LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Recounting parties are the rage now among the politicians.

—Corinne appears at the opera house again to-night and will draw a big house.

—Rev. Joseph Cook will lecture in Omaha next Thursday next.

—The vote of the county will be canvassed to-day if the returns are all in.

—Yesterday would have been a model day for April, glowing by the weather.

—Lost—Seal glove, $3.00 reward. Arthur Briggs, opera house. Friday.

—The boys were out yesterday repairing the south circuit of the fire alarm telegraph.

—The members of the executive committee of the republican state central committee will meet at the Millard hotel on Tuesday, November 14th, at 7 p. m.

—The funeral of the late William Hagedorn will take place at 2 p. m., Sunday, from his former place of business on Fifth street.

—The gong for engine house No. 2 has arrived and was placed in position Thursday. It is a very fine one and has a clear ring that can be heard three or four blocks away.

—An important equity case was on trial before Judge Neville yesterday, that involving the title to Hartmann's addition. It is an old case and has been before the public several times before.

—The workmen and farmers' central committee will meet next Monday, November 13th, at 7:30 p. m., at the city hall. All members are requested to be present.

—A regular meeting of the Colorado pool association was held in this city to-day at the Paxton house. No business of a public or important nature was transacted.

—The two largest roads in the world, the Missouri Pacific with a trackage of 5,702, and the Milwaukee with 4,384, a total of 10,086 miles, are thus immediately represented at the office in the northwest corner of the Paxton.

—The 87 ballots fraudulently cast for the office of constable in the Fifth ward were rejected on account of having more names on them than was required by law. The action of the board was necessary after section 40 of the election law, page 292, compiled statutes of Nebraska.

—The undersigned desire to return thanks to their many friends, and especially the employees of the U. P. department, for their many acts of kindness and respect, in connection with the funeral of their brother, Anton Andersen, Fred. Andersen, Martin Andersen. Omaha, November 9, 1882.

—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company has opened a ticket office in the office of the Missouri Pacific at the Paxton hotel, and tickets are now on sale. Mr. George H. Foote has charge of the joint office of the two companies, while George S. Eastman is the city passenger agent of the two roads.

—"What shall we do to be saved," is the subject of the lecture to be delivered by Bob Ingersoll at the opera house on the 20th inst. If Bob had come a few days sooner the candidates in this county would all have secured reserved seats. His agent, Mr. C. W. Kidd, was here yesterday and saw what an opportunity had been lost.

—The number of bats bet on the recent local elections and on the elections in the eastern states was unusually large and the losers in the former instance are making the interest on their money while waiting for the recount. General Frederick has had over fifty bats picked out and laid aside for parties on bets on the local elections.

—The most ingenious piece of mechanism ever seen in this city was displayed in Huberman's window yesterday and drew a big crowd. It is a magnificent glided cage containing two singing birds whose appearance and movements are so natural that they would describe the very elect themselves if that were possible. They sing fully as well as live birds and cost nothing for feed and fishbones.

—The initial party of the "Home Circle Club," first series of this season was given Thursday at Peasey & Connolly's hall on 16th and Burt. The hall was elegantly decorated and Irvine's band furnished the music. The reception committee, Messrs. J. A. White, W. J. Whitehouse and J. M. Henneman and the floor managers, Messrs. F. W. Pickens and Wm. Brown were the evening's success. Everything was prepared in first-class style. The invitation, which were sent out early, attracted a large crowd and glances were kept up till an early hour yesterday about their couples being present.

—SLAVEN'S YOSEMITE COLOGNE Made from the wild flowers of the FAIR FARMER YOSEMITE VALLEY is the most fragrant of perfum. It is manufactured by H. B. Slaven, San Francisco. For sale in Omaha by W. J. Whitehouse and Kennard Bros. & Co.

THE LATEST.

A Guess at the Result of Tuesday's Election.

Made on the Best Attainable But Very Incomplete Returns.

The Third and Fourth Wards Have a Re-count.

And the Former Tries to Count Canfield Out.

From the Evening Edition.

Although the election boards are still at work the agony is nearly over and the result is about as easily guessed at as it will be before the official canvass, which takes place to-morrow. The first ward sent in its returns this morning, having completed the work last evening and there being no anxiety for a new count down there. The second ward board made a new count, or rather corrected a clerical error on their books which made several important changes in the vote of that ward, some candidates gaining and others losing from 1 to 190 votes. They got through at 11 o'clock last night and that ward is settled.

In the Third ward, where the count was completed yesterday afternoon, it was necessary to make a new count which was begun at 10 a. m. to-day. It was thought by some that several votes had been credited to Canfield which ought to have gone to Dewey, and as the contest is now between these two a few votes either way may prove important. The candidates for representative who were present asked a recount of their vote, and Mr. Hoover for one on the assessorship.

