

The Daily Bee. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Monday Morning, Sept. 25.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 25 cents per week. By Mail, $10.00 per Year. Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTIONS.

-J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -Sherraden makes photographs. -There are now twenty-four prisoners in the county jail--all males.

-Now wash the plates and make ready for the soldiers' reunion, which opens on Thursday.

-Permit to wed has been given to Peter C. Jensen and Mary Kuersten Harrington, of Webster.

-Rev. Father McMenomy has joined in happy wedlock William Hunt and Josephine Cannon.

-A full attendance is requested at Council Bluffs lodge No. 40, Knights of Pythias, this evening.

-Smoke the Utterly Utter, and the Key West Perfection cigars, sold at wholesale only by Lutz & Lange.

-Ball's saloon, near the Revere house, was entered Saturday night, and a revolver and watch stolen.

-Some sneak broke open the street ice box at Lutz's restaurant Saturday night, and helped himself to several cans of oysters.

-Joseph Ross, the upper Broadway cooper, desires to purchase fifty thousand hoop-poles. Write to or enquire at his cooper shop.

-L. D. Leavitt and Tony Pastor's united combination is to be at Dohany's, Monday evening of next week. The lithographs will be hung to-day, and they are beautiful.

-Joseph Ross, the upper Broadway cooper, desires to purchase 50,000 hoop poles. He also wants to employ ten extra coopers. Write to or enquire at his cooper shop.

-The ladies and gentlemen boarding at Mrs. Robinson's on First avenue speak very highly of the table and attendance. It is a very popular, first class boarding place.

-Joseph Retter makes the Finest Suits in the latest styles, at the lowest possible prices. His merchant tailoring establishment is at 310 Upper Broadway, Council Bluffs.

-The Walters rape case has again had a continuance, and it looks as if it was following the usual course of cases which are continued time and again until dropped out of sight.

-J. T. Barke is happy, having taken first premium on photographic work, and claims that he would have had first on the best single picture, had he not by an error failed to enter one thus, having been thus informed by the committee.

-The United States court is to meet here to-day. There are but four prisoners in the jail to be disposed of for offenses against the revenue law, and none of them are very sensational cases.

-The alleged pickpocket arrested last week and confined in jail here, had a terrible fit Saturday, in which he not only tore off his clothing but bit himself badly in several places. On being brought to the jail he was subjected to them.

-Plans and specifications for a new city jail are now to be seen at Bowman, Rohrer & Co.'s office, and bids are to be received until Wednesday, September 27th. The jail is to be two stories and consist of seven or eight cells. The location decided upon is that recently purchased by the city on Bryant street opposite Dohany's hall.

-F. C. Newell is to take his display of McCormick machines to the Hamburg fair, where he is to erect a building of his own and has secured for power the farm engine which Mr. Hendrie furnished to drive the Champion machinery here. The Hamburg folks will find the McCormick display a fine one.

-The case of Mrs. Allen vs. the Singer Sewing Machine company came up again before Judge Aylesworth Saturday, it being on a motion for a new trial, the plaintiff not being satisfied with the verdict of the jury, it being for the second time in favor of the defendant. The motion was overruled.

FINE UPHOLSTERING.

E. F. Stockert & Co., Capture a Number of Blue Ribbons.

At the fair just closed the well known firm of E. F. Stockert & Co., on Broadway, had a fine display of their skill as upholsterers, and it appears that they did not show their goods in vain. Aside from the praise won from the admiring crowds, they succeeded in winning the approval of the judges, and a number of blue ribbons were tied upon their display.

They took first premium on a window chair, first on two parlor sets, first on a parlor stand, and first on upholstery work. Stockert's name has become pretty firmly linked in the public mind with fine upholstery, and so the judgment upon this display will not be a surprise. The goods were certainly elegant, and the workmanship and taste shown are evidences that Stockert & Co. are fully prepared to meet all requirements in that line. Many have already learned by experience that Stockert & Co. are as fine upholsterers as can be found anywhere, and others are fast finding it out. Many from a distance were surprised at the fair to see such evidences of Council Bluffs skill in this line, and it will be strange indeed if Stockert & Co. do not find orders coming in from some who have not patronized them before. They have all the facilities needed to supply any and all demands. They have skill, taste and an established reputation for good work, so that their trade cannot fail to grow.

Good Goods at Good.

At Mrs. J. J. Good's, Main street stock store, can be seen the largest stock of hair goods west of Chicago, and at prices within the reach of all.

A FAIR FINISH.

