The Minden Murderers in Close Quarters.
 Their Companions at Hastings Go to Kansas To-Day.

The news from the outlaws received at the executive chamber, in Lincoln, yesterday morning from Gen. Alexander, was more encouraging than it has been since the murderers left Minden, and it looks now as though they might be overtaken. The telegram is dated from Wa Keeney, a small town in Trego county, Kansas, north of which place the murderers stole a pair of horses and continued their flight southwest, making for the Indian Territory. The telegram states that every available man and horse in Wa Keeney was in pursuit of the murderers, who had thus far eluded the vigilance of fifty men who had been after them for four days and nights.

The State Journal says: "If the murderers were not captured last night they must now be in Ness county, which is quite well settled. The fact of their stealing horses from the settlers has enlisted many men in the chase who would otherwise remained at home. Then again, the people in that section of the state are of the opinion that fabulous rewards, amounting to thousands of dollars, are offered for their capture, dead or alive."

"It was reported that when the pursuing party left Wa Keeney there was not a horse that could travel left in the town, and that General Alexander was unable to procure a fresh animal. The General remained in Wa Keeney last night, and our people may not be surprised to learn to-day that the men have been captured; at all events, he will telegraph the result of the expedition to-day."

"The two men arrested at Hastings, as accomplices of the murderers, and who left Minden a few days before the murder, will be taken to Kansas to-day, to answer the charge of horse stealing. The extradition papers for their removal from Nebraska to Kansas, were issued by Governor Nance yesterday."

"It will be remembered that they accompanied the murderers from Hitchcock county to Minden, and assisted in driving the twenty-three head of stolen horses to that place. They claim that they learned for the first time at Minden that the ponies were stolen, and immediately left the men who claimed to be the owners of the stock; but the finding of the photograph of one of the murderers, would indicate that they are bon companions and all in the same line of business."

Those Who Tread in the Hard Path of the Transgressor.
 Peppercorn's Narrow Escape—Police Court—General Criminal Items.

If the dispatches from Blair are to be relied on Emil Peppercorn, who was taken up on the afternoon train Monday, in charge of Sheriff Gross, came near stretching hemp. The officer and his prisoner were expected at Calhoun, and a large crowd, principally Germans, assembled at the depot, and considerable feeling against Peppercorn was shown. The latter feared lynching, and urged the sheriff to take him up by way of Missouri Valley, thus avoiding Calhoun, claiming his life was endangered if he went by that place. Gross would not consent to that round-about route. Just as the train reached Calhoun, Peppercorn took refuge in a private compartment of the car, remaining until the train started on, but demonstrations were made at Calhoun. The train was stopped at Blair before reaching the depot, and Gross and his prisoner took a short cut for the jail. A large crowd assembled at the depot and a rush was made for the jail on finding that Peppercorn had been taken off the train. A portion of the crowd overtook him and he was rushed into the jail as fast as possible, as a ghost and trembling with fear. His case will be brought before the grand jury next month.

POLICE COURT.
 In Judge Benke's court there was a fair docket yesterday. Three plain drunks were run in. Two were fined $10 and costs each and the other sent up for five days at the county jail to sober up.

A Travis and Annie Morrison were arrested for disturbing the peace, and their hearing postponed till afternoon.

Olas Rasmussen was arrested for keeping his saloon open after 12 o'clock midnight. His hearing is set for the 31st inst.

Mollie Korman beat a woman named Dora most unmercifully Monday night, and but for the timely interference of officers would have killed her. Mollie was arrested, but as her victim is not able to get out of bed, the case will not come up for a few days.

CROOKED GAME.
 Jas. S. Smiley is in jail on the charge of selling mortgaged goods. The mortgage was given on the 26th of July, and about the 1st of September the goods were disposed of and Smiley absconded. Mr. A. B. Tutton, the mortgagee, not seeing either the goods or money, put the case in the hands of officers, who subsequently found a portion of them in the hands of Abram and Lewis, the second-hand dealers. As they denied the identity of the property, Smiley was traced to Kearney and there arrested and brought back to Omaha. This offense is a serious one in the eyes of the law, and is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000, and imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding ten years.

 A Stone Removed From the Bladder of a Small Child.

We learned incidentally yesterday that a remarkable surgical operation had been performed upon the child of Edward F. Lee, aged two years and a half, for stones in the bladder or calculus. The stone was removed three weeks ago and measured four inches around the largest diameter and three inches around the smallest. The child was sick from its birth and it is supposed the nucleus was deposited at birth. The child has suffered from untold agonies. The operation of removing the stone was a very delicate one and from the extreme youth of the patient it was doubtful if it would survive, but since the operation, now some three weeks gone by, it has rested easy and is certain of recovery.

The operation was performed by Dr. Neville, assisted by Drs. Peck, Tilden, Darrow, John D. Peabody, Langdon and others. We congratulate the gentlemen upon the successful performance of the operation. This is the only thing of the kind known to the history of Omaha surgery, and is the only stone known to have been successfully removed in this city. It is a very unusual thing in this locality.

COULD COMING.
Another Railroad Potentate en route to Omaha.
 The C. B. & Q. to be Pushed Through to Salt Lake.

Following closely on the heels of Vanderbilt, Jay Gould is said to be now on his way to Omaha. He arrived in Chicago yesterday with Col. A. L. Hopkins, first vice president of the Wabash system, and will spend about ten days in the west, inspecting the principal lines of that road. Among other points he will visit are Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis.

