

The Daily Bee COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Friday Morning, Nov. 3. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 30 cents per week; By Mail, $10.00 per Year.

OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway. M. G. GRIFFIN, Manager. H. W. TILTON, City Editor.

MINOR MENTIONS.

-Anderson seems to have "the bar," after all. -The parents of the unfortunate boy from Neola arrived here yesterday and took him back to his home.

-J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -Visitors always welcome at Maurer & Craig. -We have not heard of any trains being held until after the close of Pusey's meetings.

-A boothless was arrested yesterday for stealing a little wagon from a boy named Alsworth. -Two fellows, giving their names as W. H. Brooks and Alf M. Strong, were arrested here yesterday, charged with stealing a cloak in Omaha.

-New lot nicely decorated 56 pieces, of tea sets, only $5 at Maurer & Craig. -Hand-painted china, art pottery, solid silverware, bronzes, etc., at Maurer & Craig.

-The new meat market of Shull & Mullen, 709 South Main street, guarantees best of meats and prompt attention. -The boys' band gave another of their quadrille parties at St. Joseph's academy hall this evening.

-A fine assortment of books and shoes, sufficient to supply the demands of all, at George Blaxin's south Main street. -The boys' band held forth at St. Joseph's academy this evening in one of their popular and enjoyable invitation quadrille parties.

-Leave to marry was given yesterday to M. H. Heagy and Fanny Austin, of Neola; also Julius J. Achter and Fanny E. Campbell, both of Council Bluffs. -Cheap Railroad tickets to all points, Bushnell, five doors north of postoffice, sells them. Entrance, Main or Pearl streets.

-Joseph Reiter makes the finest Suits in the latest styles, at the lowest possible prices. His merchant tailoring establishment is at 310 Upper Broadway, Council Bluffs. -Anderson's wonderful "boom," of which so much was said a while ago, seems to have fallen into a grave of silence.

-The play of "Damon and Pythias," even in such hands as Frederick Ward, failed to draw here the large audience the actor and drama merited. If Mr. Ward had appeared in "Richard" it would have been more satisfactory, as there is much desire here to see him in that character. -Sheriff Dan Farrell is now before the public in a lengthy communication setting forth the facts in the Miller will case and showing Mr. Anderson's connection with it to be even more damaging than has been before charged. The shadows depend on the major's record.

-John Allison, the young man who was confined here in jail for some time on account of his evident insanity, and who was released a few days ago, is again in custody, his mental derangement having returned to him. It is said that he needs treatment at the asylum. -There is an exhibition at THE BEE office a specimen handful of the hay being furnished the fire department at $7 a ton. It is said that "Old Pat," the veteran fire horse, got mad when some of it was offered him, and laying back his ears started madly at his master. But then Old Pat's teeth are poor and he wasn't in shape to tackle such hay.

-Last evening there was a large and highly delighted audience at Dehany's hall to witness the presentation of the beautiful flag given the Mannerchor by the lady relatives and friends of the members. The concert given was a grand one, and the dance which followed proved a happy finish to a most enjoyable evening. -Chief Field reports the arrests made in October as follows: Discharging fire arms on the street, 2; carrying concealed weapons, 1; larceny, 1; intoxication, 4; threatening to kill, 1; disturbing the peace, 18; absconding, 1; assault with intent to kill, 1; robbery, 1; insanity, 2; burglary, 4; inmates of houses of ill fame, 5; runaways, 2; gambling, 7; malicious mischief, 2; profane and obscene language on the street, 1; vagrancy, 3; fugitive from justice, 1; obtaining goods under false pretences, 1; or a total of arrests of 123 for the month. -The Catholic fair at Dehany's hall will take place in about ten days. The prospects of success are most flattering. Among the other gifts we will mention a handsome eight day clock, by Mrs. J. J. Brown; a beautiful wax doll, by Miss Mary J. Thompson; a $10 gold piece, by John Lee, of Upper Broadway, and a half pound of tea, by Mr. Wirth, of the Boston Tea store.

to his request, which he naturally deems still more unjust. Mr. Epenester has certainly done good work, and should be given the credit due him. -Yesterday a number of the keepers of houses of ill fame were called into police court and pleading guilty were fined $25 and costs each. Herebefore the inmates also too have been assessed monthly, but the authorities now seem inclined to let them off. The monthly fine scheme amounts to virtually a license system of prostitution here, without any of the restrictions which are attached thereto where a license system is openly carried out.

-The sad news comes from Missouri Valley of the death of Jack C. Key, which occurred in that place early yesterday morning. He has been suffering for some time from consumption, and of this disease his death resulted. He was about 2 years old, and for the past four years has been connected with J. Tomassie's grocery store at Missouri Valley, and had many friends, not only in that place but also in this city. He has for a long time been connected with the fire department there, and in that relation as in others of his proved himself a true man. The funeral services are to be held to-day.