A Last Look at the Successful Fair and a Word of Its Management.

Some of the Fun Which Was Mixed With Business.

Saturday the fair grounds looked like a plucked chicken, the fine feathers and points of beauty being taken off one by one and the grounds not yet being restored to their usual neatness and order. Exhibitors hastened during the forenoon to get their goods carted back to the city, shipped off home or started for other fairs.

It was a general break-up, but a rather busy scene resulted, as teams were coming and going, raising big clouds of dust, men were hurrying hither and thither and all was in commotion. The sound of the side show's bass drum and the voice of woman in tights were silent, and the everlasting "let'er roll, let'er roll," was hushed. Some of the tented shows and catchpenny affairs were unable to square up their accounts with the association, and attachments were served, holding some of the property.

The fair, as a whole, has been a great success, and was pronounced by many equal to the more pretentious ones bearing the name of state fairs, and much better than some of them. The attendance was not so large as the most of the different displays thus combined merited, but the managers have the satisfaction of knowing that they have laid a sure foundation for great success in the future, and have established a reputation which will make it more easy another year to see sure exhibits and draw crowds.

The officers of the association this year are: L. C. Baldwin, president; J. W. Perego, vice president; Dr. A. B. McKune, secretary; Henry Eisman, treasurer. All of these and others were kept very busy, both in the work of preparation and carrying out the plans arranged. Mr. L. C. Baldwin merits some special mention for the interest he took in the stock department, and it was due largely to him that there was so good a showing in that line. Few realize the cost of this part of a fair, except those who exhibit. Many of those who visit a fair will pass by the stock show as of little interest, and will gaze with raptures on some big pumpkin, or pay extra to see some deformity in a side show, and hardly give a moment's attention to a feature of the fair which takes more capital and incurs more expense than almost anything else on the grounds. One exhibitor who had only nine head of cattle, and who has shown them at three fairs in this state this year, figured up his expenses yesterday, and found they would be fully $2,000 before he reached home. It is estimated that it cost fully $200 a day for the cattle shown at the fair here. There interest is on the gain, however, and more attention is being paid yearly to raising good stock, so that it is an important feature of any fair.

Much credit is due also to J. W. Perego, superintendent of tickets and amphitheatre, and worked like a beaver wherever he could find work to do, and he seemed to be ever in demand. He kept his usual good nature coupled with his activity, and many exhibitors and visitors are under special obligations to him.

The position of superintendent of grounds is one of the most trying and busy ones, but it was well filled by J. T. Hart, who seemed omnipresent, first here, then there, meeting demands on every hand, listening to complaints, settling disputes, assigning places and with all the hurry and flurry, not only courteous to all, but finding every time, and having the thoughtfulness to ask exhibitors whether they had all the facilities and conveniences they wanted.

Henry Eisman, who handled the cash and looked after the finances, had a more quiet position, but one of the most responsible of all, and he saw that everything was conducted in a business-like, careful manner.

Dr. McKune occupied the position of secretary, and found his hands full and his time all occupied. N. M. Pusey looked especially after the art display, which proved so successful.

Col. D. B. Daley as chief marshal proved efficient, and had able assistants, so that this branch of the service did its full duties.

There was occasionally a joke cracked even in the busiest rush. One of the officers had the laugh turned on him by a country friend who asked the officer "Well what part of the show do you furnish?" The officer jokingly replied, "Well, I furnish the brains." The country friend looked around for a minute, and without a smile remarked, "Well, I must say, it is the darndest, slimmest show in that line I ever saw." The laugh which the bystanders gave was soon lost in tobacco smoke.

A comical blunder was made in tying ribbons to agricultural machines. A committee was appointed and gravely marched into machinery hall, looked over various machines and began tying on the bits of ribbon indicating first and second premiums. Coming along to one exhibitor's machines, they tied on a red ribbon. The exhibitor wanted to know what that was for. One of the committee members replied: "Why, that's the second premium on reapers. We gave the first to that reaper up yonder." The exhibitor wanted to know what the ribbon tied firmly to the machine, and then he remarked: "Well, now, gentlemen of the committee, that may be all right to give me second on reapers, but that machine isn't a reaper at all, but a mower." The committee members scratched each other's heads, and after consulting, remarked that they had made a mistake, and put the ribbon on the wrong machine. They untied it and tied it on another. The machine man waited until the knot was firm and then said: "To hades with your second premium on reapers. You've got it tied now on a dropper. You just take that ribbon now and tie it around some bigger tools, if you can find them." He had got warmed up by this time. The committee left in disgust, and before morning were

WELL WHITEWASHED

The Union Pacifics Receive Nothing But Good Eggs, While the Council Bluffs Get One Truly.

