding continued the doctor, who is a chirodress was made in Paris and cost $6,000. Of the scene at the church, it was said: "At 11 o'clock, when the organ 'I've left word at home where I said: "At 110 clock, when the organ sent forth its melodious welcome, the crowd was excessive. Rustling masses of humanity writhed in sinuous motion. Who could withstand those subdoing influences of youth and beauty, of glowing througs and melant subdoing influences of youth and leaves and the series of the wart," said the doctor cooly. "It's only 50 cents in my pocket anyway, and I've taken 28,000 warts off of different forms." low atmosphere, of flashing gems and ferent women's faces and never killed sumptuous circumstances generally? anybody yet."
Some ladies could not, it seemed, for, yielding to the pressure, they first bewailed their fractured skirts, then tor made a pass over the wart and it murmured feeble, incoherent appeals rolled off like a Turcoman's head; for aid, and were borne out in collapse by stalwart." Don Esteban was soft wool, dipped it in the vial and short, dark, and 55, while his bride jabbed the spot where the wart had short, dark, and 55, while his bride was tall, willowy, fair, and scarcely out of her girlhood. He wore an "intricately embroidered white waistcoat and cravat." He had adorned the bridesmaids, six in number, with costly ornaments. Speaking of his generosity, a writer related an incident: "On giving a ball at the St. Nicholas some time aco he most cours."

Signature of the spot where the wart had been, talking, meanwhile, to keep up the patient's course.

"Took 47 warts off one man's hands—jab, jab. Something curious come and you never see 'em go, unless they come to stay, as this one did, and have to be urged to leave—Nicholas some time aco he most course." Nicholas some time ago he most cour-teously directed the hair-dresser of babies three months old and boys' that establishment to arrange the hair hands. I've taken thousands off of every lady in the house at his ex- boys' hands. Warts are as natural to pense. During the ceremony the boys as the measles—jab, jab. The father wept, but at its conclusion "the little fellows have lots of fun with bride, turning to the audience, glad- them, selling them and giving them dened a thousand eyes with the spec-tacle of her unruffled beauty."

After the rich Don Esteban died cloth is consumed in the earth the

there were many suitors for the hand of the still fair widow, but she repulsed them all. For the past three years or so she spent a great deal of her time in this city, and has made her home at the Park Avenue Hotel.

Two months ago also said for the hand wart goes away, or at least that is wart goes away, or at least that is what is expected. Ever try to sell this wart?

"Yes," said the woman, "Two tried to sell it and tried to give it away, but nobody every seemed to want it, and her home at the Park Avenue Hotel.
Two months ago she sailed from Havana. On the steamer she met Col. von Glumer. It was a case of love at sight with both. Mme. Voungstown, Ohio, May 10, 1880.

Dn. B. J. Kendall & Co.—I had asvery valuable Hambletonian coit that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the divertisement of Kondall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it and got our crug sts leve to send for it, and they ordered three bottles; I took all and I thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it a cording to directions and the fourth day the colt cessed to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free of impre and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I have let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it.

Very respectfully.