-The Deaf Mute Hawkeye, for November, gives a brief outline of the daily programme at the institution, and as there is a strange lack of information among the citizens here concerning the details of the work being done there we reproduce it: "The Iowa institution was established at Iowa City in 1835, was removed to Council Bluffs in November, 1870. Nearly 6,000 pupils have received instruction. The following order is observed in our institution: Morning bell at 6 o'clock; breakfast at 6 1/2; chapel services, consisting of prayer and exposition of a passage of scripture at 8; a school from 8 1/2 to 12; dinner at 12; school 1 1/2 to 2; girls in sewing rooms and boys in shops from 2 1/2 to 5; supper at 5; study from 7 to 8 for young pupils -half an hour longer for older pupils; all in bed by 9. Blessed asked at each meal, and prayer offered after evening study hour, sometimes by a pupil. No school on Saturday. Saturday chapel lecture is on some public topic. Bible studies and lectures on Sunday morning and Sunday school in afternoon.

Politics Getting Warm. An evening two ago one of the leading Anderson men met another republican on the way home, and the two falling into conversation, the Anderson man remarked, "Well, I suppose you are going to vote all right?" "Yes; I am that." "That's good. I am glad to know you're going to stand by Anderson. He needs all the votes he can get." "But I'm not going to vote for Anderson. I meant, when I said I was going to vote all right, that I was going to use the common sense that God gave me, and vote according to my own judgment for the best man under the circumstances, and I believe Pusey is that man." "What! Ain't you going to vote for Anderson?" "No, sir; as a republican I cannot support such a man." "What's that?" "Don't you call Anderson such names as that?" "Well, that's what I believe he is." The Anderson man became at this so enraged, and so far forgot the prominence of his position, and his rank and title, that he grabbed the anti-Anderson republican, and the latter breaking his hold, the former grabbed an oil can which the anti-Anderson man was carrying home, smashed the can against the fence, spilled the oil and acted like a wild man. He then recovered himself enough to offer a semi-apology, and yesterday he made it complete, and bought a new can for the damaged party.

Do Not Be Deceived. In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Bitter Pills we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Difficulties. We know where we speak, and can readily give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by C. F. Goodman.

Honored by the King. Dr. P. W. Poulson yesterday received a letter of which he may well be proud. It is from the bureau of his majesty, Oscar II, king of Sweden and Norway, and is written by Otto Printzskjold, the king's private secretary, stating in brief that his majesty has been greatly entertained by the production of the historical drama entitled "Kay Lykke," and that he has directed his secretary to express to its author, Dr. Poulson, his great appreciation of the same and his sincere thanks. The play thus honored was written by Dr. Poulson while in San Francisco, and published in Copenhagen, about two years ago. That it contains much merit there can be no doubt when it is thus honored by a king, and especially by one who takes such a deep interest in literature and is himself an author of much ability. The doctor has written a historical play in English also, which, as soon as he can find time he will revise and will present to the public. Those who have had portions of it submitted to them for criticism pronounce it one of the best.

A World of Good. One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant as the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old-fashioned "bone-set" tea, that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right, try Hop Bitters. -Nunda News.

Another Independent. I hereby announce myself an independent candidate for constable. Oct 31-33 Wm. M. McFadden. Horsford's Acid Phosphate. IN DYSPYPSIA. FRANCIS H. A. KISS, A. A. Surgeon, U. S. A., says: "For dyspepsia, whether in the least or corpulent, in nervous debility and in night sweats of consumption, it has commonly given speedy benefit, and some of my away friends are quite enthusiastic about it."

A Pure Ballot. To the Editor of THE BEE: In a man bound by the ties of party, and justified in his conscience and before his fellow man; in laying aside the convictions of his mature judgment and casting his vote contrary to that judgment, but in accord with the dictates and behests of the political party to which he belongs? This is a question of some immediate importance to the voters of the ninth district of Iowa. To answer it in the affirmative implies that the party is greater than the individual; while to answer it in the negative settles the question in favor of the freedom of each individual citizen to, so far as his vote can operate, select the person to represent him in the legislative halls and other organs of government, whom his mature judgment says is a fit and proper representative.

In the party greater than the citizen? Political parties are the creators of the individual, and to hold their claims, demands and behests over the citizen are superior and paramount to his mature judgment is to maintain that the created is greater than the creator. Such a proposition is unthinkable. When the dictates of party override and smother the free exercise of the intelligence of the citizen, then there is an end of representative government, as it was established by our fathers. Then those in office cease to be the representatives of the people, but are those of a political entity, having, like a corporation, neither a body, soul nor mind.

The theory of the ballot is that it reflects the intelligence of the man who casts it, but if the ballot is placed in the box in obedience to what is popularly called the "party whip," then it is not the representative of the sentiment of the voter, but of the tyrannical will of the party "bosses"; that voter does not discharge the function of a voter under our constitution; his act of voting, instead of being the highest and most sacred act of a citizen towards his country and fellow men, is the contemptible, sordid, groveling act of a creature. He becomes a violator of one of the most fundamental laws of our political society. If men are not to vote the convictions of their judgment, then the howl about the purity of the ballot box and frauds in elections had better cease.

