

MAX MEYER & BRO. GENERAL WESTERN AGENTS FOR STEINWAY

CHICKERING, KNABE AND VOSE PIANOS, CLOUGH & WARREN AND STERLING ORGANS. ALL KINDS OF

Musical Instruments

SHEET MUSIC AND BOOKS.

PARTIES WISHING

ORGANS OR PIANOS

Will do well to call and examine our Stock and Prices

WHICH ARE WAY BELOW ALL COMPETITION.

MAX MEYER & BRO. The Leading Manufacturing JEWELERS! MUSIC DEALERS.

Are just receiving their Fall Importations of JEWELRY, WATCHES, Silverware & Diamonds

And have also added to their already large assortment an elegant line of Bisques, Vases and Art Novelties.

All of the above are sold at very attractive Prices, and although you only get the very

BEST QUALITY

of goods, you can buy them as low as you pay for trash.

Every article of Jewelry sold by Max Meyer & Bro., is Warranted as Represented or Your Money Refunded.

The Daily Bee.

OMAHA.

Monday Morning Oct. 2.

Weather Report.

(The following observations are taken at the same moment of time at all the stations named.)

WAR DEPARTMENT, U. S. SIGNAL SERVICE, OMAHA, Oct. 1, 1882. (1:45 p. m.)

