NEARING THE END.

The Last Day But One of the V.
 M. U. A. Convention.An Interesting Session and the Time Fully Employed Saturday.At 9:15 Saturday there was a devotional meeting, led by Brother Sayles.At 9:30 the topic of "College Associations" was taken up, and the discussion was opened by Prof. David son of Crete.At 10:45 the report of the executive committee was received, and referred to the state executive committee, when such committee shall be appointed.The report is as follows: Your committee to whom was intrusted the work of the association in the state during the past year, would respectfully report that substantial progress has been made, without financial aid from any of the associations, and with limited means of all kinds, we have done the best we could under the circumstances. With the help of Brother Robert Weidensall, of the international committee, new associations were formed in Beatrice, Hastings and Fremont. An association was formed at Weeping Water, in all making four new associations organized during the year. The associations at Doane college and the State university were also visited by Brother Weidensall, Brother M. G. McKoon and Secretary George T. Houser. Members of the committee visited several of the associations during the year. All of the associations corresponded with the secretary of the committee and the literature of the association freely distributed throughout the state. There are now eight associations in the state, two of which are college associations. There is but one general secretary in the state. All of the associations are in a healthy condition and the outlook is promising. Columbus and Grand Island are now ready to organize. Other points of promise present themselves. The field is large and now white for harvest. There is need of more systematic and energetic work on the part of the state committee to reach the young men of our rapidly growing state, and a corresponding willingness on the part of the associations to co-operate with the committee. We would therefore recommend.

First—That greater efforts be put forth during the coming year to develop existing associations.

Second—That attention be especially directed to the larger towns where there are no associations organized, and that they be encouraged to organize as soon as an organization can be effected.

Third—That definite work for students and railroad men shall be prosecuted more vigorously in the future.

Fourth—That an increased amount of correspondence and visitation should be done.

Fifth—That the committee be authorized to raise $250 to carry on the work in the state during the year, and that as much as possible of the amount be made up during this convention.

Sixth—That the committee be authorized to have published the proceeding of this convention, together with a synopsis of the proceedings of the two former conventions.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

P. S. LEISINGEN, Chairman.

GEO. T. HOWSER, Secretary.

The question of state work was then taken up, and the discussion opened by Dr. Leisingen and followed by Brother Weidensall.

At 11 o'clock a paper was read by Brother Hansel on the subject of "Finance and How to Manage Them."

The idea of the paper and the drift of the discussion following was that there should be a definite plan of some kind for raising money. Then exercise came in laying out of money, followed by a modest statement of what had been done.

This discussion was protracted until 11:40, when Brother Ingersoll addressed the convention on the subject of "Association Literature."

He obtained a motion to call at the Four Courts Peppercorn, or it was he, claimed to be Henry Beckman, of No. 16 North Eighth street, and said that the father of the girl offered $1,000 for her arrest.

Yesterday about noon, as Detective O'Neill was standing on Sixth street and Washington avenue, a man whom he thought resembled the photograph of Peppercorn passed by him.

He was followed by Mr. Miller to Chicago, and arrested, and on the 15th was brought back to Niobrara in irons.

The woman was a Raman most cut on the top and under the nose, a scar on the left side of the mouth to the cheek bone, and a scar on the left temple. The marks were as represented, and O'Neill took the couple to the Four Courts Peppercorn, or it was he, to get another view of the man. The detective walked by them to get another view at the man. The description stated that he had a slightly deformed Raman most cut on the top and under the nose, a scar on the left side of the mouth to the cheek bone, and a scar on the left temple.
