Campaign Notes From Other States.

New York Prohibitionists.

Syracuse, N. Y., October 4.—At the afternoon session of the temperance convention the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we recognize the hand of Almighty God in the movement that has already accomplished so much for suppression of the liquor traffic in other states, and that it is kindling to great enthusiasm among the friends of temperance in our own state.

Resolved, That we call for submission to the people of this state of an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Resolved, That we do not identify ourselves with any party of the government, but as a convention representing temperance societies and Christian churches of the state of New York, we do seek such legislation as shall free our noble state from the power of rum, which we recognize as the enemy of all good, and we do hereby call all good citizens irrespective of party and of creed to aid in this object.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to vote for no candidate for the legislature who will not publicly pledge himself in favor of submitting such amendment to a vote of the people.

The constitution for temperance associations was adopted and John N. Stevens chosen chairman.

The Connecticut Democracy.

Hartford, October 4.—The democratic state convention assembled this morning, and the temporary organization was made permanent. The resolutions adopted maintain the independence of state government so far as not assigned to the general government, demands a revision of the internal revenue laws and of the tariff that shall reduce taxation to the present level of the government only; also the abolition of all unnecessary offices, and the appointment of men only who have proved themselves efficient and honest; demands legislation which will afford thorough protection against fraud at the ballot boxes; approves Arthur's veto of the river and harbor bill and denounces both houses of congress for the passage of such infamous legislation over the president's veto; denounces the declaration of the republican party favoring submission to the people of a proposed amendment to the constitution which it fails to approve, as evasive and cowardly; recognizes evils arising from intoxicating liquors and believes the evils may be most efficiently checked by the passage of a law which shall be partially restricted by wise legislation, but such legislation should not be so oppressive or so impracticable in its provisions as to infringe on the personal rights and liberties of citizens, and should not be made a partisan question; believes the incorporation of police regulations relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors into the state constitution to be opposed to the plainest principles of sound government; denounces the squandering of government lands as gifts to railroad corporations; demands protection of native and foreign born citizens while abroad, and condemns the use of convict and the exclusion of free labor.

The state ticket chosen is as follows: Governor, Thomas M. Waller; lieutenant, Geo. G. Sumner; secretary of state, S. Ward Northrop; treasurer, Alfred R. Goodrich; comptroller, Thomas P. Sanford. There was much confusion during the balloting for candidates; adjourned.

The Delaware Election.

Wilmington, Del., October 4.—Complete returns from the election yesterday show the state has given a democratic majority of 145 on inspectors and a republican majority of 126 on assessors ticket.

The Election in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., October 4.—The Constitution's special indicates that Stevens has carried nearly every county, and his majority points to forty or fifty thousand in the state. The regularly nominated democratic ticket for state house officers will be elected. The fourth congressional district shows the largest majority ever given by the party. In Muscogee county the democratic ticket received 90 per cent of the vote cast. State senator and members of the lower house were elected without opposition.

MACON, October 4.—Telegrams from all parts of the state indicate a quiet election and small vote. The entire state is democratic. The ticket is elected by a majority of about 30,000.

AUGUSTA, Ga., October 4.—The Chronicle's reports indicate every county in the district have gone democratic. Stevens majority will be about 6,000 in this district. His majority in the state is estimated at 49,000. Burke county, in the first district, gives Garretts from 600 to 700 majority.

Miraculous Escape of Miners.

WILKESBARRE, October 4.—The fire to-day at the Stanton air shaft, owned by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, destroyed the entire head house. At the time the fire was discovered there were sixty men in the pits below. Their families and friends were soon on the spot, and their agonizing cries were pitiful. All the men, however, are saved. On coming out, many of them fell to the ground in an exhausted condition. Their escape through the gangways leading to the Empire mines was miraculous.

VICKSBURG, October 4.—The captain of the steamer Henry Lourey reported last night when he passed the wreck of the Lee yesterday, there were five bodies tied to bushes. A party of gentlemen who lost relatives on the ill-fated boat, left to-day for the purpose of identifying the bodies if possible.

He was at the top of the pole making a new connection. He did not fall, his foot being caught in the wire. He was taken down and died soon after being carried to the station house. The skin of both hands was hanging in strips as if seared off with a hot iron.

The Poisoned Boquet.