Table with columns for Station, Barometer, Thermometer, Wind, and State of Sky. Lists various weather conditions for different locations.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Winter may be looked for this month. Sunday was a rather quiet day in police circles. The fall term of the Omaha Medical college begins to-day. The fifth story of the Paxton hotel will be finished at once, giving the house forty additional rooms. An individual who was half seas over fell in front of the Academy of Music Saturday night and broke his nose. The State Stenographers' association holds an important meeting this evening at the office of Bell & Ames. Invitations are issued for the wedding of Mr. T. L. Ringwalt and Miss Minnie Hall, at Trinity, on the 4th inst. Two companies, I and C, of the Fourth infantry, arrived Saturday evening from the west, and took station at Fort Omaha. The report of the dedication of the North Omaha Presbyterian church is unavoidably crowded out, but will appear to-morrow. Rev. W. J. Harsh will begin another series of his popular and instructive Sunday evening lectures at the Second Presbyterian church a week from this evening. Conductor Dunbar, well known as the most profane man on this road, got on a little too familiar with the pay car officials, for which he was officially decapitated. Oakland Independent. The Omaha Bee of Tuesday last contained forty-two persons, and yet there are a few little one-horse, crack-brained sheets we know of who are entirely too high-minded to notice such uninteresting occurrences. [Wymore Reporter. Big gauded. Your name was unintentionally omitted. W. A. Shephardson, ex-editor of The Wymore Leader, was escorted yesterday by the city marshal of Omaha and three other important officials, who decorated him with "jewelry," to Omaha, to answer to the charge of robbery, committed in a hotel at that city during fair week. When he has satisfactorily elucidated this matter he will be required to explain why he sold liquor without a license in the "firmery" at Wymore. Wymore Reporter. Rev. Dr. Taylor, president of Western university, Ohio, who came here to assist in the dedication of the new north Presbyterian church last night, has been secured by this church to give one of his popular lectures on "Brain and Muscle," for the benefit of the lauders' fund of the church. The lecture is to be given at the Second Presbyterian church, on to-morrow evening, and as the doctor is a brilliant speaker, his lecture should command a good house. Four highwaymen tackled a man named Peterson, living on Cumine street, Friday night. Peterson had been to the opera house with a lady whom he had taken home afterward, her residence being on St. Mary's avenue. He then started out on 25th street and when near Farnam was stopped by the squad, one of whom held a club over his head, two held him by the arms and the fourth rifled his pockets. They got $1.50 and then let the victim go. Peterson after getting a short distance away challenged any one of them to come and fight him single-handed. Two of the fellows started after him, and he ran all the way home, where he got a revolver and fired a shot or two at them, which drove them away. James T. Hair, who is agent for a patent advertising hotel register was arrested Saturday, on the charge of violating the Nebraska law in regard to patent rights. Under the law promissory note given for a patent right must state upon its face that a patent right is the consideration, and it appears that Mr. Hair sold the state right for his register some time ago to F. C. Festerer & Son, taking promissory notes therefor which did not contain any such statement. Saturday evening, after the entertainment at Boyd's opera house was concluded, Mr. McDonald and his son and two daughters, composing the Scotch quartette of Leavitt & Pastor's troupe, were given a reception at the Opera House restaurant by Thomas and James Falconer, A. C. Troupe, and other members of the Burns club. Feasting and singing made up the programme, and a most enjoyable hour was spent by all present. The construction of a lateral sewer on Douglas street between 19th and 20th streets was begun Friday. Scandinavian mass meeting at Swedish library hall in Lytle block to-night. Good speakers will be present, and all are invited. The Omaha Glee Club will hold its first regular meeting for the coming season, at the office of the county clerk on Tuesday evening next. The district court, October term will convene Monday Judge Savage presiding. Judge Neville takes his seat on the 10th inst. Next Tuesday is the time set for opening bids and letting the contract to pave Douglas street from 9th to 16th with asphaltum. The contract also for grading 10th street between Farnam and Douglas will be let on that day. Mrs. N. L. Pratt, of Douglas street, drew a magnificent oil painting at the auction store on Farnam street Thursday night. The best of it is that it cost her nothing for the chance. Mrs. Mary Stewart was the lucky lady Friday. There is considerable talk among the anti-woman suffrage people of organizing an anti-suffrage association, and sending out speakers to combat them in the campaign tour. The movement is quite warmly approved by those to whom it has been mentioned. One of the finest specimens of photography ever seen in this part of the country is that recently done by Mr. Geo. Heyn for the friends of Hon. M. K. Turner. He has made a photo of that gentleman, cabinet size, which will defy rivalry from any artist. One of these, handsomely framed, was presented to the editor of THE BEE. The time of the debate on the woman suffrage question heretofore announced to take place between Miss Susan Bee Anthony and Mr. E. Rosewater, has been definitely fixed for Friday evening, October 13th, at Boyd's opera house. The postponement is necessarily made as the opera house was engaged for other desirable nights. JOB PRINTING. Send for printed price list and samples of all kinds of job work to the ALLEN PRINTING CO., job printers, and publishers of "RURAL NEBRASKA." The American Cattle Journal, LIVE STOCK printing a specialty. Nos. 218 and 120, S. 14th St., Omaha, Neb. sep20me-cod7c. SOCIAL EVENTS. A Golden Wedding - A Party in Happy Hollow. Invitations are out for the celebration of the fiftieth wedding day anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Huges, which will take place on Monday evening, October 9th. Mr. and Mrs. Huges came to Omaha in the earliest territorial days and have stayed in our midst to see the plains settled with a great population, netted with railroads and telegraph lines, and dotted all over with cities and villages. The cards announcing the golden wedding anniversary are inscribed "No presents." Invitations have also been issued for a young people's party at Happy Hollow, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick, this evening. The Omaha Medical College will open on October 23, with improved facilities and appliances. The faculty is full and complete and composed of the best medical men in the west. The class promises to be very large this year, and it will make it the most interesting for professors, students and the public, who have its prosperity at heart. sept30-m&c&t

HUMAN HASH.

A. B. & M. Laborer Run Over and Killed by the Cars.

A Couple of Carpenters Take a Tumble in North Omaha. Acquittal of the Murderer of Young Hubbard.

About 6:30 a. m. yesterday the remains of a man who had been run over by the cars and horribly mutilated were found on the U. P. shop track, in the vicinity of Eighth and Howard streets.

Coroner Jacobs was notified and the ghastly remains of humanity removed to his undertaking rooms, on Farnam street, where an inquest was held at 10 o'clock. The testimony of the witnesses showed that the deceased was John Wilson, a laborer in the employ of the Burlington & Missouri road, who had come to Omaha only a few days ago with a gang of men, to work on the new freight depot below the dump.

He boarded with the rest in the boarding car, and was probably on his way to bed when the accident happened. He had been up town during the evening, but started down about 9 o'clock, and was perfectly sober at the time, so that it is a little difficult to account for his death.

