The Frogress of the Mexican National. New Orleans Times-Democrat. On the arrival yesterday at Algiers of the Texas train a Times-Democrat reporter boarded the sleeping car, and while it was being ferried over the river was introduced to and had quite a pleasant conversation with Mr. Walter Hinchman, the president of the Mexican National Railway Construction company. Speaking of the road, Mr. Hinchman said, "Up to date 150 miles of roadway have been built and are now in operation; aside from this, 200 miles of the road have been graded, and track is being laid at the rate of two to three kilometres a day. The earnings of the completed portions of the road have been very large, especially on the Toluca division. The earnings of he Mexican Central road very large, and at present there is every prospect of a bright and prosperous future for the railway lines in Mexico. "As soon as the connections of the pleted the trade between Mexico and the United States will be immense. At present the republic of Mexico is in a prosperous condition, and next ,000 majority and bets are freely year the receipts of the government offered that the majority will run up will amount to fully $35,000,000." to 1,500 or 2,000. A heavy vote is the reason that she has a fine advantage in situation. If she does not get all the trade, she will doubtless get her share. Galveston is already reaching out for the trade, but as a market can not compare with New Orleans. I do not look upon Galveston as a competitor much to be feared, but the merchants of your city had better WATCH ST. LOUIS AND CHICAGO. These cities are the real rivals of New Orleans, and will leave nothing undone that will enable them to control

"What steps should New Orleans take to move the trade to this port? "Well, that," said Mr. Hinchman, laughingly. "will have to be deter-mined by the merchants of this city. The Mexican National road, you much as possible the traffic between the two countries, no matter to what points it is distributed." "What is your opinion of Mexico?" "It is beyond a doubt one of the richest countries on the face of the globe in mineral and agricultural products. The most fertile portion, however, is the valley of the Lorma river, the longest stream in the state. This country at some day in the near future is bound to be developed and to teem with prosperity."

"Are not the Mexicans rather particular with whom they trade." "Yes, they are prompted a great deal by personal confidence and ac-quaintanceship. For instance, if the trade has for years passed through a certain channel they are not disposed to make a change. I have seen wool shipped from Australia to Hamburg, and from there to Vera Cruz, and thence by pack mules over mountains and wratched roads to some point 400 miles in the interior. Wool, you know, can be purchased just as cheap in southwest Texas, and imagine the saving in the expense of transporta-

Mr. Hinohman then said that Vera Cruz at the present time is one of the cleanest and healthiest sities he had over seen, and that talk to the effect that it would kill a person who was not acclimated was simply absurd. The Caty of Mexico, however, is not clean. The streets are fearfully filthy, and all that keeps it healthy is the purity of the atmosppere, which its elevation above the sea gives.

Mr. Hinchman also stated that the Mexico had no foundation whatever, and that the writer's short stay in that country did not warrant him in making such sweeping statements.
