A FRIGHTFUL PLUNGE

A Team and Carriage Slide into the Big Reservoir at Fairmount Park.

Yesterday afternoon a party of three gentlemen and one lady, in a carriage belonging to Dr. Patton's livery stable, were taking a ride through Fairmount park, they being friends of Mr. Pusey from New York, and desirous of seeing the attractions of the city.

The team and carriage went over the embankment, jumped, the team and carriage then went tumbling, plunging down the steep side of the reservoir, a distance of about 250 feet, until the very bottom was reached.

Strangely enough, the carriage was not overturned, and was not badly damaged, and one of the horses without serious injury, but the other one was killed, the carriage striking him so as to cause internal injuries and the bursting of a blood vessel.

The horse that was killed was a fine large gray, valued at $250. It was a fearful plunge, and it is strangely fortunate that no one was injured, and that no more serious damage than the death of the horse resulted.

The result of the election being now certain in this district, there are numerous surmises as to the causes of the Nonpartisan, seeing a republican majority of 6,000 suddenly turned to a democratic majority of 2,000, is at a loss what to say about the causes.

On the morning of the election day it said, "Cheering news reaches us from every part of the Ninth district foreshadowing the overwhelming success of the republican party. Good-bye Pusey." John Chapman now acknowledges that he was not telling the truth about it, for yesterday The Nonpartisan says, "Though disappointed we are not surprised."

As for the causes it says that "The smoke of the late battle has not sufficiently cleared to enable us to speculate on the causes of the disaster. Still the smoke clears up enough for it to crow that Pusey's election was due to money, and to the fact that the prohibition amendment cost the republican party of this district 2,000 votes. Now if the smoke of battle can be cleared away from the Nonpartisan's eyes he will find that some of the chief causes of Anderson's defeat are such that he will not care to openly announce them.

FURTHER FIGURES.

They Contain Not a Crumb of Comfort for Anderson--A Striking Refutation.

The further reports from this district show no better things for Anderson, and he is elected to remain at home by a larger majority than the strongest anti-Anderson men themselves really expected.

Mayor Bowman, chairman of the congressional committee, gives the following as the summary from the latest returns: Potawatamie (Pusey's home).....1191 Fremont (Anderson's home).....767 Shelby.....97 Cass.....400 Crawford.....400 Mills.....171 Harrison.....23

Total.....2771 Anderson's majorities are Montgomery.....538 Audouin.....150 Total.....688 Net majority of Pusey in the district 2,123.

Wednesday night there were a large number of anti-Anderson republicans and democrats who came in on the trains from different points to offer their congratulations to Mr. Pusey and to have a general good time over the result.

Among those from Hamburg were Mayor J. F. Beach, Silas Beason, George H. Martin, H. A. Spur, J. M. Stauffer, O. S. Wing, Al Hunter, E. Y. Birkley, J. M. Alexander, M. Tyler, J. M. Hammond, E. Reid, A. J. Edwards, George Wise, W. Samuels, George Shipley, John Christian, George L. Allen, E. W. Allen and numerous others, about seventy-five in all.

Dan Farrell and T. M. Ivory, of Glenwood, were here, together with R. R. Kelley, H. G. Cilly, E. Stambuck and others; J. S. Hendricks, of Pacific City; E. R. Caldwell, of Dunlap; T. H. Lee, of Red Oak; Bob Harris, of Missouri Valley; Mr. Samuels, of Sidney and a long roll of others.

On their arrival the band was got out, bonfires built and a general jubilation indulged in. Speeches were made by Mr. Pusey, Mayor Beach, L. T. Gunning, Dan Farrell, C. R. Scott and others. Cheers went up till throats were worn out, and a merry, informal time had in all respects. Anderson should have been there, but he wasn't.

ROSEBURG, A DISTANCE OF 200 MILES.

The mountainous country between Roseburg and Redding has heretofore prevented the building of a railroad to connect the two roads before mentioned, but as soon as the Northern Pacific is done the former will be extended northward and the latter southward until they meet at the state line. This will be the rail route of the transcontinental line, for important as the steamship line is it cannot be depended upon to accommodate either freight or passengers, though many of the latter and much of the former will go by the ocean. Through cars will be run into San Francisco by way of Roseburg. This route is so much longer than those by any of the other transcontinental lines that it is doubtful whether it will ever become much patronized by passengers bound to or from San Francisco. But it must be remembered that freight cars little for distance and will go by this circuitous line. In the summer they will doubtless be a large tourist business, for in warm weather the most northern route will be selected for comfort as well as to enjoy the grand scenery of the mountains. But two classes of business will naturally seek the Northern Pacific. One is a large share of the traffic from Japan and China which will be brought to Portland by steamer and from there overland to the Atlantic seaboard. That this steamship line will be put into operation seems certain. The vast local business of Oregon and Washington territory must seek the east and though much will go by the southern route, and especially by the Oregon Pacific when its Oregon line is opened, the bulk of it must always be controlled by the Northern Pacific. The traffic from this source must increase in volume until it alone will furnish sufficient to occupy the line. We have any idea of the natural richness of the extreme northwestern corner of the national domain and its great extent. The Northern Pacific will open this all up for settlement and bring it into direct communication with the east.

"Four on Oil." L. P. Follett, Marion, Ohio, states that he has used THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL for burns and has found nothing to equal it in soothing the pain and giving relief.

A woman named Briggs has been arrested in Oregon charged with deserting her 3-month-old child at Corning. The baby was left on the doorstep of a prominent citizen in that place. Three boys were arrested in Vinton on Wednesday last week for climbing on cars and locked up. The authorities propose to lesson the liability of accidents.

M. H. Moore's dredgeboat at Dubuque, which was recently built to dredge the projected ice harbor, was burned to the water's edge on Saturday night. Loss, $5,000. The Adams county bar gave a complimentary supper to Judge Henry and the court officers last week, which was the finest affair of the kind ever held in Corning.

The choice of location for the Spiritualist's camp ground lies between Clinton, Ottumwa and Colfax. The matter will be decided at the convention to be held at Ottumwa the 17th inst. A special to the Dubuque Herald dated October 30th says: A horrible accident occurred at Lunette, Jackson county, this morning. Three brothers named Frank, George and Henry Grizzle were trying to unload a breech-loading gun, during which operation two barrels were discharged, killing George instantly and fatally wounding Henry in the head. The charge entered George's forehead, blowing out his brains. Henry was shot in the mouth and can not survive. Frank escaped unhurt.