A serious accident happened on North Seventeenth street Saturday evening about 4 o'clock. A couple of carpenters were at work on a scaffold, about 20 feet above the ground, when it suddenly fell and took the men with it to the ground.

One of the men had his arm broken and the other, whose name was D. M. Fick, had his collar bone broken and sustained internal injuries, the full extent of which could not be foreseen at the time the doctor left him.

HUBBARD'S SLAYER ACQUITTED. The trial of Charles H. Wood, for killing Philip Hubbard on the 27th of May, took place in Denver on Thursday, and the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground of self-defense.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

HUMAN HASH.

A. B. & M. Laborer Run Over and Killed by the Cars.

A Couple of Carpenters Take a Tumble in North Omaha. Acquittal of the Murderer of Young Hubbard.

About 6:30 a. m. yesterday the remains of a man who had been run over by the cars and horribly mutilated were found on the U. P. shop track, in the vicinity of Eighth and Howard streets.

Coroner Jacobs was notified and the ghastly remains of humanity removed to his undertaking rooms, on Farnam street, where an inquest was held at 10 o'clock. The testimony of the witnesses showed that the deceased was John Wilson, a laborer in the employ of the Burlington & Missouri road, who had come to Omaha only a few days ago with a gang of men, to work on the new freight depot below the dump.

He boarded with the rest in the boarding car, and was probably on his way to bed when the accident happened. He had been up town during the evening, but started down about 9 o'clock, and was perfectly sober at the time, so that it is a little difficult to account for his death.

A serious accident happened on North Seventeenth street Saturday evening about 4 o'clock. A couple of carpenters were at work on a scaffold, about 20 feet above the ground, when it suddenly fell and took the men with it to the ground.

One of the men had his arm broken and the other, whose name was D. M. Fick, had his collar bone broken and sustained internal injuries, the full extent of which could not be foreseen at the time the doctor left him.

HUBBARD'S SLAYER ACQUITTED. The trial of Charles H. Wood, for killing Philip Hubbard on the 27th of May, took place in Denver on Thursday, and the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground of self-defense.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

HUMAN HASH.

A. B. & M. Laborer Run Over and Killed by the Cars.

A Couple of Carpenters Take a Tumble in North Omaha. Acquittal of the Murderer of Young Hubbard.

About 6:30 a. m. yesterday the remains of a man who had been run over by the cars and horribly mutilated were found on the U. P. shop track, in the vicinity of Eighth and Howard streets.

Coroner Jacobs was notified and the ghastly remains of humanity removed to his undertaking rooms, on Farnam street, where an inquest was held at 10 o'clock. The testimony of the witnesses showed that the deceased was John Wilson, a laborer in the employ of the Burlington & Missouri road, who had come to Omaha only a few days ago with a gang of men, to work on the new freight depot below the dump.

He boarded with the rest in the boarding car, and was probably on his way to bed when the accident happened. He had been up town during the evening, but started down about 9 o'clock, and was perfectly sober at the time, so that it is a little difficult to account for his death.

A serious accident happened on North Seventeenth street Saturday evening about 4 o'clock. A couple of carpenters were at work on a scaffold, about 20 feet above the ground, when it suddenly fell and took the men with it to the ground.

One of the men had his arm broken and the other, whose name was D. M. Fick, had his collar bone broken and sustained internal injuries, the full extent of which could not be foreseen at the time the doctor left him.

HUBBARD'S SLAYER ACQUITTED. The trial of Charles H. Wood, for killing Philip Hubbard on the 27th of May, took place in Denver on Thursday, and the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground of self-defense.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

HUMAN HASH.

A. B. & M. Laborer Run Over and Killed by the Cars.

A Couple of Carpenters Take a Tumble in North Omaha. Acquittal of the Murderer of Young Hubbard.

About 6:30 a. m. yesterday the remains of a man who had been run over by the cars and horribly mutilated were found on the U. P. shop track, in the vicinity of Eighth and Howard streets.