A host of republicans in the Ninth district of Iowa, without any hesitation say that the dictates of their own conscience and the conclusions of their mature reflection impel them to cast their vote for Pusey instead of Anderson. They are free to say that the first named gentleman is a more fit representative of the intelligence, morality, thrift and good citizenship of the inhabitants of their district. But the party "bosses," especially two United States senators and a member of the lower house, come into this district, take the stamp, crack the party whip, proclaim as republican doctrine that the party is greater than the citizen, and in substance say, "You must vote as we say and not do as you think." They preach that the party, this creature of the individual, has become greater than its creator, and for some reason which they do not deign to explain, has the right to overrule individual opinion and individual freedom of thought and action.

Such a state of things is alarming to the extreme, and it is not suddenly and decisively held in check, will develop our government from a representative one into an oligarchy in which the sole power will be wielded by those whose lack of principle, whose unbridled impudence and absence of honor have contributed to raise them to the standard of party leadership. Voters of the Ninth district of Iowa, remember that it is only right to vote for the candidate of your party when your judgment tells you so; but it is neither patriotic nor honest to vote for him when your intelligence says he is unworthy of your support, and in no sense a fit, fair and proper representative of yourselves. Would the voters of the Ninth district like to have their moral character aversaged by that of a man whose nomination is the result of a bond with security, exacted because of a lack of faith in him having sufficient manhood to stand up for his promise? If not, then don't let your votes on the 7th of November say to the people of this country that Anderson is a fair average representative of the honesty, morality, thrift and intelligence of his district.

Be true to yourselves and you may rest assured your country will be none the worse off. Patriotism, or party allegiance when kept within proper bounds, never does us any harm, and a man that should be false to himself and blind to the teachings of his own intelligence. The dictates of patriotism are elevating, not depressing; the outgrowth of patriotism is the expansion of the moral character of the citizens and not the blighting of that character by being a traitor to himself and false to his convictions.

The most substantial theory upon which the common school systems of the country rest is that by means of education the children will grow up to be intelligent voters. But if this modern doctrine of blind adherence to party and a dumb following of party bosses is to be practiced, then the less an education a man has the more apt he will be to yield obedience to the doctrine, and common schools, so far as they tend to make enlightened voters, have as well be discontinued. The true doctrine is to educate the child at public expense, to the end that when he arrives at manhood, and takes upon himself the responsibility of a voter, he will be able to intelligently perform the duties of citizenship, and place in the ballot box a ballot which is expressive of his judgment and convictions, and not of the whippings of a subsidized party press, of party manipulators and stump orators.

The Nonpartisan appeals to republicans not to allow their prejudices to override their party fealty; but it will be noted the true question is whether the voter should suffer his convictions of duty and conclusions of judgment to be enslaved by party. A man should be very careful of allowing his actions to be controlled by prejudice (and this is good advice, the editor of that paper), but should never hesitate to obey the promptings of his conscience and the convictions of his reasoning faculties.

A pure ballot is one which is the expression of the free untrammelled judgment of the man who cast it; a corrupt ballot is one which is voted in consequence of purchase, or of fear of party displeasure, or of the dictate of a party boss, or of any other impure ballot—therefore let every man vote his convictions and judgment. A REPUBLICAN.

A BAD BULL. In His Fury he Nearly kills a Man Who Tried to Control Him. Yesterday afternoon a man named A. Collier, who is in the employ of City Marshal Jackson, was severely injured by a Jersey bull on Jackson's farm, near this city. The bull had broken the strap by which he was tied and was roaming about in a yard enclosed by a high and tight board fence. Another hired man on the farm attempted to tie up the big brute but concluded it was too risky and Collier then tried it. On approaching the bull the animal, enraged, made for him, and Collier retreating had his escape cut off by a corn crib, where the bull fastened him, forcing him into a corner, where the bull, in his attempt to gore the man, crowd d on him so heavily as almost to crush the life out of him. There was fortunately a little depression in the ground, so located that by being partly in this he escaped the fatal injuries which otherwise must have resulted. When rescued, however, he was in a deplorable condition, and was evidently very seriously injured. He was taken to his home, and Dr. Green called in to attend to his wants.

PERSONAL. F. Burling, of Ripon, Wis., was at the Ogden yesterday.

Edwin T. Gillett, representing a Chicago paper house, was in the city yesterday.

L. Goldstein was in the city yesterday, in the interests of a Cincinnati distillery.

By a freak of the types THE BEE in announcing the arrival here of D. H. Flickinger on a visit to his brother, A. T. Flickinger, succeeded in informing the public that he was here on a visit to his "father," A. T. Flickinger. The latter was yesterday the recipient of many congratulations on having so healthy, husky and handsome a boy. The extent of the congratulations caused by the innocent mistake demonstrated pretty thoroughly that THE BEE has many careful readers in this city.
