COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Wednesday Morning, Nov. 1

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: 30 cents per week, $1.00 per month, $3.00 per quarter, $10.00 per year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, North Broadway. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. Visitors always welcome at Maurer & Craig.

Last night at Dohany's was given "A Square Man."

The Shugart & McMahon block is rapidly approaching completion.

New lot nicely decorated, 56 pieces, of tea sets, only $5 at Maurer & Craig.

Hand-painted china, art pottery, solid silverware, bronzes, etc., at Maurer & Craig.

The flag presentation and concert of the Mannerchor will draw a crowd to Dohany's to-morrow evening.

The Round Table met at Mrs. Hewitt's last evening and had an interesting historical story.

This evening Frederick Warde appears at Dohany's in Damon and Pythias.

The new meat market of Shell & Malles, 799 South Main street, guarantees best of meats and prompt attention.

A fine assortment of Boots and Shoes, sufficient to supply the demands of all, at George Blaxia's south Main street.

Two boys were arrested yesterday afternoon for scribbling on the walls of the First ward school building.

Have you secured your partner for the quadrille party at St. Joseph's Academy hall, Friday evening next?

Van Brunt & Co. are moving into their new building.

Cheap Railroad tickets to all points, Bushnell, five doors north of postoffice, sells them. Entrance, Main or Pearl streets.

Keller & Co., having increased their building, are proceeding to occupy it.

Joseph Reiter makes the Finest Suits in the latest styles, at the lowest possible prices. His merchant tailoring establishment is at 310 Upper Broadway, Council Bluffs.

Prof. P. Oker has now taken the position of teacher of the Boys' band, and under his instruction the boys will doubtless gain still in musical proficiency.

Only about two weeks before the Ophelia fair commences at Dohany's Opera house.

Now is the time to get good fresh roasted and green coffee cheap, as I am closing out and will for the next ten days sell at cost. Stern F. Hastings, 305 Broadway.

The city council is to meet next Monday evening in regular monthly session, so those having bills should file them with the auditor this week.

"Cuyote Bill" is nearing his time for trial, and so confident of acquittal is he, that he is preparing to go out on the plains again, and daily practices in the jail yard, with the lasso, that he may regain his cunning of hand and be ready for business.

George Wickes was yesterday arrested on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. It is claimed that F. W. Spetman & Bro. are the victims, and the amount is stated at $75. Wickes is charged with having given the firm an order for his pay on the railway company for which he was employed, when he had already drawn it.

The following were given permits yesterday to plunge into matrimony: Oscar W. Potter, of Boone, and Nannie A. Witt, of Ottawa, Kasas; Jacob Brock and Mary Koch, both of Council Bluffs; Oscar Youngerman and Clara Grothe, both of this city.

The public library has added to its fund of information the reports of the Bureau of Labor of Massachusetts. These reports contain many valuable statistics and statements, and those who are interested in the many features of the labor question will find these volumes very valuable for reference.

To the surprise of many, Smith & McCuen, the restaurant men and confectioners, on Broadway, were announced to be in financial difficulties, and that their stock had been seized upon by Mr. Davette, one of the largest of the creditors. The firm seemed to be doing a nice business, and it is to be hoped they may be able to see their way clear to continue.

A German farmer named Deteliff C. Baiti was suddenly killed in Keg Creek township Monday afternoon by being thrown from a load of lumber, the fall breaking his neck. He was aged about fifty years, and leaves a wife and three children. He had lived there for years, and was among the most prosperous and most respected farmers of that township.

One recent Sunday night there was a lively row on Broadway, in which a number took a hand, and the jungle was kept up for the best part of an hour without a policeman appearing to quiet it or to interfere. The next day about a dozen warrants were issued and the bloods in the vicinity daged in, but none of them seem to have been guilty, the case having been continued until this week, and then all discharged.

It is noticeable that the republican orators who have come to this district to help Anderson out, have none of them tried to risk their own reputation by indorsing Anderson as a man, and most of them shrewdly avoid even mentioning his name. They confine themselves to platitudes what glorious things the republican party has done in the past, and try to get the republicans to support the republican principles, with little or no reference to Anderson.

Last evening the Presbyterians gave an enjoyable and largely attended social in Bennett's new block. It was rightfully termed a "jumbo" social. A representation of Jumbo, or at least one of his elephantine family, was present. It was a five-ton, too, and made much merriment. Then there were miniature jumbos on sale, which were not all. Oysters were served and other refreshments, and a pleasing stage performance was presented, including the reading of "Lord Ullin's Daughter," with tableaux illustrations. The whole entertainment was very fine and the occasion was enjoyable.