Coroner Jacobs was notified and the ghastly remains of humanity removed to his undertaking rooms, on Farnam street, where an inquest was held at 10 o'clock. The testimony of the witnesses showed that the deceased was John Wilson, a laborer in the employ of the Burlington & Missouri road, who had come to Omaha only a few days ago with a gang of men, to work on the new freight depot below the dump.

He boarded with the rest in the boarding car, and was probably on his way to bed when the accident happened. He had been up town during the evening, but started down about 9 o'clock, and was perfectly sober at the time, so that it is a little difficult to account for his death.

A serious accident happened on North Seventeenth street Saturday evening about 4 o'clock. A couple of carpenters were at work on a scaffold, about 20 feet above the ground, when it suddenly fell and took the men with it to the ground.

One of the men had his arm broken and the other, whose name was D. M. Fick, had his collar bone broken and sustained internal injuries, the full extent of which could not be foreseen at the time the doctor left him.

HUBBARD'S SLAYER ACQUITTED. The trial of Charles H. Wood, for killing Philip Hubbard on the 27th of May, took place in Denver on Thursday, and the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on the ground of self-defense.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

The killing occurred in the alley way between the Brunswick hotel and the Western Union telegraph office. Hubbard, a horse jockey, was drunk, and meeting Wood in the street ran against him, knocking some bundles out of his arms.

Some words followed, when Hubbard knocked Wood down and beat him in the face. The position at this time was as follows: Wood lay in a mud puddle in the alley, Hubbard over him and pummeling his face in a terrible manner.

A SUNDAY SERMON.

The Spiritualistic Performance at Boyd's Opera House Last Evening.

A Packed House—The Proprietor's Disclaimer—A Creditable Exhibition.

Every seat in Boyd's opera house, from pit to dome, was filled last evening by those who went to hear the "religious illustrated lecture on spiritualism" by Miss Annie Eva Fay, assisted by Prof. C. C. Braddon.

About ninety-nine out of every hundred present went from sheer curiosity and were confirmed skeptics on the subject of spiritualism, which is a doctrine whose followers in the present enlightened age are as scarce as hen's teeth.

The fair lecturer and her clever assistant seem to have learned this in their extensive travels, for the professor introduced the evening's performance by the statement that no claim of communication with disembodied spirits was made nor was it denied. The audience was requested to see and decide for itself whether it was black art, sleight of hand or tomfoolery on the part of inhabitants of the spirit land.

The audience was requested to see and decide for itself whether it was black art, sleight of hand or tomfoolery on the part of inhabitants of the spirit land. He requested that two prominent citizens be appointed as an investigating committee, and Mr. E. Rosewater and Dr. Miller were unanimously chosen, but not being present Mr. MacDonogh, of The Watchman, and Mr. O. F. Goodman were substituted in their stead.

At this juncture Mayor Boyd appeared on the stage, and said that he had understood that this lecture was given by consent of the Lutheran church, who use the house on Sunday for religious worship, and that had he known the sort of show that was to be given, he would not have rented his house for $500. He desired to set himself right before the people in the matter. The exhibition then proceeded as if nothing had happened and while there was little of a religious nature in it, it was certainly one of the most interesting, clever and unobjectionable sleight of hand performances ever seen in this part of the country.

The "manifestations" were made by "the powers" in a square cabinet which occupied the center of the stage and was of light frame work covered over with heavy crimson curtains.

The various features of the entertainment did not differ from those ordinarily given on such occasions except in that they were so smoothly executed as to defy detection even from Mac, who is an old timer and was put on the committee by an audience intent on discovering a nigger in the wood pile whether there was one there or not. He did his duty faithfully but declared at the close that he was unable to see anything like trickery in the business. Mac made a good deal of fun for the house all the same and when he loaned the professor his coat and vest and donned a "claw-hammer" the applause was tremendous, and the recipient acknowledged it with a graceful bow.

Without going into detail it may be said that the exhibition was a most interesting one throughout. If the facts were performed by the aid of spirits, there is little to be said about it. If it was sleight of hand it will take the cake over anything in that line yet presented to the public, and in either case it must be admitted that it is alike interesting and inexplicable.