The Fourth ward not to be behind the times is also having a new deal. This done at the request of Peter Goss, who expects a re-count to show that his vote is much larger than was reported. The board got to work at 1 o'clock, and having had a good night's rest will not occupy much time at the job.

There have been several charges of carelessness in the Fifth ward board and in addition to the trouble had there last night with one of the candidates there were some very funny things in connection with the wind-up which indicate that the figures given may not be correct. A senatorial candidate stated to a Bee reporter this morning that he should demand a new count of the ballots.

In the Sixth ward no trouble has been made and their work is over, unless some new complication arises. They as well as the First and Second wards have deposited their returns with County Clerk Baumer.

All the country precincts had reported yesterday, and as no memoranda were sent to show the footings, only five precincts are counted in the table below. Some of these may be imperfect, and the new count in the Third and Fourth, and in the Fifth if that is insisted on, would, of course, change the figures all around. From the figures obtainable up to 3 o'clock to-day, the total footings of the vote for the various local candidates in the six wards and the precincts known are as follows:

Name.	Total No. votes.
C. H. Brown, D.....	3,338
George Canfield, D.....	2,344
W. H. Dewey, R.....	2,270
W. J. Connolly, R.....	1,751
J. S. McCormick, A. M.....	1,335
John Quinn, L. U.....	96

Name.	Total No. votes.
Wm. Turtle.....	3,289
Fred W. Gray.....	2,429
John Christensen.....	2,398
H. G. Clark.....	2,282
Henry Sussbach.....	2,276
Wm. Canby.....	2,227
Ed. Greenewald.....	2,188
Alex. McGavock.....	2,158
R. C. Jordan.....	2,148
Frank Gatzert.....	2,139
Joseph R. Clarkson.....	2,095
Peter Goss.....	2,056
L. M. Bennett.....	2,031
Joseph H. Taylor.....	1,983
Samuel H. Howick.....	1,943
W. J. Broatch.....	1,925
A. Burnmaster.....	997
R. Rydell.....	960
John F. Behm.....	961
Robert Fwaddell.....	917
Allen Root.....	881
John Hoy.....	870
Ed. Leeder.....	868
C. T. Paxton.....	47
Andrew Majovsky.....	37
John Green.....	36

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

John A. McShane.....3,243

R. D. Daulton.....2,110

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

Parke Godwin.....3,027

N. J. Burnham.....2,574

R. O'Keefe.....3,412

P. J. Quasley.....1,981

As will be seen the above figures are graded down from the highest and if not greatly changed would mean the election of the candidates whose names are marked with a star.

On some of the candidates low down in the list the full ward vote is not in our possession, and the total given is only from what is at hand.

THE LATEST.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the count for senators in the Third ward, was completed, with the following result: Brown 441, Dewey 344, Canfield 382.

This is a loss for Canfield of 74 votes, for Brown of 4 votes, and a gain for Dewey of 33 votes. This leaves Canfield behind on the list, and puts a star at Dewey's name instead. The end is not yet.

IN THE DITCH.

An Express Messenger Killed on the Cannon Ball Trail.

The "Cannon Ball" train on the Wabash, due at the Transfer at 11 a. m. yesterday, was four hours late, owing to an accident on the road between McCurry and Stanbury.

was, it is supposed, struck by the safe or fell under it, for he was taken out quite dead. One of the brakemen was badly hurt but not fatally. The engine and car were comparatively uninjured, though the express matter was considerably damaged. None of the passengers were injured though they were all somewhat frightened by the accident.

Harry Groves went into the service of the Pacific express company on the 1st of August, 1880. He was an old railroad man, having been a baggage-man on several eastern roads at different times, and was a great favorite in railroad circles. His home was at No. 1900 Chouteau avenue, St. Louis, where he leaves a wife and two children, a girl aged 17 and a boy 10 years old. He was 37 years of age. The remains were taken to St. Louis on last night's train.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Corinne Party of Merrie Makers Hold High Carnival at Boyd's.

The Coming Attractions—Amusement Notes in General.

The charming little lyric star Corinne and her company of excellent amusement conditors created a decided furore at Boyd's last night in "Bijou," a new musical comedy by Wool, that is brim full of music and nicely arranged specialties.

Anyone who has become tired of the melo-dramas of to-day or the comic operas will do well to see little Corinne in her natural abandon and joyous mirth as she enacts her pleasing roles.