On Sunday afternoon the printers of Council Bluffs organized a typographical union, with twenty-five members, the number of men working in the city. J. M. Thomas was elected president, J. R. Dietrich vice president, J. S. Browning corresponding and recording secretary, M. M. Workman financial secretary, J. C. Scherhorn treasurer, C. W. Carney chairman and P. M. Fryer and R. S. Rawlings executive committee; Ben Allen, sergeant-at-arms. The organization was named Bluff City Typographical Union of Council Bluffs.

Sticking to Party. There are a few republicans scattered here and there through the city who, though acknowledging that the charges against Anderson are true, though acknowledging that he is a corrupt politician and obtained his nomination of one majority by fraudulent means, yet they say that they will vote for him because he is a republican—simply for that and no other reason.

One of the members of the republican committee remarked in THE BEE office that though the republicans should nominate the devil himself he would vote for him because of party. A large proportion of whatever republican votes Anderson may receive will be given him on account of party. No man, no party organ, not even Anderson himself, has had the boldness to attempt to refute the documentary evidence of his personal record.

No one has denied that he gave the $1,000 bond, promising to give a certain postoffice to a certain man. No one has attempted to refute the charge that he drew his pay twice in the army, and that the government sued him and got judgment against him for the amount, thus unlawfully obtained. No one has attempted to deny the showing of his conduct as a husband. No one has attempted to deny that he is trying to get possession of Mrs. Miller's property, instead of letting it go to her children. No one attempts to deny a score of charges brought against him and backed up by the publication of the documents and official records, given the people in full and by exact copies.

The discussion of Anderson's fitness for the honor he is seeking, has almost ceased, and it seems to be conceded by all that his unfitness is manifest. The only possible excuse now given for offering to vote for him is that he claims to be a republican, and that his vote in congress will count on the title of party. This is all he claims himself. In his speech here he urged the voters to remember that the contest was not one of war but of principles, and personal records should be laid aside.

The republican state convention of Iowa, a few years ago, avowed, "We declare it the duty of every republican to oppose the election of a bad or incompetent candidate upon our own or any other ticket." Such is true republican doctrine.

Amidst the various movements of the republican party, a true republican should love his party so well, should cherish it so fondly as to be willing to suffer temporary defeat rather than endorse corruption in either measure or man. It would be much more creditable to republicans to appear on record as having refused to endorse unfair means and an unfit man, than to go to the polls like a flock of slaves, driven under the party lash, and for the love of party go into history as supporters of a man in whose personal or political purity they have no faith, and to whose methods of grasping an honor they have an honest repulsion of feeling.

Next Tuesday voters are to be cast not merely for principles, not merely for men, but for both. Much is said about the horribleness of sending a democrat to congress for this district. Many republicans feel that it is a matter of great regret, but none will blame if Pusey is elected but those who have joined in forcing Anderson upon the republicans. While republicans regret that they are forced to help send a democrat to congress, yet the business picked from the stump, the horrible predictions that with democratic ascendancy will come revolution and famine, will not frighten sensible men. During the six years in which the democrats held the legislative power the government fell, and none of the horrible predictions then came true. In this district, Pusey, if elected, cannot but realize that he is sent to congress by republican votes, and the past record of the man is sufficient to warrant that he will honorably recognize the fact, and that he will represent republican as well as democratic constituents.

Another Independent Candidate. Please announce Wallace McFadden as an independent candidate for constable.

MANY FRIENDS. An Extensive Firm. In to-day's issue of THE BEE, we take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of Dequette, Guibert & Co., successors to Earl E. Dequette, this firm is one of the most vigorous, successful and substantial on the Missouri slope. Their yearly sales are enormous, and extend all through western Iowa, Dakota, Northern Missouri and Kansas, and all throughout Nebraska. Their success must be attributed to square dealing and living prices.

BIG GAME. An Omaha Sporting Man Reported to Have Lost Several Thousand Dollars.

There was quite a stir here among the sporting fraternity here yesterday over a big game played the night before. The story runs that a gambler, having returned from Atlantic, struck one of his kind from Omaha, and after sticking with the game for two or three days, they waxed warm Monday night and ran the game up to $500 a chip, and that the Atlantic man drained Omaha dry, stepping out of the game with twenty five of these chips, calling for $12,500, which was paid over in cash to him, leaving the Omaha man a dead mourner.

Some of the sporting men who are supposed to have been interested in the matter, say the story, while others as stoutly insist it is true. The amount stated makes the story seem improbable to many, and others give a knowing wink and say that it was simply a ruse to catch certain game men were after, and that it failed to work.

At the Stock Yards. The following shipments were made from the Union stock yards here yesterday to Chicago:

- 8 cars, Sharp & Bee.
30 cars, Yoorhis.
7 cars, Plummer Bros.
20 cars, Maxwell & S. and P.
6 cars, McKinley.
18 cars, Seewright Bros.
4 cars, Mayfield.
4 cars, Wittz.
97 cars—Total.
There were 16 cars received yesterday.

On Monday Evans & Hays made one of the heaviest shipments which ever rolled forth from here, their cars making up three trains.