PERSONAL. J. H. Nichols, a prominent real estate man of Denver, is in the city en route home. He attended as a delegate the first annual meeting of the United States military telegraph corps, held at Niagara Falls September 21st.

DIED. BARKER—In this city, September 30, at 2 o'clock p. m., Lewis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barker, aged 6 months.

Funeral yesterday, October 1 at 2 o'clock p. m., from the residence on Fourteenth street, between Webster and Burt. Interment at St. Mary's cemetery.

Army Orders. The following named recruits, enlisted at Fort Omaha, Neb., and Fort D. A. Russell, W. T. are assigned as follows: Frank Day to company B, 4th infantry; Charles Bell, to the 4th in-

SPORTING NOTES.

Local and General Base Ball Notes—The Tussle for the Pennant.

The decision of the Chicago White Stockings to play nine additional games with the Providence club to finally settle the championship, will delay the trip west under the contract with the U. P. managers.

The second nine of the U. P. played a scrub game at the association grounds in this city Saturday, winning by a score of 11 to 4. The U. P.'s beat the Wabos, Saturday, by a score of 11 to 6.

Whitney and Traflet returned from Kansas City, Saturday, with new laurels on the regular diadem. The last regular ball game of the season at Chicago was witnessed by 5,000 people. It was close and exciting throughout. The batting was clean and off drive and fielding sharp. Chicago won by hard hitting with the best inning. The score was Chicago 6, Buffalos 5.

The Providence beat the Boston, Saturday, at the home of the latter, 3 to 1. Whitney and Traflet returned from Kansas City, Saturday, with new laurels on the regular diadem. The last regular ball game of the season at Chicago was witnessed by 5,000 people. It was close and exciting throughout. The batting was clean and off drive and fielding sharp. Chicago won by hard hitting with the best inning. The score was Chicago 6, Buffalos 5.

The threat to have the three Chicago-Buffalo games of the league record because of changing the schedule, which would give Providence the championship, providing Providence wins the last game with the Boston today, brought the following from Spaulding of the Chicago: "We will advertise the games as championship if you desire it. Let us get this thing settled. The games will be played as follows: Providence, October 11th, 12th and 13th; New York or Philadelphia, October 16th, and Chicago October 18th, 19th and 21st. The Cincinnati captured the American pennant, with a record of fifty-three games won."

Charles Snyder, catcher of the Cincinnati, was recently presented with a gold watch and locket by his admirers. Jim Whitney is scheduled with the St. Louis Browns in next season's campaign. A scull race between William Elliott, ex-champion of England, and George (Gale) of Harlem, for $500, came off Saturday afternoon over a three mile course at Flushing, N. Y., and was easily won by Elliott.

The six days' pedestrian contest for Sir John Astley's long distance championship belt was concluded Saturday night at Birmingham, Eng. Little Wood was 415 miles, doing 114 in seventy hours and twenty minutes, beating Dolber's record in America of 114 miles in seventy-two hours. Little Wood takes the belt and $200. Day, of Birmingham, was second, scoring 377 miles, and Corbett, of Aberdeen, stood third, with 347 miles. Pearce, of America, finished sixth, with 295 miles. The competitors walked twelve hours daily.

Household Words. James Pearson, 25 Sixth street, Buffalo, says: "I have used your SPANCO Besson for myself and family, and think it invaluable as a household remedy. For grating the bowels, liver and kidneys, I shall never be without it." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

Mr. Lincoln's Effects. Special Dispatch to The Bee. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., September 30.—Robert Lincoln, who is now in this city, to-day shipped sixty-two trunks of his mother's to Washington, etc., aggregating about nine thousand pounds of baggage. The contents are principally dress goods, elegant crapes, camels hair shawls, and beautiful trinkets purchased by Mrs. Lincoln while in Europe.

Burned to a Crip. LEMONT, September 30.—A boarding house, occupied by quarry men, burned to-day. Two young men were burned to a crip.

Baby's Warning. When baby has pains at back of night, Mother in a fright, fear of a night, When worms do bite, baby must cry. If fever sets in, baby must die. If cramps pain him, Leamon's, In that hour there is no danger. For mothers learn without delay, Costless cures by night and day.