CHICAGO, October 4.—George Scoville says, in regard to the poisoned boquet given Giteau before his execution, that on the morning of the day John W. Giteau, Mrs. Scoville, and Miss Chevalier drove to the jail. On the way they stopped at a florist's, where flowers for the funeral had been ordered. While waiting Mrs. Scoville ordered a boquet. It was handed John Giteau, who unwrapped the parcel as they drove along, and showed the flowers to the ladies, wrapping it up again. At the jail he gave it to the warden, who took it to the cell. As a matter of fact Mrs. Scoville never had the boquet in her hands.

It is alleged Kenny was the driver of the car in which the assassins rode on the night of the murder. The weapons were four knives nine inches long with blades three-quarters of an inch wide. DE LAURIE'S DISAPPEARANCE.

Divided Opinion as to the Cause, Whether Fear or Foul Play.

Among the cases which were expected to come before the district court this term was that of N. A. Shephardson, charged with robbing a traveling man of his acquaintance of money and jewelry amounting to $700.

The latest phase of the case is the mysterious disappearance of the prosecuting witness just at the time when he was wanted by the grand jury. Those interested are divided in opinion or at a loss to know whether he has been spirited away or has voluntarily left the city.

De Laurie remained in the city for a considerable time after the affair and was very bitter against Shephardson, declaring that he proposed to land him in the penitentiary at any cost of time and trouble. Latterly, however, he seemed to grow nervous and troubled and talked of committing suicide, wanting one occasion to know where he could borrow a revolver for that purpose. Of others he inquired as to the possibility of his being put in jail and detained as a witness, not being able to give bond for his appearance and uncertain as to whether he might not be taken up on suspicion of not intending to remain and see it out.

At all events, he is reported gone, and some think he may have done away with himself, as he had threatened to do, while others have different theories.

One of his friends thinks that he will remain away until criminal week, the third week of the term, and then put in an appearance in time to prosecute.

De Laurie claimed that he was on his way to San Francisco for a New York house, and that his loss was his absolute ruin, and it is possible it may have preyed on his mind to such an extent as to lead to some desperate act on his part.

ON TO THE SEA.

The Energy Exhibited on the Oregon Short Line.

Scenes of Activity at All Points of the Road.

The Oregon Short Line has reached a point five miles west of Soda Springs and the track is going down at the rate of about one mile per day. The space to be filled to complete the line from Granger to the crossing of the Utah & Northern is about twenty-five miles, and as tracklayers are at work at each end of the gap, it will be closed within the next twenty days or less.

Track-laying is also going on west of American Falls, and a point ten miles west of the river has been reached. Next month the entire track force will be placed on the road west of Snake river, and rapid progress will be made towards Wood river. From the crossing of Wood river up that stream to Halley, graders are strung along the line, and the grade will be finished in a few weeks, ready for the track. The company is floating down the river 300,000 ties, out in the vicinity of Ketchikan and other points on upper Wood river. These ties will be taken out of the stream at Bellevue and hauled by teams along the line.

Work of Wood river tractors and work contracts having been let which extend within a few miles of Boise, or nearly 100 miles west of Wood river. There is an activity in the operations of this company which indicates the completion of the road through to Ogden, and the company is preparing for men and money to do the work. The Salt Lake Tribune says: From American Falls (to which point, and a little farther westward, the road is completed to Boise City, and almost in sight of each other, may be seen hundreds of construction camps, with their herds of teams and men, blasting, plowing, shushing, snaking, picking and shoveling, and rushing forward to completion another thread in the great net-work of American railroads. It is needless to point out the vast benefit to be derived from a short line to the northwestern Pacific opening up, as it will, travel and traffic to hitherto almost inaccessible points in Idaho and Oregon, tapping the rich mineral districts of the Wood River country, and giving rail facilities to sections heretofore relying upon the crooked ox teams and the traditionally uncertain mule, and with the Northern Pacific railroad making almost perfect the long-felt want of a continuity of railway communication between all habitable parts of this wondrous country. The company expects to have the track finished to the junction by January 1, 1883, but if it is finished by next April they will have good cause for self-congratulation. There is no lack of energy on the part of the various and numerous contractors, many of whom, being anxious to escape cold weather, are vigorously creating ox teams and hiring additional teams and men, to the consummation of their work and the happy realization of home comforts and pleasures.

THE PLATTSMOUTH MOGUL.

The new mogul engine which the B. & M. has lately secured for the heavy work on the bridge division is said to be a dandy. Yesterday P. Swift, the engineer, hitched her up to fifty-three loaded cars and hauled the load up the big grade and over the bridge without the least difficulty. Hazing of this the railroad authorities concluded they were doing the work too fast and issued an order that they should not carry more than forty-five cars at each trip.—[Plattsburgh Journal.]