Another Independent. I hereby announce myself an independent candidate for constable.

PERSONAL. George W. Cornatt, of San Francisco, is at the Ogden.

Charles Sherraden was reported last evening as quite low.

A. P. Camer, of The Avoca Herald was at the city yesterday.

J. H. Conter and family, of Frankfort, Ind., are in the city.

James Reynolds, of Milwaukee, was among yesterday's arrivals at the Ogden.

Mrs. Templeton, wife of the chief of the fire department, is quite ill, and her friends are very much alarmed about her condition.

Will Erdman, who was an old schoolmate of Justice E. J. Abbott, in Cleveland, was here yesterday, en route for Japan, where he is engaged in business.

Dr. O. W. Archibald left last evening for Fort Snelling to report for duty, having been lately appointed surgeon in the U. S. army. The good wishes of many friends will accompany him to his new field of work.

THE HAWKEYE BUDGET.

The Political Situation in the Various Congressional Districts.

Antipathy of the Drive Well Monopolists to Judge Nelson.

Des Moines Correspondence to the Pioneer-Press. The republicans of Iowa have heard from Ohio that the district judge, Jerry Murphy, is to be elected, and that it is dangerous to take any chances, or to attempt to avenge imaginary wrongs this year. Iowa has two additional congressmen to elect this year, and it is expected they will send a solid republican delegation.

In one of the districts in the state the democrats have a ghost of a chance—the Second, and it would be a very strange republican district that would send Jerry Murphy to congress, and yet he may get there, for that district contains the strongest liquor and lager beer element in the state. In no other district in the state would Jerry Murphy declare that no man could be a democrat and prohibitionist. Some of the leading democrats in the state, lawyers and judges, are prohibitionists, but they don't live in the Second district. In the Ninth district, where Pusey may carry the district by storm and personal popularity, the republicans are beginning to see the folly of fighting among themselves, and are trying to close up the ranks. Election day may not disappoint the democrats in that district. The democrats and greenbackers in that district are making a terrific hullabaloo over a recent refusal of John A. Kasson to jointly debate with E. H. Gillette recently at Winterset. By chance both were to speak there the same day. Gillette's strikers crowded into Kasson's hall and asked that Gillette speak with Kasson, which was refused. After considerable disturbances they withdrew, and now charge Kasson with cowardice. The true reason for Kasson's refusal is that four years ago, when they were opposing candidates, Gillette went over the district making vile and slanderous charges against Mr. Kasson's personal character. Mr. Kasson therefore determined that he would never again recognize the man, and that none of his friends should at one of his meetings be defiled with Gillette's presence with his consent. It was not a matter of politics, but of individuality. I would ask your readers to specially note the vote given to Gillette in this district on the 7th of November.

THE DRIVE WELL CASES. There appears to be a strong disposition by the plaintiffs in the drive well cases, on the docket of the federal court here, to avoid Judge Nelson, of St. Paul. It was expected he would be here at the opening of court, but he did not come. Several days ago a motion was made before Judge McOray to transfer these cases all to the northern district, before Judge Shiras, the new judge; at Dubuque, and the motion was granted, and Judge Nelson was then assigned to sit with Judge Shiras. On Monday a motion was made to review the proceedings and bring the cases back here. The court revoked the first order, set the cases for trial here November 2, and assigned Judges Nelson, Love and Shiras to hear them, so that Nelson will hear the cases anyhow, which seems to be just what the plaintiffs want, probably because of his acknowledged thorough understanding of patent laws. The Pioneer Press readers will be interested in the outcome of this trial.

THE BARBED WIRE SUITS. The barbed wire monopoly is here in full force with the big law guns of the east. They asked the federal court the other day for an injunction against the Farmers' Protective association, and several other defendants, to restrain them from making barbed wire. Judge Love informed them that he should not grant an injunction for the reason that, in Washington, their claim to the patents used by defendants, and in view of the possibility that they could not, it would be unjust to injure the defendants by compelling them to cease business. He would, however, require them to give bond and security for damages, pending the final issue of the case.

A SINGULAR VERDICT. That the verdict of a jury is one of the most uncertain things in life was exhibited in the federal court here last week. One, Dewey, innkeeper of the United States Express company, and two messengers of the American Express company, left train for dinner at an eating station and got into a friendly scuffle. One of the United States boys struck the other on the back with a haversack, which discharged a revolver the other had strapped around his body. The bullet struck an object, plucked and hit Dewey, passing through his hand. He sued the American Express company for damages on the ground that the injury was caused by their employees, while all three were engaged in the line of duty. The jury gave Dewey $1,500, although he soon recovered from his hurt, and resumed his duty. The Presbyterian State synod and the Baptist state convention adopted resolutions endorsing the prohibition amendment, and requesting the governor to call a special session of the legislature this winter to enact the necessary legislation to enforce the amendment.