By all odds the best and most exciting game of base ball yet played here was that on Saturday afternoon between the Union Pacifics, of Omaha, and the Council Bluffs nine.

The crowd was large and enthusiastic, and the victory gained by the Council Bluffs nine was conceded to be justly and fairly won. The Council Bluffs nine played an almost perfect game, while their opponents did creditable work. The following is the score in full:

Table with columns for team names and scores. Council Bluffs: 4 0 1 1 0 3 0. Union Pacifics: 0 0 0 0 0 0 0. Total: 4 0 1 1 0 3 0.

Among the especially fine plays was the long running catch of O'Day, Smith made a splendid running catch, jumping and catching the fly with his left hand, Mack's pitching was as usual simply immense, while Strick, as catcher could not have done better, Hagan and Kuehne did some fine work, in fact all the boys were at their best; Funkhouser, of the U. P.'s merits special mention also, and made a fine catch, Whitsney, of the U. P., proved effective as a pitcher, and the Council Bluffs boys found him hard to bat. In fact the Union Pacifics showed up strong, but the Council Bluffs nine showed themselves a little stronger, enough stronger to down the visitors handsomely.

THE COMING REUNION

The Preparations Being Made to Welcome and Care for the Veterans.

Next Thursday is the opening day of the soldiers' reunion to be held here, and it is to be continued Friday and Saturday. Friday will be the great day. Arrangements have been made to hold the reunion on the fair grounds, where there are many accommodations to be had elsewhere. The tents have arrived, and other preliminaries are being arranged.

This gathering will be an important and interesting one, and there should be every possible exertion put forth on the part of the citizens to make it successful. The reputation of Council Bluffs for hospitality is at stake, and it behooves every resident of this city and county to see that it loses nothing by the test to which it will be put. It is confidently expected that 3,000 veterans will be here, and they should be cared for generously. Shenandoah took care of 1,500 to 1,800, and did not let the boys spend a cent. Red Oak made a like record. This city, the queen of the valley, should not be behind. The railways have arranged for extra coaches and trains, so that there will be ample facilities for reaching the city, and it is expected that besides the veterans there will be thousands of visitors. Let all join in a practical way in showing that Council Bluffs can and will provide for those whom it has thus invited to visit here.

A Sunday Scorch. Yesterday forenoon the alarm of fire was turned in, caused by the discovery of smoke issuing from the roof of Mr. H. H. Oberholster's old residence, in the Third ward, and located on Worth street. The alarm came in very nicely from box 13, and also from Keil's hotel, showing that the

Do Not Be Deceived

COLLARED BY COPS. Some of Those Who Have Feit the Grim Grip of the Law.

Daniel Selleck, who lives a little out of the city, was complained of by a neighbor, L. P. Brown, who charged him with stealing twenty ears of corn from his field, the value of the same being fifty cents. Brown claims that he has missed many little things from his place, and that when Selleck was away from home the pilfering ceased, but when he returned it began again. Saturday morning he caught him stealing the corn, and though it amounted to little it gave him a chance to get a little even. Selleck pleaded guilty to taking the corn, and Judge Aylesworth fined him $50 and costs.

Charles Wells, a white drunk, was fined the usual $7.50 Saturday. William Brogan was arrested on complaint of his wife, who claimed that he was guilty of bestowing too much affection on Hattie King, one of Belle Clover's soiled doves. Brogan lies in jail awaiting an examination. His frail companion was also arrested on the charge of being an inmate of a house of ill-fame, and he fine and costs toted up $21.00.

Officer Edgar guided John Henry to the cooler, for being drunk Saturday night.

A man named Show, from Mills county, who is a frequent visitor, was again registered Saturday night by Officer Morse, for being drunk.

Officer Morse also arrested George C. Brown and Charles Glynn, who were found hanging about vineyards and orchards in a suspicious manner and living off of plucked fruit. They were booked for vagrancy.

The chief run in Michael Ryan for being too bibulous.

G. S. Batten, of the Chicago Horseman, has been in attendance throughout the fair, and the managers have wisely utilized him by keeping him much of the time in the judge's stand. He is thoroughly posted in all matters pertaining to the turf, and besides being one of the most pleasant sort of fellows socially, is a spicy writer, and his correspondence and special articles under the non de plume of "Columbus," form some of the most readable portions of the valuable journal which he represents, and should be in the hands of every horseman.
