None of the members of the board or of those engaged in ministerial work have died within the year. Very few deaths have occurred among the members of the church. Special mention was made of the cruel assassinat on of Col. Watson B. Smith, the former treasurer of the board. Among those who have died during the year, were Revs. J. C. H. Reed, F. M. Williams, F. Pierce, J. McLean and Prof. W. W. Wise.

Twenty -fc ur appointments have been made during the year. There are re-ported 1 027 weeks labor; 2,818 sermons; 1,241 prayer meetings; 4,584 religious visits; average Sabbath school attendance, 70; churches receiving aid, 46; out stations occupied, 52 Resulting from this labor: 82 baptisms; 173 other additions; total membership of these churches, 1,309; 45 Sunday schools of which 11 are new schools; pupils enrolled, 2 694; teachers, 250; school expenses, $561.10; H M. col-lections, $79.09; foreign mission col-letions, $29.07; value of churches property, $36,000, of which $12,000 has been subscribed during the year; debt upon this property, $3,500

An excellent report on mission work was given by Rev. W. R. Con-ties churches are organized and meeting houses are erected. Among ther important facts he noted that the convention has raised during the year (Nov. 1, 1881, to Nov. 1, 1882) $2,300. Six church edifices have been built, at an expense to the churches of $8,000, and to the church edifice benevolent fund of $1,800. Matry lots have been pro-cured and not a few of these will soon be broken for buildings. The church at Omaha has

There are now in the state 150 Baptist church societies, 48 neeting houses finished and 16 in process of building, and, better to say, hose now being finished are, as a rule, dedicated free of debt. If the churches raise as much money next ear as this, fifteen more missionaries an be put in the field. The first Baptist Dauish church was organized his month in Kearney county. The Omaha High Fiyers.

A couple of "high flyers" from Omaha, named Charles Duke and "Doc" Gibson, came up yesterday with a livery rig, and the horses, when they arrived, were nearly driven off their legs. They were drunk, of course, and making themselves free and easy about town. They tried to force an entrance into a private house, and rudsly assaulted a little gtrl at the who tried to shut them out. Policeman Fowler ran them into the cooler to sober up. Charles Duke is the fast boy, who, it will be remembered, some two years ago, ran away from Omaha with one of the school teachers of that place. They were arraigned this morning before Acting Police Judge Eller, on the charge of "drunk and disorderly," and were each fined $10 and costs.