If reports are to be relied upon both Vanderbilt and Gould have been expressing their opinions of matters and things of late more freely than usual. The Wall Street News quotes Vanderbilt as declaring to an intimate friend that he was well up Lake Shore, Michigan Central and Canada Southern, but particularly the two latter. He said they would not be affected so much by the Nickel-Plate as the Lake Shore, but he considered the latter to be good for six per cent anyway. In regard to the reported extension of the Chicago & Northwestern to Ogden, he said that he decided not to undertake it, as it would only bring the road into conflict with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, in which he is also largely interested. He has decided, after mature deliberation, and looking over the ground carefully, that it would be better for the Iowa roads to join hands with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and push the extension of the latter, which now reaches Denver, on to Salt Lake City and Ogden. The cost to the Rock Island, Burlington & Quincy, and Chicago & Northwestern would be comparatively light, and the entente cordiale now existing between the companies would not be disturbed. It had been deemed better to do this than to make any deal with the Denver & Rio Grande, because the circuitous route of the latter in narrow gauge, and faulty construction generally, would render any attempt to utilize the property inconvenient and hazardous. What the Iowa roads need is a joint line to connect with the Central Pacific at Ogden, and capitalized at cost instead of four or five times that figure.

Gould was also in a talkative mood to a reporter. In short, he believed "Western Union and Missouri Pacific and some other stocks would soon sell higher," but his talk was very bullish on Denver, Louisville & Nashville and Union Pacific.

GOULD EN ROUTE.
 Special Dispatch to The Bee
 CHICAGO, October 24.—Jay Gould did not arrive here yesterday as expected. He went direct from Cleveland to St. Louis. He will spend several days in St. Louis, and will give a personal inspection to the improved terminal facilities being provided at that point. He will visit Omaha, and ride for a time over the Missouri Pacific extension from Leavenworth to Omaha. He will visit Chicago on his return trip.

Before leaving New York Gould stated to a reporter, with a smile, that he had received an invitation to go east from Chicago over the "Nickel-Plate" road.

MRS. WINTER'S MOVEMENTS.
 A special correspondent telegraphs that one of the first things Mrs. Langtry did this forenoon upon reaching the hotel was send cable messages announcing her arrival. There were two and were addressed to her husband and the Prince of Wales respectively. To the latter personage she said: "Arrived safely. My duty to your royal highness." To her husband Mrs. Langtry said: "Arrived safely. I await anxiously a letter from my dear husband."

JAMES U. GRIDLEY.
 Death of a Well Known Citizen of Omaha.

A dispatch was yesterday received by Mr. F. P. Gridley, bringing the sad tidings of the death of his father, Mr. James U. Gridley, Sr., which occurred at 11 p. m. Monday, October 23d, at Garrettsville, Ohio, where he has been for some months past. No particulars were given, except that the services would be held on Wednesday at 1 p. m., and the remains afterward be deposited in the vault at Cleveland.

Mr. Gridley was well known in this city, having been engaged in the stock business, and his name having frequently come before the citizens of Douglas county for offices to which he was nominated by the republican party. He was born in Mansfield, Onondaga county, N. Y., August 2nd, 1820, and was consequently over sixty-two years of age at the time of his death. After leaving his native place, Mr. Gridley went to Hiram, Portage county, O., and thence to Cleveland, where he held a position as steward of the United States Marine hospital from 1860 to 1864, under Lincoln's administration. He came to Omaha in 1866. The deceased leaves several children, two of whom, F. P. Gridley and J. M. Gridley, are holding prominent positions in the postoffice in this city.

 A large colony of Pennsylvania mice will locate on Kaitie river, in Morton county, next spring.
 Jamestown has authorized the construction of public cisterns as a precaution in case of fire.
 The Fargo Republican has been presented with two cottonwood yearlings from a neighboring timber claim that have grown seven and one-half feet within the year.
 Judge Cuts, a Grand Juror justice of the peace and estate broker, is under a cloud caused by expending money that did not go to him—fines collected in his official capacity, etc.
 Thomas Johnson, a laborer of Jamestown, while attempting to crawl under a freight train at that city, on the 15th, was run over and crushed to pieces.
 T. R. Webb, of Brown county, raised a turnip which measured thirty-seven inches in circumference, weighing sixteen pounds, the seed for which was sown June 16th.
 A Huron county hunter killed forty-four ducks in five shots and a Huron county farmer has set a trap for 600 bushels of potatoes to the acre; but the Huron county liar surpasses that feat.
 The Minneapolis millers say that the new wheat from the line of the Northern Pacific, while not in quality, most of it weighing sixty-two pounds—fifty-eight being the standard for No. 1.
 A Grand Forks telegram, of October 16th, says the center pier of the draw bridge was settling and inclining forward some time, and today it was impossible to open the draw. It is believed if forced open the bridge would fall. The draw has been waiting twelve hours to pass, and notified the railroad company it would sue for fifteen dollars an hour damages for delay.

COLORADO.
 Denver had a snow storm on the 17th. Schall's book store at Golden were burglarized of $400 worth of gold pens, watches, etc., on the night of the 16th.
 James Long altim Jim Flynn was sentenced to the term of court in Larimer county, to ten years imprisonment for the murder of Joe Blount, in that county last March.
 On the 19th, John Farley came to his death from falling from the roof of the Times restaurant, in South Pueblo, while intoxicated. Farley was an old San Juan prospector.
 The Denver Street Car company is considering the feasibility of doing away with horse power altogether in propelling its cars, and may run them by the new patented steam cars, now successfully used in New Orleans. The comparative level grades of the streets would make these cars a success.