The grizzled playgoer who has grown tired of the more serious works of dramatic and musical excellence will find in this little artist's pranks and natural acting an amusement entirely different from the usual run. Since the company's last appearance here the "embryo star" has met with most flattering receptions and embarrassing trials. We refer to the uncalculated interference of the Society and the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of New York, who detained the company some three months from active work at a cost of over fifteen thousand dollars. A general history of Corinne's career and that of her mother is most admirably told in an illustrated circular representing principal characters and distributed among the audience. This Bee has heretofore published about the same. Her reappearance last night showed a decided improvement over her former acting and singing, and from her late notoriety was, perhaps, a little more acceptable. Her new play may be said to be an improvement, yet the music is mostly old and familiar; but in the hands of Corinne and her excellent company the pretty melodies and catching strains seem welcome and enjoyable.

The little one's voice is certainly of marvelous power, but no more so than her refined sentiments and dramatic grace. Of the "merry" support we must notice Harry Woodbury in his unapproachable facial maneuvering and general contortions that gained for him a double encore. Williams & Sullivan do some pleasing specialties, and in the absence of Corinne the Misses Nellie Hesse and Dick Howard favor the audience with some Tyrolean warbling that is quite novel. Miss Dora Brandescombe displays a baritone voice that is unusually full and flexible, while Charles Osborne's "Bob Up Sorely" is respectably worthy of favorable mention.

This afternoon the "Magic Shopper" will be presented and the engagement closes with a repetition of last night's bill.

FRANK MAYO. This brilliant and capable actor will appear at Boyd's opera house for three nights and a grand matinee, commencing on Thursday evening, November 17. Mr. Mayo is so well known to the amusement going public of Omaha that it is only necessary to announce his coming, and he is sure of a crowded house. His recent and successful engagement in San Francisco was the largest ever done in the California theatre, with one exception, that being the Union Square company. Mr. Mayo will have the support of the accomplished young actress, Miss Charlotte Behrens, and the excellent company which has appeared with him so often in this city.

Omaha Favorites

J. K. Emmet is in Buffalo.

Sam Gardner is in Hot Springs.

Roe Eyttinger did a fine business in Denver.

Frederick Ward is playing through the south.

Emma Abbott is in Washington next week.

McKee Rankin and Kate Claxton are in Springfield.

Annie Pixley's success in Philadelphia was never so great.

It is possible that we do not have an Uncle Tom party this week.

The "Widow Macomber" at the Germania theatre to-morrow night.

The Home company are now in Kansas City, and will remain the week.

Harry Webber is doing better than ever this season with his "Nip and Tuck."

Marion Moore and Sid Smith Russell are playing in Tennessee and New Orleans.

As Joe Murphy will not visit San Francisco this season, Omaha need not expect him.

Buffalo Bill is expected here late in the season, on his way home bound for New York.

John Dillon's "State's Attorney" was well received in Chicago, and is now doing well in St. Paul.

The Boston Ideal are having a tremendous success in Chicago, where they will remain another week.

Gillett Bros. and Kennedy and Rice, of the Academy, leave for Chicago Monday.

Tony Ryan goes to Kansas City.

The four Hollywood children, the prime favorites at the Academy, have secured seats for the Magic Slipper matinee.

Frank Mayo played in Ogdon last night; Salisbury's "Promoters" delighted a Charleston S. C. audience, while Fay Teuton delighted the Florida people at the same hour.

The average young man who attended "Bijou" last night thanked his lucky stars he got his girl home before the terrible shower came up. The hackman should arrange the storm to come on about the close of the last act.

Mrs. Langtry plays five weeks in New York.

York city. In Boston ten weeks, commencing December 4th, Philadelphia one week and Chicago two weeks, commencing January 1st. In New Orleans she is expected to give a week's performance, and should she visit the coast Omaha will be favored.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Driver Badly Hurt by a Runaway Team.

Sometime last evening there was a runaway on Seventeenth street, near the mail works, which resulted in the driver of the team being thrown to the ground and badly, though not fatally hurt.

It was the team driven to Isaac Brown's wagon, and ran away on the hill, going down toward the mail works. The driver was thrown to the ground and sustained severe injuries on left breast and right knee. The shock to his nervous system was still more serious, as he had seven violent convulsions, one after the other. At last accounts he was better, though still suffering greatly. The runaway was caused by the pole breaking.

LED ASTRAY.

Thrilling Adventure of a Cow-Boy on the Missouri Flats.

Slugged and Robbed of all His Wealth.

Among the guests at the Hotel d'Angell this morning is a young man who registers as Fielden Brown, and who hails from Ogallala, which has been, however, only his temporary abiding place.

