

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition.

BRUTAL ATTACK.

A Sick Printer Out and Beaten Horribly by a Negro.

He Lies at St. Joseph's Hospital in a Critical Condition.

One of the most brutal assaults ever perpetrated in the city was that of which James Olcott was the victim, on Sunday evening.

Olcott is a man about 38 years of age, who has been all crippled up with rheumatism and become practically helpless, being cared for largely at the expense of the Typographical Union. On Sunday evening about 7 o'clock he was on his way home to his room, corner Dodge and Tenth streets, when he was met at the gate by a colored man who inquired of him where some party lived in that neighborhood.

Dr. Hyde was summoned as quickly as possible and rendered every means of relief possible, saving the severed organ back in its place and setting the broken bone, yesterday Olcott was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he will receive the best of care and attention.

The very nature of the assault, being without provocation, and the helplessness and inoffensive character of the wounded man, makes the attack the more brutal, and it is an outrage deserving the severest punishment. It is reported that Olcott is in a very critical condition. The officers are after the darky, but had not found him at last accounts.

The Remarkable Career of a Domestic Who Stole From Her Employers.

New York Herald.

One of the most remarkable female robbers that has figured in the criminal courts of this city for many years was arraigned yesterday morning before Justice Bixby, at Jefferson Market police court, charged with stealing from several ladies' jewelry and wearing apparel estimated in the aggregate at about $20,000.

Farmers as Business Men.

There are few real business men among farmers. How many farmers keep a cash account and know at the end of each month how much money they have received, from whom they received it, and for what it was received, or how much, to whom and for what the money was paid out? If a farmer wishes to understand his business, he must treat the business part of his profession in a business manner, and he cannot do this without he keeps a book, a pen, some ink, and is careful to write down correctly all his business transactions.

I have been in farm houses where it took about half an hour to find the pen and ink with which to do a little writing. I have known men actually who have to go to a neighbor's house to get a pen and ink. It is a disgrace to keep a purchase account in addition to the cash account, and everything which is bought can be written down, and if paid for it can be marked paid and the same entered in the cash account. By referring to the purchase account we always know what bills have not been paid, and we can make our calculations to meet them, and thus avoid unpleasant surprises. We can also keep an account of our sales, and when anything is sold write it down in the sales account, and if we receive the cash we mark it paid and enter in the cash account as before. It would no doubt be worth many times the trouble, and every farmer would have the satisfaction of knowing at the end of the year just how his money came, where it went and what his year's work brought him. It would open up new fields of thought, induce him to make greater exertions and make him more frugal, more intelligent, less penurious, and greatly improve his manner of transacting business.

The merchant makes good his bad debts of the easy-going, careless farmer, by a skillful management of the book account. Lawyers fatten through trouble arising out of careless business habits. The farmer may know that he got no much for his cattle, his wool, his grain, his hops, or whatever it may be, and he may know that he paid his taxes, his store bills, and his many doctor bills, but he will be likely to feel that his money slipped away and did him very little good, and of course he becomes stingy and mean. I once knew a man of whom it was said, that when he paid anybody money he always held it out and looked in the opposite direction—he hated to see the money go.

I have been keeping a diary for the last six years, and find it very successful. The time of putting in crops has been noted, and the observations made on the seasons, the weather, the crops, the stock and farm-work, are so valuable for reference that I would not do without it for many times the trouble of keeping it.

Unmarried Persons

Should lose no time in securing a certificate in the Marriage Fund Mutual Trust Association of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, concerning which circulars and full information will be sent free upon application. It is organized under the Insurance Laws of Iowa, and is the only legalized and legitimate institution of the kind in the country. Its officers and managers are among the most prominent business men in Cedar Rapids, including bankers, the postmaster, capitalists, railway managers, insurance men, leading lawyers, physicians and other reliable citizens. Over $15,000 has already been paid to members. It is a splendid investment, as safe, secure and as profitable as a Government bond. You can just as well have a good sum of money to commence married life on, as not. Remember it only costs you one cent for a postal card to request full explanation and information. Good agents can get territory if applied for soon. Write to-day. Do not postpone it. Mention where you saw this notice. oct26-1m* from whom she stole on the 22d of April last $600 worth of jewelry and clothing; Mrs. F. H. Priney, No. 1,837 Park avenue, jewelry and clothing worth $750; George Dougherty, No. 1,432 First avenue, jewelry and clothing worth $500, and Tony Pastor's sister, who resides in West Fifteenth street, whom she robbed in November, 1881, of diamonds to the value of $1,000. Nearly twenty other respectable families have been victimized by her to a similar extent. A number of pawn tickets were found in her possession representing various articles on which she obtained money.

APPLY MATED.

Some two years ago she was married to a burglar named Clarke, who served a term of three years in the state prison, and by him she was doubtless induced to commit the robbery. It was the knowledge of this circumstance by the detectives that led to her arrest. A few months ago Clarke was sent to the Presbyterian hospital to receive treatment for an injury he met with, and when he was discharged recently they watched him until they discovered that the prisoner was concealed at No. 22 East 122d street. When taken into custody she admitted having lived in some of the places named, but on being asked if she had stolen the property referred to she told she detested it was their business to find that out. In reply to Justice Bixby she stated that she was born in New Jersey, was 22 years old and did not work for a living. In answer to the question, "What is your business or profession?" she answered, "Nothing," and also stated that she was not guilty.

It is rather a coincidence that one of the aliases she used when seeking employment, Jennie Rigney, should be the name of a notorious young woman who created a sensation some years ago by making an infamous charge against an eminent dentist of this city, and who attempted to bolster it up by falsely charging another equally professional man with an equally grave offense. Both gentlemen were acquitted on trial, and their perjured accuser was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

William Clarke, the husband of the prisoner, appeared in court, there being no charge against him since he returned from Sing Sing. Mrs. Clarke was committed without bail. The police will produce additional evidence against her on the trial.