Brown is of the profession denominated "cowboy," and is a slender, fair-complexioned, pleasant fellow, who takes his vicissitudes in life quite philosophically. His experience in Omaha has been not altogether pleasant, but he has learned enough to steer clear of chance acquaintances in the future. He came to Omaha on Thursday afternoon from Council Bluffs and put up at one of the hotels not far from Homan's livery stable. Yesterday while taking a drink at the bar

HE MET A STRANGER

who seemed quite pleasant, and took sundry drinks with him. He was a stranger, and before night he showed Brown the town, so far as it could be seen through the small end of a whiskey glass. When it began to grow conveniently dark he suggested that it was time to go to supper and insisted strongly that he should not put off partaking of the vesper meal too long. He offered to show Brown the way to his hotel, and at last got him started. Instead of taking him to the right place he led him down Ninth street as far as Jackson and then turned off on Jackson toward the flats. About this time

BROWN BEGAN TO SUSPECT that all was not as it should be, but as the two were conversing pleasantly together he did not anticipate an immediate attack. When about half way between Eighth and Ninth and opposite the stone pile where stone is crushed for the streets, the newly acquired friend suddenly struck him with a thing heavy, Brown thinks a "bling shot," felling him to the ground. He fell on his back, and throwing his hands out struck one against a stone, cutting it quite badly. Brown's first thought was of his money, for he knew he was

and he thrust his wounded hand into his left vest pocket to see if his wallet was still there. At this the stranger dealt him another blow on the head and then pushed him down, holding him with one hand and his arm with the other. He then got the pocketbook out of his pocket and made his escape. Brown called loudly for help and managed to get up and stagger over to Ninth street, the blood from his head falling in a stream down his face and over his clothes. After going about a block he met

A RELIABLE CONTRABAND

who was hesitating to his relief and the colored Samaritan steered him up to Farnam street, and to the office of Dr. Philpot who took the case in hand and did all he could at once. He sewed up the two large gashes which he found on the top of Brown's head, and which were very serious, though not of a fatal character. He also sent for an officer, to whom the victim related his story and gave the officer

A DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTY

who had robbed him. The man was above medium height, well built, would weigh about 185 pounds, and is about twenty-five years of age. Brown stated that his parents, at Gallatin, were quite well off, and gave the doctor some change which he had left in his pocket to send a telegram to them for some money. After being fixed up, he went with the officer and tried to get a bed in some hotel, but as no one would take him he finally gave it up and lay at night sought a lodger at the city jail. He presented a

DESPERATE APPEARANCE.

Glad in the traditional frontier suit, with a broad-brimmed white hat, his face, hands and clothes covered with blood, the victim of one of the Omaha "boys" looked as though he had engaged in a model fight in some western saloon, and was covered with gore as well as glory. He says his pocket book had in it $185, with which he was going home to his wife and children, and he was a well-to-do and respectable gentleman. The police are on the track, and will possibly capture their man yet.

THE STUFFED THIRD.

A Villainous Crime Perpetrated to Defeat the Will of the People.

The Returning Board Stuffed With Whisky, and the Boxes Stuffed With Ballots.

The Magic Effect of McGuckin's Lightning on the Corporation Count.

Tom Callan and Capt. Kent Contribute Liberally to the Conspiracy.

The Louisiana Plan With Liquid Variations.

We are now in possession of reliable information concerning the villainous plot to disfranchise Douglas county and count in men who were not elected. Those who were deep down in the confidence of the chief of the syndicate, Joe Millard, with whose money this city was flooded to carry on wholesale bribery, had an understanding that the first thing in order on election day was to capture the polls. As usual on election day the men appointed to act as judges and clerks failed to put in appearance, and the set of coppers and tools were on hand to take the places. Thus it was that in the Fourth ward Frank Walters jumped up and proposed his brother-in-law, Westerdahl,

A CHARACTER OF LOW REPUTE,

as one of the judges, and in the Third ward one Jackson, who trains with the same gang, was put in as clerk, with George Irvin as one of the judges. On Tuesday night Councilman McGuckin and Captain Kent, who had been carrying on a lively traffic in colored votes during the day of Joe's expense, came into the engine house where the Third ward votes were being canvassed. They brought with them several bottles of

LIGHTNING BOB WHISKY.

Two of the judges and the clerk partook so freely that they were soon in a bossy condition. Thus they were seen by many people who visited the place during the night. Later on in the night

MCGUCKIN AND KENT CAME BACK,

again with another installment and some cigars. They sat down at the table where the votes were being counted, and in a few minutes Tom Callan came in. He also had a bottle of whisky. The only persons present besides the board and Kent, McGuckin and Callan were Street Commissioner Ford and Augustus Carey. Both of these men were called to one side of the room by Callan and asked to take a drink out of the bottle. While these men had their backs turned it is believed one of the parties at the table slipped a package of democratic tickets that lay on the table and replaced it with a package of republican tickets. The tickets on the table had been sorted out in bunches and clasped with India rubber bands. The change was soon noticed by Messrs. Carey and Ford, who were surprised to see so many republican tickets, and called attention to the change to candidates who had seen the tickets as they were being sorted out.

INTO HIS POCKET.

McGuckin, Kent and Callan skipped out of the room and did not turn up again during the night or the following day. Meantime the drunken judges kept on counting and recounting.
